HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN
HAIR RENEWER.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,
For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of humanity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

—A Minnesota judge is having a rather unpleasant career. They call him the "Minnesota Jeffreys," a "vindictive, pestiferous creature," a "despot and a bully," a "terror," a "cold-hearted devil," a "base, insolent tyrant," a "man that ought to be impeached and ridden out of town on a rail."

—We don't understand why it is that a constable with a search-warrant looking for whiskey in a temperance town can search for five days and never get a smell, while a dry and thirsty man in the same town steps out of his office, walks briskly away, and in three minutes is seen emerging from an adjacent alley, wiping his perspiring mouth with his cuffs.—Hawkeye.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff Joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 2nd, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Liniments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family, should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimech, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using Castoria in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the Castoria. It is prepared by Messrs. J. R. Rose & Co., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. tnov1

MAGIC

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Sleeplessness, Costiveness, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pains I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 6th, and wrote you February 24th, three weeks after, I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1873.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS pretty well, I have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no purpose. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this unasked I know the goodness of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this unasked I know the goodness of these Pills. His others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving there half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and spent a great deal of money, but also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten years, and have been unfeeling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the persuasion of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that your pills will cure one, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend these Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL,

is one new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Cerative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay; no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

A Safe and Sure Remedy.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

Remember that it

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvellous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.
WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

DR. FLAGG My Dear Sir: Your Cough and Lung Syrup has proved a great benefit to me, giving relief from severe Coughs and Soreness of the Lungs, when all other remedies and physicians had failed. I have never taken a medicine more pleasant to the taste or more satisfactory in its results.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who a substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leuchorrhea arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

THE AMERICAN FLAG.

Fling out the starry flag,
Men of the kingless land,
The hour of duty is telling,
Be ready, heart and hand.

Face all who dare deride it,
Clasp all who seek its shade;
If need be die beside it
For the country it has made.

They come to you in millions
As once they came in Rome;
Give every man a welcome,
Give each and all a home.

But read them all this lesson—
They in return must stand
Ready to stay for the starry flag,
Or to die for the kingless land.

High Etiquette.

If fine manners are naturally associated with rank, the supposition would be that the higher the rank, the finer the manners. It would then follow that the guest of honor, who was also the stranger, would take precedence of all others. It is therefore bewildering to learn that when the Prince of Wales recently gave a dinner to General Grant, the distinguished guest brought up the rear of the procession to the dining-room. We are but boors in etiquette; yet if the Prince of Wales had been the guest of honor of the President of the United States, he would not have been permitted to close the march to dinner; and he would have preceded not as prince, but as guest; for it would be equally true of untitled Mr. Bright or Mr. Gladstone as of a prince. Courtesy is a poor thing if it can not dispense, upon due occasion, with the rigidity of ceremonial forms. It is rumored that the American minister in England was long absorbed in the task of arranging General Grant's invitations, so that he should not be apparently insulted by being treated at entertainments given in his honor with less consideration than any other guest. This is hardly credible to an unsophisticated American, because he can not comprehend either that an English gentleman should offer or an American gentleman accept such a situation. The rules of really good society, whether titled or untitled, are every where the same in regard to certain essential points, and it is a pity if they are violated in the house of a prince. To invite an untitled man into a titled company, upon an occasion of pure ceremony where titles determine precedence, is to invite him to go behind. If a prince gives a dinner in honor of an untitled guest, he is bound to honor him chiefly, and he invites the company merely to help him render the honor. If, therefore, it be true that the Prince of Wales gave a dinner especially to General Grant, and permitted the greater part of the company to precede him to the table, General Grant should quietly have left the house, and all the more if, as is constantly, said etiquette and forms are real things to European society. For if that be so, the significance of the situation was that an American without a title, however illustrious, however honored at home, and the especial guests of the occasion, is not to be recognized as the equal of titled people. Probably, if the story be true, General Grant was not troubled; but if English gentlemen are required by etiquette to acquiesce in so flagrant a discourtesy, they are greatly to be pitied.—Harper's for September.

Trajan's Wall.

The events now transpiring in the neighborhood of the Danube bring into curious prominence the name of the Emperor Trajan, the buttresses of whose bridge, we believe, still stand on opposite banks of the Danube, and whose famous wall seems to be the line along which the tide of war is rapidly rolling. The bridge thrown over the Danube by this great monarch was, in some respects at least the most remarkable of all the structures that successive belligerents have erected for the passage of their troops. It was not a mere floating bridge, but a permanent structure, carried on piers 150 feet high and 60 feet wide, and it comprised twenty arches, extending altogether over a span of 4470 Roman feet. This giant structure, than which ancient history records nothing of the kind more remarkable, seems to have been intended as a fortress as well as a bridge. Standing eighty feet above the water, it is supposed to have afforded the command of the Danube navigation, a garrison posted on it being, of course, able to damage or destroy vessels passing under, while they would be above the reach of retaliation. It was destroyed by Hadrian, and its precise locality has been the subject of some dispute. Ruins which evidently might have formed the buttresses of a bridge, occurring on the line of an old Roman road, however, seem to leave little room for doubt. Trajan's Wall is another relic of this terribly energetic old Roman. It is, strictly speaking, a rampart of earth, thirty-five or forty miles long, and extends from Rassova, just at the bend in the Danube, to the shores of the Black Sea. Though only an earthwork, it is a formidable line of defence. It is eight or ten feet high, with a fosse in front of it, while the western portion is still further fortified by deep lakes and the swampy valley of Kara-Su. In addition to all this, another rampart of a similar character lies just in in the rear of it. This is known as the South wall, the space between the two ramparts being from 1000 to 2000 feet.—London Globe.

The Vermont Centennial.

The centennial celebration of the battle of Bennington was an immense affair. At sunrise a salute was fired by a New Hampshire battery from the brass six-pounder guns taken from the British a century before; bells were rung, and then and there was hurrying to and fro of much military men. The grand procession was four miles long and numbered 8000 people, fully 40,000 spectators viewing the pageant. There were 3000 Vermont and New Hampshire veterans in the line. The oration of the day was delivered by President Bartlett of Dartmouth College; a poem by William Cullen Bryant was read, and a hymn by Mrs. Mason sung. President Hayes, Secretaries Evarts, Devens, McCrary and Key, and other prominent personages, made brief remarks. In the evening there was a torch-light parade of veterans, an illumination and fireworks, etc. President Hayes left for Rutland early in the evening. Altogether, in the numbers present and the enthusiasm displayed, the brilliancy of the military show, and the more than common interest and value of the orations delivered, the Vermont celebration has been a success.

Old Time Chronicles, No. 155.

BY UNCLE JOSEPH.

Strong partisan feelings entered into the matter of executive appointments, somewhat early in the history of political parties. In May 1810, Hon. Jeremiah Smith of Exeter was Governor. It was the last month of the first and only year of his holding the office; Mr. Langdon of Portsmouth had already been chosen as his successor. Mr. Smith was a federalist, the other party was republican. On the 21st day of May Gov. Smith nominated a federalist for high sheriff in one of the counties, and the councillors, a majority of whom were republicans, refused to agree to the nomination. The councillors that year were Elijah Hall, Portsmouth, Richard Dame, Rochester, Samuel Bell, Amherst, (afterwards of Chester, and Governor of the State,) Caleb Ellis, Claremont, and B. J. Gilbert, Hanover. Mr. Hall and Mr. Bell were republicans, and one if no more of the others. The vacancy in the office of Sheriff remained till June, when the Governor and a majority of the council were republicans and a republican was appointed.

Again, in June 1815, John T. Gilman of Exeter was Governor,—he was a federalist, and a majority of the Council republicans; the office of Attorney General became vacant, Hon Daniel French of Chester having resigned. On four successive days the Governor nominated four different gentlemen for that office. They were federalists and the Council negatived them. At the same time, the three republicans of the Council nominated three republicans, and the Governor negatived them. The councillors that year were Elijah Hall, Portsmouth, Samuel Quarles, Ossipee, Benjamin Pierce, Hillsborough, (afterwards Governor,) Thomas Chase, Cornish, and Enoch Colby, Thornton. Mr. Hall and Mr. Pierce were republicans, and one other. Hon. George Sullivan of Exeter was finally appointed Attorney General. We think he was a federalist, and the appointment was brought about in December by a compromise. A Judge of Probate was to be appointed in one county, and it was understood that the Governor was to nominate the Attorney General, a federalist of course, and the Council a Judge of Probate, a republican.

It is of no disadvantage to the country to have one or more political parties, but too strong political partisanship savors of littleness and bigotry.

News and Notes.

Mr. Keely says that he has just about completed his new machine, which is made of wrought iron and cast steel, cost $60,000 and weighs twenty tons. He says that he has obtained a pressure of 11,000 pounds to the inch, and then stopped because the guage would not stand more, and that if the metal would hold he could work his present engine up to 10,000 horse power. "It is," he told a reporter, "a quart machine—that is to say, it uses only a quart of water. With the condenser that I have now nearly complete I will make that quart of water produce 1,000 horse power motion of sufficient duration to run a steamship across the ocean."

The band of fanatics in Arkansas known as "Cobbites," who in their devotions last summer cut off the heads of two men, have been acquitted of the charge of murder on the ground of insanity.

The United States Minister at Athens reports the discovery of interesting ornaments of glass and ivory in ancient tombs near Athens, resembling those discovered by Schliemann.

Somebody accounts for the singular but expressive word "hoodlum" in this way. A newspaper man in San Francisco, in attempting to coin a word to designate a gang of street Arabs under the leadership of one Muldoon, hit on the idea of dubbing them the noodlum; that is, simply reversing the leader's name. In writing the word, the strokes of the n did not correspond in height, and the compositor took it for hoodlum. Hoodlum it is, and probably ever will be.

Which is correct—learning by heart, or by art? The former is the usual expression; but it is by no means clear that it conveys the intended meaning. He who impresses words or sentences or aught else upon his brain by rote, as it is called, uses some acquired or instinctive trick of mnemonics for the purpose. Schoolboys, actors, singers, and their likes, have various artifices for committing matters to memory, and their learning is by art, the heart has nothing to do with it. If learning by heart means anything at all, it certainly signifies a principle the very opposite of that it is used to designate—the profound acquirement of knowledge, the understanding of facts and experiences without regard to the symbols by which they are presented to the mind.—Living Age of '68.

Two of the crew of schooner Flying Scud arrived home on Monday stating that the vessel had been run down on Georges, by the bark Edith, of Portland, Friday night, and they had succeeded in getting on board the bark and were landed in Boston, and knew nothing of the fate of their vessel. Capt. John Howson was immediately despatched to the city, where he ascertained that the bark came in collision with the schooner, as before mentioned. There was a heavy sea and strong tide at the time; also a thick fog. Saw the schooner's light and heard horn, but too late to avoid collision. The vessels came together broadside to, and the schooner's topping-lift hooked in the boom iron on the bark's foreyard. This was cut. The hawser on board the schooner was cut, and the vessels separated. The bark hailed and asked if the schooner leaked or wanted any assistance, and was answered in the negative. The schooner made sail, and the supposition is that she is all right and will finish out her trip, as she was on good fishing grounds.—Cape Ann Advertiser.

Steamship Denmark, of the National Line, was seized in New York on Thursday, on account of the wholesale silk smuggling carried on by some of her officers. Dist. Atty. Woodford sent the following to Acting Sec. of the Treasury McCormick: "I still adhere to my opinion that the silk smuggling can be most effectively broken up by enforcing the law against the vessels. The steamship lines can, if they will, stop this smuggling by their employes. They surely will when they find they must. I have accordingly filed the libel against the Denmark." The steamship was bonded and allowed to sail.

It is said that 4000 of the inhabitants of the coal country about Scranton, Pa., are going to Texas as a colony. In this way they will do more to raise the wages of the coal miners than they would by destroying every coal mine and railroad in the country.

The Government has advices through a firm at Newburyport, Mass., of an important communication received from Captain Atkins of the whaling schooner Edward Lee of Provincetown. Capt. Atkins says that, after cruising in the Caribean Sea he went to Cayron, the south side of Cuba, where, on the first day after his arrival, he was fired into by a gunboat. Captain Atkins represents that he was the first fired into with ball, and afterward with grapeshot and bombshell, none of which, however, were effective. The report has been referred from the State Department to the Secretary of the Treasury, and Secretary Sherman has taken steps to ascertain the correctness of the report and the particulars of the affair. Though no intimation was given as to the nationality of the vessel perpetrating the alleged outrage, the presumption is that it was Spanish. Should decisive information be received, it will undoubtedly be a subject of importance at the Cabinet meeting next after official reports of the character desired shall reach the Treasury Department.

The Burlington Glass Works at Hamilton, Canada, have been closed on account of the competition from the United States.

In an advertisement of a trip of steamer Katahdin from Boston to the Isles of Shoals and return, on Sunday, the 19th, the following beautiful language is used: "The scenery presented to us as we range along by the northern shore possesses marked characteristics, and at many points is of exceeding beauty. In this season of pleasant summer weather, the great ocean, too, with its reflection of the glorious blue of heaven, its rippling waves flashing in the sunlight, its breast of waters dotted here and there with snowy sails, some of which become changed in the distance to fantastic cloudlets that gradually lessen to mere specks on the rim of the horizon, and one by one sink from our view; the great ocean, in its playful moods, is so clothed with beauty that even its very grandeur seems for the moment subordinate—for the emotion which affects the beholder is one of tranquil delight rather than awe." My gracious.

A long and bitter church quarrel at Francistown to ascertain the true proprietors of the communion service of the Congregational Church, and which was carried up to the Supreme Court, has terminated in a decision from Chief Justice Doe to the effect that there is no subordination of the church to the parish. The church has the right to choose the minister of the parish, and the church may sever its connection with the parish without forfeiting legal existence, or any rights or property. The plaintiffs in the case were the minority who clung to the society.

H. B. Marden, who for sixteen years has carried the mail from Plymouth to Littleton, having refused to carry it for $746.50, the amount heretofore received, Contractor E. S. Frederick has decided to run a full line of stages. The mail, meantime, will be carried in buggies. No delay has occurred. The plan gives two stage lines to Littleton via Profile, which will be a decided benefit to the public.

—Emerson says, "I lie and listen and rejoice." Some people do all but the listening and rejoicing.

—Scene at a seaside hotel.—Lean, lank stranger—"Why, look here! you charge me in my bill for a counterpane, $6.50. Why, the mosquitoes ate up that counterpane, and why should I be charged with it?" Hotel keeper—"Of course you should. If you had been nice and fat the mosquitoes would have tackled you, and left my counterpane alone."

—In the early part of 1810 Napoleon's attention was drawn to the magnificent diamonds worn by a certain lady; he inquired who she was, and learned that her husband was a tobacco manufacturer. In the following November a decree appeared which announced that this trade would in future be a State monopoly. It is so to-day. There are sixteen factories.

—Now build a kite for your little boy. It is made with old exchanges and string and sticks and things. It is supposed to soar like an eagle, but in nine cases out of ten it flops round aimlessly, like a bat in the daylight, and then hitches into a telegraph wire, and the neighbors' young ones gather round and snicker. Then you cut off the cord as high as you can reach and leave it there.

—A sturdy vagabond with full, black beard of unusual length was recently brought before a London police magistrate, who questioned him about his past life. "It one can believe all that is laid to your charge," said the Judge, solemnly, "your conscience must be as black as your beard." "Ah," replied the wily rogue, "if a man's conscience is to be measured by his beard, then your lordship has no conscience at all!"

—Knitting is an art of comparatively modern invention. It was not known in England until the early part of the sixteenth century. The honor of the invention is disputed but it is generally attributed to the Spaniards or Italians, since they attained great proficiency in the art before the English people adopted it. The Scotch also lay claim to the invention, but although they are most expert knitters of the age, they have established their claim.

—A Boston gentleman of some literary pretensions recently told an acquaintance the following story, illustrative of the alleged discrimination of magazine editors in favor of contributors of note, and vice versa: He was discoursing some months since, he said, to the poet Lowell on this topic, and insisted that contributions to magazines were not published for their merit, but when they were from friends of the editor or were the productions of famous pens. Lowell, on the contrary, maintained that magazine, like newspaper editors, were no respectors of persons, and that they were entirely impartial in their choice of contributions. To prove his case he wrote a short poem, on which it is to be presumed, under the circumstances, he bestowed more than usual pains, which his friend sent to a prominent Boston magazine as his own. It was returned as unworthy of publication.

POLICE COURT.

Friday, August 17th.

Philip Kirby, charged with having been drunk in his own house and with disturbing his family, was not sworn against very strongly, and in consequence was discharged. Mr. Kirby made two appearances before the court, one in the forenoon and one at three o'clock P. M. He persisted in "putting in his oar" when the witnesses were testifying, and after being several times cautioned to hold his tongue finally told a witness that he lied. "Look that man up till three o'clock this afternoon," said the Judge; and greatly to Philip's indignation and disgust, into a cell he went. He was much tamer when he came out.

THE CITY ELECTION.

If there was a noticable lack of interest at the recent election of a City Government by the people, there was plenty of interest exhibited Thursday evening over the election of paid officials by the City Councils. While the Councils were in convention the Common Council chamber and vestibule contained a larger number of interested politicians of all grades and parties than could have been found in any ward room in the city—or all of them put together, possibly—at any one time during election day. The main interest on this occasion centered in the choice of Street Commissioner; it was an open secret that the republican caucus had been nearly equally divided between Mr. Robert C. Sides, Street Commissioner under the late municipal administration, and Mr Enoch J. Connor, the latter having had but a bare majority on the second ballot; and a "bolt" of the caucus nomination was predicted by some of the knowing ones, who said Mr. Sides' supporters would go for a democratic candidate if they could not elect their own man. There was also considerable interest manifested as to who should be City Marshal. So far as we were concerned, we could not have guessed within three rows of apple trees as to who would secure either of the positions named; but a democratic friend, some hours before the convention met, told us "Most likely the next Street Commissioner will be Jo. Holmes; and the City Marshalship lies between John Dame and Tom Entwistle." If this was a guess on his part it was a mighty shrewd one.

After the election of City Solicitor and City Messenger, which was soon done, a vote was taken on Street Commissioner; the republicans divided, eight for Sides and nine for Connor; the five democrats voted for a gentleman who could not have secured one of their votes had the City Government been democratic, Mr. Joseph R. Holmes. On the next ballot the Connor men stood firm, but three of the Sides men flopped over to Mr. Holmes; and on the third and final ballot Mr. Sides had but a single vote, Mr. Connor still holding his nine, and Mr. Holmes securing twelve votes and the election,—Mr. Holmes' election being then made unanimous.

Whatever the motives of the wire-pulling and trading which elected Mr. Holmes, the result will be cheerfully acquiesced in by a large proportion of the tax-payers, for he is as capable a Street Commissioner as the city ever had, and is certain to run his department in the interest of the city and not of any party or clique. He obstinately refused, when holding office under a democratic administration, to take orders from the politicians, or keep worthless men on the pay-roll simply because they "voted with the party;" and he is not likely to be any less independent under a republican administration. His course made him shockingly unpopular with the democratic wire-pullers, but the property holders liked the way he managed things, first-rate, as they are apt to when an official can show a dollar's worth of work done for every dollar expended.

After the convention dissolved, the Board of Mayor and Aldermen elected Mr. Thomas Entwistle City Marshal, he having four votes to four for Mr. John Dame, and the Mayor giving the casting vote in favor of Mr. Entwistle; the democrats had no candidate (of their party) in the field. Mr. Entwistle is well known as a former police officer and assistant marshal, and is a jovial, good-natured soul; he has plenty of pluck, was an efficient subordinate officer, and should make a good Marshal. Assistant Marshals Cole and Gray were re-elected, as were also officers Pray, Nowell, White and Johnston. Officer Besselievre, as good an officer as there was on the old force, and good enough for any force, was dropped; as was also officer Webster. The places of these two were filled by the choice of Messrs. Charles P. Abbott and Thomas Moore. At the time the vote was taken it was observed by the lookers on that but one democrat was voted for, for any position whatever in the police department,—Mr. Moore, of Ward Four, who was a member of the old democratic police force, and received five votes for the same position under the present administration. "That's where the trading comes in," said the bystanders; but next morning it was announced that Mr. Moore had not been elected, as his name is Thomas R. Moore, and that a republican from Ward One, of the name of Thomas Moore, was to be sworn in. It's an odd mixture, all through; but it doesn't seem just the square thing for the republicans to take the pay and then refuse to deliver the goods. That mis-spelling of a name is rather a small hole to crawl out of, particularly as the name of one of the republican policemen was spelled wrong on the ballots.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

Steamer Appledore will make a trip to the Shoals this (Saturday) evening, leaving the wharf at six o'clock and the Shoals at half-past eight.

The Hutchinsons will sing in Franklin Hall next Thursday evening. See advertisement.

The grand feature of the great military procession at Bennington on the 16th was two of the brass six-pounder guns captured by Stark from the British. The Portsmouth Heavy Artillery Company was the guard of these historic cannon. The Portsmouth company won prominent mention in the accounts of the celebration sent to the press from Bennington,—no slight commendation when it is considered that some scores of the "crack" organizations of three or four States were present.

On Thursday evening a number of men at the West End formed themselves into an association to be called the Workingman's Institute, and elected Rev. Charles A. Holbrook, President, and Mr. Robert Archibald, Secretary; a board of directors was also chosen. The society at present numbers about forty members; the object of the association is mutual improvement, and it is proposed to at once fit up a suitable building at the West End for a club room, coffee room, etc. It is probable a building on MacDonough street will be selected, Hon. Marcellus Eldredge, the owner, having offered it to the association on the most liberal terms.

Portsmouth now has no band of music at all, the Portsmouth Cornet Band having dissolved.

Mrs. H. E. Harkins, of Boston, has given a series of readings at York, Wells and Old Orchard beaches, recently.

A correspondent of the Boston Globe, writing from Alton Bay under date of July 16th, says "there are three hundred buildings here, and, although the regular opening of the camp-meeting is not until the 18th, there are two hundred families here, and the meetings which are held are very interesting, especially the children's meetings, conducted by Mrs. T. E. Wood of Portsmouth. The cars run right to the ground, and there are ten steamers on the lake, besides lots of boats."

The Heavy Artillery arrived home on a special train over the Concord Railroad, at about 9:30 P. M., Friday. The Light Artillery, Capt. Wm. O. Sides, had made arrangements to receive the Heavies at the depot, and had secured the services of the marine drum corps from the navy yard; but owing to the reception at a late hour in the afternoon of a telegram from Manchester, announcing that the Heavy Artillery would remain in Manchester all night as guests of the Manchester War Veterans and Light Battery, the Light Artillery were dismissed after mustering at their armory. The Heavy Artillery were treated to a collation by Mr. Appleton Tredick, on their arrival.

We have received Littell's Living Age for the weeks ending August 11th and 18th respectively, containing the usual amount of interesting and useful reading, gleaned from the best of the English periodicals. For fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3000 pages a year) the subscription price ($8) is low; while for $10.50 the publishers offer to send any one of the American $4 monthlies or weeklies with The Living Age for a year, both postpaid. Littell & Gay, Boston, are the publishers.

Lippincott's Magazine for September is one of the first of the monthlies to reach us. The illustrated articles in the September number are "Among the Kabyles," by Edward C. Bruce, and "A Paduan Holiday," by Charlotte Adams. It also contains an anonymous article on Madame Patterson-Bonaparte, the conclusion of George MacDonald's novel, "The Marquis of Lossie," several chapters of Mrs. Davis' new serial, "A Law unto Herself;" and the usual variety of poems and miscellaneous matter, all combining to make a very attractive number.

Harper's Magazine for September is now ready for delivery, at Moses Brothers' and Myers' stores. This number contains ten illustrated articles, with ninety-three pictures; "The Lading of a Ship" and "General Stark and the Battle of Bennington" are especially noticeable. The number is distinguished not only by the interest attaching to each of its articles, but to the great variety of topics treated upon.

—The experience of many a life—"What a fool I have been." The experience of many a wife, "What a fool I've got!"

—It has been discovered that the wires of an electric apparatus used in Providence for lighting street lamps can be utilized so that any policeman, wherever he may be, can talk with an officer at headquarters by simply stopping to a lamp-post and attaching to the wire a small telephone which is carried in his pocket.

To Render the Liver Active

When that important secretive gland requires arousing, it is only requisite to resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the national remedy for inactivity of the bilious organ, for constipation, and for besides those malarious disorders to which torpidity of the liver predisposes a person. Far more surely does this celebrated anti-bilious cordial accomplish a curative result than mercury or any other mineral drug used to cure liver disorders. In fact, such medicaments cannot fairly be called remedies, since, although they may have a temporary effect, they eventually fail to influence the system remedially, but instead often do it serious injury. The Bitters, on the contrary, are a specific of the most salutary nature, and are likewise a reliable and agreable tonic, appetizer and nervine.

We Can't Talk

without showing the condition of our teeth. Every laugh exposes them. In order not to be ashamed of them, let us use SOZODONT, which is sure to keep them white and spotless, and to give fragrance to every word we utter.

"United we stand," as the joined fragments said to SPALDING'S GLUE.

We publish the announcements in our advertising columns for pay, and seldom trouble ourselves to enquire as to the qualities or merits of the wares advertised further than to assure ourselves that they are legitimate and respectable. But when an article performs miracles in our midst, transforming the old to young, in appearance at least, we cannot pass it by unnoticed. We know of people who, years ago were gray-headed and who now wear dark and glossy hair. How is this? It evidently is not colored, for it has a perfectly natural appearance instead of the harsh, dry, staring look of hair stained with nitrate of silver or other common hair dyes. Not it has been restored to its youthful color, lustre and vitality by the use of that wonder of wonders, Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer. It has many imitators, but there is nothing like it. The test of years only increases its fame, while its imitators die and are forgotten.—Boston Daily Globe.

The State of Louisiana, at the close of the war, found itself in a very crippled condition, financially; so the authorities imitated the example of Congress at the close of the Revolutionary war, and that of the States of Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania and New York, as well as many other commonwealths in times gone by, and in 1868 incorporated some of its leading citizens in the Louisiana State Lottery Company, with a capital of one million dollars, since augmented by three hundred and fifty thousand dollars accumulation as a reserve, all of which is paid up in cash. This company quarterly pays the State a large fund for the maintenance of its hospitals and schools and other charitable and educational purposes. The lottery is drawn monthly, without fail, in the City of New Orleans, under the personal supervision of the two ex-Confederate Chieftains, Generals P. T. Beauregard, of Louisiana, and Jubal Early, of Virginia, and the full schemes can be had by writing to M. A. Dauphin, Esq., President, Lock Box, 692, P. O., New Orleans. The next drawing is on Sept. 4.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all scrpfulous humors and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or white to an undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always sufficiently restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilished; thin hair thickened; faded or gray hair restored to its primeval color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The remarkable properties, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still wakes the most decided cures of Pulmonary, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

—Contrary to life-long custom, the swells of London this year refuse to wear white hats. The dealers laid in a large supply as usual, but not one has been sold. Nobody can explain this phenomenon.

—Mr. George William Curtis, writing of official precedence in his "Easy Chair," says: "A Senator gave a dinner, and when the moment arrived, he turned to the senior Senator of the United States, who was present, and asked him to hand out the lady of the house. 'But I see the Secretary of State,' replied the senior. 'No guest in my house takes precedence of the senior member of the body that makes Secretaries of State,' was the lofty reply."

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 23d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Liniments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavins, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimsch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & Co., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. mo1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. mo1

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2½ years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as one of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and the week you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have no doubt I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done, I feel it my duty to you as agent for them, so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be bought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head, or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed in them, and I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been a single day from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, and more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving my name but the pains they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVAREY.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for three years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for the last three years, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mullins my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrer, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL,

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative we could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the choice of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

Dr. A. J. Flagg's

COUGH & LUNG SYRUP.

The Cough and Lung Syrup

Is the remedy that during the past fifteen years has won for DR. FLAGG an extended reputation as a SPECIALIST for THROAT and LUNG Diseases. After so many years trial it can be truthfully said that it has NEVER FAILED, even in the WORST CASES. It is purely Vegetable, and its effect upon the system is at once Soothing and Tonic.

It Will Cure a Common Cold

In a few hours, not by drying it up, but by removing it from the system. TRY IT.

It will CURE a Chronic Cough, by soothing the irritated parts, and strengthening the system.

IT WILL CURE CONSUMPTION

Even after all other remedies have failed. In the earlier stages of this disease it will effect a speedy and certain cure; and in many cases of advanced Consumption its effect has seemed almost miraculous, restoring to full strength and perfect health those whom physicians had given up as incurable. TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE CATARRH

More effectually than any other remedy, by simply removing the cause. TRY IT.

It will Cure Bronchitis, by allaying all irritation of the Throat. TRY IT.

It will Cure Asthma, affording immediate relief and a perfect cure. TRY IT.

It Will Cure Ulcerated Sore Throat.

TRY IT.

IT WILL CURE Loss of Voice, Night Sweats, Hectic Fever, AND ALL Symptoms of Consumption. TRY IT.

For every affection of the Throat and Lungs it only needs a trial to convince the most skeptical of its wonderful curative properties.

CURES COLDS,
CURES COUGHS,
CURES CATARRH
CURES CONSUMPTION.

DR. WM. M. LADD, a leading Druggist of Claremont, certifies as follows:

For many years I have known Dr. A. J. Flagg as a successful practicing physician, and can assure the public that his representations relative to the Cough and Lung Syrup can be strictly relied upon. It has been used in his extended practice with marvelous success, and I know it to be all that he claims for it.

WM. M. LADD, M. D.

CLAREMONT, N. H., September, 1875.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Manitoke with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and thus a succession of disease and decay. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Tetter, Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Cats vs. Carrier-Pigeons.

A society has been formed in Belgium for the mental improvement of cats. Why cats? the reader will want to know. When explained, the thing is not near so absurd as it appears at the first flush. They are to take the place of carrier-pigeons. And here is another wonder. It is a common saying that dogs are attached to persons, and cats to places. A full-grown cat tied up in a bag and carried twenty miles from home, will be sure to find its way back, and rush into the house some morning when the kitchen door is opened. This is what the Belgians say after putting their theory to the test. They tell us that thirty cats of the city of Liege were taken in bags a long distance into the country. The animals were liberated at two o'clock in the afternoon. At 6:48 the same afternoon one of them reached his home. His feline companions arrived at Liege somewhat later, but it is understood that, within twenty hours, every one had returned. Now, in order to utilize this instinct, when a Belgian goes abroad in a region where there are no telegraphs and wishes to hold a regular communication with his family, he takes with him a given number of cats that have been reared upon his premises, writes a letter, fastens it to the collar of one of the number, which, when released, makes straightway for home, and thus performs carrier-pigeon duty.

The Rifle Matches at Creedmoor.

At a meeting of the executive committee of the National Rifle Association at New York, rules for governing the international match at Creedmoor were adopted as follows: Rifles, any not exceeding ten pounds weight, minimum pull of the trigger three pounds, distance 800, 900 and 1,000 yards; number of shots, thirty at each range by each competitor, no sighting shots. Match to last two days, competitors to fire fifteen shots at each distance upon each day, commencing at 800 yards; position, any without artificial rest. Competing teams shall be allowed the use of the range for one week previous to these matches, but on the days of this match no person will be allowed to shoot on the range at any of the distances prescribed, except as competitors. The captains of the competing teams shall elect two referees, and the referees so chosen shall appoint an umpire whose decision in all cases shall be final. For a prize, an American centennial trophy, such trophy to be shot for in each subsequent year upon the same terms in the country of the team holding it, at such time and place as said team, or a majority thereof, shall prescribe, each member of the winning team to receive a medal representing the trophy. The conditions of the Wimbledon cup match and inter-state military match are the same as last year. The inter-state long-range match is open to teams of four from all rifle associations or clubs in the country that may have affiliated with the national rifle association previously; distance 800, 900 and 1,000 yards; rifles, any within the rules; number of shots fifteen, at each range by each competitor, without sighting shots; prize, a trophy, to be held for one year, and each member of the winning team to receive a gold badge.

The Power of Attraction.

Professor Smythe was lecturing in Ossipee on Natural Philosophy, and in the course of his experiments he introduced one of Carrington's most powerful magnets, with which he attracted a block of iron from a distance of two feet. "Can any of you conceive a greater power?" the lecturer demanded. "I ken," answered a voice from the audience. "Not a natural terrestrial object, I opine." "Yaas, sir!" The professor challenged the man who had spoken to name the identical thing. Then up rose old Seth Wilmot. He was a genius in his way, and original. Said he: "I ken give ye the facts, squire, an' ye ken judge for yourself. When I were a young man, thar were a little piece of nateral magnet, done up in a kaliker an' dimity, as was called Betsey Jane. She could draw me fourteen miles every Sunday. Sakes alive, it were jest as nateral as slidin' down hill! Thar wasn't no resistin' her. That ere magnet o youra is pooty good, but 'taint a circumstance to the one that drawed me. No, sir!"

Novel suit in a Chicago Court.

Mr. Perlee H. Webster is a democratic politician of Chicago. He joined a company of rangers and went around with a big drum and a torch during the time of the election, and hallooed himself hoarse shouting for Tilden. Presently he came across a man named John E. Burton, who was a bad republican. John was shouting as loud for Hayes and Wheeler as Webster was for Tilden and Hendricks. At length these two ardent politicians came together. They argued with one another, and finally offered to back up their respective opinions by betting. Mr. Webster said he had a parcel of land in Humphrey County, Tennessee, worth $10,000, which he would put up against any similar amount of property. Burton also had a tract of Illinois land which he valued at $10,000. It was agreed that deeds should be made out to each other, which documents were to be placed in the hands of Henry Whipple, a mutual acquaintance. If Tilden was elected, Mr. Whipple was to hand over the deed of Burton's land to Webster. If Hayes was elected, Whipple was to hand over the deed of Webster's land to Burton. The deeds were executed and placed in Whipple's hands. When election returns began to get rather mixed, and when after a while the Louisiana Returning Board got the matter of election in their own hands, Webster walked around to Mr. Whipple and informed him that his opinion was that Tilden was fairly elected, and that he should not, on any account, turn over the deed to Burton. Whipple disregarded the wishes of Webster, and soon after Hayes' inauguration he handed Burton the deed for Webster's land. Webster grieved over this treatment a good deal, and recently filed a voluminous bill in chancery against Burton and Whipple, narrating this whole transaction and calling upon the Court to set the transfer aside, and also asking for an injunction restraining Burton from selling or encumbering the property. The suit is a novel one, and one the like of which has never been seen in Chicago courts before. —Chicago Times.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 17.

Every one save the croakers operating for Gen. Howard's disgrace is glad to learn of Gen. Sheridan's assurances to the Department that Gen. Gibbon achieved a decisive victory in his fight with the Idaho hostiles, though at a loss of 35 or 40 per cent. of his little army. Sheridan estimates the enemy's loss as proportionally much larger than our own, and believes the action will result in the early submission of the Nez Perces to Government's authority. The reported loss of Gibbon's supply train is declared unfounded, and the attack is shown to have been a complete surprise to the Indians, many of them being shot down as they issued from their places of shelter, only half awakened from their night's sleep by the shouts and cheers of the troops. It should be remembered by those impatient at Howard's seeming tardiness in overhauling Joseph, that while the Indians always move in light marching order, trusting to luck for food, our forces are necessarily encumbered with subsistence and ammunition trains, and when we are more familiar with all the facts, the alleged rashness of Gen. Gibbon may appear to have been a necessity of the situation, and that the Government is indebted to his able generalship for its exemption from a serious disaster.

Gen. Crook is said to have declined to serve on the Commission to be sent to induce the return of Sitting Bull and his braves to their reservations; and Terry, having Canby's fate in view, is not overpowered by the kindly motives of Crook in recommending him instead. It is now said that there will be no civilians included in the Commission, as there is no money available to pay for such services; but that diplomatic army officers who can best be spared, will be detailed to act in conjunction with a representative of the Canadian Government. Should the dusky warrior decline our polite invitation, as it is hoped he will, it is intimated that our Government will hold the Canadian authorities to a strict accountability for raids that he may organize on their territory against us.

Intelligence from Mexico leads to a belief that a conflict between Diaz's troops and our own is imminent and may occur at any moment. It is believed that unless the Mexican raiders who recently came across the Rio Grande, released two desperadoes from the jail at Rio Grande City, shot several Texas officials and then escaped with their prisoners to the Mexican town Carmago, are promptly arrested with the released prisoners, our military authorities will be instructed to take them wherever found. Gov. Hubbard has made a demand for their extradition and the whole matter is now under the consideration of Washington officials to whom it was referred by General Ord.

The Boynton-Moore controversy has apparently enlisted upon the one side or the other our entire adult male population. Besides the subordinate officials implicated it has directed attention anew to the secret service and special agent departments of the Treasury, and many removals are rumored. Mr. Galpin's decapitation as Chief Clerk of the Indian Bureau and that of many other of its employes, is regarded as pretty certain to follow the report of the Commission, which for three months has been secretly investigating its affairs. To his complaints, which appear well founded, that he has been allowed no opportunity to defend himself from charges of unknown accusers, Mr. Schurz responds that he shall be allowed every opportunity for defence.

News and Notes.

The national monument to the forefathers at Plymouth, Mass., was placed in position upon its pedestal on Thursday last. It is a colossal figure of "Faith," cut from a block of white granite. The height of the figure is thirty-six feet. The erection of the monument was begun in 1855, after plans designed by the late Hammatt Billings. Since his death the work has been carried forward under the direction of his brother. The figure, which cost nearly $40,000, has been paid for by some one whose name has been kept secret at his own desire.

A worthy citizen of North Stonington, Conn., named Le Roy Park, one afternoon last week, while in hot pursuit of his cow, fell from the summit of a precipice some thirty feet high. Fortunately he came out feeling sufficiently able to pick a quart of huckleberries for a customer that very evening.

Providence seems to be in a fix over the break-down of its big pumping engine through its being placed over a bed of quicksand. The building still continues to settle, and it is understood that the makers of the engine decline to repair and guarantee it, and one paper calls the $250,000 building and engine "practical wrecks."

Gov. Hartranft of Pennsylvania has called for volunteers, to serve three months.

Col. Nicholas Smith, Ida Greeley's husband, is under bonds to answer for assaulting and horse-whipping Warren Bliss, a gentleman of Chappaqua, N. Y., the trouble having arisen over a question of "precedence" at the post-office. Col. Smith, who is a Kentuckian, is said to be very unpopular among the people of Chappaqua, where he resides, on account of his aristocratic bearing. The villagers call him insolent and overbearing; and whether he is or not, it is certain he is no favorite of theirs. They do not seem to properly appreciate the honor of having a genuine "chivalry" reside in their midst.

A matrimonial epidemic has broken out among the venerable widowers of East Greenwich, R. I., and no less than three septuagenarians have recently been joined in wedlock to blooming widows ranging in age from forty-six to fifty-eight.

A correspondent says, "No Hotel in Boston is kept so bright and clean as the 'old reliable' favorite, the 'American.' The prices have been reduced to $3.00 and $3.50 per day to suit the times, but the table is kept up to its standard of supreme excellence, and is said by travellers to be the best in the city."

Senor Mantilla, the Spanish minister at Washington, officially states that Spain is disposed to satisfy complaints which the United States may desire to make in regard to the cases of the vessels Rising Sun and Elen Rizpah, even before formulated, and to prevent hereafter any cause for similar ones arising. It appears that the acts complained of were committed by the same officer, a subaltern of rank equivalent to that of a coxswain in our navy, through a misunderstanding or excess of zeal. Mantilla states that the Spanish Government directs him to give the Government assurance that hereafter all stipulations of the treaty shall be strictly observed, even by the smallest vessels of the Spanish navy, toward any American vessel found along the Cuban coast and in the Spanish maritime jurisdiction, and that orders have been given by the Captain-General to that effect.

The Coroner's jury in a case of infanticide alleged against William Waugh and Ann Gorman of Nashua has rendered a verdict that the child was born alive, and came to its death by the hands of its parents, in some way to jury unknown. Right About Face.

The Washington correspondent of the Boston Post writes:

"There is a movement on foot here which will be vigorously pressed at the coming session of Congress to induce that body to increase the infantry regiments of the army to twelve companies each, instead of ten, as now constituted, and allow each regiment an additional lieutenant-colonel and major. If successful it would give to the army twenty-five additional lieutenants colonels, the same number of majors, fifty captains and one hundred lieutenants, in all two hundred commissioned officers. The pressure for such increase comes from the South, the object being, if successful, to induce the President to select officers thus to be appointed from that section. It is thought by those who will agitate the subject that if the President will assure the Southern representatives that he will select officers from the South that it will receive the almost solid support of its representatives, and certainly sufficient to carry the measure through Congress. It will be urged upon the Southern representatives that such legislation will tend to produce an era of good feeling toward the army in the South, and will remove the prejudice which has existed against it since the close of the war. Inasmuch as such a movement would tend to further popularize the President among Southern people it is now probable that he will recommend legislation looking to an increase of the army, and will cite the experience of the recent railroad strikes as evidence that a larger military establishment is desirable."

The Post heads this paragraph "An effort to popularize the President in the South by increasing the army." It should be labelled "The southern democrats going for the loaves and fishes." After all the spouting of democratic demagogues against the need of supporting even our present handful of an army, it is suddenly discovered that the army needs to be largely increased in men and officers—that is, provided these officers are taken from the South, which is equivalent to saying if ex-rebel officers are appointed.

The Apollinaris.

It is an ancient axiom in whist, "when you are in doubt, take the trick." In considering the question of what we shall take as a curative and preventative of the ills which increasing years entail upon us, respect for the opinions of the medical savans who endorse the excellence and efficiency of the Apollinaris, a natural mineral water, the medicinal properties of which are vouched for by the most eminent physicians in the country, induces us to advise our readers to give it a trial—as we have.

The Apollinaris is imported by Messrs. Frederick de Bary & Co., who are sole agents in America for this article, and from whose extensive house Nos. 41 and 43 Warren street, New York, the better class of druggists and grocery dealers are supplied throughout the United States. In these hard times, a supply of the Apollinaris will obviate the necessity of a trip to Saratoga, and place the body corporeal in a normal condition with less friction and cost, than can any other sanitary aid.

—What a picnic would do without hornets is a matter of conjecture, as there never has been a way to find out. A hornet is not denominational. It goes to all picnics. And it is a desirable adjunct. It tends to modify greediness, besides adding largely to the general enthusiasm. Five hornets at a small table will do more to level social distinctions and to promote social intercourse than an awful disaster in a village.—Danbury News.

—The Louis Quinze boot-heel is a thing of beauty, but by no means a joy forever to its wearer. A lady wears a pair of sweet little bottines with heels four inches high. She suffers agonies, and, which is worse, the dear heels twist and warp till they look like a pair of leather corkscrews. The shoemaker is summoned in haste. He examines the heels, feels their pulses, tries auscultation, analyzes them, when suddenly he has an idea. "I know what's wrong with these boots!" he cries; "you've been walking in them!"—French Paper.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

The fishing schooner Belle, of Gloucester, Mass., Luke Bassett master, ran ashore on Duck island, Isles of Shoals, at about nine o'clock Friday night, and was totally wrecked, the crew saving nothing but what they stood in. There was a thick haze on the water at the time the schooner went ashore. She was a forty-ton vessel, old but in good condition, and well fitted; was insured in the Provincetown mutual company to the amount of $600. The crew were taken off by schooner Luella Curtis, Capt. Merchant, of Gloucester, landed at Appledore island, and brought in to this city Saturday morning by the Appledore steamer.

Col. J. C. Butler's regular excursion (advertised in another column,) to the Shoals in steamer Appledore comes off next Thursday; tickets for the round trip, (to be procured only of Col. Butler,) 75 cents each. In addition to the regular day trip, he will also have a moonlight excursion on the evening of the same day, the Appledore leaving the wharf at six o'clock and the Shoals at half-past eight; Harlow's band will furnish music.

The Exeter News-Letter says an Italian greyhound belonging to Dr. Junkins, of Greenland, which was bitten some weeks ago by a dog supposed to be mad, exhibited all the symptoms of hydrophobia a few days ago, and was shot.

The Exeter Gazette says a young fellow belonging in this city ran the toll at South Newmarket bridge a few days ago, and was charged only fifteen dollars for his fun, a night's lodging in the lockup at Newmarket being thrown in.

Rev. Samuel Moody was a graduate of the class of 1697, and was settled in York, Me., where he preached forty-nine years. There was in his parish a family which had a child born unto them, very fair and beautiful, insomuch that they decided to call him Absalom. When presented for baptism, Father Moody asked his name. When told it was Absalom, he said with earnestness, "Absalom? Absalom was a proud and rebellious son and sought his father's life, and his name ought not to be kept in remembrance. The child's name is David. David, I baptize thee in the name," etc. That any objection to this was made by the parents tradition saith not.—Cor. Biddeford Journal.

The members of the Portsmouth Cornet Band say they knew nothing about their having disbanded until they say it in the local papers. Well, in the local papers is the proper place to look for the local news. Now is the time to subscribe.

The two fellows, Charles M. Cobbitt and James F. Taylor, of Pittston, Me., who came to this port some time ago in a sloop yacht they had stolen from Gardiner and re-named "Osto," and who were arrested here by Assistant Marshal Gray and sent back to Maine to be tried, were on Friday convicted at Augusta, Mr. Gray being one of the witnesses against them.

The old Ham house at the Creek, which has caused at least three alarms of fire at different times, has been torn down. Good Job.

Messrs. Thomas Entwistle and Joseph R. Holmes were qualified, the first named as City Marshal and the latter as Street Commissioner, on Friday evening, and commenced their respective duties on Saturday.

ANOTHER APOLOGY.

In Friday morning's CHRONICLE we had an item about the yacht "Cock Robin" running on Seaward's ledge and staving in her garboard strakes, the skipper carrying the man with him ashore "pig-back," etc. When we got to the office, some hours after the paper was issued, we found on our desk a card bearing the name of the Cock Robin's commander, and with it a sheet of paper on which somebody—we think we detect the hand of the "devil" in this business—had made pen-and-ink sketches of an irate sailor throwing the editor out of the window, scalping the editor, kicking the editor down stairs, cramming the editor into the coal-box, and in other ways maltreating that worthy member of society. After a brief interview with the official demon we fixed things so that we could retire to the roof, haul up the ladder, and close the scuttle and sit on it, on the slightest provocation; laid a revolver under a pile of exchanges on our desk; arranged the paste pot, big scissors and paper weights where they would be handy to grab and throw; slipped a sword cane up our sleeve and the sheep's-foot in the hip pocket of our pants, and proceeded to wait for developments. But no developments arrived, and having stood a state of siege all Friday and Saturday, we have concluded to make the amende honorable, as the easiest way of getting out of it. We are tired of emigrating to the roof every time we hear a footstep on the lower flight of stairs; that's what's the matter with us; we can't run up a ladder so easily as we used to, when we only weighed a hundred and forty-five. Now, therefore, we would inform the captain that it is of no use to call at the office hoping to catch us before ten o'clock in the forenoon, as we generally lie abed until that hour; after that we are usually absent the rest of the day, getting shaved, etc. Further, that it would pain us much more to have one of our friends scalped than to be scalped ourself; that Mr. Rashe Trefethen, of Kittery, is one of our valued friends; and that if wishes to punish us with the utmost severity he will scalp Rashe—we had just as lief he would scalp Rashe as not. Also, we acknowledge that we were misled, deluded and deceived by the man who told us about the Cock Robin running upon Seaward's ledge, and hereby retract everything we or others have said or may hereafter say on the subject; we do not believe there is any such boat as the Cock Robin, and we are sure that Seaward's ledge exists only in the imagination of our informant. If there is anything else our friend the skipper wants us to say before he will sign a treaty of peace, all he has got to do is to write it out and send it to us, and we'll print it; we are not going to war for lack of making an apology, and when we commence to apologize we go the whole figure, and no fooling.

VISITING GOOD TEMPLARS.

A delegation of some twenty-five Good Templars, members of Centennial Lodge, I. O. G. T., of Dover, came to this city on Thursday evening, on a social visit to Rockingham Lodge of Portsmouth. Of course it is not possible to report the "work" which followed; but it can scarcely do harm to say that a spirited and interesting debate was one feature, and that the Dover G. T's found the Portsmouth Lodge has its lights "trimmed and burning," and is ready (in "F., H. and C.,") to challenge any lodge to slow a better record for practical work accomplished. The visitors were much pleased with the reception given them, and it is presumed that the Portsmouth members of the order feel encouraged by such manifestations of interest in their success.

A visitor to the Bennington celebration says the honors are pretty evenly divided,—New York furnished a battle-field, New Hampshire men fought the battle, and Vermont has the monument that commemorates it.—Traveller.

A San Antonio, Texas, despatch says that Gen. Benavides telegraphs to Gen. Ord that of eight of the outlaws who have attacked the Rio Grande jail, five reside in Camargo, Mexio, and the other two in Texas. Three have been captured, and the prospect of the capture of the others is good. He also stated that the neutrality laws should be enforced.

—Mr. M. McNulty of San Francisco lost his beloved wife and two beloved children, and in his grief, as a witness testified, "took hold of a Chinaman to throw him into the bay, to keep up his courage, like." The grief-stricken husband and father was fined $150.

—A Chicago man was asked by a policeman why he was sitting on a doorstep at a late hour in the night. He replied that he lived there, had been put out because his wife thought that he was drunk, and that he proposed to wait there until she was asleep and then crawl into the house throught the cellar window.

—One of the school board inspectors asked a small pupil of what the surface of the earth consists, and was promptly answered, "Land and water." He varied the question slightly that the fact might be impressed on the boy's mind, and asked, "What then do land and water make?" to which came the immediate response, "Mud."

To Render the Liver Active

When that important secretive gland requires arousing, it is only requisite to resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the national remedy for inactivity of the bilious organ, for constipation, and for besides those malarious disorders to which torpidity of the liver predisposes a person. Far more surely does this celebrated anti-bilious cordial accomplish a curative result than mercury or any other mineral drug used to cure liver disorders. In fact, such medicaments cannot fairly be called remedies, since, although they may have a temporary effect, they eventually fail to influence the system remedially, but instead often do it serious injury. The Bitters, on the contrary, are a specific of the most salutary nature, and are likewise a reliable and agreable tonic, appetizer and nervine.

"United we stand," as the joined fragments said to SPALDING'S GLUE.

The State of Louisiana, at the close of the war, found itself in a very crippled condition, financially; so the authorities imitated the example of Congress at the close of the Revolutionary war, and that of the States of Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania and New York, as well as many other commonwealths in times gone by, and in 1868 incorporated some of its leading citizens in the Louisiana State Lottery Company, with a capital of one million dollars, since augmented by three hundred and fifty thousand dollars accumulation as a reserve, all of which is paid up in cash. This company quarterly pays the State a large fund for the maintenance of its hospitals and schools and other charitable and educational purposes. The lottery is drawn monthly, without fail, in the City of New Orleans, under the personal supervision of the two ex-Confederate Chieftains, Generals P. T. Beauregard, of Louisiana, and Jubal Early, of Virginia, and the full schemes can be had by writing to M. A. Dauphin, Esq., President, Lock Box, 692, P. O., New Orleans. HALL'S

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, as may desire. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and efficiently produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair grey, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proved that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its color. When weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stablished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, disease of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. I will make the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that defy all other medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of humanity from their fatal effects, that is well rounded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

—The Maharajah of Jaipur, in India, has determined upon eradicating from his State the odious custom by which Hindoo widows are prohibited from re-marrying. To carry out this laudable purpose he has appointed a council, consisting of four Pundits and one European, who are well versed in Sanskrit. It will be the duty of these gentlemen to explain to the people that the remarriage of widows is nowhere prohibited by the Shastars, and that such marriages will be recognized by the State as lawful and commendable.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff Joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 22d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Liniments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 Dey St., New York.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimsch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. 1mo1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. 1mo1

DR. QUAIN'S

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the root of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2½ years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I continued taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 26th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No pain, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will be of my way this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. But I remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head, I do not know how many of the best physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling at the medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, as it was the only chance for a cure for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took. I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO. Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

CITY HEALTH REGULATIONS.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 30, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEE. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the ground. All owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any seller of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a more effectual cure by a stranger of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they disorganize, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Exostosis and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

A Romance of Fort George Island.

Fort George Island—a winter resort at the St. John's River, Florida, which is coming into fashion—is the subject of an enthusiastic writer in Scribner, who relates the following story:

"The young owner of the island, cultivating hundreds of acres and raising enormous crops of cotton and sugar, used to build schooners in a ship-yard of his own, and imported slaves directly from the African coast, selling to his neighbors such as he did not want. He was unmarried. Perhaps no one of the daughters of the neighboring planters could be persuaded to share the lonely life which could hardly have appeared attractive in any woman's eyes; perhaps he preferred a life of freedom and independence. However that may have been, he was in the habit of going occasionally to Africa himself and of buying his slaves from the native chiefs, who disposed in this way of their prisoners of war.

During one of these visits, while engaged in bargaining, he was struck with the grace and beauty of the chief's young daughter, a child of ten years old. He proposed to buy her, but she was a favorite child and her father could not part with her. Persuasions were for a time unavailing, but at length the savage father, unable to resist the glitter of the white man's gold, agreed to part with his child upon condition that she should be treated with consideration and brought up as becomes a king's daughter. The planter promised, and, strange to say, he kept his word. She was kindly cared for and well educated, and in course of time became the planter's lawful wife. She had, according to tradition, with the exception of a dark skin, none of the usual negro characteristics. Her handsome features were regular, her hair smooth, her presence dignified and commanding. Her husband seems never to have regretted his unusual course, and her influence over her captive countrymen was unbounded. In addition to her position and superior intelligence was the consideration of her native rank, which to them at least was a source of unquestioned right.

The establishment was kept up in almost princely style. The sons were sent to England to be educated; for the daughters French and English governesses were procured, and established in separate houses near the mansion; white artisans of various kinds were constantly employed, making quite a large community aside from the hundreds of slaves upon the island. And over all this, in her husband's long and frequent absences, reigned our dusky princess, as absolute in her insular domain as her savage father in his native wilds. She had a strong and powerful mind, and womanly kindness and sympathy as well. One old negro, who died some time since, so old that no one could remember him as other than old, used to tell how he was brought over when young to this island, where he had lived ever since, and how he and others, sick and exhausted, were ministered to by the "missis" own hands, and how they all loved her and always prayed, 'Lord bless Ma'am Hannah!' Every morning as she stood upon this very spot the field hands passed in review before her, each gang with its driver, going to their daily work. She inspected them all, picking out such as were unfit for labor and sending them to the hospital or to lighter tasks; and every night in the same spot she heard a report of the day, examined into all complaints, and with strict justice adjudged each offender's punishment; and without her order not a lash could be given."

Aldine's Sweet Home.

As I spoke, Aldine came down the stair and stood in blushing radiance on the lowest step; for I started back with a cry of surprise—though always beautiful, she had never appeared so bewilderingly lovely. Aldine stood in a pretty attitude, one dainty dimpled hand, with its rosy finger tips, drawing aside her dress, the other holding gloves scarcely less white than they. Her hair rippled in golden waves of graded ringlets down her back, and rose in a fluffy mass from her low white forehead; a Juno rose and a spray of green leaves being the only ornament. One white shoulder rose, like Venus, from a sea of fleecy drapery. Her eyes, of the darkest, deepest blue, flashed a sunny smile at me, and her tiny foot with its satin slipper peeped coquettishly from beneath a bewildering toilet of tulle, silk and rosebuds. She seemed to float in the air, and I involuntarily put out my hands to stay her flight. But no! there she stood—and all at once her rosy mouth opened, disclosing a set of pearly teeth, and, in a voice as clear and sweet as the tinkle of silver bells, she murmured "Oh, Jack, I do hope they'll have lobster salad!" —Graphic.

Governors' Week at Philadelphia.

An invitation has been extended by the Exhibitors at the Permanent International Exhibition to the Governors of all the States and Territories of the Union, to visit the Exhibition during the last week in August, for purposes of general conference. It promises to be a notable event, and arrangements are being perfected to make the visit highly enjoyable to the participants. The programme includes a preliminary meeting at Independence Hall, on Tuesday, August 28th; a formal reception at the Exhibition by the Exhibitors and Management, on Wednesday; a grand industrial parade from the manufactories of the city, reviewed by the Governors, on Thursday; visiting leading manufactories, on Friday; a visit to Cape May over Sunday. The trip will be further extended to New York, (with a stop at the Trenton potteries,) where three or four days will be devoted to an examination of New York industries, and then to Boston and the manufacturing cities of Lowell, Lawrence, and Waltham, closing with a trip to the White Mountains.

The Eastern War.

A despatch from Erzeroum says that a great battle took place on Saturday at Makardez Tabia, a town ten miles from Erzeroum, in which 35,000 Russian infantry and ten regiments of cavalry, with 110 guns, attacked Mouhktar Pasha, who was intrenched at that place. An artillery battle lasted from seven o'clock in the morning until evening, when the Russians retreated, losing about 1000 men and leaving much material on the field.

A despatch from Bucharest says General Todleben has been appointed Commander-in-Chief of the Danubian Army. Todleben is the general who so gallantly defended Sebastopol from the allied armies during the Crimean war. A despatch from Vienna reports the junction of the armies under Sulieman and Mehemet Ali, and that a great battle is imminent near Bebrova. Russian despatches say Osman Pasha's strong position at Plevna is an uncomfortable one, the Russian cavalry having cut off his communications with Sophia and captured his convoys of ammunition and provisions.

The Regular Army.

The Army and Navy Journal found in the labor troubles an excellent text on which to preach a sermon in relation to the reckless partisanship displayed in dealing with the army by the last Congress, and has ably "improved the occasion" to urge the placing of the army on a proper footing by recruiting the existing regiments to their full strength, and the adoption of some kind of general law for the government of the militia. It closes an able article on this subject in its issue of Aug. 18th, as follows:

"America has thrown open her doors and offered an asylum and a home to the oppressed of all nations of the earth, and she is now reaping the bitter fruits of her generosity. The ignorant and the depraved have formed (of late years) a large percentage of our increase from foreign immigration. They have filled our prisons, workhouses, and poorhouses, and have increased the police expenses of the country immensely, and have been generally an undesirable addition to our population. They have overcrowded the labor market, reduced the price of a day's work, have pushed the native out of his home and forced him to seek a livelihood further west, and now are the first to raise the hand of agrarianism in our midst. These facts can no longer be denied or evaded, and the very power of organization exhibited by the rebellious spirit warns us of future dangers which must be met, while the general timidity of the daily press in dealing with the subject of the crime involved in rioting shows how strong is the party which upholds mob law. In common with the real people of America, the self-respecting majority of the inhabitants of our whole country, we hold the doctrines of these papers to be pernicious and opposed to the true theory of all government—the greatest good of the greatest number—as shown in the supremacy of law against every form of usurpation, whether by a mob or a 'safety commitee' so called. To render the law supreme at all times, it must have an efficient instrument, that can be relied on under any circumstances to sustain the will of the majority expressed by law. The only instrument that we have found by experience to answer this purpose perfectly as far as it goes, is the regular army; and after it comes the militia, in exact proportion to its discipline and organization. The first step, then, dictated by the plain necessity of the hour, is to remove from the army those unwise restrictions which have crippled its efficiency for the past year or two. It needs no substantial increase by regiments, but it does need to be recruited up to the full standard of numbers adequate to the service which it is actually forced to perform. The next step is to increase by a general law the strength, instruction, and discipline of the militia, in close connection with the army, with a bureau in the War Department devoted to establishing uniformity of instruction throughout the States, so that from the ranks of the army and militia a force formidable alike in peace and war may be raised. Should such a reform be hastened by the consequences of the late riots, the lesson will be cheaply learned. As it is, the events of a week have shown us that we stand on the brink of an abyss as formidable as that which yawned before us in 1861. Shall we heed the lesson in time? We trust so for the sake of our country."

News and Notes.

At Shawsheen Grove, Ballardvale, Mass., Sunday afternoon, three thousand people listened to the most outspoken declarations of free love doctrines by Mattie Sawyer, Stephen Pearl Andrews, Leo Miller, Julia Severance, Elvira L. Hull and Moses Hull. The lawful wife of Hull, who is now living as the "affinity" of a Vineland, N. J., man, read a declaration that she has no enmity to Mattie Sawyer, Hull's present affinity. Hull presented a declaration of principles, denouncing marriage as the cause of idiocy, insanity, rape, adultery, drunkenness and murder, and urged that previous to making a civil contract to consort together, people should live with each other as affinities.

Five young men went sailing on a pond at Gray, Me., Saturday. When some distance from shore one of them persisted in climbing the mast, and a puff of wind capsized the boat. Three of the party were drowned.

A young gentleman who has been teaching school in Tennessee, but who prefers ease and comfort and plenty of money to a life of toil, has opened his heart in the presence of a Western editor. "To be an editor," he sighs, "to sit in an elegant sanctum, with nothing to do but write, to go when and where I please free of cost, and lead the editor's quiet life of ease, without care or trouble of any sort, is the height of my ambition."

A petition, praying for the commutation of the sentence of Albert F. Joy, the Rockport (Mass.) murderer, from death by hanging to imprisonment for life, has been prepared by his counsel, and is receiving many signatures in Newburyport and elsewhere.

A Chicago dispatch says Gen. Sheridan believes that Joseph's band will attempt to strike the headwaters of Tongue River, through the Yellowstone Park. Gen. Sherman is in Yellowstone Park with only five men as escort. Much alarm is felt for his safety.

Steamer Alert arrived at Hong Kong July 24th from a cruise to Dampier Straits. This vessel was sent by Admiral Reynolds to search for ten or twelve persons reported shipwrecked on an island near Dampier Straits. Admiral Reynolds had not received particulars of the cruise at the time he wrote.

The Permanent International Exhibition, at Philadelphia, offers to merchants in every part of the country facilities such as were never before presented for the examination and comparison of all the various styles and qualities of manufactured goods that are placed on the market. A day or two spent there before making purchases will enable any intelligent buyer to enter the market at a great advantage. It has surprised all who have visited the Exhibition to find so grand and complete a display of American industries, while the grouping of exhibits in classes is admirably adapted to facilitate comparison.

The account given by the official telegrams of Gen. Gibbon's brave fight with the Indians needs little comment. Gen. Gibbon acted on the principle which has ruled our army from necessity ever since its organization—to strike Indians wherever found and in whatever force. This desperate policy is dictated by necessity. If our troops counted numbers in an Indian fight they would never engage, for the disparity is always enormous, and will be as long as the army is confined to its present limits. What is certain about this last battle is that it was desperately and heroically fought, and that the final prize of victory rested with the army, the Indians leaving their dead on the field. That the price of victory was paid in the loss of nearly half of the attacking party, makes the victory itself all the more precious, and we trust that Congress will reward every man that fought at the Big Hole battle for his heroism.—Army and Navy Journal.

James H. Lee, one of the seamen on board the Kearsarge when the rebel steamer Alabama was captured, and one of the three sailors thanked by the Navy Department for conspicuous coolness and bravery during that contest, has died in New York of brain fever.

It appears that Gambetta made an important political speech at Lille, some days ago, and the unfortunate French papers are just getting bold enough to mention the fact and give some extracts from it. He was out-spoken against the Bonapartists, whom he called the party of invasion, and he declared that MacMahon must submit to the will of the people. There must be either submission or resignation.

Captain Arthur S. Nesmith died suddenly in Franklin, Saturday evening, of hemorrhage of the lungs, at the residence of his father, Hon. George W. Nesmith. He contracted malaria while in the army, from which he never fully recovered. He was Quartermaster of the Third Regiment of this State and afterwards of the defences of Washington. His age was forty-four years. He leaves a wife and two children at his residence at Arlington Heights, near Washington.

A heavy shower visited Manchester Saturday night; the rain fell in torrents and flooded the streets. One could go from Manchester to Lowell streets along Elm street easily in a row-boat. Many cellars were flooded, from two to four feet deep. The steam fire engines were summoned out to pump. The lightning seriously interrupted the fire alarm telegraph.

The Methodist church in Goffstown was struck by lightning, Saturday, and burned to the ground. Loss, $4000; no insurance. The organ and carpets were saved.

Joseph Currier's house in Belmont was burned Saturday afternoon, together with the barn and the farm produce in it. Cause, defective chimney. The buildings were insured $600.

Frank Dakin, of Manchester, aged thirty-eight years, cut his throat on Sunday night with a razor. He was a young man of correct habits, and much esteemed. It is supposed he had suddenly become insane, as insanity was hereditary in his family.

The citizens of the Granite State present at the Bennington celebration write in praise of the appearance and deportment of the military companies sent to represent her in the procession and parades incident to the occasion. On the route, both going and returning, and while at Bennington, there was not the slightest breach of discipline nor of decorum, but every officer and soldier carried himself as a gentleman should and with a due appreciation of the fact that he was a representative of the grand old Commonwealth whose heroic sons of the hundred years ago did so much toward winning the battle of Bennington.—Concord Monitor.

Timothy Cronin, a boy twelve years old, was killed in Manchester on Monday by being run over by a freight train, from which he jumped when it was in motion. He was stealing a ride. His widowed mother became insane.

Mr. Benjamin P. Sanborn, of Candia, has in his possession quite a curiosity. It is a large cent, coined in the year 1787. On one side is a circle, made up of thirteen small circles, linked together, signifying thirteen States, which at that time constituted the United States. Inside of this circle is a small one, around which are the words "United States," and in the centre of it, "We are one." On the face of the cent is the figure of the rising sun, and directly below it is a sun dial with the hours marked around it. A ray of light is thrown directly across the dial and points to six o'clock. Below the dial are the words "Mind your business," and on the left side "Fugio;" on the right side are the figures 1787. Mr. Sanborn has another cent, bearing the date 1794. On the rim are stamped the words, "One hundred for a dollar."

— Mr. Labouchere, who owns three theatres and London Truth, says:—"In America young ladies are accustomed to sit all day in darkened rooms in order to bleach themselves." Mr. Labouchere knows about as much about American girls as the editor of an agricultural newspaper knows about farming.

—There was one Syracuse man who didn't dare to go home at all the other night, but slept out under the trees somewhere. He had been on a Sunday-school railroad excursion, and when the party started home, was so gallant in assisting a handsome young lady on board the cars that he let his wife miss the train, and she had to follow on by the way freight. Under the circumstances, we don't think home would have been exactly safe for him. —New York Commercial.

Very truly yours,

POLICE COURT.

Monday, August 20th.

Bridget Sykes was charged with having been drunk. She denied this, but admitted that she was badly deceived and made to act queerly by two morphine powders which she took. Other evidence seemed to show that Bridget was mistaken, and she was ordered to pay $9.90, fine and costs.

Mary Jones, who has served several terms at Brentwood for drunkenness, was sent up once more on account of not having $9.90 to pay for her last drunk.

Richard Roberts, drunk, $9.90. Brentwood.

Another young man was also assessed $9.90 for drunkenness, from which he appealed. As it is the first time his name has been given to us in connection with Police Court reports we refrain from printing it, hoping it will also be the last time we shall hear of him in such a way.

AN INGENIOUS INVENTION.

Decidedly the most convenient and economical contrivance that we have yet seen in the shape of a gas burner for sleeping rooms, halls, engine houses or other places where it may be desirable or necessary to keep a burner lighted through the night, ready for instant use without the bother and loss of time of hunting for and striking a match, is a newly invented burner of which Mr. George W. Guppy holds the agency for this city and Dover. When the gas is turned on the flame is that of an ordinary burner, the common lava tips being used; but when the gas is shut off from the main burner, by the same motion a flame as big a grain of barley is kindled in another place, where it is not only concealed from sight but is protected from any ordinary draught of air by a metal jacket, the light given by it when thus turned down being about half that given by a fire-fly, and the consumption of gas we should judge about a cent's worth in a century. When the full light is turned on the little nurse-light is extinguished. There is nothing in the burner to get out of order, and for anybody who wants to keep a light always ready at hand and does not want to burn much gas in so doing, it is the best thing yet and is not likely to be soon improved upon.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

Attention is called to the sale by auction at noon to-day, at Stone's eating house on Ladd street, of valuable real estate. This property will probably bring a good price, as it has always commanded good rents, and is within a stone's throw of Market square. See advertisement of "Mortgagee's Sale" in another column.

The third excursion to the Shoals under the auspices of the Woman's Temperance League, per steamer Appledore, comes off to-day. Fare, 75 cents for the round trip; children under 12 years of age half price; tickets for sale by David Kimball & Co.

The Hutchinson Family, "Tribe of Asa," who are to sing at Franklin Hall on Thursday evening, gave a concert in Dover on the evening of the 15th inst., of which the Dover Democrat speaks as follows: "The excellence of the concert by the Hutchinsons in the Methodist church last night cannot be properly portrayed in words. Neither can anything we or anybody may say in favor of the 'tribe of Asa' add anything to their reputation as the sweetest vocalists in the country. They are without rivals in their splendid entertainments. The large church was full of people, and the universal expression is that no such nicely adapted and perfectly pleasing concert was ever before given in Dover."

Lieut. George W. Rand, of the famous New York Seventh Regiment, formerly of this city and now one of the landlords of the St. Cloud Hotel in New York city, is stopping at the Shoals.

On Saturday afternoon, little Matt. Cotter, a boy ten years old, fell from a pile of boards on Samuel Adams & Co.'s wharf into the river. The tide was at half-flood and running very rapidly, and the boy was being swept away to certain death when Mr. Robert Anderson, the efficient officer in charge at the navy yard landing, jumped into a boat and reached the drowning boy just as he disappeared beneath the surface for the third time. One moment's hesitation or delay and Mr. Anderson would have been too late to save the little fellow. Several persons owe their preservation from drowning to Mr. Anderson's promptness and energy.—Times.

The Boston Journal of Monday says: "The fine ship Chocorua, of Portsmouth, N. H., Captain Matthews, arrived at this port to-day after a passage of one hundred and six days from Singapore, bringing a valuable cargo of tin, sugar, gambier, nutmegs, pepper, etc."

The schooner Water Lily, Capt. Wyman, from St. Stephens, N. B., with a load of railroad sleepers, arrived at this port some time ago, discharged her cargo, and sailed on her return about the 10th inst. On Monday a telegram was received in this city from the schooner's owners, asking where the vessel had got to, but nobody could answer it; but as her captain, who is a very well informed man and most agreeable companion, has one very serious failing, it is supposed he has put in at some port between here and St. Stephens "to see a man."

The working model of the famous Strasburg clock, which has attracted great attention in Boston for many months past, will be on exhibition in Congress Hall next week, commencing on Monday. It is one of the mechanical wonders of the age.

Steamer Everett, of Salisbury, with a party of gentlemen from that place, visited our harbor on Saturday.

The grocery store of Mr. Rufus Barrell at York Harbor was broken into a few nights ago, and about $40 in money and $60 in goods stolen.

Steamer Sagamore was out on Atkinson street, Monday afternoon, for another trial, and worked to the entire satisfaction of the engineers, with one stream and then with two. This engine is now in fully as good condition for service as when she was new.

The first private business telephone put up in this city has just been put by the telegraph operator at the Eastern depot, who is the agent for the telephone in this city, connecting C. E. Walker & Co's office at the north end of Market street with their office on Water street. Now, when the men in the two offices wish to confer, all they have to do is talk to the tin pans at their respective ends of the wire, and the tin pans talk back.

Men Who Failed.

Perhaps we should not too greatly blame the public men who have failed in this strange and unlooked for test. Not to speak of those journalists, (mostly democratic, thank heaven,) who have basely pandered to the mob and have done its dirty work, those governors and mayors who proved unequal to the demand of the hour probably did so in most cases from innate poverty of spirit and resources. The Mayor of Toledo put himself at the head of the mob. The mayor of Cincinnati disgracefully bowed to its decrees. The mayor of Indianapolis wilted into imbecility in its presence, and the governor of Indiana could not have acted more completely as the mob desired if he had been one of its most trusted leaders. But he folded his limp hands, because he is a driveler and an incompetent, and sat down in the chair which Morton once filled, while a mob, holding possession of his capital, trampled law under unholy feet, and reveled and rioted in his very presence.—Anderson (Ind.) Herald.

Personal Courage.

Brave men are seldom inclined to throw the first stone of reprobation at a coward, for they know how peculiar a quality courage is, varying in the same person towards different objects, and sometimes even affected by changing moods and circumstances. A man who would not blench from fire in a pitched battle may dread a street fight in which he may get kicked, bruised and disfigured. A man whom nothing can terrify on land may be a very baby on the water. A stout man-at-arms has often been panic stricken at the idea of a ghost. The bravest man in the army of Pyrrhus was afflicted with a grievous disease, but he became very cautious and worthless when the King's physician cured him. Frederick the Great was frightened at his first battle. The young soldiers of Pompey fought well until Cæsar's veterans struck at their comely faces. A man not afraid to encounter a lion may shrink at the sight of a snake, and he who has a reckless disregard of mankind in general may have a mysterious dread of one particular person. This truth Homer understood thoroughly and made his heroes run away one day and charge the next, as the mood prompted them or as the men of whom they stood in terror were present in the battle or absent in the tents. Blessed is the possession of serene strong courage, for the man who has it walks through life unruffled by the vague but tormenting demons of the imagination. He suffers not from blows that are never struck, from ambuscades that are not laid, from burglars that pick no locks and break open no safes. But the poor coward is ever in dread of shadows that strike more terror to his soul than the substance of real evils.—World.

Scaring away the Eclipse.

Soon after my arrival at Bagdad, on the evening of the first day in May, as we were dining on the terrace, we were startled by a most terrific din. We then noticed that there was nearly a total eclipse of the moon, and upon consulting an English almanac we found that it would be "invisible at Greenwich, but a total eclipse in Australia and some parts of Asia." The tumult increased, and soon the whole population seemed to have assembled on the housetops, armed with pots, pans and kitchen utensils, which they beat with a tremendous clatter, at the same time screaming and howling at the top of their voices. Frequent reports of guns and pistols added to the turmoil, which was kept up for nearly an hour, until they had succeeded in frightening away the Jin, or evil spirit, who had caught hold of the moon. It was a most amusing scene, although it interfered seriously with the success of our dinner. Our own servants caught the excitement, and deserted the table without ceremony. Our host told us the next day that they well-nigh knocked the bottoms out from all his kitchen utensils. It was, however, a complete success, and when our servants returned to their duty, the moon was shining brightly as ever, and upon their faces was an air of complacent satisfaction.—Scribner.

The Fame of Boston's "Honesty."

The experience of the city sealers of Boston is enough to shake one's faith in human honesty. They have summarized their work between June 6 and July 1, and found that of 592 scales (each with, on an average, six weights) about ninety per cent. erred on the light side, and thirty per cent. of 1000 wet and dry measures were too small. The widest variations from honesty were found in the measures of fruit dealers and milkmen, to say nothing of the fact that most of the former sold by wine measure, cheating the customer out of about a gill at each measuring. In two cases of high-class butter-dealers' spring balances five ounces short on the pound were discovered. In another case a "pound weight" was found that weighed eleven and a half ounces. Ten of the sixteen weights submitted by a Charlestown deacon were short from one ounce to four ounces. And so on, down a long list, which, fortunately, Boston customers can see for themselves at headquarters.—N. Y. World.

— Sweet things have their annoyances. Sugar has a "drawback" and lovely women a pullback.

—A millionnaire in San Francisco has paid $700 for kissing the family seamstress; yet people will persist in saying that prices are going down.

— Scene (in a theatrical agency).—An artist enters: "Well, sir, what can I do for you? What is your line of business?" "Low comedy, sir!" "What parts are you up in?" "Hamlet, King Lear, Richelieu, Othello!" "Hold on—those are not low comedy parts." "Don't know if they are or not. All I know is that I can make the people laugh, when I play in them."

To Render the Liver Active

When that important secretive gland requires arousing, it is only requisite to resort to Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, the national remedy for inactivity of the bilious organ, for constipation, and for besides those malarious disorders to which torpidity of the liver predisposes a person. Far more surely does this celebrated anti-bilious cordial accomplish a curative result than mercury or any other mineral drug used to cure liver disorders. In fact, such medicaments cannot fairly be called remedies, since, although they may have a temporary effect, they eventually fail to influence the system remedially, but instead often do it serious injury. The Bitters, on the contrary, are a specific of the most salutary nature, and are likewise a reliable and agreable tonic, appetizer and nervine.

We Can't Talk

"United we stand," as the joined fragments said to SPALDING'S GLUE.

The State of Louisiana, at the close of the war, found itself in a very crippled condition, financially; so the authorities imitated the example of Congress at the close of the Revolutionary war, and that of the States of Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania and New York, as well as many other commonwealths in times gone by, and in 1868 incorporated some of its leading citizens in the Louisiana State Lottery Company, with a capital of one million dollars, since augmented by three hundred and fifty thousand dollars accumulation as a reserve, all of which is paid up in cash. This company quarterly pays the State a large fund for the maintenance of its hospitals and schools and other charitable and educational purposes. The lottery is drawn monthly, without fail, in the City of New Orleans, under the personal supervision of the two ex-Confederate Chieftains, Generals P. T. Beauregard, of Louisiana, and Jubal Early, of Virginia, and the full schemes can be had by writing to M. A. Dauphin, Esq., President, Lock Box, 692, P. O., New Orleans. The next drawing is on Sept. 4.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color. It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard or whiskers to a natural and undetectable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves the hair from premature decay. Thus baldness, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color, its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed those dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Daily Chronicle.

—The story of an Oshkosh man who took up a collection at the funeral of his wife, which is going the rounds as illustrating a mean man, says the LaCrosse Sun, is explained by the fact that the bereaved man is a church deacon, and for twenty years he had always taken up a collection while the choir was singing the second time. At the funeral, when the choir struck up "Old Hundred," before he thought what he was doing, he got up and passed the hat as usual, to raise money to defray the necessary expenses. When his attention was called to it after the funeral, and he thought how his motive would be misconstrued, he felt as bad about it as anybody. It was not an evidence of meanness, but a case of absence of mind.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff Joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 22d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Liniments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 Dey St., New York.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, opium, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, and neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any body in existence.

Dr. E. Kanch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using Castoria in my practice with the most signal results and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the Castoria. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. Rose & Co., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. (nov1)

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedy for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil; it is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and gives natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children feeling may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. (nov1)

CONDITION PILLS!
The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!
No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2½ years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. I have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month after the Wonderful Cure by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected in him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1873.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and forty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1873.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1873.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving this testimonial, so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago Indyiesd him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been free from the Rhumatic Pain complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE!

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, 73.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sirr—I have been afflicted for twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and neck. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most of the time for eight or nine winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most obstinate they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Moffit, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and send to Mrs. Laura Sherrell, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1874.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
or the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs, irving climate of New England
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy elief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
USE
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. His offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purges the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the destruction of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose sustainance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Tetter or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

THE BRONZE STATUE.

Among the youth of a pleasant rural village of Prussia, in the earlier years of the present century, was Ivan Allensky, the only child of a Polish emigrant, who, compelled to flee with his wife and infant child from his unhappy country after the disastrous result of the attempt at Revolution, under Kosciasko, had settled at the little village above referred to. His family had been among the wealthier class of the inhabitants of his native city, and he, while compelled to resign the large landed inheritance that had fallen to him, was still enabled to secure enough of value about his person in making his escape, to provide for him all life's comforts in his place of retreat. In the sixth year of his marriage, he was taken off by a malignant fever that made its appearance in the ordinarily healthy district of his adoption, and thus the widow and her little one, with their servant, were left the sole occupants of their once happy home. Ivan, with the intelligence of both his parents, inherited from his father an ambitition that in the case of the latter, had been ungratified through parental control, that of becoming a soldier. Nothing in the way of amusement pleased him so much, when he grew older, as to form his youthful companions into little companies, and lead them on to the storming of some imaginary fortress and the capture of the garrison. He loved, too, to read of battles, and everything relating to the profession of arms; a taste that found ample food for gratification in the works that with others formed the well-stored library that had been one of the chief sources of enjoyment to his father in his exile; nor did he ever tire of reading and talking of his father's intimate friend and companion, the brave but unfortunate patriot and hero, Kosciusko. In a country where the advantages of education are so well appreciated, he did not fail to receive the best within the means of his mother to bestow upon him, amply rewarding her by his diligence in study for the exertions she had made that he might reflect credit upon the memory of his father, and of whom his relatives in Poland, if he should ever meet with them, might be proud as a kinsman. To the noble and generous characteristics of his father, and the qualities that had made his mother beloved from her childhood, was added in him the personal elegance of both; so that at the age of sixteen, none of his sex was so popular as he among the youths and maidens of his native village. A year later, just as he had completed his studies and was about turning his attention to some pursuit that would afford him the means of future subsistence, the heaviest sorrow he had ever known fell to his lot in the death of his mother, as he was too young at the time of the death of his father ever to have known any other parent than she who had loved him as only a mother can love. She had been ailing for many months of a malady hereditary in her family, but unwilling to give pain to her son by such a disclosure, she had borne it in silence, well knowing that it would be enough for him to bear when her disease reached its crisis, which it was sure to do ere another year had passed away.

Utterly alone in the world as Ivan felt himself to be, when the hope he had cherished of being the comfort and support of his mother in her declining years was thus suddenly blasted, he wandered away by himself for days together in the woods that skirted the village and wished only that he, too, might peacefully pass away and be reunited with her. It was not that he lacked a host of friends who would gladly have done all within their power to render his lonely lot a happier one; but none could supply the loss of a mother who was dearer to him than life itself. He was at length aroused by the stirring news that reached his birth-place of deeds of valor on some great battle-field, for Napoleon was then keeping all Europe in arms while running his brilliant career that terminated so ingloriously on the field of Waterloo, and he resolved to gratify his long cherished wish of becoming a soldier. While parting with regret from those at whose hands he had never known aught but kindness, and who bestowed upon him many blessings for his own and his mother's sake, there was none among his youthful companions to whom it pained him so much to say farewell as Louise Meyer, the fairest as all acknowledged, and, as he deemed, the brightest and the best of all the village maidens. Like him the only child of a widowed mother, they had been close companions, being near neighbors, from their earliest childhood. Fully aware of the uncertain destiny of a soldier, though never doubting that his love for her was in a measure returned, he asked no promise of her to await his return ere she pledged her faith to another; yet he fondly hoped that some bright after day would see her his wife.

Soldiers were wanted in any number, for Napoleon kept all the nations busy while winning a name that in modern days had known no equal, and repairing to a recruiting station not many miles distant, Ivan enrolled himself as a soldier in the host that was gathering to check the progress of the great conqueror who had so brought the nations to his feet, though he would with more of heart have embarked in an enterprise that would free the beloved land of his father's birthplace from Russia's iron yoke. Fine-looking and well-grown as he was for a youth of his age, instant in obedience at the word of command, and in a single year as proficient in all the duties of a soldier in the ranks as the best of those whose skill had been acquired by long experience, in an action where he had distinguished himself by his bravery, he attracted the attention of the commanding general of the brigade in which his regiment was included, who subsequently kept him near his person, and aiding in his advancement, step by step as opportunity offered, at the end of the second year of his life as a soldier, he was second in command of a regimegment that stood in the foremost rank for its bravery. A few months later, in a terrific battle with the army of Napoleon, and when so near the person of "the little corporal" that his features could be plainly seen as he rode along the lines, the colonel was killed in a moment of victory at the capture of a battery that had done terrible execution upon the ranks of the Prussians, when Ivan, not less for the service he rendered in the action than as his right in being next in rank, succeeded to the command. In every position in which it was placed, the regiment lost none of its prestige under his leadership; so proverbial, indeed, did it become for its valor, whenever any rare service was required, it did not fail to receive the post of honor. After a variety of the most arduous service in the month that succeeded, it was Ivan's fortune to lead the van in the reserve under Bulow, at Waterloo, that settled the fortunes of the day in compelling a retreat of the French in disorder; nor did he know any rest until the final dispersion of the army of Napoleon, and the restoration to the throne of Louis XVIII. He had been singularly fortunate, seeming to bear a charmed life, in escaping unharmed, in the numerous battles in which he shared, but from a severe cold taken by lying upon the field, in the midst of a rain storm, after an arduous engagement, he was thrown upon a bed of sickness, and weeks elapsed ere he was able to leave his quarters.

On first leaving home, he had endeavored to keep up a correspondence with Louise Meyer and his ever kind friend, the village pastor; but from the constant change of position of the army it was impossible to do so with any regularity; more than half the letters that had been written to him failing to reach its destination, and for a year preceding the battle of Waterloo, he had not received a line from either Louise or the pastor. By the last that reached him from the former, he learned that she was still faithful in her attachment, though others had sought to win her from him; and he looked forward with anticipations of joy to a blissful period, when peace should be restored, and with her as his loved companion, he might enjoy a season of respite from the exciting life he had lived since adopting that of a soldier. When sufficiently recovered to be able to travel, obtaining leave of absence from his command, he left the camp, that had so long been his only resting place, for a return to his early home, taking with him his faithful servant, Hans Vandecker. Well knowing that none would recognize in the tall, sun-browned and bearded soldier, the fair-faced stripling who had left his home four years before, he took a pleasant fancy to enter the village as a stranger, and note the changes time had wrought ere making himself known; little dreaming how sad those changes would prove to him. Next to that of looking upon the sweet face again of her he loved so well, from nothing did he anticipate so much pleasure as a sight once more of the happy retreat where his childhood had been spent, and which he left in charge of the faithful woman who had been the family servant; but instead of the pretty vine-clad cottage, with its appropriate outbuildings and the neat white palings that surrounded the whole, he found nothing but a blackened ruin; the shattered chimney alone remaining as a monument of a once bright and cheerful home. With an aching heart he turned away from the scene, and on his way to the dwelling of Louise Meyer, strolled through the village churchyard, noting the names upon the graves of those who had passed away since he saw them last. After reading the inscription upon the headstone of a good man, who, full of years, had gone to his reward, he saw a mound upon which flowers were blooming in more than ordinary profusion, and approaching the spot to learn who had been the object of such tasteful affection, he beheld, to his speechless sorrow, upon the snow-white marble that marked the grave, the name of Louise Meyer, who had been laid away to her peaceful rest in an hour when he was leading on his men in one of the keenest conflicts of the war. Struck dumb with grief, life seemed to him henceforth a barren waste; the honors he had won, and which would hand down his name to after time, were nothing worth in such an hour of agony that found no relief in tears. The first alleviation that came to his almost bursting heart was the sight of his devoted servant, who, borne down with grief at that he had no power to soothe, stood silent by, with tearful eyes, and falling upon his shoulder, rested there until to his lips came again the power of utterance.

—Many a boy has lost his grip on his father's affections by being able to beat the old gentleman at a friendly game of cards.

— Whether there is more pleasure in pursuit or possession, depends a good deal upon whether you are the small boy or the owner of the melon patch.

Important Arrest.

The New York Times has a despatch from Chicago saying that Col. Austin, a banker of Dover, N. H., and Jayne, the New York detective, have succeeded in securing the arrest of a gang of wholesale forgers, who within a year have realized over $450,000 by means of forged and raised checks; $36,000 was taken from three men arrested. They have swindled various banks and firms out of sums varying from $4000 to $100,000. Nelson A. Gesner, E. B. Weston and E. B. Henderson are the names of the rascals taken in custody in Chicago; Henderson is the head of the business, and is a banker or bank clerk in New York. "Col." Cross was arrested in St. Louis on the same day, as an active accomplice. Gesner was formerly a paymaster in the army, and recently a member of the Minnesota legislature. The largest forged check passed by the gang was one for about $40,000, purporting to be drawn by the New York Life Insurance Company on the Loan and Trust Company of New York.

News and Notes.

Thomas Wood was shot and probably fatally wounded in Lewiston, Me., Sunday evening, while running away from a police officer named Metcalf, who was trying to arrest Wood for creating a disturbance.

In June, when the graduating class at West Point was assigned to the army, there were so few vacancies that thirty-six of them were appointed brevet Second Lieutenants. The casualties in the infantry corps have been so great since June that all of the cadets have already been promoted to the full rank of Second Lieutenant.

The Texas Pacific railroad directors have just held a meeting, and propose to ask Congress for $35,000 a mile for 1,400 miles of road, in the shape of government bonds bearing five per cent interest. Yet in some way they also propose to limit the responsibility of the government to $2,500,000 a year. How this can be done with such an issue of bonds is not a simple problem in mathematics. The shamelessness of the job is made apparent by the fact that on its present resources of lands received from the Government, this company built 110 miles of road during the past year, making 480 miles in all, which are now earning running expenses. At the same time, the Southern Pacific Company of California runs regular trains between San Francisco and Fort Yuma on the Arizona frontier, and has contracted for building 160 miles of track by the first of January. At the most, only 600 or 800 miles will remain between the eastern and western sections of the road. This gap can be built without any subsidy besides the lands already granted.—Utica Herald.

A man named Henderson has given himself up to the police in Philadelphia, accusing himself of the murder of a man in England some time ago. He says he was enlisted in the Hussars, went out one day in company with Surgeon Wheeler of the same troop, and finding that the surgeon had money with him, he hit him on the head with his carbine and killed him. He then rifled his pockets, obtaining £16. The body he threw into a cesspool. It has been ascertained that the body of a man was found in a cesspool at Colgate, England, the place where Henderson said the affair occurred; also that Henderson and Surgeon Wheeler were marked as deserters. Henderson says he has been in this country six weeks, and his conscience has so troubled him he could not rest day or night, and finally concluded to give himself up and let the law take its course. He is held to wait the action of the English Consulate.

A heavy hail storm passed over Berwick, Me., Sunday afternoon, doing much damage to crops. During the storm lightning struck the barn of a Mr. Home, but no serious harm was done by it.

William Crosby, of Rowley, Mass., a man eighty years old, was bitten by a dog a month ago, and died of hydrophobia on Saturday night.

A Capt. Gardner has invented a gun, which like so many new ideas, is to "revolutionize the art of war;" but in this case the claim seems to have something of a foundation. For its peculiarity is that, while one soldier can carry the gun on his shoulder like an ordinary musket and another can pack ammunition for a day's service, the two together can discharge the machine at the rate of 200 shots a minute. It is, in fact, an application of the mitrailleuse, or machine gun, to the musket; and imagination fails to picture the effect to be produced by a regiment armed with this weapon.

Political.

In justice to the democratic candidate for Governor in Maine, it is stated that, though bearing the same name, he is not a relative of the astonishing person whose blue jean pantaloons are duty Executive duty over the great State of Indiana. Uncle Jimmy is the only Williams of his kind who was ever a Governor, or is ever likely to have a chance to be. Let us give thanks for this. —Tribune.

The "laboring men" of Cincinnati have met and nominated a horny-handed United States Commissioner for Governor of Ohio, a brawny newspaper editor for State Treasurer, a bony and sinewy office-holder and ex-republican politician for School Commissioner, and another labor-begrimed ward manager for Clerk of the Supreme Court. Our "laboring" friends had better pick their flints and try again. They should not go forth to the battle mounted on a set of old war-horses who would shy at the sight of a sawbuck or an anvil.—N. Y. World.

Important Discovery.

Prof. Hall, in charge of the great telescope of the Naval Observatory at Washington, on the night of Thursday, August 16th, discovered a satellite to Mars, and the following night discovered another. The distance of the first satellite from the planet is between fourteen and fifteen thousand miles, which is less than that of any other known satellite from its primary, and only about one-sixteenth the distance of the moon from the earth. The inner one, as to the existence of which the astronomers are not yet absolutely certain, is still closer. The diameter of the new satellite is very small, probably not more than fifty or one hundred miles. Scientific authorities regard this as ranking among the greatest telescopic discoveries of the century; the only two which exceed it being that of the asteroid group in 1801, and of the planet Neptune in 1846.

New Hampshire Items.

The buildings of John Kimball in Union Village, Wakefield, were struck by lightning on Saturday and destroyed. Loss $3000, no insurance. Mr. Kimball, in attempting to put out the fire, was severely burned.

Emile Reber, for some time past clerk of the Nashua & Lowell Railroad at Nashua, has gone to France to take possession of an estate valued at $80,000, left him by a brother.

St. George Commandry of Knights Templar, of Nashua, with seventy-five invited guests from Boston and other cities, started on Tuesday for a two days' excursion to Lake Winnepisaukee.

Monday evening, while the express train going south over the Northern Railroad was rounding a curve near Lebanon station, Engineer Blaisdell discovered a small child playing on the track about five rods ahead of the train. He immediately applied air brakes, but not in season to save the child from serious injuries. It was struck on the head by the deadwood of the engine, and would have been instantly killed had it not been for the fireman, Will Colter, who ran forward and snatched it up in his arms while the train was in motion. The child proved to be a daughter of Charles Strong of Lebanon.

The grocery store of W. B. Chase at Nashua was entered Sunday night by thieves who stole some merchandise and about twenty-five dollars in money.

Oren M. Bullard of Pottersville on Saturday left a note to his wife, requesting her to sell and settle his estate as though he was dead—he should never return—and he has not been seen since.

President Hayes and party had a sort of triumphal progress through the upper part of the State, Monday. At Hanover, Bradford, Littleton, and other places where the train stopped, crowds of people were waiting at the stations to see the distinguished travellers. The party dined at Fabyan's, and after dinner ascended Mount Washington, returning to Fabyan's for the night. In the evening an address of confidence in the administration was presented to the President—a piece of decided bad taste. On Tuesday the party visited the Notch and North Conway, stopping at Plymouth for the night.

Seventh Day Adventists.

After the time set for the second advent of Christ, in 1844, had passed, the Adventists became divided into two parties. One party continued to set times; the other, taking the name of Seventh Day Adventists, declared that the definite time was not revealed in the Bible, and that the message of the angel spoken of in Revelations, xiv., 12, must be given to the world before Christ's second coming. The commandment of God, they claim, requires the observance of the ancient seventh day Sabbath. While the first party has been divided and subdivided over points of doctrine, the Seventh Day Adventists have pursued the even tenor of their way, and have been spreading what they consider to be the living truth. It is not generally known that members of their churches and believers in their views may be found all over the United States, in Canada and on every continent in the old world. They have missionaries in foreign lands and many talented ministers in our own country. They number nearly thirty thousand souls, and have about four hundred regularly organized churches. They have four large publishing houses in the United States and one in Europe. They have issued between one and two hundred million pages of tracts, books, etc., in six different languages, and have scattered them all over the civilized world. This immense publishing business began under the direction of James White, of Palmyra, Maine, who still superintends the work. They have also a fine college in Battle Creek, Michigan, and a large medical and surgical sanitarium. As a society they are increasing rapidly. Their camp-meetings are very largely attended, and preparations are in progress to make that to be held in Richmond, from August 29th to September 4th, the most interesting meeting of the kind ever held in this State.—Portland Advertiser.

—By request of his guardian, a Hartford boy was arrested for truancy last week, and the papers for his committal to the reform school were made out before the authorities realized that the public schools had been closed for two months.

—The New York World says a young lady at Vassar heedlessly set foot upon the cast-off ulster of a banana as she was tripping down the great staircase, and reached the bottom in such a heterogenous condition that for a while she didn't know if she was a Vassar or a peel.

—Scotch Presbyterian minister: "Don't you know its wicked to catch fish on the Sawbath?" Small boy, not having had a rise all the morning: "Wha's catchin' fish?"

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

The steam ferry boat Emerald is high and dry on the ways at the navy yard, to be extensively overhauled. She was not very dry, however, on Saturday, when she was washed out by a steam fire engine to cleanse her hold. Pending the repairs to the Emerald, the navy yard passengers are transported in a steam launch of less proportions and inferior accommodations than the regular boat, but which is a decided improvement on the old boats which crossed the river before the steamer was placed in use.

The help at the Appledore House often have the Laighton Brothers' schooner yacht "Mollie" placed at their disposal for on evening's cruise about the islands, and on Monday evening they had the steamer Appledore for a moonlight run in to town. There was a lot of them, and a merry yet well-behaved lot, too; and the steamer laid at the wharf till nearly midnight, to afford them a good chance for a stroll and to do their shopping.

We have received the first number of The Co-operator, a weekly paper published in Boston at one dollar a year, or twenty-five cents for three months, in advance. The aim of the paper, as its name implies, "is the advocacy of co-operative labor and finance, as at least a partial remedy for present difficulties; but while doing this, it will not omit other points bearing on the industrial problem."

The Hutchinson Family, "Tribe of Asa," sing at Franklin Hall to-morrow evening.

Mr. Paschal M. Spinney was driving Earing & Martin's store team on Noble's Island bridge, Tuesday forenoon, when the horse took fright at a locomotive, and started to run. Mr. Spinney jumped from the wagon and caught the horse by the bridle, but was unable to hold him, and when near Raitt's blacksmith shop was thrown down, the wheels of the wagon passing over his body and injuring him severely, though no bones were broken. The horse kept on, and smashed the wagon against a post near J. Brooks & Co's store, but no other harm was done.

The lot and buildings on the north side of Ladd street, occupied by John Stone and others, were sold on Tuesday by Morse & Ilsley, under foreclosure of a mortgage given by J. C. Carr to the Portsmouth Savings Bank, to Mr. B. F. Webster, for $3050. The lot and buildings on the south side of the same street, occupied by J. M. Tebbetts and others, were sold at the same time, to Mr. Mark H. Wentworth for $1050.

Hark! From the Toombs.

Whatever else may be said of Robert Toombs, he is not a hypocrite. He avows the most atrocious sentiments with the most candid simplicity. Long ago, when the democrats first carried Georgia, after the reconstruction, he declared that intimidation and bribery were the methods employed by the successful party, and avowed his participation in them. In the constitutional convention in which he supported the repudiation of the public debt, he pronounced the federal government "the conqueror and public enemy of my country," and declared that it had injected into the social organization 500,000 savages; and on the question how they are to be governed, he says:

"Thea are to be governed as every race of paupers are governed—by those who own the property and give them bread; and just the same as the red man is governed. No inferior man, no man without civilization, has a chance in this race, and I want to save this people from their worst fortunes in the contest. As his friends tried to control him by force and by fraud, we will control him by fraud and by force to prevent him from bringing ruin to us."

This brutal avowal of a determination to employ force and fraud to counteract the beneficent policy on which the rebel States were readmitted to their forfeited privileges, was not needed to convince the country of its existence. The evidence of that is spread upon the records of the elections, and written in characters of blood all over the Southern country; but the open declaration of it in the gravest deliberative body in the State is an illustration of the recklessness of Southern politics.—Providence Journal.

The Sandwich Islands Decadence.

When Cook first looked upon the islands, according to his description they were beautiful as Eden, crowned with forests from the top of the mountains to the seashore, streams and rivulets gushing like silver threads from valleys and mountain gorges, and 400,000 inhabitants, with little labor, having plenty. The first centennial sees more than half the forests gone, mountains bare of vegetation, streams and rivers of the past changed into rock-strewn gulches, and where the hamlets and villages once sounded with life and children's gleesome voices, the night wind whispers in mourning cadences tales of the buried past. The sum of $15,000 has been asked for from the last Legislature for a celebration of the coming centennial, next January. I don't know if it has been granted. It is a small amount compared with the expenses of the Philadelphia centennial, but it may suffice for all that is worth celebrating here. A good-sized tent could contain the last king and his people, with samples of fine mats, feather cloaks and canoes, the manufactures of a century ago, and such things as at present cannot now be had. A small shanty, labelled "Civilization," might show a few sugar sugar stalks and kegs of sugar, a variety of coffins and a lot of labor contracts, and another shanty labeled "Poison," might show the Chinese element, boxes of opium, opium pipes and cockroaches in glass cases. Instead of a march composed by Wagner, a long, steady and prolonged mourning cry, such as only the Kanakas know how to produce, would be a solemn and appropriate opening of the festivities of the centennial celebration. The century has done very little beside Christian burial for the natives, and much less for the country itself; but since the royal commission for the development of the resources of the country have been around and looked at the country through their spectacles there is hope left for the prosperity of the country. All that is wanted to make this country prosperous and immensely rich (if not the whole people, at least a few planters, who can go home when the lemon is squeezed,) is a debt of a few millions of dollars, a large emigration of stalwart people to rejoice in laboring for the benefit of others, a regrowth of ancient forests, and consequent plentiful showers of rain to make barren places as fruitful as they were a hundred years ago. These small incidentals are of course no obstacles.—San Francisco Chronicle.

A Peculiar Device.

A recent traveler in Mexico, who visited the mines there during his journeys, says he was much astonished at seeing the men each with one eye shut. The foreman, seeing his surprise, explained the matter. He said the candles belonging to the tarateros (who drill and blast,) do not give sufficient light in the drifts, where it is onosequently quite dark, but where, nevertheless, the tarateros see well enough not to run their heads against the rocks. But on emerging into daylight they would be blinded did they not take precautionary measures. For this reason, as they approach the mouth of the shaft at the point where they catch the first glimpse of light, they drop the eyelid of one eye, and keep this down while discharging the ore, and until they have redescended the shaft. When they are again in the dark, they open the eye hitherto kept in reserve, and at once they see everything distinctly; while the other eye, previously open and blinded somewhat by the daylight, perceives nothing at all.

A Very Sharp Fox.

The Somerset Reporter tells this story of a pet fox. Mr. Fairgraves has a fox which occupies a yard back of the store, to which the dog has free access. The dog and the fox are great friends. They frolic together, play no end of jokes on each other, and live in the most perfect harmony save at mealtime. The discussion that a choice bit will bring forth is sometimes most interesting. Mr. Fairgraves gave the fox a bone the other day. The dog had been taught by experience that it was no use for him to try to capture it, so he retired to the store to watch the proceedings, doubtless hoping something would turn up in his favor. The fox ate what he wanted of the bone and prepared to lay it away for future use. The dog pricked up his ears, but yawned and betrayed no special interest. The fox dug a deep hole, placed the juicy bone at the bottom, and covering it over with earth, "patted" it down. He then went into his kennel, brought out an old dry bone that he had kept away from the dog for several days, "out of pure cussedness," placed it in the hole over the sweet one, covered it up with apparent care and retired to his kennel to watch operations. The dog saw the fox safely housed, and, as he had done before, stealthily approached the treasure, resurrected the dry bone and trotted off.

Stopping a "Run."

Didley is a Philadelphia newsboy, who has $800 in the Savings Fund, a bank mostly patronized by German depositors of small sums. After the failure of the Bank of Pennsylvania, a run began on the Savings Fund, which looked serious. The bank was sound enough, but could not meet the demand for cash without a ruinous sacrifice. At the height of the panic, Didley walked into the bank, followed by a yelling crowd of newsboys, and demanded to see the president. "What can I do for you?" said the President. "Well," said Didley, "I want to know the exact state of affairs. I have $800 deposited here, and I can't afford to lose it. But I don't want to trouble you by drawing it out if it is safe. I ask you, on your word of honor, is it safe?" "I assure you that it is, on my word of honor. Come in and examine the books." So with one of his little hands thrust under his short coat-tails, Didley walked into the directors' room. The rush for money was temporarily stopped while the crowd gazed on this little man. Soon Didley appeared, his face showing evident satisfaction. "Did you get your money?" was the salutation of the crowd of boys, as he reached the step. "Why should I get my money?" he answered. "This bank's all safe—I don't scare like these Dutchmen." "Three cheers for Didley!" went up from hundreds of youthful throats. The older folks stood awe-stricken. The confidence of the newsboys asserted itself among them, and by noon the panic had stopped and the crowd had disappeared. Didley had saved the bank.

—They were at a picnic. On the grounds was a small stand for the sale of watch charms. "Oh, George," she said, "buy me a charm." "Sarah," said he, "you have too many already."

A National Home for Invalids.

The Invalid's Hotel on Prospect Avenue is rapidly approaching completion. When finished it will be the finest building in the city.—Buffalo Independent Leader.

The above-mentioned institution is erected by Dr. R. V. Pierce, as a hospital Department of the World's Dispensary for the treatment of the more difficult cases of chronic diseases, and for the skillful management of deformities and all cases requiring surgical operations. It will be made a comfortable and cheerful home for the sick, and will be under the management of a full staff of skillful physicians and surgeons. For particulars see Pierce's Memorandum Books, which are given away at all drug-stores.

The Channels of Exit

from the human system bear the same relation to it as sewers do to a city. They carry off the waste, the refuse which it is essential to remove in order to cure disease. One of the most salutary effects of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is to renew activity of the bowels when these organs are derelict in their duty. The bilious and dyspeptic symptoms which accompany constipation are also remedied by this sterling alterative. Its gently cathartic action has the effect of removing impurities which would otherwise poison the system and its tonic influence is exhibited in an increase in vital power. It renews appetite, soothes and invigorates the nerves, prevents and remedies malarial fever, and is a first-rate remedy for despondency.

The Teeth of the Future.

If the consumption of Sozodont continues to increase in the present ratio, the teeth of the future will be a great improvement on those of the present day. Its universal use would prevent all dental defections, and render one of the most essential portions of our material organization as ornamental as it is useful.

Spalding's Glue repairs everything but personal injuries.

The State of Louisiana, at the close of the war, found itself in a very crippled condition, financially; so the authorities imitated the example of Congress at the close of the Revolutionary war, and that of the States of Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania and New York, as well as many other commonwealths in times gone by, and in 1868 incorporated some of its leading citizens in the Louisiana State Lottery Company, with a capital of one million dollars, since augmented by three hundred and fifty thousand dollars accumulation as a reserve, all of which is paid up in cash. This company quarterly pays the State a large fund for the maintenance of its hospitals and schools and other charitable and educational purposes. The lottery is drawn monthly, without fail, in the City of New Orleans, under the personal supervision of the two ex-Confederate Chieftains, Generals P. T. Beauregard, of Louisiana, and Jubal Early, of Virginia, and the full schemes can be had by writing to M. A. Dauphin, Esq., President, Lock Box, 692, P. O., New Orleans. The next drawing is on Sept. 4.

HALL'S VEGETABLE SICILIAN HAIR RENEWER.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

BUCKINGHAM'S DYE,

For the Whiskers.

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from any gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often restores the growth; and always secures to faded hair its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brushy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, strong, healthy, and vigorous; but hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of the most remarkable cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equaled by any other medicine. It still makes the most efficacious cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and gives a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

—"I only get ninety cents a day," said the man to his comrades, as he came along from work, "and how can I and my family live?" They all said it was impossible for him to exist on that sum, upon which he invited the entire party into the nearest saloon and treated the crowd, at an expense of forty-five cents.

—Moses Howard, a passenger on the Louisville & Memphis Railroad, shot and killed a brakeman named Henry Ready, for repeatedly slamming the door of the car. Of course it was wrong for Mr. Howard to shoot the brakeman, but it must be admitted that he had terrible provocation, and it is to be hoped that brakemen generally will take warning from the fate of Ready.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 23d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 Dey St., New York.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & Co., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. (nov1

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. (nov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaints, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Conditior Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 5 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and seventy pounds. I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the great pleasure of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 16, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and neck. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I was confined to my room nearly all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was going to start ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative as could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is audoritic and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the cause of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most efficient cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organ, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

THE BRONZE STATUE.

[Concluded from last issue.]

After leaving his servant, with their horses, and such baggage as they had brought with them, at the village inn, receiving from the landlord, when he learned his name, a warm welcome, he next visited the desolate dwelling of the mother of Louise Meyer, from whom he learned the sad particulars of her death, after but a brief illness, and a message of affection for him from her dying lips; both of which had been imparted in a letter that never reached him. His early friend the clergyman next claimed his attention, and then the woman he had left in charge of his little patrimony, but gathering nothing from the latter to explain the origin of the fire that had devastated a place so very dear to him; all she knew was that she was driven from her bed by the flames on a winter night, with barely time to escape with her life. There was a feeling of pride as a native among them in the name he had won as a soldier, mingled with sympathy for his sorrows, in the kindly greetings he received from all in the little community with whom his early years had been spent; and most gratefully was it received, powerless though it was to alleviate a sorrow that was past all human aid. None was able to impart such consolation as his kind friend the good clergyman, who baptised him in infancy, and had been his teacher, among the lambs of his flock, in things spiritual. These lessons were not lost upon him, with others he had received at home; they were remembered upon the battle-field, and gave him the impulse to seek for higher aid in the hour of danger than that which lay in the strength of his own right arm.

At the close of a week from the time of his arrival in the village, when his servant went to his room to awaken him in the morning, he found that he had risen, and as he often took early horseback rides alone, without his attendance, when in camp, he mounted his horse and went in search of him. He could nowhere be seen, and imagining that he had returned by some route with which he was not familiar, he turned again toward the village. When about a mile distant from its outskirts, he saw a horse he at once recognized as that of his master, lying in an exhausted state at the edge of a morass of many acres in extent, and covered with mud to the saddle-girths. Evidences of the struggles of the animal in the deep mire were visible a few rods distant, and there all traces of his having penetrated into it were lost. Hans at once procured assistance, and the morass was searched, so far as it was possible to do so, but his beloved master, for whom he would have laid down his life, was nowhere to be found. Hoping that after Ivan had dismounted, the horse had strayed away by himself, search was made for him in the woods in the vicinity, where he had been accustomed to ramble daily for the pleasant associations they had with his boyhood, but without success, and every effort then and for months succeeding, failed to elucidate the mystery connected with his sudden and unaccountable disappearance. The faithful Hans could not divest himself of the fancy that it was associated with the morass near which he had found his master's horse, and ere departing for his much-loved fatherland, he spent days together searching in its depths for many rods about the spot where marks of the horse had been seen. The poor animal himself seemed to possess the same idea, for he would stray away to its borders, and make a piteous neighing, as if calling to his master to come forth, that he might hear him once more as he had done in many a hard-fought field.

When a dozen years had passed away, a gentleman of wealth and taste, who had been a wanderer in many lands, in the course of his journeyings stopped at the village for a brief sojourn, but was so much attracted by its delightful situation, amid scenery not often found in a country little famed for the grand and beautiful in nature, as to purchase a pretty estate at its outskirts that chanced to be for sale, and make it for a time his place of residence. He was a man of many fancies, and among them, to some extent, one for agriculture. Much had been written and said at the time upon the subject of draining lands, and it occurred to him that the extensive morass, before alluded to, and which was included in his purchase, might be converted by such a process into the richest lands for cultivation, and procuring from a distance laborers experienced in such matters, set to work carrying out the experiment. When the labor had progressed several months, a report was current in the neighborhood that a wonderful petrefaction of a human body, resembling more than aught else a bronze statue, had been found at a point in the morass where it was supposed the foot of man had never trod. The new owner of the lands where the remarkable curiosity was discovered, had taken offence at something that had transpired on first taking possession of his purchase, and having kept himself aloof from those around him, would allow none to obtain a sight of an object all wished to see, and which had been placed in a hall in his villa devoted to pictures and statuary. The year succeeding, Hans Vandecker, in the capacity of servant to a travelling gentleman, again made his appearance in the neighborhood, and the former ere long making the acquaintance of the eccentric stranger, was invited to visit him. On the day appointed, as the owner of the villa conducted his guest, accompanied by Hans, through its various departments, they reached that portion devoted to works of art, where, in a prominent position, upon a frame-work prepared for its reception, lay the remarkable object that had excited such curiosity, when the instant it met the gaze of the latter, after learning its history, recognizing at once its well-remembered features, he clasped it in his embrace, and pronounced it the form of his beloved master, whose loss he had never ceased to deplore, confirming his assertion by pointing to a signet ring upon one of the fingers, the form of which was plainly visible, though encrusted by the wonderful process of nature that had converted a human form into what seemed a statue of bronze. After the long illness of Ivan, he was subject to occasional fits of dizziness that for the moment deprived him both of sight and sense; and the supposition subsequently was that at such a time, having inadvertently, in the early light of the morning, ridden into the morass, (which from recent falls of rain, contained at the period an unwonted depth of water,) he had fallen from his horse, and while in a state of unconsciousness, had perished in one of its deepest recesses. Other evidences of the petrifying power of the water were found on the vegetable substances, changed to the hardness of marble, that lay around him in the place where his remains were found.

The owner of the mansion, when satisfied that Hans was correct in his conjectures, at his solicitation, aided by that of his guest, the gentleman visitor, laying aside his former animosity, allowed the people of the vicinity to enter his premises; all of whom who could remember him as last seen among them, pronounced the strangely preserved form before them none other than that of Ivan Allensky, and claimed it as a right, apart from the respect due to his remains for the service as a soldier he had rendered his adopted country, that they should be permitted to lay him with his kindred in the village church-yard, and where upon a marble tablet that marks the spot, may be seen this brief that record:

"COLONEL IVAN ALLENSKY,
Aged 20.
A distinguished soldier in the Prussian Army at Waterloo, Died June 20th, 1816."

Kentucky Officials and Kentucky "Fun."

During the political campaigns of '72 and '76, whenever the lawlessness in the Southern States was held up to view by the republicans press, the democratic papers instantly answered back that in those Southern States where the democrats had full control the laws were as well enforced and human life and property as well protected as in the North, and that the only trouble arose from the inefficiency and corruption of the "carpet-bag" republican governments. The Kemper county massacre did more than anything else toward making the democratic papers give up that line of "argument;" and now we have another fine illustration of the sanctity of the laws and of human life in a soundly democratic Southern State.

A man named Anderson, of Carroll county, Kentucky, and his sons, it seems had become unpopular, they being shiftless drunkards; so the High Sheriff of the county, Joseph Myrick, an Ex-Sheriff named Sullenger, Charles Gardner and Nathaniel Orr, all well known citizens, started out (as one of them has confessed) to "have some fun" and "give old Bill Anderson a scare and run him off." The idea of "fun" in the mind of this Kentucky official, whose sworn duty it is to enforce the law, seems to have been to throw a ball of cotton, saturated with turpentine and ignited, into Anderson's house, and then wait outside with shot-guns for the "sport" to turn up. The house took fire and as the door opened some one of the party, lying low in the dark, fired. It proved that Anderson's daughter Carrie was coming out for a bucket of water, and she received a fatal wound. The killing of an innocent girl filled the midnight ruffians with consternation and it is said aroused the indignation of the community. The guilty men tried to keep the secret, but a detective got a clue to their movements and caused their arrest.

Not an Amalgamation of Telegraph Lines.

The Western Union and Atlantic & Pacific telegraph companies have amicably adjusted all differences and entered into a contract by which they will work in harmony instead of opposition for the future. The terms of the contract provide that earnings are to be pooled and that the Western Union is to receive, as its share, eighty-seven and a half per cent. and the Atlantic & Pacific twelve and a half per cent. of the earnings. The two companies are to be conducted as separate corporations, each to carry out all previous contracts and to transact business as usual, subject to certain restrictions and rules of government hereafter to be agreed upon. The new rates have not been decided upon at present and the schedule of both companies will be continued until further arrangements are made. Each company is pledged to maintain its lines and offices and do all the business it can, having a common interest in swelling the receipts, and neither company having any interest in reducing the expenses of the other company. The Vice President of the Western Union "thinks a slight and conservative increase in the tariffs will follow between places far apart. The competition demonstrated the fact that the largest revenue is not derived from the highest rates. It is his opinion there will be no increase in the price for sending messages between the large Eastern cities, although some of the rates for distances beyond one circuit have been running too low to pay any profit on the cost of the service."

The Eastern War.

A despatch from Bucharest says 18,000 Egyptian troops are attempting to cut the railway between Kustendje and Tchernavada, and troops from Silistria are making an attack on Kustendje from the other side. A despatch from Shumla says the Turks assaulted and carried the village of Shipka, pursuing the Russians out and through the Shipka pass. The same despatch says Tirnova is considered now as being untenable.

The details of the fight at Kurn Koova in Asia Minor, on the 19th, show that it was a sharp affair. The fight began by a furious cannonade from the Russian batteries all along the line, the Turkish artillery replying with great vigor. The Russian fire was very well directed, and did great execution among the masses of Turkish infantry posted behind their works. Under cover of this artillery fire the Russian infantry moved out and advanced to the attack of the Turks. The advancing Russian columns were subjected to a terrible fire from the Turkish batteries, but the men moved briskly on, taking advantage of every accident of ground that afforded a cover, and their skirmishers keeping up a lively fusilade. When they came within a short distance of the Turkish line they dashed forward and swept in on the astonished Turks with an impetuosity that overcame all resistance. After a short, sharp struggle, the Turks were driven out of their entrenchments at the bayonet's point. They retired sullenly on their second line, under cover of a brisk cannonade, which kept the Russians at a respectful distance. The attack was really but a feint; and toward nightfall the Russians retired on their former position. The engagement lasted eight hours. The Russians had about 400 men killed and wounded; the Turks are reported to have had 1500 men killed.

News and Notes.

Charles Miner of Burlington, Vt., while bathing at Old Orchard, Me., on the 21st, had a watch worth $275 and $105 in money stolen from his bathing house.

The identity of the tramp who murdered Frank Brassor at Brandon, Vt., last May, and afterwards killed himself, has been fully established by letters and a picture of the deceased, received in Brandon from the suicide's father and others in Bristol, England. His name was Charles William Howell, instead of "Charles Williams," the name he assumed in this country.

Nearly all the charges alleged to have been made by one Silverman against Revenue Collector Freeland of Brooklyn have been withdrawn, and those remaining are of the most frivolous character.

The New York Daily Witness, the only religious daily in the world, has, after an existence of eight years, suspended for lack of support. The founder, Mr. John Dougall, has spent a fortune of some $200,000 in his efforts to establish a religious daily.

Mr. S. E. Hardman, of Providence, R. I., the manufacturer of Kenyon's fire escape, was exhibiting it at the Astor House, New York, on the 21st, when the wire rope parted and he fell from the third story to the pavement below and was instantly killed.

Donohue, the leader of the Hornellsville (N. Y.) strikers, and who has been in jail for the offences committed at the time of the strike, proposes to establish a weekly paper in New York city, to be called "The Striker."

Montreal had a $60,000 fire on the 21st. A grain elevator, storehouse and flour mill were burned.

New Hampshire Items.

At a competitive examination at Concord on the 21st, for an appointment as cadet at West Point from Congressman Briggs' district, John B. Abbott of Concord was successful over eleven competitors.

As Mr. and Mrs. Newell Brown, of Epsom, were on their way to Pittsfield Village on Thursday, 16th inst., and near the house of Mr. Noah Drake, Mr. Brown dropped back in his seat and instantly expired. He was taken into the house of Mr. Drake and restoratives applied, but he was evidently dead when taken out of the wagon. He was 68 years old.

Mrs. Ada Dudley of Newport, while on her way to join her husband, Mr. Charles E. Dudley, at Pueblo, Cal., was stopped at Chicago by the railroad strikers, which threw her into such a fright that she lost her reason, and has since died in the hospital at Chicago.

The committee upon the soldiers' monument at Manchester has recommended to the city government the design of Mr. Geo. Keller, of Hartford, Conn. It consists of a round granite monument about fifty feet high, ornamented at the top with the Goddess of Liberty, and at the base with military figues of bronze. The design is highly satisfactory, and $25,000 has been appropriated by the City Government for the purpose of erecting the memorial.

The Mayoralty of Manchester seems to be on a begging tour just now, with nobody anxious to take it in out of the cold. Mayor Cross resigned, was induced to recall his resignation, and finally resigned again, "for good" this time. On the evening of the 21st, in joint convention of the City Government, Colonel Bradbury P. Cilley was elected Mayor on the third ballot, vice Hon. Ira Cross, resigned. Colonel Cilley subsequently appeared before the convention and declined the office. Alderman Patrick A. Devine of Ward V., the only democrat in the Board, was elected Chairman in the absence of Mayor Cross, and is therefore acting Mayor, the convention having adjourned after the declination of Col. Cilley.

Dr. J. H. Pooley of Columbus, O., has been appointed Professor of Surgery at Dartmouth, vice Dr. A. B. Crosby, who died recently. Dr. Pooley has accepted and will immediately enter upon his duties. He is spoken of a man of great ability and as near the equal of the late Dr. Crosby as could be found.

The Channels of Exit

from the human system bear the same relation to it as sewers do to a city. They carry off the waste, the refuse which it is essential to remove in order to cure disease. One of the most salutary effects of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is to renew activity of the bowels when these organs are derelict in their duty. The bilious and dyspeptic symptoms which accompany constipation are also remedied by this sterling alterative. Its gently cathartic action has the effect of removing impurities which would otherwise poison the system and its tonic influence is exhibited in an increase in vital power. It renews appetite, soothes and invigorates the nerves, prevents and remedies malarial fever, and is a first-rate remedy for despondency.

The Teeth of the Future.

If the consumption of Sozodont continues to increase in the present ratio, the teeth of the future will be a great improvement on those of the present day. Its universal use would prevent all dental deflections, and render one of the most essential portions of our material organization as ornamental as it is useful.

Spalding's Glue repairs everything but personal injuries.

The State of Louisiana, at the close of the war, found itself in a very crippled condition, financially; so the authorities imitated the example of Congress at the close of the Revolutionary war, and that of the States of Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania and New York, as well as many other commonwealths in times gone by, and in 1868 incorporated some of the leading citizens in the Louisiana State Lottery Company, with a capital of one million dollars, since augmented by three hundred and fifty thousand dollars accumulation as a reserve, all of which is paid up in cash. This company quarterly pays the State a large fund for the maintenance of its hospitals and schools and other charitable and educational purposes. The lottery is drawn monthly, without fail, in the City of New Orleans, under the personal supervision of the two ex-Confederate Chieftains, Generals P. T. Beauregard, of Louisiana, and Jubal Early, of Virginia, and the full schemes can be had by writing to M. A. Dauphin, Esq., President, Lock Box, 692, P. O., New Orleans. The next drawing is on Sept. 4.

NEW SHIPS.

THE GOVERNOR GOODWIN.

The ship Governor Goodwin, recently built by Campbell & Brooks of East Boston, is one of the finest vessels ever built there. She is 218 feet long between perpendiculars, has 40 feet breadth of beam and 24 feet depth of hold, including 8 1-2 feet height between decks, and measures 1459 tons. Her frame, which is of seasoned white oak, was designed for a ship of 2000 tons, and was docked more than a year before it was used. She has two depths of keel, the lower 10 1-2 by 15 inches, and the upper 15 1-2 by 12, independent of the shoe, which is two inches thick; the floor timbers are 17 by 12 in the angles on the keel; she has four depths of midship keelsons, each 15 inches square, sister keelsons to correspond, and two pieces on the top of the midship keelsons, of 6 by 10 inches each, between which her hold stanchions are stepped and clasped with iron. The ceiling on the floor is five inches thick. Her beams, knees, breast-hooks, waterways, stanchions and decks are stout in proportion, and her fastening varies from seven-eighths of one inch to one inch and a quarter. She has two garboards, the first 9 by 16, the second 8 by 16; the bottom plank is 5, and the wales 5 1-2 inches thick, finished smooth as cabinetwork. She is through treenailed with locust, butt and bilge bolted with yellow metal, seasoned with salt and thoroughly ventilated. These brief details show that she is remarkably strong. She has built lower masts, 84, 86 and 78 feet long; her main yard is 86 feet long; she has wire standing rigging, Manila running rigging, double topsail yards on all three masts, a main skysail yard rigged aloft, chain topsail sheets and ties, and all the other chain and iron work now in general use.

Her lines are slightly concave below, but convex above; she has a long bow, which terminates in a figure of the gentleman whose name she bears; her stern is rounded, her run is clean and finely formed, her floor long and buoyant. She is sheathed with yellow metal; is painted black outside, and pearl color about the houses and decks, and her name and port of hail are in raised letters on her stern. Viewed either end or broadside on she is as true in outline as if she had been cast in a mould.

She has an open topgallant forecastle, under which is Emerson's patent windlass, worked by a capstan. Abaft the foremast she has a spacious house for the crew, the galley, and an engine-room; for she carries a neat but powerful engine, which can be used to handle cargo, purchase the anchor, and in the event of springing a leak, to pump. The Gov. Goodwin has a half poop 96 feet long, into which two spacious and elegant cabins are built. The outline of the poop is protected by a rail on turned stanchions. She has a patent steering apparatus, patent pumps and all the other equipments of a first class ship.

She has been built under the superintendence of Capt Edgar Paine, the Marine Inspector for American Lloyds' Register, and Capt. Eben Howes of the Bureau Veritas; both have given her the highest rate awarded any vessel. Capt. Lester, her commander, one of the most experienced and successful shipmasters, also superintended her construction and equipment, and to his watchfulness may be attributed the excellence of her workmanship. A large part of the ship is owned by various parties in this city, Messrs. M. F. Pickering & Co., of Boston, being registered as the managing owners.

The Gov. Goodwin will sail from Boston on Tuesday, for Philadelphia, there to load for San Francisco.

THE PAUL JONES.

We are always pleased to notice any local industry, and in particular like to enlarge on Portsmouth built ships, than which the world offers none better. Acting on this, we some days ago despatched a reliable and competent reporter (tre same who "wrote up" Capt. Marcy's noble ship, the Granite State,) to the Raynes shipyard, to write up in good style the ship on the stocks there; but he found no one desirous of giving him the information he required—the first time he ever failed on any such errand for us. But we are bound to have some kind of a report, so we take the following brief notice, which is probably correct as far as it goes, from the Boston Traveller, which publishes it under the heading "The new ship Paul Jones:"

"Mr. Fernald has on the stocks at Portsmouth, N. H., a magnificent ship of 1500 tons, which will be launched early in September. A full figure of the gallant hero whose name she bears will grace her bow, and she will be commanded by Captain Jacobs, one of the most experienced shipmasters belonging to Portsmouth. Her frame is of New Hampshire white oak, the best white oak in the world. Her ceiling, planking, deck frames and lower deck are hard pine. She is through trenailed with locust, butt and bilge-bolted with yellow metal, seasoned with salt, and will be equipped to rate A 1 for eleven years."

A MILD GROWL.

Mr. Editor: There is in this city a branch of the New Hampshire Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals—the parent society for the prevention of cruelty in the State, I believe. This society I have no doubt has done and is doing much good, and I do not wish to be considered as finding fault with what they are doing while I do nothing in that direction myself, for I am not a member of the society. But a couple of cases of cruelty have recently come under my observation, to which I wish to draw their attention.

On Monday, 20th inst., a yoke of oxen attached to a two-wheeled cart loaded with hay stood all day on the Parade, in the hot sun and without water. They had a generous bunch of hay before them, but whenever they put their heads down to take a mouthful the yoke would slip down on their necks and they would throw their heads up in evident annoyance, and finally they gave up trying to eat the hay, either from that cause or from thirst. I do not imagine that the person in charge of those oxen intended to be cruel; but it was cruel to leave them as they were all day, and they could as well as not have been taken off the tongue of the cart and hitched to the wheel on the shady side. Such cases as this, it seems to me, need attention quite as much as the blanketing of uncared-for horses in winter.

On the Saturday previous I saw at the same place (the Parade) an exhibition of positive cruelty,—for I consider the cruel neglect of the oxen due merely to thoughtlessness. A man was driving a horse around, apparently to show that it would stop when struck a sharp blow with a whip; he would start the animal at a sharp gait and then give it a violent stroke with the whip, when the poor brute would instantly stop; and this was often repeated, no doubt to the great glorification of the driver, but to the disgust of every humane person who saw it.

The benevolent society with the long name may not take cognizance of such minor cases of cruelty to animals as I have described, but it is a great satisfaction to me to growl about them in the newspaper, so I hope you will print this and oblige

Yours truly, GROWLER.

PERILS OF THE OCEAN.

The fine schooner Ranter, of Trefethen's Cove, Kittery, Me., secures a liberal share of the perils of the ocean when entering this harbor. First she is run on the clam beds in Pepperell's Cove with all sail set; the gallant captain lets go the anchor, and she rolls over on her side under a full pressure of canvas. On the return of the tide she floats again.

A few days later she is lost in the fog near the Isles of Shoals. Finding it difficult to stop there, she strikes boldly out for Kittery harbor, some six miles distant. After bouncing about for several hours in the fog, the captain thinks he hears a noise like waves dashing on the beach, sends out a boat to learn where he is, and finds on enquiring of a farmer that he is in the vicinity of Little Boar's Head.

At last, after many difficulties, the Ranter rides gracefully at anchor on the smooth waters of the Piscataqua, and the weary crew lie down to rest. But alas! the retreating tide leaves the vessel roosting on top of Becker's Ledge. She finally slips from her high position and plunges into the waves. All on board would have perished had not Capt. Becker and crew from the schooner Norma put in an appearance at this critical moment. The Ranter in a damaged condition was kept afloat long enough to reach the wharf, and then sank while the crew were on shore calmly talking over the sad misfortunes. MARLINESPIKE.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

The North Mill-pond asserted its presence very loudly on the night of Tuesday, the 21st. People residing in its vicinity—and some who live a considerable distance away—were obliged to shut every window and air hole in their houses, notwithstanding the oppressive warmth of the night, before they could sleep. One of these days we shall have a fatal epidemic of typhoid disease in that quarter, and then there will be much speculation (perhaps) over the "mysterious dispensation of Providence." The South Mill-pond is bad enough, but the North one beats it all to pieces.

Col. J. C. Butler's popular excursion to the Shoals in steamer Appledore comes off to-day, and will be supplemented by another one this evening, when the steamer will leave the wharf at 6 o'clock and the Shoals at 8:30. Harlow's band will furnish music for the evening trip. Tickets for sale only by Col. Butler, at 75 cts. each for the round trip.

Attention is invited to the call for the first regular meeting of the Workingmen's Institute, printed in another column.

The Times of Wednesday announced an eclipse of the moon for that evening, as did the Boston Traveller also. The eclipse, a total one, commences at 4:28 this afternoon, the moon rising totally eclipsed at 6:46.

The horse attached to Vaughan's bread-cart ran away with the vehicle on Wednesday afternoon, starting from the corner of State and Atkinson streets and bringing up at the junction of Court and Washington streets, where he capsized and stove up the cart and distributed the contents about the street. The horse we understand was uninjured.

The Hutchinson Family give a concert at Franklin Hall this evening, one at the Appledore House, Isles of Shoals, to-morrow evening, and one at Dover on Saturday evening. They gave a concert at Dover last week, which the Democrat pronounced one of the best ever given in that city, and it was so favorably received by the public that the company were urgently pressed to give another, and arrangements were immediately made for it. We presume they will have a full house to-night; they should have it, at any rate. Tickets at popular prices. See advertisement.

Families or individuals with washing to be done will do well to read the advertisement of Smith's Laundry, in another column.

The Boston Traveller of the 22d says: "The eclipse of the moon to-day will be viewed with interest and smoked glass." The viewers would have to use smoked glass of the most powerful pattern to see, on the night of the 22d, an eclipse that occurs on the night of the 23d.

Mayor Stott, of Lowell, Mass., left his sea side cottage at Little Boar's Head on Wednesday morning, for Concord, to endeavor to induce President Hayes to visit Lowell after his brief tour through the centre of this State.

Conductor E. A. Towle, of the Portland trains of the Eastern Railroad, is off duty with a carbuncle on his hand, and George Kennard of Eliot is running his train as conductor.

The Band of Hope picnic has been postponed until Wednesday, August 29th, on account of the death of Miss Mary S. Gardner, one of the vice presidents and organist of the society. A memorial service will be held in Mechanics' Hall on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock. Members of the Band of Hope are requested to be present.

W. A. LOYNE, Supt.

The Boston Advertiser's Washington correspondent in a late letter to that paper says: "In the circular letter which the commissioner of internal revenue will issue limiting appointments by collectors to one member of their family, it will set forth that the administration of the government is for and by the people, and that it is not consistent with our institutions that so many relatives should be employed by one officer. The efficiency of the service demands that the ties of relationship should not exist where vigilance is required to make the administration of the laws exact." The provision is not aimed especially at the first internal revenue district of New Hampshire, as many people seem to think, but is of general application.

YORK LETTER.

YORK, ME., August 20th.

Mr. Editor: Without introduction you will say I am a stranger. Well, the hay-making is most over, and the grasshoppers are bossing the job for the balance.

Rufus Varrell's store at the harbor was entered a few nights ago by some party who removed a pane of glass and raised the window. About forty dollars in cash, a full caddy of tobacco, worth $15, three pairs of rubber boots and other articles were taken. No trace of the thief or thieves has been found, although a party is strongly suspected.

I see by some "Reporter" (please use a cap "R") that a man in Maine recently died from eating bread and milk. Well, the moral is, don't eat bread and milk; but candidly, a man who is filthy enough to crumble bread into milk with unwashed hands after having been killing potato bugs, and attempt to eat it, had either ought to die or occupy a sty.

Our hotels are filled to overflowing. The Marshall House has about 200 guests, mostly "hightoned" and wealthy people from Boston, New York and the West. General G. B. McClellan is daily expected there. Hon. J. G. Blaine has honored our town with his presence, for a few days, and has been the guest of Mrs. T. Bigelow Lawrence.

Eld. J. Cummings, of Boston, of the faith of the restoration of the Jews into Jerusalem, is holding a tent meeting at the village, to continue one week. Mr. Cummings is a very fluent speaker, and a gentleman of great argumentive powers; but from some unknown cause the attendance has been very limited.

The fly crop in York has not been harvested, but from present indications there will be an unprecedented supply for fall preserving; yet with the present high price of molasses, they are somewhat expensive.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, so agreeable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purpose."

This elegant preparation may be relied on to change the color of the beard from gray or any other undesirable shade, to brown or black, at discretion. It is easily applied, being one preparation, and quickly and effectually produces a permanent color which will neither rub nor wash off.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR
TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment and burdening depositions, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proves that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brushy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable, and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hair resumes its original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures scurf, humors, and eruptions, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Formerly no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long; as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet, for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

—From a Parish letter: "How will you like yourself dressed in the style of the empire, a la Josephine: Short skirts, short waists, large polke bonnets, and big bags on your arms? Do you think it will be becoming to our style of beauty? I trust that in assuming this empire dress—if it is to be—we shall not be entirely deprived of our influence, as the women of the empire were, for it is a matter of history that the women of the empire were as remarkable for their deprivation of influence as were the women of the Revolution—for its enjoyment and exercise. But candidly, it is said here the Faubourg St. Germain have decided to adopt it, and when the French Sinai issues its decrees, America will be the first to hear the reverberation."

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its use I am entirely cured. I am entirely relieved of pain. January 22d, 1875."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. (nov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. (nov1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May, John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick I lost 7 years age, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, and I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of these Pills, and others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half what they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and neck. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered much more than any physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well and advised me to go South for the rest of the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was I brought ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative as could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is a sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

SEC. 5. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by drains or pipes to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw the refuse of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or place, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints, which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they disarrange, and who's substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Irregular Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Why Pastors Should Have No Vacations.

A good many church congregations are having peculiar experiences just now. The pastors are having their vactions, and "supplies" are not always well acquainted with the church, people or order of service where they are to preach.

In one church, it has happened two or three times lately that the members of the congregation have come in and looked over their neighbors' clothes, and still no minister. The time from 10:50 until 11:10 seems very long when passed in church, sitting in profound silence and wondering how the Quakers stand it for two hours at a time. In the church in question, it has happened thus far that at length a strange gentleman has dashed into the church and ambled up the broad aisle to the pulpit, whence he has explained that a mistaken car on a wrong road should be held responsible for the delay.

In one case the minister was even less fortunate. He got into the wrong church; but, supposing that it was the right one, he was astonished to see a minister already in the pulpit. As it was late, he thought it might be that the people had grown tired of waiting for him and had found some one to take his place; so with one sorrowful thought for the $10 which he should not earn that Sunday, he sat down and composed himself to listen. Presently a hymn was given out and the clergyman took up a hymn book and saw to his horror that he was in the wrong church. The sexton was astonished, a second later, to see a well-dressed man rush out of the church on a full trot, but the trot carried the minister to the right church, only quarter of an hour behind time, and he preached an excellent sermon.

A minister from the West was preaching, the other Sunday, in a church where a good many forms are used and where the choir strike up at all times. The good man came to the end of the first prayer in due time and was about to say "amen," when the choir said it for him, and said it as if it was a word of fourteen syllables. The clergyman waited until the choir dropped the word, when he astonished its members by looking at them with great intensity, and remarking, "amen." He then read the Scriptures of the Old Testament and began to look for his place to read from the New Testament, when the choir broke in again. After the last sweet soprano notes had died away, the voice of the minister fell with awful distinctness upon the waiting worshippers. Said he, "I hope the choir will permit me to conduct this service without further interruption." They did not sing again in that church that day without an invitation from the pulpit.

In another church, it had been announced that a collection would be taken every Sunday during the pastor's vacation. The brother who was running the church, while the pastor was away, always took pains to remind the preachers, the last thing before they went into the pulpit, that a contribution would be expected. His anxiety to have a collection taken was principally because he knew that otherwise he should have to pay the minister out of his own pocket, and that the chances of his ever getting his money back would be very slim. Upon the occasion in question, he had not failed to remind the minister of the contribution, but the usual time passed and there was no call for funds. The minister had clearly forgotten the contribution. The minister had clearly forgotten the contribution. The last hymn was being sung when the brother marched up to the pulpit and mentioned the contribution. The minister was for dropping the matter as the time had passed, but not so the brother. Raising his voice to be heard above the noise of the singing, he explained the situation, and the music stopped just in time for the whole congregation to hear the excited brother shout: "If we don't have this contribution, I shall have to pay you out of my own pocket, and I can't afford to do it."

The minister uttered no word and the brother realized that his last sentence had been spoken to the whole congregation. Without an invitation the ushers grasped the contribution boxes and there was taken enough and to spare.—Prov. Jour.

The Improbable in War.

Every man who has ever been in the thick of a fight knows that, to all appearances, the escape of any man so placed is utterly improbable, if not well-nigh impossible also. Bullets fly around him thick as hail; shells burst and solid shot scream around his head for hours. That some one of the thousand missiles shall hit him seems to be almost inevitable; and yet in very few battles does one man in ten sustain any sort of harm. The writer of this article has seen a thirteen-inch mortar shell fall and explode in a mortar pit fifteen feet square, in which eight men were standing, without doing harm to any one of them. Ninety-nine times in a hundred such an occurrence would kill every man so exposed, but in this case the utterly improbable thing happened. In another case within the writer's knowledge, a caisson chest, with seventy-five pounds of powder in it, exploded without injuring a man who was sitting on it at the time. Improbable things of a contrary sort happen not less frequently. To draw still from this writer's observation, a man lying in a mortar pit fourteen feet deep, lying close to the revetement, too, was killed by a musket ball which came from a distance of not less than a thousand yards, and passed through the man's lungs. It had probably struck a pebble or some other object in front, which caused it to fly upward, and afterward to fall behind the high parapet. At any rate, it killed the man.—N. Y. Evening Post.

News and Notes.

Details of the loss of the British steamer Eten on the South American coast state that she left the port of Valparaiso on the 14th of July en route to Panama, with fifty-one passengers, and mails for Europe and the United States. Nine hours after sailing she ran upon a point of rocks known as Bull's Point (Punk de Fors) and became a total wreck. The captain, twenty of his crew and twenty-one passengers were lost. The great change of currents consequent on the then recent earthquake is given as the cause of the wreck.

Senator Morton was very ill on the 22d, and fears were entertained that he could not live the night through.

The governors of West Virginia and Maryland have notified the War Department that United States troops are no longer needed to preserve order in those States, and Gen. Hancock will at once withdraw them.

On Friday, the 17th. F. A. Soop and his young wife were sailing on Lake St. Clair when they were run down by a steam barge and Mrs. Soop was drowned. The young couple had been clandestinely united, and the first the father knew of his son's marriage was when he received a telegram saying: "Nellie is my wife; she is dead; please make arrangements to meet us to-night at the depot."

The managers of the Western Union Telegraph, before announcing the success of the negotiations for a "pooling arrangement" with the Atlantic & Pacific, succeeded in purchasing a majority of the capital stock of the latter, so that the Western Union now absolutely controls both lines.

The United States steamer Speedwell has arrived at Halifax and will be employed in dredging the harbor, Bedford basin and the adjacent coast, under the direction of Prof. Baird of the Smithsonian Institute. A wharf has been secured for their accommodation; also a room for microscopic and other examinations.

Charles A. Minnie, a colored youth, has passed the most successful examination as candidate for a cadetship at West Point, from Nick Muller's district. [Muller is a democrat, and represents one of the Congressional districts of New York city.] His percentage was 98, P. Ahern's 75, and M. McGrath's 74. A report current in the lower wards of the city that Congressman Muller would withhold his certificate on account of his color is strenuously denied by Mr. Muller, who says he will cheerfully give him his well-earned certificate. Minnie is twenty years old, was born in Troy, raised in the Half-Orphan Asylum, had no schooling until two years ago, when he entered a colored school in New York, and afterwards a grammar school, where he worked so industriously as to go out with high honors. When he heard of the cadetship examination he was a waiter in a Newport, R. I., hotel. His course at West Point will be watched with great interest.

Donohue, the Hornellsville (N. Y.) rioter, was released from jail in New York city on the 22d, and immediately rearrested by the Sheriff of Steuben county.

There being no American man-of-war in Hong Kong harbor on the 4th of July, the British commodore hoisted the stars and stripes at the main-mast head of his flagship, and saluted it.

Kate Andrews, aged seventeen, was shot through the left lung, at Meriden, Conn., Wednesday, while trifling over a revolver with her brother John. She is not expected to live.

The Democratic State Convention of Pennsylvania on Wednesday nominated John Trunkey as candidate for governor, on the fourth ballot.

The Eastern War.

A despatch of the 23d from Bucharest says the Russians still claim to have possession of the Shipka Pass, and also the occupation of Kustendje. A despatch from Berlin says that Germany has issued a circular to the powers asking them to join in a remonstrance against the Porte's non-fulfilment of the Geneva Conference. The remonstrance has not been accepted by the powers, it being considered one-sided. A despatch from Russian sources reports that the Russians had repulsed 40,000 Turks, but does not state at what point.

Book Notices.

Estes & Laurist have recently published "Jack," a novel by Alphonse Daudet, the author of "Sidonie." Sidonie has had a sale of a hundred thousand copies in Europe and over eight thousand in this country. Jack is translated from the French edition by Mary Neal Sherwood, the translator of Sidonie, and it possesses the same interest that the brilliant work of the author in his former work developed.

The "International Review" for September—October is a number of such merit as to call for the third "thousand copies" in the first edition. The topics are varied, timely, important, and of interest to all classes of citizens. The writers have the reputation of being pre-eminently qualified for the proper treatment of the topics. The articles, even of foreign writers, are original contributions to the International Review. The manner of treatment is popular, the intention of the writers being to present their thoughts, and the results of their investigation and study to the very largest class of intelligent men and women. The current number contains The Communist and the Railway, by W. M. Grosvenor; The Letters of Junius, by A. H. Stevens; Modern Armies and Modes of Warfare, by Simon Sterne; Judicial Partisanship, The Late World's Fair, The President's Southern Policy, and other articles of interest and value. Price $1. For sale by newsdealers and booksellers, or sent by mail, postpaid, on receipt of price by the publishers, A. S. Barnes & Co., 111 & 113 William street, N. Y.

The same publishers also give us "My Bonnie Lass," by Mrs. C. V. Hamilton, whose novel, "Woven of many threads," was so generally read on its appearance a few years ago. Mrs. Hamilton's celebrity as a writer ensures the new work a ready sale, and it will doubtless be a favorite, as the evenings lengthen at this season, when in-door enjoyments succeed the inertia of the heated term.

"Scribner's Magazine" for September has a timely article upon wells and cisterns as a water supply, which every one should read. Dr. S. M. Burnett gives us "hints on the use and care of the eyes," which contains many interesting suggestions.

"Tom Bailey's Adventures, or the Story of a Bad Boy," is one of the books of eight years' existence which is as keenly relished as on the day on which it first appeared. It is always fresh, natural and charming, and is re-read with marked pleasure by many. It is on sale at Goodrich's book-store under the City Hall.

New Hampshire Items.

President Hayes and party visited the camp-meeting at the Weirs Wednesday forenoon. About five thousand people were on the grounds. Short speeches were made by the President and members of the Cabinet. After about an hour's stay the party left for Concord, where they met a cordial greeting. A banquet and reception took place in the afternoon and another reception was held in the evening.

The Manchester Union says that a bill prohibiting towns and cities from appropriating money to aid railroads passed the New Hampshire House last session, but was defeated in the Senate by nearly a two-thirds vote. The clerk of the latter body, however, by mistake or design, endorsed the bill as passed, and it was duly engrossed and approved by the Governor, and now appears among the laws, and the Union wants to know what is to be done about it. We have seen a similar statement before, and there is evidently a chance for an explanation somewhere.

A runaway horse dashed into the machine shop of the iron and steel company, at Nashua, and mounted a pile of iron to such a height that a derrick was called into service to liberate him. He kicked and struggled frightfully, and was much cut and bruised.

During a shower on the 21st the lightning struck John Peabody's house in Gorham, tearing off plastering, casings and doors; the clock was thrown across the room and out of the upper part of the window. Mrs. Peabody was stunned for a moment, but suffered no further injury.

Rev. C. E. Harrington of Lancaster administered a severe rebuke on a recent Sunday to those church members who worked at haying on the previous Sunday.

Alonzo B. Caldwell, aged fifty-eight, pattern maker in the Manchester print works, hanged himself on the 21st. Cause, temporary insanity. He leaves a family.

Hon. John H. Goodale has been re-elected Superintendent of Public Schools in the city of Nashua.

A reunion of the old Twelfth New Hampshire volunteers will occur on the 7th of September at Bristol.

The Dover Democrat of the 21st says: "Yesterday a rather peculiar case in bankruptcy came before the Register in this city, from Newmarket. It appears that certain persons, some four or half-dozen in number, were authorized to build a new church edifice in Newmarket for one of the religious societies there, and to raise the money the said persons gave their joint and several private notes. They got the money, built the church, and turned it over to the society. And now, as the notes fall due, all these men take to the bankrupt law, and it is said they can only pay a small percentage of the debt, while it seems probable that the society will get the new house for nothing. At first sight, to those not initiated in the methods, it looks like a rather curious way to get a new church; but then this is a curious world. Perhaps this church matter will come out all right and in accordance with the golden rule, but it looks on its face like the ways of the heathen Chinee."

Georgie Adams, eight years old, son of George H. Adams of Concord, was drowned in the Merrimack river at that place on the 22d.

At a meeting of the Governor and Council, Wednesday evening, the following were appointed a Commission to revise the statutes of the State; J. E. Sargent of Concord, Levi W. Barton of Newport, John F. Wiggin of Exeter.

—Between 8000 and 10,000 glass eyes are sold annually in the United States. An eye-maker gives one in 125 as the proportion of one-eyed people.

—The force of habit is a fine thing in its way, but when in reply to a question at a church fair as to what he will have, a young man mechanically replies, "Beer," or "The same," it is a trifle awkward.

The Channels of Exit

from the human system bear the same relation to it as sewers do to a city. They carry off the waste, the refuse which it is essential to remove in order to cure disease. One of the most salutary effects of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is to renew activity of the bowels when these organs are derelict in their duty. The bilious and dyspeptic symptoms which accompany constipation are also remedied by this sterling alternative. Its gently cathartic action has the effect of removing impurities which would otherwise poison the system and its tonic influence is exhibited in an increase in vital power. It renews appetite, soothes and invigorates the nerves, prevents and remedies malarial fever, and is a first-rate remedy for despondency.

The Teeth of the Future.

If the consumption of Sozodont continues to increase in the present ratio, the teeth of the future will be a great improvement on those of the present day. Its universal use would prevent all dental defections, and render one of the most essential portions of our material organization as ornamental as it is useful.

Spalding's Glue repairs everything but personal injuries.

The State of Louisiana, at the close of the war, found itself in a very crippled condition, financially; so the authorities imitated the example of Congress at the close of the Revolutionary war, and that of the States of Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania and New York, as well as many other commonwealths in times gone by, and in 1868 incorporated some of its leading citizens in the Louisiana State Lottery Company, with a capital of one million dollars, since augmented by three hundred and fifty thousand dollars accumulation as a reserve, all of which is paid up in cash. This company quarterly pays the State a large fund for the maintenance of its hospitals and schools and other charitable and educational purposes. The lottery is drawn monthly, without fail, in the City of New Orleans, under the personal supervision of the two ex-Confederate Chieftains, Generals P. T. Beauregard, of Louisiana, and Jubal Early, of Virginia, and the full schemes can be had by writing to M. A. Dauphin, Esq., President, Lock Box, 892, P. O., New Orleans. The next drawing is on Sept. 4.

"GET THE BEST."

We presume that every well informed person is perfectly familiar with a fact which has long been patent, viz.: that the adulteration of food of almost every kind is a common custom, and that the only safety lies in buying the best article in the market, and of dealers of experience and acknowledged integrity. All over the country there has sprung up a host of "cheap Johns" who pretend to sell sugars, groceries and like goods far cheaper than the regular old-fashioned dealers; and as a great many people enjoy being imposed upon, provided it is done at a cheap rate, there is a constant delusion that buyers save something by patronizing such shops. There never was a greater mistake than to suppose that a trader with little or no experience, and with everything to gain and nothing to lose, can treat a customer better than does the old-fashioned dealer, who has been for years in trade and has become posted in all the ramifications of the business. These men have a reputation, and have kept their customers for years by a habit of fair dealing, especially in giving them the best article for their money.

Take, for example, our next door neighbor, Mr. Charles E. Laighton. For over a half a century he has been a leading grocer in Portsmouth. He never sells an inferior article; and if the price paid at his store is above that charged in the cheap shops, it is because his goods are of a better quality than theirs and fully worth the sum asked.

Henry F. Gerrish is another dealer of acknowledged integrity, who never did and never will receive into his store an inferior article, because it is cheap. His customers know, when he assures them that he has what will satisfy them, that the right article will be sent to their homes. He was educated by one of the most successful grocers that ever conducted business in Portsmouth, and no temptation to abuse the confidence of his customers can ever affect his course as a dealer.

Our friends Butler & Laighton occupy a stand that has in years past been celebrated for its successful business, because it has been conducted, by nearly every occupant of the spot, upon the soundest business principles. They do not pretend to sell goods at "less than their cost," or below a fair market value; but they always give their customers an article well worth the price paid.

In these days of adulterations, the only safe way for the housekeeper to secure good groceries is to purchase of dealers of acknowledged standing. Consult the leading papers. See who advertises, and do not be caught by flashy appearances and glaring placard announcements of goods which, if of a good grade, can be purchased at less prices of old-established and well-known merchants, than one is made to pay at the so called cheap establishments, the patronage of which is always dearest in the end.

THE NEW HOUSE AT WHITE ISLAND.

The new house for the lightkeepers at White Island, Isles of Shoals, is finished, and makes a very imposing show. It is fifty-six feet long east and west, and twenty-three feet wide. It is built in the very best manner of wood, and is bricked up between the studding from the foundation to the roof, so as to leave an air space between the bricks and the outside boarding, and a similar air space between the brick and the lathing and plastering of the inside; this will not only give strength and stability to the house, but will greatly increase its warmth in winter and its coolness in summer. The house is divided into two tenements, entirely separate from each other. Each tenement has four rooms, viz.: kitchen (also intended to be used for a dining room) and a parlor on the lower floor, and two large bed-rooms overhead; there is also a large pantry or store room, a sink room, and two clothes rooms in each tenement. There is nothing that can be called a cellar beneath the new building, as it is only raised about two feet from the solid rock; but there is a circular cistern sunk to a goodly depth, which will hold forty barrels of water.

The picturesque old house, which has stood on the island for a longer time than the oldest inhabitant of the Shoals can remember, (in fact, there is no record whatever as to when it was built, so far as the writer of this has been able to discover,) is to be razed to the lower floor and then have a shed roof put on; the object of this is to preserve the excellent cellar which is beneath the old house, and the large cistern which is in the cellar—but it won't work worth a cent, for the cellar will freeze up solid in cold weather, cistern and all, without the protection hitherto afforded by the ancient building. It is too bad to tear the old structure down, too; for its thick walls of rough rock are solid as when first put up, and notwithstanding its small size on the ground compared with the new building, and its inferior height, there is very much more room in it than in either of the new tenements, and as to convenience of arrangement no comparison is possible. The wood-work of the old house was in very bad condition, to be sure, which made it cold as a barn in a winter nor'-wester; and about a quarter of its internal space was taken up by a fourteen-feet-square chimney of rocks,—built before bricks were invented, so some of the old Shoalsmen say; but one-half the money it has cost to build the new house, if laid out in repairing and enlarging the old one and modernizing its interior, would have made of it a better, more comfortable and more convenient dwelling than the new one.

And thousands of summer visitors at the Appledore who in years past have gazed with wondering curiosity at the two-feet-thick walls of the old house, the small, old-fashioned windows, with their seven-by-nine panes of glass and their heavy protecting shutters of plank, and the massive rock chimney with a brick top; and the many others who have had a chance introduction to it through the medium of magazine articles, or who have become thoroughly acquainted with it through the graceful writings of Mrs. Thaxter, will regard the new house with much the same feelings as the "old families of Portsmouth" are said to entertain toward an interloper who finds a way within the sacred circle. They will have to allow it to remain, because they cannot very well help it; but they will cordially dislike the agency which substituted a modern house with big windows and a half-way French roof for the quaint old building of rocks that was the home of Hon. Thomas B. Laighton during the earlier years of his voluntary exile from the main land, and was the play-ground of Celia Thaxter and the present Lords of Appledore during their childhood.

OPEN LETTER TO "GROWLER."

Mr. Editor: Please allow me to address "Growler" through your pages. The society with the long name, as he calls it, considers no case of cruelty too small for their cognizance, but they are neither omniscient nor omnipresent. Every humane person, whether he pay a dollar annually and so become a member, or not, ought to consider himself called upon to help forward the object of the society, viz.: the Prevention of Cruelty. If Growler saw the unfortunate oxen to which he refers, could he not have remonstrated with the owner, as well as if he had been a member of the society? Or if too timid or too proud, or unwilling to do this, he could (and on future occasions can) find the Secretary of the society, A. F. Craig, at his office, No. 5 Congress street. If unfortunately he should be absent, the President, T. E. O. Marvin, can usually be found at his oil factory. Either of these gentlemen would attend at once to any case brought before them. Other officers of the society who are always ready to do their duty, are Mr. Augustus Odiorne, Dr. J. R. May, Mrs. J. J. Pickering, Miss Christie, etc. Our former City Marshals (and I have no doubt the same will prove true of the present one) have always shown themselves willing to aid the society by their authority. If Growler, or any one else, should ever see any case of cruelty to horse, oxen, dog, cat, bird, or any living thing, the society would be glad to have their attention called to it, especially at the time, when something can be done about it. I will merely state in conclusion that the annual payment of one dollar makes any one a member of the society and that such contributions will be gladly received, as their funds are running very low.

A MEMBER OF N. H. S. P. C. A.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

Gen. A. P. Rockwell, President of the Eastern Railroad, is cooling off at Mount Desert, where he will find, doubtless, an excellent opportunity to ascertain the value of the investment made by a former board of Directors of the Eastern road, at Bar Harbor.

Among the first (and most commendable) acts of the new Street Commissioner was to remove the unsightly weeds from Richards avenue, and to clear the gutters in several streets at the west end where the waters from heavy showers could only be disposed of by keeping the water courses clear.

Hon. W. H. Y. Hackett is at Bethlehem, in the endeavor to escape the attack of an annual hay fever. T. Salter Tredick, Esq., and family, are at the Glen.

Hon. David Cross and wife, of Manchester, are at the Appledore.

The concert by the Hutchinson Family in Franklin Hall on Thursday evening drew a good audience, though the intense heat of the evening and the moonlight excursion of the Appledore steamer no doubt prevented the attendance of many who would otherwise have been present. The entertainment provided was worthy of the reputation so fairly won in the long ago by the "old original" Hutchinsons, of whom Asa B. Hutchinson, the patriarch of this tribe, was one. The music of the family is as sweet, and the sentiment of their songs as pure and elevating, as ever, though the times when they persisted in singing anti-slavery songs at the peril of their lives have gone never to return—good job, too. The Hutchinson Family have been favorites for about forty years, are still favorites, and deserve all their popularity. That their patrons were entirely satisfied with the concert was shown by the liberal applause rendered.

The Portsmouth Philharmonic Society are to resume their weekly rehearsals at Mercantile hall on Tuesday evening, Sept. 4th.

Heywood Brothers' Combination will give an entertainment at Franklin Hall to-morrow (Saturday) evening. The papers of the Middle and Western States and of the central cities of Massachusetts, speak very highly of the performances of this company. The Milford (Mass.) Journal says "their entertainments are all they advertise them to be;" the Worcester Press says that in that city "the audience of 2,500 persons was enthusiastic in its applause;" the Cleveland Leader says "a very rich minstrel and general programme was given;" and the other notices of their performances are equally complimentary. Their advertisement is in another column.

Miss Susie F. Ham, the well known powerful and talented contralto of this city, is to sing with the Hutchinson Family, at least during their concerts in this vicinity, and perhaps will travel with them—her first appearance in their concerts to be at Rye Beach Monday evening.

Morse & Ilsley will sell by auction today, commencing at 11 o'clock A. M., on the premises, all the interest of J. C. Carr in the land and frame building thereon numbered 72 on State street; brick store Nos. 22 and 24 Market street; brick store and dwelling corner Washington and State streets; and all book accounts belonging to estate of J. C. Carr, several notes, and one mortgage on real estate. See advertisement.

The new ship Granite State, having all her masts in place, has hauled to the wharf above the steamboat landing at the navy yard, where her yards can be crossed without their striking against the sheers. The beautiful model of the Granite State, contrasted with that of some of the old hulks that lay at the yard, is the source of frequent admiration by nautical men.

George E. Merrill has been appointed station agent of the Eastern Railroad at Seabrook, vice Abbott A. Locke, who has been in charge for the past twenty years. Mr. Merrill has been operator at the Seabrook station for the past three years. The misplaced switch which caused the recent accident was handled by the brakeman in charge of the freight train, that was at Seabrook to pass the Pullman train. In the night the freightmen do all the shifting at this station, and the station agent has no charge of this work except in the day time.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them render it so prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; this hair thickened and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is prized for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medicine. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

—One of the most beautiful women of New York is now in the Bloomingdale Insane Asylum. Her insanity was caused by the use of enamel on her face.

—Two ostriches, harnessed to a wagon, can pull a load of a thousand pounds, and all the care they need is a pail of water, two or three old bones, and a hod of brick.

—Little anecdote of Papa Wrangel, the oldest soldier in Europe; When in 1848 he had to put down the insurgents of Berlin, they sent him word that at his first shot they would hang his wife. For an answer he opened fire. When he had got the up per hand of the rebels he remarked to his aide: "My wife. Do you know I am curious to see if they did hang her?"

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Richrox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 22d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 Dey St., New York.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:
"I am using Castoria in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the Castoria. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. Rose & Co., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. (nov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, directs the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. (nov1

CONDITION PILLS!
The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!
No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 3½ years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. have been confined to my room for two years and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 20th of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.
MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, I thought I should have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yea, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I think the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE!

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.
MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, but could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians have pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. R. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON!

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.
THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative as could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medi ca could add nothing in its favor.
Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.
Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
USE
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stalls or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any vendor of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them, or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, yard or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds within city, or so placed that the offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake, with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action is thereby deranged, and who e substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Erupt ve Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Pimple Humours, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

This standard article is compounded with the greatest care.

Its effects are as wonderful and satisfactory as ever.

It restores gray or faded hair to its youthful color.

It removes all eruptions, itching and dandruff; and the scalp by its use becomes white and clean.

By its tonic properties it restores the capillary glands to their normal vigor, preventing baldness, and making the hair grow thick and strong.

As a dressing nothing has been found so effectual, or desirable.

Dr. A. A. Hayes, State Assayer of Massachusetts, says of it: "I consider it the best preparation for its intended purposes."

Successor to the Centennial.

Speaking of the Main Exhibition Building of Philadelphia as adapted to the requirements of the Permanent International Exhibition, a contemporary says: "The architectural improvements within the transepts of the Permanent Exhibition Building, at Philadelphia, have made of it the largest, and unquestionably, the finest music hall in the United States, if not in the world. The great Roosevelt Organ remains in its place above the North centre entrance. The organ and tower galleries have been connected, and a large seating capacity gained in that way. Then by a gradual descent by broad terraced steps the main floor is reached about half way between the entrance and the centre of the building. On this Orchestral Gallery, seated with chairs, are accommodations for a chorus of nearly three thousand voices. In the auditorium, occupying the full width between the towers back as far as the central music stand, there is ample space for eight thousand sittings. Rising from the centre is a substantial pedestal, surmounted by a colossal bronze statue of America, or the Goddess of Liberty. While the hall is so large that only the most powerful voices can fill the room when speaking, a single voice if clear and distinct produces a wonderfully fine effect in song, the columns and ornaments forming the boundaries of the inclosures, being sufficient to confine the tone within. On the other hand the military band or grand chorus, and the great organ, produce immense volumes of tone, which force their way through these partial barriers to the remotest parts of the vast building, with echoes and reverberations which add greatly to the effect. The light at night from nearly two thousand gas burners is almost as brilliant as the sunlight, and the Saturday evening concerts are attended by thousands attracted not only by the fine music that is provided, but to witness the illumination."

—Dion Boucicault's advice—Never make love to a woman through an ink-bottle.

—Great contest after two months of married life—Which shall be speaker of the house.

—Germany possesses the oldest warrior in the world. Field Marshal Wrangel is ninety-four years old and is in good health and vigor.

—The owner of the steamer City of Madison, burned last week in the West, hired a drunken engineer because he could be got for five dollars a month less than a sober one. The man was found asleep at two o'clock in the morning, with the boiler over-heated and ready for a blow-up. Soon after the steamer was found to be on fire, and with her cargo entirely burned. There was no insurance, but the owner saved 16 2-3 cents for the day on which his cheap engineer worked.

—The Burlington (Vt.) Free Press says: "On the top of Prospect Mountain, near Addison, is a remarkable pond about three-quarters of an acre in extent. Except a small space in the centre, it is covered with a thick moss, strong enough for people to walk upon. Poles are pushed through the moss at any point, but none have ever touched bottom, yet there are large trees growing on it and people walk in safety. The moss forms a thick mat or carpet, and is described as being exquisitely beautiful.

—Mayne Reid, according to Colonel A. W. Taylor of Memphis, had plenty of genius but no balance. When he served in the Mexican war he was a great dandy, wore more braid on his coat than any other man in the army, loved the ladies and got on tremendous sprees once a month. He was wounded at Chapultepec, where he led the supporting company, but as he charged against orders Scott did not mention him for promotion. "All right" was Reid's reply; "I think the man who gets in his licks first is the best man. It is only a difference of opinion between two great men."

—Berthold Auerbach, as a Jew, has a word to say about the Seligman-Hilton squabble. In a letter addressed to Frederick Kapp he makes, among other comments, the following: "There can be no question about this. The Jews are much to blame on this and on the other side of the ocean. They often want that quiet culture, that contentment with one's own inner refining and elevating. An inordinate desire for pomp and display is prevalent, especially among Jewish women. Much is yet to be done, much to be admonished, before simplicity and a sense of modesty can be awakened and cherished among them."

—Mrs. Edwin French of Londonderry, Vermont, in attempting to draw water from a well near the house, a few days ago, was thrown into the well by the breaking of a board. The water was several feet deep, but she managed to keep her head above the surface by clinging to the pump pipe. There was no person within sound of her voice, but the family dog, an intelligent and faithful animal, went to the well and looked in. Mrs. French asked him, as she would have asked a human being, if he could not get help. The dog took in the situation instantly and bounded away towards the hayfield where Mr. French was at work. Arrived there he made a terrible uproar, and persisted in his wild actions until Mr. French, fearing that something had happened, followed him to the well and saved his wife from drowning.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 22d.

Secretary Sherman has spoken, and while he has been and will be assailed for an alleged violation of the President's order, his speech has attracted more attention than is usually devoted to campaign utterances, because it deals with matters of vital interest to the whole nation and is supposed to reflect the views of the administration. His statements of facts are of ready verification, and hence it is likely that he has bankrupted many spread eagle orators who cherished hopes of making themselves immortal during the fall campaigns. Patriotic men of all parties will find comfort in many of them, and also matters for very serious reflection in those that were brought into such prominence by the labor revolt. His figures showing the large reduction in the cost of administering the Government already effected, and other matters contemplated in the same direction, ought to prove gratifying to every tax-payer, whether republican, democrat or neither. He is very explicit relative to some items of general and great interest, stating that since March 1st there has been accumulated a reserve of currency, gold and silver coin, and bullion, amounting to $44,840,882; the reduction of our national debt within the same time is $29,441,024, while of that still unpaid a large portion has been refunded at 4 1-2 and 4 per cent. interest, without any serious disturbance to business and without the aid of legislation which he believes would have greatly facilitated the reduction of our debt, and assisted in reaching specie payment. Personally, Mr. Sherman appears to have largely enhanced public confidence in his Administration of our finances.

It now seems taken for granted that Mr. Hayes' first message will be largely devoted to a consideration of the relations of capital and labor, as found existing between great corporations and their employes. It is known that several members of the Cabinet are in favor of legislation creating a commission of arbitration. It appears that Secretary McCrary at the last session urged through the House the passage of a bill investing Congress with a partial control of our great trunk railway lines. It failed in the Senate; but it is believed something of the kind will be recommended. Mr. Sherman's statement that four men practically control the movement by railroad of above 27,000,000 tons of freight is certainly suggestive.

Messrs. Peugh and Grow, respectable members of the Washington bar, are under heavy bail for the Grand Jury's action, for alleged forgery. In 1873, Peugh, as Attorney of one Tompkins of Georgia, secured an award of $1,343.86 by the Court of Claims, for property taken by the Government during the war. Two drafts were issued, one for $1,008.15 the other for $335.-71, the amount of fee claimed by Peugh, and both payable to Tompkins. It appears that Tompkins was slow in paying his Attorney, and he, to get the money, disposed of the drafts to Grow. One was paid last December, the other in January, both endorsed by Tompkins and Grow. The Treasury officials afterwards decided that Tompkins' signature was a forgery and Grow refunded the money. Grow states that he entrusted the drafts to a party who engaged to get them signed by Tompkins; that they were returned to him duly signed, and that he never doubted the genuineness of Tompkins' signature. It is now claimed that evidence has been discovered that the claims are either greatly exaggerated or wholly fraudulent; and as a statute is said to be in existence giving the Treasury accounting officers the right to review awards and to refuse payment under such circumstances, it may after all turn out that it had been better for the trio had Tompkins promptly paid his lawyer. The case is of great local interest on account of the social and professional standing of the lawyers and of some general interest because of the novel points involved.

KNOX.

Political.

The democrats of Kemper county, Mississippi, have nominated the leader of the assassins of the Chisolm family for sheriff. This is consistent with the State Democratic Convention which nominated Gov. Stone for re-election. Surely if the chief magistrate who declined to take any measures for bringing these murderers to justice is fit to preside over the State, the leader of the band is fit to preside over the county.

The New York Express, the official organ of Tammany Hall, says: "Mr. Randall is intimate with the republican managers of Pennsylvania. He seems to be the favorite of both the Philadelphia and the Harrisburg rings. He is allowed to go to Congress when other democrats are counted remorselessly out. Robeson gave him all the patronage he wanted in the Philadelphia Navy Yard. These facts are suspicious, and weaken Mr. Randall's chances of success. His ability is generally conceded. He is an able parliamentarian, a ready debater, and a very serviceable member on the floor. But no man with his known views on subsidies and of his suspicious relations ought to be elected to the Speakership by democratic votes."

The State Treasurer of Georgia, under a decision of the Attorney-General, would not advance to the Constitutional Convention any more money than was appropriated by the Legislature. The Convention passed an ordinance authorizing the President to borrow money to defray expenses of the Convention to be repaid by the next General Assembly, upon which Gen. Toombs loaned the Convention $25,000. A high old "Constitutional" convention that, which while repudiating the bonds issued in payment for the capitol building of the State, in which the convention is sitting, illegally contracts a debt of $25,000! But then it is a "reform" convention, of the democratic patent.

On the whole we must pronounce the platform of the Pennsylvania democracy the most unmitigated twaddle yet produced in a year of empty platforms.—Boston Globe.

New Hampshire Items.

The Waumbek Lumber Company of Bethlehem, one of the largest lumber companies of New England, has gone into voluntary bankruptcy, and the petition is on file in the United States District Court at Manchester. William G. R. Mowry of Providence is President and manager of the concern. The Sprague's of Rhode Island are large stockholders, as also is ex-Governor Howard of Rhode Island, all of whom are in favor of going through bankruptcy. Opposed to it are Hon. John G. Sinclair of Bethlehem, the National Bank of Newbury, Vt., and others. The creditors are many, but it is thought that the assets will more than cover the liabilities.

The farm buildings of Thomas C. Ryder were burned Thursday morning at Dunbarton. Loss $8000. Insured $4000.

While driving at Wilton, on Friday, D. S. Burnham of Milford was thrown from his carriage and received severe injuries.

The mysterious death of several cattle at Wolfeboro is attributed to poison, either from eating noxious shrubs or the administration of poison by some revengeful person.

During the reception of Mr. Hayes at Nashua, the pockets of well-known men were picked to the amount of $500 or $600, with papers, notes, etc. F. E. Tupper, a stove and tin dealer, lost $93.

President Hayes and party were received in Manchester on Thursday by a democratic mayor. Hon. Ira Cross having resigned, Alderman P. A. Devine, the only democrat on the board, was elected chairman pro tem.; then Col. Cilley was elected mayor, but declined to accept, which left Mr. Devine the acting mayor at the time of the President's visit.

All but two of a large party of gold-seekers from Franklin to the Black Hills have returned, fully satisfied with their adventure, believing New Hampshire a much better country than they were wont to believe before.

The Eastern War.

A despatch from Bucharest, via London, the 23d, says the Turks attacked Tirnova the day before in force, and the fighting continued until nightfall. Another despatch says Prince Mirsky had repulsed the attack of Osman Pasha upon Selvi. A despatch from Vienna says the junction of the forces of Mehemet Ali with Suleiman Pasha is denied. A despatch from the Russsian headquarters, dated August 22, says the attack on the Shipka Pass by Suleiman Pasha was repulsed by the Russians. The Turks made no less than ten attacks, and each time were driven back with heavy loss.

A Turkish despatch on the 24th says that a battle had taken place at Eski Yuma. The Turks, who were under command of Mehemet Ali, defeated the Russians, capturing many prisoners and taking several guns. The Russians retired in great disorder.

News and Notes.

The New South Wales steam collier Yarra Yarra, entering the harbor of Newcastle, Australia, July 15th, was boarded by a huge sea, a gale was blowing at the time, and went down, stern foremost, with all hands, about twenty-five persons. The steamship City of Hobart, employed between Sydney and Tasmania, foundered July 24. All hands were saved. The steamer belonged to William Summerbell, the owner of the unfortunate Yarra Yarra.

The French man-of-war Correze recently passed Aden, on the Red Sea, with cholera on board. Fifty of the crew had died and 150 were sick with the disease at the time the vessel was spoken.

Gen. Howard had another brush with the Indians on the 20th, the latter attacking his camp before daylight and running off 100 horses. The troops pursued them and retook about one-third of the horses, one soldier being killed and seven wounded, and many of the Indians killed.

The Knights of Honor, started June, 1873, had paid $240,871.85, in death benefits, up to July 21, this year. The average death assessment per month is one dollar for an assurance of two thousand dollars payable at death.

A girl fourteen years of age, daughter of Patrick Keating, of Barton, Vt., was fatally burned Thursday afternoon by the explosion of a kerosene oil can, from which she was pouring oil on a fire which she had just started in the stove.

In spaciousness, convenience of arrangement and liberality of appointments, and above all in the efficiency of management and careful consideration far the comfort of guests, the American House, Boston, has few superiors among the Hotels of the land. —Burlington Hawkeye.

American girls at home are beginning to learn that there is something in the world besides dress. One, a school teacher, wrote a letter recently, asking for a design by which to make up dresses which would not look eccentric, but which would be useful, convenient and available for two or three years, or until the clothes were worn out. She said she was determined to dress hereafter without reference to fashion, make her garments when it was convenient—that is during the month of vacation—and her dresses so they would be good for two years at least, using no fanciful styles, or trimmings, but better materials than she had been accustomed to use, so that color and texture would remain firm. She said she was quite determined to do this, and see if she could not rid her mind of clothes. And a young married friend had, with the consent of her husband, agreed to keep her in countenance by doing exactly the same. —Jennie June.

At Niagara, New York, John and Elizabeth Havey, an old couple in destitute circumstances, residing on the outskirts, were burned to death in their house on Wednesday night.

—A striker who is retained, and occupies a high position—That in the bell-tower.

—An Englishman says that American girls breath through their mouths, and talk through their noses.

—It pains us deeply to record the fact that a "Ladies' Sewing Society" of Suffield, Conn., got into a wrangle, the other day, over the right of one lady to have her dog in the room. The result was that the lady and dog were finally left alone in the house, the rest of the party leaving after words and even blows.

—Rev. Joseph Cook says: "We have churches that, when they erect a new house of worship, dedicate to God only a mortgage." And the Burlington Hawkeye responds: "Yes, but don't you suppose, Brother Cook, that God would rather accept a good first mortgage, running on long time and easy terms, than a miserable old wreck that looks like a caboose of the ark, and has to be propped up when the bell rings, to keep it from tumbling down?"

—It is well enough to tell what one ought to eat and how he ought to eat at a picnic. But no rule, however sensibly constructed, ever worked well. There is only one way to eat and that is as you get it. It is folly for a man who receives an article to lay it down to await its proper place in the course. The proper article and the proper place for its disposal never reach an individual at the same time. As it is, he finds that the food marches into his system in something like this order: Biscuit, frosted cake, pickle, meat, jelly, cake, sandwich, pie, lemonade, pickle, chocolate, cake, sardine, pie, cake, ginger-bread, lemon pie, pudding, corned beef.

CANINE SUICIDES.

As Mr. Samuel Sides, with a sailing party, was making a landing on the evening of the 19th inst., at Long wharf, a small black-and-tan dog came down to the edge of Pier wharf, jumped into the water, swam out into the middle of the dock between Pier and Long wharves, and held his head under the water until he was drowned. This is Mr. Sides' story, which is corroborated by the others of the boating party; but the addition by one of the latter that the black-and-tan left a note at home stating that he was tired of hard times and of life, and that his body would be found in the dock, Mr. Sides pronounces a gross exaggeration. Besides the boating party of five persons, who all saw the little dog commit felo-de-se, Mr. Joseph E. Adams, of the firm of Samuel Adams & Co., witnessed it from the wharf.

Since writing the above we have been informed of another case of dog suicide, the culprit in this case also being a black-and-tan. This case occurred some three weeks ago, at the Raynes shipyard, in the evening, shortly before the time for the men engaged on the new ship Paul Jones to knock off work. The dog was seen to cross the yard and go down to the water by a number of persons, among them Messrs. Richard Philbrook and Elbridge Prior; walking out into the water at a place where it is shoal, until he was about half-covered, he suddenly put his head beneath the surface, and kept it there until he fell over on his side and floated away, dead.

Whatever may have been the cause of these two suicides, if such they were, we do not pretend to say; but that the facts are as we have related we are fully assured.

NO SUCH COUNTRY FOR HIM.

Some of the goodly citizens of Portsmouth, and not a few residents of the neighboring towns, seem to regard this generally quiet and decorous old city as a very sink-hole of iniquity and frivolous dissipation; but occasionally comes along some one who thinks it errs as widely in the other direction. On Saturday evening one of our respected townsmen, a well-known merchant who left his native Germany many years ago to become an American citizen, received a visit from a country-man who had landed in Boston a day or two previous from a Cunard liner. The visitor was a young man of about twenty-seven years of age, a civil engineer by profession, well provided with money, and intending to make America his future home. The evening passed pleasantly in conversation about the Vaterland and the New World, etc., and the young man finally retired, well pleased with what he had seen and heard of the country and with himself for coming here. Next morning, after breakfast, noticing that the stores were all closed and the streets almost bare of people, he propounded a series of enquiries to his entertainer; his eyes opened wider and wider at the answers he received, and finally he broke out with "Mein Gott in Himmel! What kind of a priest-ridden country is this? No music Sunday—no dance—no lager beer—no stores open! What good is it for anybody to be alive here? Go to church three times every Sunday, and not one beer saloon open all day!" And then with many mighty German oaths he vowed he would take the next Cunarder for home. In vain his friend endeavored to explain that it was only in the most pious of New England cities, such as Portsmouth, that the Sabbath was so observed, and that in wicked cities, such as Baltimore, New Orleans and Chicago, the social dance and the festive lager prevailed mightily on Sunday; the young man was mad clear through and refused to be pacified, and on Monday morning he actually took the first train for Boston, purchased his ticket for crossing the ocean, and sailed on the next steamer, his parting salutation (prefixed with a tremendous German expletive) to his old friend being "No such country for me; no music, no dance, no lager every Sunday!"

ANOTHER FOR "GROWLER."

Mr. Editor:—Please allow me space to answer the "mild growl" of your correspondent whose communication in Thursday's morning CHRONICLE needs some explanation. If the cases of cruelty of which he complains were actually witnessed by him why did he not complain to the City Solicitor, and have a warrant served for the prosecution of the offenders? He was the right man to do it if he saw the abuse of the dumb creatures. It seems absurd for a man who witnessed two cases of cruelty, to growl at the offenders a week or two after the acts of cruelty were perpetrated. It seems to me that a prosecution would have been more efficatious than a dozen growls. It is the privilege of any citizen to prosecute the offender against the law for the prevention of cruelty to either children or animals. Growler attacks the S. P. C. A. for not punishing the offenders in cases which he saw and—growled at. It seems to me he neglected his duty in not attending to the cases himself. The horsewhipping which he witnessed escaped the observation of the members of the society to which he alludes. The neglect of the exon did not escape the vigilant eyes of a lady member of the society, who interrogated the owner or driver of the team and asked him how long his oxen had been standing exposed to the heat. She was informed by him that he came to town at nine o'clock and had watered and fed his cattle since his arrival. The lady was not satisfied with his statements, and went in quest of the President and Secretary of the Society, but they were both out of town. I am glad to know that the case was observed by an intelligent and interested person, and earnestly solicit him to give me information which will lead to the identification of the offenders in each case, and if they are citizens of New Hampshire they shall be prosecuted in less time than it would take to growl once and a half. If "Growler" and others like him will join the Society, or give information when they see cruelty perpetrated, they will do their duty and help the society in the work which it is earnestly trying to do. THOMAS E. O. MARVIN,

President N. H. S. P. C. A.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

Mr. Henry F. Wendell will sell by auction to-day, at the auction store on State street, a top buggy, chairs, lounges, etc., 4000 cigars, and 200 bottles native wine. See advertisement.

Heywood Bro's Combination at Franklin Hall evening. Judging from what is said of this company by the press of other cities, the entertainment afforded is really good, with nothing to offend any one. The Erie Despatch says "the entertainment was first-class throughout;" the Fort Wayne Gazette says the combination "gave a first-class performance, and everybody was pleased;" the Cleveland Record says they gave "a varied and highly amusing entertainment;" the Milford Journal says "their entertainments are all they advertise them to be, and are deserving of a liberal patronage from the public;" the Leavenworth Telegram speaks of their performance as "a first-class entertainment, such as a man can take his wife and children to enjoy, as nothing is said or done to hurt the feelings of the most fastidious;" and other papers are equally complimentary in their notices. Their advertisement can be found in another column.

This (Saturday) evening there is to be a special entertainment—the last of the season—at the Sea View House, Rye Beach, consisting of a concert, followed by a theatrical performance and closing with a hop. The house has been well patronized this season.

The assignee's sale of real estate, etc., belonging to the bankrupt estate of J. C. Carr, advertised for Friday, the 24th inst., was postponed to Monday, Sept. 3d.

Quite a number of visitors availed themselves of the kind invitation of Mr. and Mrs. Pearson to witness that beautiful plant, the night-blooming cereus, for the second time this season in Mr. Pearson's parlors on Friday evening of last week. Callers came from eight o'clock until a late hour in the night. Every one admired the rare spectacle and departed with expressions of delight. Mr. and Mrs. Pearson seemed quite glad to explain to their numerous callers the characteristics of the plant and inform them as to its history. The sight well repaid the visitors, and when the next bloom occurs, doubtless there will again be many there to see.—Journal.

Mr. John Garvin, of the firm of Jones & Garvin of New York city, died at his birthplace in North Wakefield on the 14th inst., after a short but severe illness, aged forty-five years. Mr. Garvin was well known in this vicinity, having married a Portsmouth lady, who with two children survives him.

The "Windsor" Coffee-pot, manufactured by Hubbard & McClary, of Windsor, Vt., and for sale in this city by J. P. Sweetser, 46 Market St., is an invention much after the style of the French coffee-pots. It is simple in construction, and so arranged that the coffee is suspended between the top and bottom. A current of water is compelled to flow continuously downward through the ground coffee, all the nutritive matter is thoroughly extracted, and in a few minutes' time, without aid of egg or other settling material, you have a decoction "clear as a bell," and in the surest and easiest manner you can have a really good cup of coffee, with good material. Nine sizes are made, holding from one to sixteen quarts, and costing from $1 to $6.

Capt. William Robinson of the steamer Appledore was on Wednesday the surprised recipient of an elegant diamond stud of heavy weight from George B. Stetson, Esq., of New York. The captain also received from warm personal friends in this city a choice case containing a silver knife, fork and spoon, suitably engraved, a gift to his little daughter Carrie.—Times.

Pensioners will notice the advertisement of John P. Cooper, Esq., who proposes to execute and forward pension vouchers. Mr. Cooper has been chief clerk in the pension agent's office, in this city, for the past eight years, and the pensioners need no assurance of his ability and faithfulness.

POLICE COURT.

Friday, August 24th.

Nathaniel Danielson, not long returned to this city from a sojourn at Pollard's Hotel, was arraigned for drunkenness. Fined $3, costs $6.04. Nathaniel goes to the country again.

Eliza M. Walker was charged with being the keeper of a disorderly house. She scorned the insinuation, and introduced a cloud of witnesses—among them four young lady "boarders" of the loudest kind—to prove the respectability of her house and the good order therein maintained. The testimony was very vigorous, but Judge Batchelder was in a sceptical frame of mind and adjudged Mrs. Walker probably guilty, and she was bound over in $300 to appear at the Supreme Court to answer to the charge. This woman and her husband, who was recently sent out of town by judicial process, have been among the regular customers of the Police Court for some time past, and it will be a good thing if they can be gotten rid of altogether. The new City Marshal is starting in first-rate.

—A St. Louis man saw the sea serpent the other day. It had scales, a dog's head, a pelican's bill a foot in length, with two holes in it, through which he spouts water in jets a foot high, long ears, pendant locks of hair, several fins, six legs and a long mane. They have fearful whiskey in St. Louis.

The Channels of Exit

from the human system bear the same relation to it as sewers do to a city. They carry off the waste, the refuse which it is essential to remove in order to cure disease. One of the most salutary effects of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is to renew activity of the bowels when these organs are derelict in their duty. The bilious and dyspeptic symptoms which accompany constipation are also remedied by this sterling alterative. Its gently cathartic action has the effect of removing impurities which would otherwise poison the system and its tonic influence is exhibited in an increase in vital power. It renews appetite, soothes and invigorates the nerves, prevents and remedies malarial fever, and is a first-rate remedy for despondency.

The Teeth of the Future.

If the consumption of Sozodont continues to increase in the present ratio, the teeth of the future will be a great improvement on those of the present day. Its universal use would prevent all dental defections, and render one of the most essential portions of our material organization as ornamental as it is useful.

Spalding's Glue repairs everything but personal injuries.

The State of Louisiana, at the close of the war, found itself in a very crippled condition, financially; so the authorities imitated the example of Congress at the close of the Revolutionary war, and that of the States of Connecticut, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania and New York, as well as many other commonwealths in times gone by, and in 1869 incorporated some of its leading citizens in the Louisiana State Lottery Company, with a capital of one million dollars, since augmented by three hundred and fifty thousand dollars accumulation as a reserve, all of which is paid up in cash. This company quarterly pays the State a large fund for the maintenance of its hospitals and schools and other charitable and educational purposes. The lottery is drawn monthly, without fail, in the City of New Orleans, under the personal supervision of the two ex-Confederate Chieftains, Generals P. T. Beauregard, of Louisiana, and Jubal Early, of Virginia, and the full schemes can be had by writing to M. A. Dauphin, Esq., President, Lock Box, 692, P. O., New Orleans. The next drawing is on Sept. 4.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive trial, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its fountain. The hair, weak and sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilized; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color, its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half man, half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 23d, 1878."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment. White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimech, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. 1nov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children frething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. 1nov1

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 5 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as one of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May, John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I hope to get back my again my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir.—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago Indivisel him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been so free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to share the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE!

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for nearly twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for the last twelve winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mubbs, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrer, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON!

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physic clans as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medi ca could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual remedy for a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucborrhea arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Taming a Canary Bird.

When I first put him into his new cage he was as wild a bird as I ever saw. Of beautiful plumage, graceful form, and sly yet winsome ways, his natural song, blended with the notes of a nightingale, his instructor, charmed all who chanced to hear it. I must confess, however, to some misgivings in my first endeavors to gain the affections of this bird. For several days he confronted my approaches by the most wilful conduct, and every attempt to gain his good will was rebuited. I have seen birds that one could tame by voice. But Tim was not one of this sort, and something more potent than "silvery tongue" was needed to impress him with a sense of the situation. Matters had thus continued for about a week or ten days, when I found myself obliged to resort to more severe measures. In the early morning his cage was cleaned and fresh water put in, but no food was allowed. You would have smiled to see him peeping coyly down into his seed-cup, and yet disdainfully on discovering nothing there. His apparent comprehension of "hard times" gave him the half haughty and half saddened look that most men wear under like circumstances.

A two hours' survey gave him a pretty clear notion of the situation; he seemed now to take in all at a glance, and whether or not that this was his first lesson, he appeared to be at least a fit subject for further experiment. So, without saying a word, I opened the cage door, and, with a few seeds in my hand, I thrust the latter gently in the cage. But not yet had he reached the verge of starvation; the seeds looked tempting, to be sure, but not sufficiently so to lower his dignity. Hence a patient waiting of two hours or more. Again the hand was thrust into the cage, a few seeds were snatched up with lightning speed, and after this I was given to understand that Tim is hungry, but never stoops! I counted it a most encouraging sign, however, that the bird should deign to pick up the seeds at the end of a four hours' training. At the close of the sixth hour Tim was as calm as an April sunset; he was, indeed, most tractable, and no sooner had I again put my hand containing the seeds into the cage than he perched upon my thumb as cheerily as though it had been his perch, and began to devour the proffered food.

I allowed him to satisfy his hunger for about one minute; then I drew my hand with the bird out of the cage, and retreated to a chair. Before I had seated myself, however, he had deserted me, and had perched above the window. "You may stay there all day if you like, my fine fellow, but you'll find it a poor pasture for hungry birds." I held the seed cup in my hand, and on the floor beside me lay a small vial of oil of anise. "When you get ready, you may come in and get your seed, Tim," said I; and then I went on with my whistling. For a half hour or more the bird had the freedom of the room, and in despair and half eager to improve the time, I sat down at my writing desk, placed the seed cup and oil bottle in front of me, and went on with my work. I had well nigh, while absorbed in other thoughts, forgotten Tim, when, on a sudden, I felt a slight rustling on my shoulder, and a moment later he was on the table in front of me. He was allowed to gather up a few more seeds; then I seized him gently, opened the vial, rubbed a very small quantity of the anise upon his nostrils, and then replaced him on the table. It must have been an hour before the intoxication or stupor (which, for the benefit of gentle readers let me say is perfectly harmless) passed off; then the bird began to eat again, and, finally, on a little persuasion, hopped upon my finer, then on another, and so on back and forth until I put him back into his cage. Hardly was he returned when he poured forth his strains of sweetest melody.

On the next day, after cleaning the cage, I placed it on my table, leaving the door open and the seed-cup outside. It required no persuasion whatever to induce the bird to come out, and now, every sign of terror had left him. While he ate I gently stroked his feathers, talked to him, whistled to him, fondled him—it was all I cared to do. Tim was conquered at last. He had learned his first lesson, namely, that to know the master be must become friendly to him, and, before receiving food, he must respect the giver. From that day to this the bird has been one of the family. Whereas formerly I had to contend in order to get him out of his cage, now I have to contend to get him into it. A part of the day he spends with me, singing while I write and work, now pulling the beads off my pen-wiper and dropping them into the ink-stand; now removing the pins from the coil and carrying them to the top of the book-case; now getting into an open drawer and playing mischief among my papers. Even while I write these words of his little story he and a bullinch are contending in front of me for the possession of my blotter, and I will not say them "nay" to their little antics.

Free Trade in Ships.

A plank in the platform of the Maine republicans declares that "any radical changes in the navigation laws, especially in regard to registry and enrollment of shipping, would be detrimental to the highest interests of American commerce, and a damaging blow to the national independence of the country." The full significance of this declaration is pointed out by the New York Evening Post—good republican authority—which thus epitomizes the navigations laws referred to:

Under our registration laws no vessel can be deemed to be a vessel of the United States and entitled to national protection unless owned entirely by citizens and commanded by a United States citizen. If a naturalized owner or a part owner of a vessel goes to a foreign country for two years the register of the vessel is forfeited.

Only vessels built in the United States or captured by the United States in war can be registered.

No American built vessel licensed to sail under a foreign flag during the rebellion can be registered anew.

No vessel can be registered the owner or part owner of which usually lives in a foreign country.

Vessels sold to a foreigner shall be considered foreign vessels, and not entitled to another registration if bought back by American citizens.

"These legal curiosities," says the Post, "are not mementoes of a barbarous period of commerce and navigation, but are existing laws incorporated into the revised statutes of the United States, vigilantly enforced and just now approved by the convention of the dominant party representing the best intelligence of a New England State. Can citizens who lament the decay of our once splendid foreign commerce find more forcible reasons for its melancholy plight than such laws and such political sentiments suggest?" And the Post is right.

The above we find going the rounds of the democratic papers, they seeming to regard it as a powerful plea for free trade in ships. As to the New York Post being "good republican authority" we are not half so clear as we are that it (like the New York Nation) is an extreme free trade paper, and that its arguments in favor of free trade are extensively copied and earnestly approved by the British press.

As to "the decay of our once splendid commerce" being a result of the registry laws,—with all due respect to the Post and its democratic applauders we must pronounce that theory bosh of the boshiest kind. France has free trade in ships, yet the French merchant navy, which in 1873 ranked third in importance among the nations of the world, in 1876 had fallen to the sixth position. The British Provinces have free trade in ships, yet the tonnage owned there is now nothing near what it was before the British Government, the British iron-masters and iron-shipbuilders, and the British Lloyds, working in concert, well nigh destroyed the business of building wooden ships by the substitution of iron as the material of construction.

What benefit it would be to American commerce to be able to buy foreign ships, when there is not remunerative employment for those already owned here, it is not easy to see. It costs more to sail an American ship than any other; the master, officers and seamen are paid higher wages, and the provisioning is more liberal, than in the merchant service of any other nation; and until our ships can be sailed as cheaply as others, any trifling difference in the first cost of the vessels will amount to but a trifle. And ships, of either wood or iron, can be built as cheaply in the United States as the same class of ships can be built anywhere,—wooden ships certainly, and iron ships according to the statements of the builders of such vessels.

It would be a good thing for British shipowners, no doubt, if they could get American registry for their vessels; for they could then control the entire ocean carrying trade of the country, coasting trade and all, with their cheaply-sailed craft; but that would be of little benefit to the people of this country.

Neither would it benefit the American ship-wrights to have all the ship-building of the country carried on in British shipyards, which is what would result from allowing British ships American registry. The ship carpenters and laborers employed for months past on the "Granite State" and "Paul Jones" have profited more from the building of these two ships on the banks of the Piscataqua than they would from the building of a score of vessels on the Thames, the Mersey or the Clyde.

The Eastern War.

Despatches received in London on the 24th, from various sources, says that Suleiman Pasha, having been reinforced by troops from Phillipopolis, renewed his attack upon the Russian positions at Shipka and was again repulsed. The Turks have made an attempt to occupy Canapa, an island in the Danube, near Widdin, but the heavy artillery fire of the Roumanians at Kalafat prevented a landing. The Turks are preparing to cross the Danube below Widdin. A correspondent at the Russian headquarters explains the mystification which prevails concerning the reported capture of Bainkoi Pass. He says: On the 16th the column of Suleiman Pasha's forces attempted strenously to force the pass, but though the column did indeed force its way into the defile, it was there so roughly handled by the Russian artillery and by the regiment holding the pass, that it was compelled to retire. A Vienna correspondent remarks, relative to the attack on Shipka Pass, that all along the main range of the Balkans face of the mountains is a precipitous rock. However much the bulk of Suleiman Pasha's forces may have been inured to mountain warfare, it will be little short of a miracle if they ultimately succeed in carrying the pass.

The Army and Navy Journal says that the victor of Plevna, Osman Pasha, it is confidently asserted in England from private sources, is none other than that celebrated fugitive from French prisons, Marshal Francois Achille Bazaine. The Journal also states that Mehemet Ali is of French descent; he was born at Magdeburg and originally named Julius Detrait; that Blum Pasha was a Prussian Lieutenant of Engineers thirty years ago; that Reschid Pasha was a Lieutenant Steckey of the Prussian Artillery and that Faize Pasha, who beat the Russians in Armenia, is a Swiss.

There is a report of a severe engagement between the Turks and Russians, Friday night at Papaskein, in which the Russians suffered a terrible loss, their left wing was turned and they were repulsed along the whole line.

N. E. R. C. Association.

The Reform Clubs of New England met at Rocky Point, R. I., on Friday, for a jubilation and clam-bake. Gov. Van Zandt of Rhode Island presided and made a speech, and was followed by noted temperance workers, male and female. A New England Reform Club Association was formed, only men reformed from the use of intoxicating drink to be eligible. The following officers were elected: President, John W. Drew of Concord; Vice Presidents (two to each State), J. K. Osgood, H. A. Reynolds of Maine; Natt Head, William E. Stevens, New Hampshire; L. S. Durant, L. M. Reed, Vermont; William Young, Edward Davis, Massachusetts; Col. F. G. Allen, Judge Elias M. Jenckes, Rhode Island; N. D. Parsons, G. N. Kellogg, Connecticut; Secretary, Ad. D. Welch, Providence. A Committee of one from each New England State was raised to report by-laws. The Club adjourned to meet at Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 4th.

News and Notes.

The late strike riots are likely to prove no joke to the State of Pennsylvania, which will be called on to disburse more than half a million dollars for expenses incurred in restoring order. This simply means that working-men must pay the bills. Capital will not do it. If taxes are high, rents are high, and so are provisions and clothing. Those who buy and sell lose nothing, while those who buy and consume, lose everything. Thus violence, in whatever form, proves ultimately a direct attack, not on a class, but on the prosperity of the community, and it comes with the greatest force on those who are least able to endure it.

Notwithstanding some recent modifications of the first shocking statement; concerning the famine in India, matters there are sufficiently deplorable. Already in the Madras presidency there have been about 500,000 deaths from starvations while 1,750,000 human beings are dependent on daily relief, with the prospect that the number may be increased to 20,000,000. This is the second year of want, and for six months to come there will, in all these districts, be nothing to eat, whatever, excepting what is contributed from outside. Food must be sent to it by carts drawn by oxen, and the beasts themselves consume almost as much as they can draw. It appears that after the best has been done to rescue the unhappy people at least 4,000,000 of them must inevitably perish.

In the game between the Bostons and Louisvilles on Saturday, the Bostons were victorious. Bostons 3, Louisvilles 2.

On Friday, as a train was leaving Pensacola, Fla., the Sheriff, with a posse, boarded the cars to assist a couple of Texas officials in arresting the notorious John Wesley Harden, who is credited with committing no less than twenty-seven murders, and for whose body $4000 reward was authorized by the Legislature of Texas. The last murder by Harden in Texas was that of the Sheriff of Comanche county. Harden has lived in Florida several years under the name of John Swain. In making the arrest about twenty shots were fired, and a companion of Harden's, named Mann, who had a pistol in his hand, was killed.

"The Survivors of the Chancellor." This new volume by Jules Verne has just been issued as No. 98 of "The Lakeside Library" series. It details the adventures of the passengers and crew of the good ship Chancellor, lost in mid ocean on the Atlantic. When the ship was destroyed its people found refuge on a raft, and encountered great privations, and were subject to imminent dangers. But few survived the hardships of the long contest with the fierce elements. The interest of the story is enhanced by thirty-six fine engravings. Sold by all newsdealers at ten cents, or sent, free of postage, by Donnelley, Loyd & Co., Publishers, Chicago, Ill.

C. L. Knapp and R. F. Brazier, of Lowell, Mass., while making a landing on Hampton Beach on Tuesday evening, the 21st, with their new boat "Wicassie," in which they have been cruising along the coast, were capsized in the surf. Outside of a salt-water bath and the loss of a couple pair of shoes no damage was sustained, and they on Friday morning started for Newburyport.

Mr. Moody the Revivalist is Mr. Moody the Revivalist No. 2. There was a Rev. Samuel Moody of York, Me., who conducted revivals 130 years ago, and wrote a cheerful treatise entitled "The Doleful State of the Damned, especially such as go to Hell from under the Gospel, aggravated by their Apprehension of the Saints' Happiness in Heaven."—Globe.

The Boston Globe says: "Its about time for 'the biggest watermelon of the season' to be laid upon the table of the country editor." The editor of the Globe evidently knows what's right, sometimes.

"Rev." John R. Smith, a notorious forger and swindler, who has for years prosecuted his nefarious business under the guise of a revivalist and preacher, is in jail in Boston. When he leaves the jail he will probably emigrate to the State prison. From first to last this sanctimonious scoundrel has stolen $25,000 or more.

The profits to Jay Gould, Russell Sage, James Keene and Garrison, the engineers of the recent consolidation of the Western Union and Atlantic and Pacific telegraph lines, amount to over a million and a half dollars.

Valentine Kane of Meriden, Conn., and his two children, aged respectively six and nine years, were poisoned by eating toadstools for mushrooms, Wednesday, from the effects of which the children died Thursday night. Kane will probably recover.

New Hampshire Items.

At a meeting of the Governor and Council in Concord on Friday, Joseph Kidder of Manchester was reappointed a Trustee of the Agricultural College, and William M. Chase of Concord was appointed a Trustee of the State Library. The Governor and Council, accompanied by Prison Commissioners Shaw and Pillsbury, visited West Concord with reference to the selection of a site for the new prison. No conclusion, however, was reached.

Alma Emerson, of Candia, fourteen years old, was drowned in a pond in that town on Thursday afternoon, by getting stuck in the mud at the bottom of the pond.

The Congregational Society of North Groton received $500 by the will of George C. Lang, who died in Meredith Village recently.

Vice President William A. Wheeler arrived at the Twin Mountain House, Friday afternoon, and will remain for the present.

There are 125 temperance reform clubs in this State, with an aggregate membership of 65,000 men, of whom 27,000 are over eighteen years of age.

At a meeting of the New Hampshire Governor and Council, Wednesday evening, the following were appointed a commission to revise the Statutes of the State: J. E. Sargent of Concord, Levi W. Barton of Newport, Joseph F. Wiggin of Exeter.

Joseph B. Walker of Concord was appointed trustee of the Agricultural College in place of A. S. Scott of Peterborough, deceased.

—"Musing on the infinite, eh?" said a facetious chap to a melancholy looking individual who was walking along the roadside with bowed head and serious countenance. "Well, yes; same thing—thinking of my debts."

—The Arabian archæologists claim that they have discovered the grave of Eve, and state that she must have been about three hundred feet tall. And yet Adam, poor man, has been blamed for eating the apple when she requested him to.—Pittsburg Telegraph.

DULY APPROVED.

The Times pats the Board of Aldermen on the back, as follows:

The row between the republican members of the Board of Aldermen has led to another good thing,—the placing of a competent man at the head of the fire department. Keep on, gentlemen, you are doing first rate. Property-owners and tax-payers thank you for placing Joseph R. Holmes at the head of the street department and Samuel S. Fletcher at the head of the fire department. Now let's see if you won't keep right on and merit their thanks in all things.

The Board of Aldermen ought to feel good now, having secured the commendation of the Times, in addition to the approval of their own consciences—that is, if aldermen have consciences. We have no doubt that both Mr. Holmes and Mr. Fletcher are competent men, as the Times asserts; but the implication that ex-engineer Marston was not a "competent man at the head of the fire department" is simply unjust, for he has always done his duty well, and shown as much earnestness and judiciousness in perfecting his department as any other engineer ever did, or will be likely to do in the future. He leaves the material of the department,—hose, engines, etc.,—in better condition than any other retiring chief engineer ever did, and the present excellent discipline of the department is largely to be credited to his efforts.

GOOD FOR THE BOYS.

The Journal thus refers to the Portsmouth Heavy Artillery, in an article descriptive of their visit to Bennington: "The procession itself was four miles long, and numbered nearly 8000 people. The Heavys were early in the day designated as the color company, and were honored by being permitted to carry the flags of this State. Along the line of march the company was greeted with frequent applause, and on one or two occasions cheers were proposed and heartily rendered by the admiring crowds, who were struck with the soldierly appearance of the company. In marching in review before the President the boys all did their level best. The company was marching in platoons, and so perfect was the movement executed at that point, that the company was recognized by the President who applauded them heartily, which compliment, coming as it did from a military man, we believe was bestowed upon no other company in this State. A hearty reception was accorded this company by other visiting organizations, and it was noticeable that the Portsmouth boys selected for their companions portions of the better class of the militia present. * * Every one in Portsmouth should feel a pride that we have such an organization as this company in our city. It is composed of young men who have proper ideas of soldierly behavior, and whose demeanor abroad as gentlemen in addition to their military achievements, does credit to Portsmouth."

[Communicated.]

A HEMP SPUN-YARN.

Mr. Editor:—When people of prominence, respectability and moral worth visit the seaside they naturally like to have some notice taken of it by the press. Now I, in company with others, visited the Shoals several weeks ago; and having waited as long as is proper without seeing our names in the list of "distinguished arrivals," I have concluded to remedy the oversight—for of course it is an oversight—and myself give an account of our visit. Our party consisted of myself, (Mr. Hemp,) Mr. Richards, Mr. Jeems, Mr. Trafalgar, Mr. Garden and Mr. Forests; and we went out in our own yacht. [Our yacht was only a sailboat, and a borrowed one at that, but it sounds better to call her our yacht,] We laid in much store of the good things of this world; potatoes, hard-tack, onions, cucumbers, baked beans and other luxuries; and for liquids, to last us on the passage out, we had on board when we put to sea on a Saturday afternoon, two quarts of water in a jug, four dozen of lager beer, for sickness, a bottle of pop, four bottles of Boynton's tonic, et cetera. Our commissariat was particularly strong in et cetera; we had some in a gallon jug, some in a two-quart demijohn, and some in quart and pint bottles. The only noticeable incidents of the passage out were a violent calm which struck us full-and-by about a mile from the Shoals, and an agonizing attack of rheumatism which seized each man in the shoulder when our skipper suggested that somebody should get out an oar; fortunately a breeze sprang up, and the rheumatism disappeared as soon as we let go the kellick in the boat harbor at Smuttynose. We got our tent pitched on Malaga before dark, and then went for the baked beans, et cetera, with clear consciences and glorious appetites. Then we went to sleep.

Next morning we were up bright and early, breakfasted cheerfully on lobsters that we purchased from a lobster-car while the owners were off drawing their pots, and then sallied forth to capture large quantities of fish. We did only fairly at this, catching about two quarts of cunners with a bucket of bait; but finally Mr. Richards, who was fishing with a big hook, had a mighty bite, and amid great excitement commenced to haul in his line. "I've got him," said Mr. Richards; "he's a sixty-pound cod, at least. I know by the way he yanks. I'll show you how a real fisherman does it." And then, as his big fish was up to the surface of the water, he gave one glorious lift, and a pollock about three feet long flew twenty feet into the air and about the same distance away from the boat, while Mr. Richards sat down with violence on the gunwale of the boat, flourished his feet above his head and waved his arms frantically for a moment, apparently in a vain attempt to fly, and then gracefully turned a back-somersault overboard. The hook had lost its hold of the fish at just the wrong time. Mr. Jeems fished Mr. Richards in over the stern with the boat-hook, and Mr. Forests immediately offered him lager beer, which he declined with thanks.

After Mr. Richards had emptied the water out of his boots and pockets and laid his tobacco on a thwart to dry in the sun, Mr. Jeems queried if real fishermen always hauled in a fish that way. Mr. Richards deigned no reply, but diving to the bottom of his pocket produced a mysterious bundle, remarking as he commenced to unroll it, "I'll show you fellows something now that will make your eyes stick out." Then he produced a wonderful looking machine—a little brass cylinder, with a ring on one end and six stout brass wires on the other, the wires being about six inches long, pointed, and their ends all hooked in toward a common centre, where was a very short hook. "This, gentlemen," said Mr. Richards, "is a wonderful invention for catching fish and things; it is 'the eagle's claw!' You see that I put a bit of bait on this little hook in the middle; then I pull this ring, and throw all the long hooks wide apart. Now the trap is set, and when a fish comes this way and pulls the bait the trap springs, and there you have—the Old Harry!" In explaining the machine Mr. Richards had pulled the bait a little too hard, and the eagle's claw had clawed him good, sticking five of the hooks into his hand and the other into his wrist. The party were loud in their admiration of the claw. We released Mr. Richards, who wrapped a handkerchief around his hand, reset the eagle's claw, and lowered it overboard. The result was indeed marvellous; we fished there two hours longer and nobody got a bite. We then up kellick and shifted into the boat harbor. Here the water was shallow, and Mr. Jeems tried the eagle's claw on a sculpin. When he lowered it into the water the sculpin turned, took one look at it, and then struck out for deep water as fast as he could go; then a placid flounder took a look and instantly made for the nearest bunch of eelgrass. When we went into the boat harbor the bottom was fairly speckled with flounders and sculpins; but in five minutes after the eagle's claw was let down there was not a fish in sight anywhere. By this time we were tired of fishing, and went ashore to dinner.

After dinner we visited the lighthouse at White Island, duly admired the absolute cleanliness and neatness of everything about it, and then called on Oscar and Cedric at the Appledore. Here we tried to do a little business—wanted Oscar to buy us off, threatening if he didn't we would take in summer boarders at our establishment on Malaga, and ruin the trade of the Appledore. Like the fish with the eagle's claw, he wouldn't bite; told us he didn't care what we did, for the Appledore was then so full of guests that all the window sills and wardrobe hooks were taken up. Failing to make a trade, we returned to Malaga, had supper, and turned in.

Next morning we took account of stock, and found the larder sadly out of order. We intended to stop out a week; but on this (the second) morning we found that all the baked beans and hard tack, the sugar, the butter and tea, onions and cucumbers, lager beer and tonic and et cetera,—all were gone; and all we had left for the rest of the week was a half-peck of raw potatoes and the two-quart jug of water. A scouting party of one was sent out, and came back with a report that one of the owners of the lobster-car was sitting behind a big rock on the shore about thirty yards from the car, with a double-barrelled shot-gun laid across his knees. Upon receiving this report Mr. Trafalgar, who is used to such work in caucuses, put the question to the meeting in due form, and declared it "the unanimous sense of the meeting that we do now adjourn to town." Half an hour after this we were on our way in, and as we rounded the last point of Malaga we saw the lobster-car man sauntering up to his house with the double-barrelled shot-gun under his arm—but it was too late for us to profit by the circumstance.

We were six hours on the passage in, and the broiling sun committed terrible ravages on our complexions; our noses in particular were frightful to behold, for color. As we gallantly ran our yacht into the mud at the head of the dock, Mr. Jeems drew the cork from the water jug and emptied its contents overboard, remarking that we had used up everything else in the eatable line, and might as well use up the water, too. As we filed up Water street there was an elderly naval man standing on the sidewalk in front of a saloon; he had evidently been into the saloon, for as we passed him he looked from one of our faces to another, and remarked to an Irish wash-lady who was leaning out of a second-story window, "Them fellers belongs to the Reform Club;" adding an instant later, "but they've only jest j'ined it." Then the elderly naval man laid his finger on his nose, and winked most injuriously. We scornfully passed on, but when we reached the corner Mr. Richards suddenly exclaimed, "Hold on, boys; I'll fix him;" and going back, with a few eloquent and appropriate remarks he presented the elderly naval man with the eagle's claw. The last we saw of the old fellow he was still standing there, with the frightful machine in his hand and a dazed expression on his face, gazing vacantly after our party; and he may be there yet, for aught I know. As to what occurred after we got home and attempted to give our wives satisfactory explanations of what had happened during our absence, I draw the veil of charity.

Yours truly, HEMP.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

The exhibition of the working model of the Strasburg clock opens at Congress Hall to-day. The original has long been one of the mechanical wonders of the world, and this model is a fac simile of it.

The wife of Rev. George W. Bicknell, formerly pastor of the Universalist church in this city, died at Bath, Me., on Thursday.

Mr. Wendell's auction sale of top buggy, furniture, native wine, cigars, etc., advertised for Saturday, was postponed until Wednesday next, Aug. 29th, on account of the rain.

A valuable horse belonging to the Stoddard Brothers, died on Saturday night, from the cramp colic.

Some time Friday night a horse and wagon belonging to Mrs. Charles R. Leavitt of Stratham was stolen from her stable. A bundle of clothing lying in the bottom of the wagon belonging to a man in the house was taken out and left behind. The thieves, of whom there were two, a man and boy, then went to a neighboring barn and stole therefrom a harness, which they put on the horse, and then drove away. The animal was a dark brown mare, the wagon a light Concord, painted dark with black stripes. The thieves were evidently well acquainted in the neighborhood.

Frank Wells, the jewelry thief, who operated recently at Boar's Head, Hampton beach, and was arrested and is now in jail here, is no doubt "old in thievery," having committed depredations at the Sackett House on the night of the 10th; robbed Prof. Pierce, the pop corn man of East Kingston; and attempted to rob a trunk. Other depredations are coming to light.

Schooner Dashaway, belonging at New Castle, landed at Messrs. Randall & Caswell's wharf Saturday forenoon four swordfish, which weighed in the aggregate, when dressed, upwards of fifteen hundred pounds. They were caught off Cape Elizabeth.

—We know the cold Greenlander eats candles with a relish, the Chinaman indulges in rats, the Frenchman in horsemeat and frogs, but there is an enterprising dry-goods man in this city who evidently desires to get a new diet for Americans. He advertises, "Ladies' shawls for dinner and breakfast."—New York Mail.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its natural color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. If thin, fading, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows, with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color; its operation is sure and painless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, disease of the scalp cannot exist.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

The Channels of Exit

from the human system bear the same relation to it as sewers do to a city. They carry off the waste, the refuse which it is essential to remove in order to cure disease. One of the most salutary effects of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is to renew activity of the bowels when these organs are derelict in their duty. The bilious and dyspeptic symptoms which accompany constipation are also remedied by this sterling alterative. Its gently cathartic action has the effect of removing impurities which would otherwise poison the system and its tonic influence is exhibited in an increase in vital power. It renews appetite, soothes and invigorates the nerves, prevents and remedies malarial fever, and is a first-rate remedy for despondency.

The Teeth of the Future.

If the consumption of Sozodont continues to increase in the present ratio, the teeth of the future will be a great improvement on those of the present day. Its universal use would prevent all dental defections, and render one of the most essential portions of our material organization as ornamental as it is useful.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 23d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimock, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. tnov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. tnov1

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 5 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine, I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected in Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been an hour free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they told me advised me to go South and I spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrill, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before it was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy elief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

CITY HEALTH REGULATIONS.

THE BOARD OF HEALTH OF THE CITY OF PORTSMOUTH call the attention of the public to the following sections of Chapter 10, of the Revised Ordinances, and invite all interested in the preservation of health in our city to aid them in the execution of their duty:

SEC. 3. All waste water of houses, yards, cellars, sinks, pumps, etc., shall be conveyed by their owners or occupiers to the common sewers, or to such places as the Health Officers may direct.

SEC. 4. No person shall be allowed to throw any vegetable or dead animal substance, or any other matter capable of producing infection, into any street, lane, alley or dock, or upon any wharf, but shall bury them or throw them into the river below low water mark.

SEC. 5. The contents of vaults and privies shall not be permitted to rise within one foot of the surface of the earth. And all owners and occupiers of buildings having such vaults or privies as may require it, shall cause them to be emptied within ten days from the promulgation of this ordinance, and in future on or before the first day of May in each year. And any such owner or occupier neglecting so to do, shall forfeit and pay for every such neglect a sum not less than three nor more than twenty dollars, and a like sum for every week's neglect after the time above specified.

SEC. 6. No vender of meat at the stalls shall be permitted to leave any stale meat, heads, feet or offal of any kind about their stals or stores over night, or suffer them to be thrown into any street, lane or alley of the city. Nor shall any sellers of fish be permitted to throw any offal of fish into any street, lane or alley of the city, or upon any wharf, but shall either bury them or throw them into the river beyond low water mark.

SEC. 7. If any dead animal or decaying vegetable substance, or any other nuisance, shall be found in any part of the city, the owners or occupiers of the premises where such nuisance shall be found, shall cause the same to be removed within twenty-four hours after being notified so to do by one or more of the health officers.

SEC. 12. When any householder shall know that any person within his family is taken sick of the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, he shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 16. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual remedy for a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders.

Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who's assistance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Foul Ulcerations, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

The Communist and the Railway.

This has been the work of the Communistic associations with respect to railway transportation. Like all conspiracies to defeat natural laws, these associations prove mutually destructive, and self-destructive. The miner wanted a large demand for coal and iron, and helped to destroy that demand, and to make transportation more costly for the farmer and wages lower for the fireman. The Granger wanted more roads and cheaper transportation, and helped to arrest the building of roads, bringing harm to himself, the miner, and the fireman. The fireman wanted more railroads, and larger shipments by rail at rates permitting full wages for himself. He has helped to push many railroads into the gulf of bankruptcy, and compelled others to economize the more to make good property destroyed, and thus has prevented the vigorous competition for the grain traffic which was about to be renewed. The results will be fewer trains and lower wages for firemen, smaller consumption of coal and iron for miners, and more costly transportation for farmers. Nature does not wait for tardy human laws to punish those who try to cut each other's throats. * * * *

What shall be done? That local governments, as now constituted, are utterly incompetent to deal with the spirit of Communism has been proved by shameful events. Our free institutions will be destroyed by that spirit, if unchecked, but not less surely by a centralization of power to prevent Communistic laws, and suppress Communistic societies. It is a significant and startling event that a prominent statesman, and the dominant party in one of the largest States, formally propose as a remedy the virtual control of railways by the Federal Government. Does any man seriously believe that four thousand millions of property, with revenues of five hundred millions yearly, in the hands of men who already make and unmake Senators and Representatives in many States, can be controlled by a free government? It would be simpler to elect Colonel Scott perpetual President of the United States with powers of dictator. If ever the United States makes it necessary for railway property and railway managers either to control the Government or be controlled by it, the end is sure. The necessity of self-protection against the Communistic spirit in Congress will band together instantly all railway owners and managers, not to resist, but to "run" the Government. Four thousand millions will never be owned by two hundred men who think back-pay and mileage "an object," and vote themselves tooth-picks and the franking privilege. We shall surely escape Communism, in that case, because we shall surely take Despotism as better. That another alternative than this may be found, and one not pregnant with destruction of free institutions in either event, must be the hope of patriotic citizens.—W. M. Grosvenor, in International Review, September—October, 1877.

—A Kentucky paper thus chronicles an elopement: "Mr. J. C. Jerboe and Miss Artella Sterett left rather hastily on the up packet, last night, destined for matrimony and misery."

—Item from a Nevada paper: A female Justice of the Peace in Wyoming Territory was obliged to hear a case of a scandalous character, in which her husband filled the unenviable position of defendant. She sentenced him to be hanged by the neck until dead, and was anxious to have the sentence carried into effect at once, until the attorneys explained to her that she was sitting simply as an examining court. She then held him in bonds of $18,000,000, to await the action of the Grand Jury, and said she would shoot the first man full of holes that attempted to raise the sureties.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 25.

A publication in the Washington Republican has varied the course of gossip and enlarges the area of legitimate inquiry for the professional and amateur investigators so abundantly supplied this community. Avoiding details for lack of space, the gist of the matter is about as follows: T. P. Kane, ex-special agent of the Pension Bureau, in a letter to Secretary Schurz about the 1st of June, charged that J. H. Baker, while Commissioner of Pensions, ordered the name of a Mrs. Slaughter placed on the Pension rolls, and the payment to her of back pension to the amount of $7,725. This claim was filed many years ago, and had been rejected by almost every new incumbent of the Commissioner's chair for twenty years, including Baker himself, in 1871 or the year following, notwithstanding which he subsequently ordered the case to be re-opened and the claim allowed, knowing it to be fraudulent, and for which he received one-fourth of the amount paid as a bribe, from the Attorney, who received a like amount for his services. It is further charged that Mr. Bentley, present Commissioner, having full knowledge of Baker's crime, has manipulated the affairs of his office so as to prevent any publicity with intent to shield the criminal; that Col Le Barnes, who succeeded Talbert Lanston as chief of the special service division on Baker's retirement, and who was associated with him (Kane) in investigating the matter, was, with himself, dismissed at the instance of Bentley because of their damaging knowledge of Baker's guilt, and that Lanston, his intimate friend and adviser in the premises, was restored to his old place vacated by Le Barnes. It is intimated that Mr. Schurz requested the matter should not be made public, and has been very dilatory in his inquiries; and that his Private Secretary Mitchell (the accuser of Mrs. Mitchell and Gen. Banks in a late scandal) who was designated to act with Kane in completing the evidence, had taken advantage of every frivolous pretext to delay investigation. This morning's Republican credits Mr. Schurz with saying yesterday that he was anxious to have the truth or falsity of the matter established. Mr. Bentley's present unpopularity will not suffer any diminution by the publication and it has directed attention anew to the Interior Department as an excellent place to inaugurate "reform." The Indian Bureau has long been under a cloud, and has been for the past three months the subject of a secret investigation.

About every move of Southern democratic leaders, and the utterances of their press since securing control of the lower House of Congress in 1874, has served to confirm the belief that they are acting by a concerted plan to recover the power of domination in national affairs which they lost through secession after an almost unquestioned possession of thirty years. This tactic league, is believed to contemplate the banishment of every republican of offensive prominence from the late insurrectionary States, and all who by their intelligence promise to become troublesome in the future. It is alleged that all the political crimes that have darkened the history of that section for the past eight years, culminating in the horrible atrocities of last year's Presidential campaign, are due to this unwritten compact. While brazenly demanding unconditional amnesty for the authors of the most shocking atrocities and rewarding them with petty offices, they are urging on the spoilation of political opponents in order to drive them out and cement the "Solid South." It is claimed that a perfect reign of terror exists in South Carolina to-day; and that men of national repitation are now in this city, awaiting Hayes' return to invoke National protection in behalf of the martyrs of bitter, relentless persecutions, systematically urged against every person of any note ever identified with the republican party.

After the handsome manner in which France responded to our invitation to the Centennial Exposition, and the cordial efforts of her Government and people to make it a success, our own indifference toward the French Exposition to be opened next season certainly smacks of ingratitude and appears altogether shabby. Unless soon accepted, the space reserved for this Government will be forfeited, and it is hoped Congress will take up the matter at once after organization.

While Pugh and Grow are under heavy bail for the action of the Grand Jury in the matter of the forged drafts, Tompkins has learned late in life that honesty is really the best policy, or would have been for him; because, had he promptly paid Pugh his fee as Attorney, there would have been no forgeries to investigate, leading to a knowledge of his fraud, that will likely prove fatal to any payment of the award.

KNOX.

A Temperance Lecture.

The Fall River News of Saturday says: This morning one of the saddest sights ever seen in our Court-room was witnessed at the District Court. Peter Bogle, a well-known citizen, 64 years of age and possessed of a comfortable estate, his wife and son, a strongly healthy young man, were arraigned on complaints for being common drunkards. The evidence disclosed a terrible state of things in the family; everything is going to ruin from the use of rum; the property is being squandered and the home destroyed. The evil has existed for a long time and their friends finally interfered to save them from absolute ruin. The father, it is stated, has squandered about $6000 worth of his property during drunken debauches within the past few weeks. He acquired most of his money in the rum business and it now seems to be going in the same way. The young man was sentenced to three months in jail and the father and mother to sixty days each.

News and Notes.

The Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers have not paid the strikers on the Boston & Maine Railroad their due for June and July. The strikers, however, have confidence that they will in time get all the money that is due them. They were voted by the organization $60 a month until the annual meeting of the Grand Division, which takes place in Boston next October. A dozen of the Boston strikers have obtained work as firemen, or as engineers of stationary engines, or at the trades of their earlier years. The men who went on to the Boston & Maine line after the strike, and were bought off by the Brotherhood, an agreement being entered into that they should receive regular wages until they found employment, were settled with for from $80 to $100 in cash.

John Riley shot James Clancy through the head in Boston, Sunday evening. The murderer was arrested.

While the schooner Clara C. Bergen was on the passage from Bermuda to Savannah, she experienced a heavy gale on the 19th inst. The second mate, while reefing the spanker, fell from the foot-rope into the sea. The Captain threw an oar to him, which he caught, and supported himself for two hours and a half, until the gale subsided, when he was rescued by a boat sent from the vessel. He had drifted during the time four miles away, and was picked up in an exhausted condition.

Martha A. Cæsar died on Babcock street, Providence, Friday, from the bite of a spider on the lip.

Two spans of the Missouri river bridge at Council Bluffs, Iowa, were blown down by a tornado on Saturday. The loss is estimated at $350,000. The spans destroyed were each 250 feet long, and it is expected it will take three months to fit the bridge for travel again.

Ezekiel B. Worthen attempted to kill his wife at Lowell on Saturday night, by shooting her, but she will probably recover. Worthen was arrested.

Walter Booker, a young man of nineteen, is in jail at Montrose, Penn., awaiting trial for the murder of his brother Addison. The trouble arose from a game of base ball. A prisoner in the jail asked him when he was put in what he was there for. "Only for killing a fellow," he replied.

The bodies of three men were found hanging to a tree recently in Red River County, Tex., with a placard pinned to one of them bearing all the information taat is known of them. It read: "Here is where we found them, and here is where we left them. They stole horses in Arkansas, and we are from there and strangers here!"

Capt. Eads, the well-known American engineer, has completed plans for bridging the Bosphorus. The Turks are evidently not so entirely absorbed in the exigencies of war but that they can give some attention to the things that make for peace, and they meditate a bridge that will beat all creation. The plan contemplates a structure six thousand feet (over a mile) long, and a hundred feet wide, while the central span will be seven hundred and fifty feet, the longest in the world. The cost will be $25,000,000.

The Chicago Tribune hired a colored janitor some time ago named Thomas Jefferson; not long afterward a vacancy was made and another colored man took his place named John Adams. John was bounced and his place was filled by James Madison. James talked some of leaving the other day, and there were two applicants for the expected vacancy, one named George Washington and the other Benjamin Franklin. Fact.

A man named Colby was shot dead by a man named Jackman, on Wednesday last, at Brompton Falls, P. Q., a short distance from Sherbrook. The men had been drinking a good deal, and Colby made insulting proposals to Jackman's wife. An inquest was held, and a verdict of wilful murder was rendered. Colby was a New Hampshire man, and his wife is now living in this State.

The Eastern War.

A despatch dated Erzeroum on Saturday says: "The Russians advanced upon Kurs Kara and Wezinkay on Friday, but were compelled to retreat after a five hours' engagement, during which some of their ammunition cases were exploded by a Turkish shell." A despatch from Mukhtar Pasha says that the Russians lost 4000 killed and wounded in this affair.

A Russian bulletin relative to the battle at Schipka Pass, says: "Fighting continued all Friday. Our troops retain all their positions. Our losses during the four days' fighting have been considerable, over twenty-seven wounded officers, and 900 med being brought to Gabrova; the number of killed is unknown. The cannonade in the Pass was renewed Saturday." Suleiman Pasha announced on Saturday that he had taken the two principal Russian works in the Pass. A telegram from Adrianople, Sunday, says news was received that Suleiman had taken the third work and was attacking Gabrova. A Russian bulletin dated Gorny Studeni, Sunday, says: "Fighting continued Saturday in the Pass with terrible violence. Our troops maintained their position, and have repulsed several powerful attacks. To-day (Sunday) General Doraschinsky, who commanded the force holding the Pass for the first three days met, a hero's death."

A Constantinople despatch of Monday says that no official confirmation of the reported capture of the Shipka Pass has been received.

— The communists' platform, epigrammatically expressed, is about as follows: A loaf for the loafer, with full privilege of losfing.

PROPOSALS.

PROPOSALS FOR MATERIALS TO BE SUPPLIED TO THE NAVY YARDS UNDER THE COGNIZANCE OF THE BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIRS.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR,
Washington, D. C., August 21, 1877.

SEALED PROPOSALS to furnish Timber and other materials for the Navy for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1878, will be received at this Bureau until ..ooday, 12 o'clock M., the 25th of September next, at which time the bids will be opened.

The proposals must be addressed to the "Chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repair, Navy Department, Washington," and must be indorsed "Proposals for Timber, &c., for the Navy," that they may be distinguished from ordinary business letters.

To prevent confusion, and facilitate the opening of the bids, parties bidding for supplies at several yards will enclose their bids in separate envelopes for each yard, and record with the name of the yard for which the bid is made.

Printed schedules for such classes as parties deal in and intend to bid for, together with instructions to bidders, giving the forms of proposal, of guarantee, and of certificate of guarantors, with printed forms of offer, will be furnished to such persons as desire to bid, on application to the Commandants of the respective Navy Yards, and those of all the yards on application to the Bureau.

The Commandant of each Navy Yard, and the purchasing Paymaster for each Station, will have a copy of the schedules of the other yards, for examination only, in order that persons who intend to bid may judge whether it is desirable to make application for any of the classes of those yards.

The proposals must be for the whole of a class, but the Department reserves the right to reduce the whole class, should the interest of the Government require it, before the execution of the contract. All applications for information, or for the examination of samples, must be made to the Commandants of the respective yards.

Bids or offers will be received only from parties who are bona fide owners or manufacturers of the articles they offer to furnish. The guarantors must be certified by the Collector of Internal Revenue for the district in which they reside.

The contract will be awarded to the person who makes the lowest bid and gives the guarantee required by law, but the Navy Department, however, reserves the right to reject the lowest bid, or any which it may deem exorbitant.

Under the provisions of section 3722 of the Revised Statutes, the offer of any person who, as principal or surety, has been a defaulter in any previous contract with the Navy Department will not be received.

Sureties in the full amount will be required to sign the contract, and their responsibility must be certified to the satisfaction of the Navy Department.

As additional security twenty per centum will be withheld from the amount of the bills until the contracts shall have been completed, and eighty per centum of the amount of each bill, approved in triplicate by the Commandants of the respective yards, will be paid by the Paymaster of the station designated in the contract, or, if none is specified, by the Paymaster of the station nearest to the place where the goods are delivered, within ten days after the warrant for the same shall have been passed by the Secretary of the Treasury.

WHAT A RAMBLER NOTICES.

A correspondent of the Providence Journal has been drifting along shore, and giving descriptions of what he see and hears, over the signature "Rambler." One of his latest letters was written from this city, and we make a few extracts from what he says about us:

"The United States Navy Yard occupies an island half a mile from the city. About twenty officers of all grades are now stationed there, and two hundred or more men are employed in drawing their pay with great alacrity and tinkering an old government hulk. Another of Uncle Sam's enterprises here is the construction of a fort, or rather, the non-construction of it, for the appropriation is exhausted and the work has stopped. The United States public building, occupied by the post office and customs departments, and the courts, is a nearly new and very handsome structure of hammered granite. At the ends of the building are finely kept bits of lawn, enclosed by hammered granite borders. The work of collecting duties here is not, of course, very immense, and so only five officials draw pay for that service. I judge that in the post office they are quite too economical in respect to help, for twice a day, when the mails arrive from Boston, the delivery windows are closed and the curtains drawn, and so remain nearly three-quarters of an hour, while the mail matter is being distributed. The police work is done by six watchmen, constables, and police officers, and nine supernumerary watchmen. The fire department consists of eight companies, four of which operate steamers. There is no telegraphic fire alarm system. The city is without waterworks or sewers as yet, but there is a limited aqueduct supply of water for domestic purposes. * * * I think it is pretty safe to say that the champion numismatician of the United States lives in this city. This gentleman, Mr. Jenness, commenced his collection in his schoolboy days, twenty-one years ago. It now consists of two large cases of about 40,000 silver and copper coins, representing a value of about $10,000. Of foreign copper coins he has about 16,000 specimens, and of American copper cents fifteen or sixteen full sets. The oldest silver piece is a Roman scudi of date 1236; [I think, however, I have seen a piece in a collection in Providence about 200 years older than that;] and the oldest copper coin is a Jewish shekel. One remarkable fact about this large and rare collection is that nearly every piece shows the die almost as perfectly as though just issued. Mr. Jenness also has a very large collection of ancient and modern medals, including copper ones of all the Presidents; bank bills, currency and stamps; autographs, relics, etc. These treasures are kept, for safety, in one of the banks."

AN IMPROVEMENT UPON THE PAST, AND A CHANCE FOR MORE.

Very strong are early impressions. I seldom pass the corner of Exchange Buildings and State street, but a scene of my boyhood recurs to me, the chief features of which include a pool of water from a heavy rain, and half a dozen young ruffians pelting with stones a half-drowned kitten, whose piteous cries would have touched a heart not lost to every sense of humanity. Smaller than the smallest of her tormentors, and scarcely daring even to remonstrate against their cruelty, yet wishing, while doing so, the strength of a giant that I might serve them as they were doing the victim of their fiendish barbarity, I stood looking on until a young lady of Pleasant street, who afterwards married a naval gentleman, came in sight, and regardless of danger to her snowy garments, rushed to the rescue and drew the little creature dripping with water from the pool into which it had been thrown. Caring nothing for the shout of derision with which I was assailed, and emboldened by her presence, I took the little sufferer from the hand of the young lady, and accompanied her home, where I was rewarded with a pocketful of apples, yet valuing more the interchange with her of sympathetic chat on the way thither regarding bad boys generally who were given to throwing stones at dumb creatures, robbing birds' nests, and such like outrages, but especially those from whom we had just parted. We do live in a better age than then in many ways. Even the then least susceptible to the kinder emotions would not now pass unheeding by where such a scene was being enacted in a public street, and if they did, laws exist — thanks to those whose efforts caused their enactment—to punish such shameless cruelty to the weak and defenceless of the dumb creation, and plenty of kind people to see that they are enforced. Nor would a host be wanting in these later days to remonstrate against the wanton sport referred to recently in the CHRONICLE, when various animals were sent over Niagara Falls on board a vessel procured for such a purpose to attract visitors to the popular resort. She is no true mother who does not instil into the hearts of her little ones an abhorrence of cruelty even to the most minute of the insect race, and a sympathy for all creatures who are victims of abuse.

POLICE COURT.

Monday, August 27th.

John Jones, John Gallagher, Albert Chamberlain and Robert Harrington, were all convicted of drunkenness, and each fined $3, costs $6.90 each. Jones paid his $9.90, but the others will probably board out their little bills.

IMPORTANT LAW CASE.

The trial of the case town of South Hampton against Fowler, will begin at the Common Council room this morning. The action was entered at the January term of the Court in this county, 1870. After various attempts at trials a verdict was obtained for the defendent in 1873. This verdict the Law Court set aside, and the case was afterward referred to Hon. C. W. Stanley of Manchester. Judge Stanley, with the counsel and a crowd of interested spectators, viewed the locus in quo at South Hampton, Monday, which shew a strip of beach-bound land west of Hampton river. The case tries the question of title to this land, and probably affects the title to other land on the coast. The trial is expected to last nearly a week. Messrs. Hatch and Page are counsel for the plaintiff, and Frink and Goodall for the defendant.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

There is more sickness in this city now than at any previous time for years, children being the principal sufferers and various bowel disorders the prevailing complaints.

Two splendid burgees, each 45 by 15 feet, are making at T. S. Gay's sail loft for the ships Granite State and Paul Jones. The lettering is the work of Mr. Willard J. Sampson.

Schooner Grace Choate came in on Saturday with 50,000 pounds of fish.

The Band of Hope picnic will be held tomorrow (Wednesday) at Sagamore creek. Teams will start from opposite Mechanics' Hall at 8:30 and 11 o'clock A. M., and will return about six o'clock in the evening. Fare for adults, twenty cents for the round trip.

The young ladies connected with St. John's Church propose holding a Fair of useful and fancy articles at the Chapel on State street, early in September, the proceeds to be for the benefit of the Children's Home.

The service of the Band of Hope in memoriam Mamie S. Gardner, one of the Vice Presidents of the Band, was held on Saturday afternoon, and in spite of the very bad weather was attended by over sixty of the children.

The Times office is to be removed to the second floor of the brick building next the one for some years occupied by it; in consequence of this removal it suspends its issue for this evening.

The horse and wagon stolen from Mrs. Charles R. Leavitt at Stratham on Friday night have been recovered. They were found at Haverhill, Mass.

The Portsmouth Gas Company has declared a dividend of 4 per cent., payable on Monday next, Sept. 3d.

The exhibition of the wonderful Strasburg clock commenced on Monday at Congress Hall, and will continue day and evening through the week. This model is a remarkable piece of work.

New Hampshire Items.

George Fletcher, a county pauper aged seventy-five years, committed suicide at Milford Saturday by taking poison.

Something almost as bad as the devastating potato bug has been discovered in Laconia. It consists of an entirely new species of the apple tree worm, large numbers of which come into existence and grow to maturity in a single day. These worms will strip an apple tree entirely of its foliage in a comparatively short time.

Philip Bergeron, while felling a tree near the Fabyan House, Thursday, met with a singular accident, which caused his death, the tree in falling striking the axe, throwing it back in such a way as to strike him on the neck, severing the jugular vein. He died in an hour.

A stray dog, appearing to be mad, rushed into the house of widow Huckins in Bridgewater Friday afternoon, biting her and her daughter. He then went to Gilman Fletcher's, biting him badly in both arms, and killed a small dog. Afterward Mr. Fletcher killed the animal.

Political.

Ex-Governor A. G. Brown of Mississippi is not a cheerful prophet for the democratic party. He writes to a friend to say that he is not and does not expect to be an independent candidate for Governor, but he says that he disapproves of much that has been done by the democratic party since its return to power in Mississippi, and its shortcomings do not give him assurance of the rich rewards that were promised in 1875 and 1876. As far back as 1867 he was confident that the white men of Mississippi were taking a course that would lead to disaster and now he feels "a moral conviction that the democratic party is hurrying on to its own overthrow, not this year perhaps, but certainly in not distant future."

Mr. Joseph H. Williams of Maine is plainly a great American humorist. The democrats nominated him for Governor on a platform which was merely a howl of "fraud," with variations. He remarks that he doesn't believe they meant much of anything by it, and with that understanding accepts the position. The party has a glimmering suspicion that it has been defrauded again.

—It's the use of tobacco in large quantities that is injurious. Take, for instance, Mr. James Tucker, of Greyson County, Ky., who had a whole hogshead of it fall on him and kill him the other day.

—An affidavit recently submitted in a Brooklyn court read thus: "And deponent further says that the defendant drew a pistol and threatened deponent that, if he did not at once leave the premises, he, the said defendant, would blow him to hell, which deponent verily believeth said defendant would have done had he, the said deponent, not done as was commanded."

—The honorable gentleman is seeking a re-election, and runs to meet his constituent from afar, hat in hand. "Good day, my honorable sir. I trust your health is good?" "It is." "And your honorable wife is well, too, I hope?" "She is." "I was just thinking of you. I knew I should meet you, for just round the corner I had the pleasure of meeting your honorable dog." This was in France, but same thing happens here.

—"Mother, I have saved the house, but I shall die," said a six year old girl to Mrs. Theodore Markham as she entered her home at High Market, Lewis county, Md., one day last week. The child while attempting to light a lamp to warm some milk for a baby, set fire to her clothing. Her first thought was to run out of doors, fearing that the house would be burned and the baby be hurt; but noticing that shreds of her clothing had fallen upon the floor, she carefully extinguished the flames. Then she ran to a horse trough in the yard and plunged into the water. Returning to the house she waited patiently for the mother to return. She died an hour after the accident.

The Channels of Exit

from the human system bear the same relation to it as sewers do to a city. They carry off the waste, the refuse which it is essential to remove in order to cure disease. One of the most salutary effects of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is to renew activity of the bowels when these organs are derelict in their duty. The bilious and dyspeptic symptoms which accompany constipation are also remedied by this sterling alterative. Its gently cathartic action has the effect of removing impurities which would otherwise poison the system and its tonic influence is exhibited in an increase in vital power. It renews appetite, soothes and invigorates the nerves, prevents and remdies malarial fever, and is a first-rate remedy for despondency.

The Teeth of the Future.

If the consumption of Sozodont continues to increase in the present ratio, the teeth of the future will be a great improvement on those of the present day. Its universal use would prevent all dental defections, and render one of the most essential portions of our material organization as ornamental as it is useful.

Ayer's Hair Vigor, FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thin brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, and all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, disease of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is prized for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and flexibility it gives to the hair.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, have the extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most decided cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really solved these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved, by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Daily Chronicle.

Republican Chances in Ohio.

We are of opinion the republicans will win this campaign, because:

1. There are more republicans than democrats in Ohio.

2. The Holland frauds have aroused the people, and the registry law will be enforced.

3. The workingmen's movement will take from the democrats rather than from the republicans.

4. The democrats are not enthusiastic about either their candidate or platform—the candidate being one of the old Know-Nothing, Sabbatarian order, and the other falling to call for more greenbacks, while it actually babbles about interconvertibility.

5. Tilden is in Europe and Holland in jail. There will not be $7000 out of the Third National Bank of New York for repeaters, and Mr. Bishop, though, according to the Put-in Bay correspondent of the Enquirer, nominated on the assurance that he would pay an "ample sum," is not a squanderer of his hard earnings.

6. It is not to be fairly claimed that either party has an advantage over the other in the Senatorial entanglements. —Cincinnati Commercial.

Belladonna in Asthma.

The Melbourne Medical Record states that smoke from the leaves of belladonna possess much more power in cutting short an attack of asthma than that from stramonium; a long pipe being the best means of smoking them, the smoke to be drawn deep into the chest. Or if, when the attack is at its height, the patient has not the power of doing this, the leaves may be placed in a saucer containing lighted charcoal or wood ashes, which should be put as a chair in front of the patient, this chair as well as his own being covered with a large sheet, so as to confine the fumes, before the leaves are put on the hot charcoal. From two and a half to five grains of the leaves are sufficient when smoked, and from five to twenty grains when burned.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff-joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 22d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Liniments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ringbone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 Dey St., New York.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Month, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using Castoria in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the Castoria. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. Rose & Co., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. inov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. inov1

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine, One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 5 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. have suffered all the pain I could endure and have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 23, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I feel it a pleasure to inform you that, so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I induced him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as these pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the hurrying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Bachman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake, with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and obstinate. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucborrhea arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Bad Discipline at Sea.

The Baltimore papers of last week give the following account of a lively time on board of a ship sailing from that port: "A mutiny broke out about noon on Tuesday on board the ship David Stewart, Capt. Forbes, which left this port on Monday last, bound for Rio Janeiro. At the time of the disturbance the ship was off Cape Henry setting sail preparatory to casting off from the tugboat Alexander Jones. It arose from an ill-feeling existing between the chief mate, Victor Crook, and a portion of the crew, the origin of which could not be learned. Blows were struck, blood flowed, and for a short while the deck presented a lively scene, as the mutinous members of the crew held their ground against the rest of the ship's company, refusing to allow the vessel to proceed on her course if the mate remained on board. Capt. Forbes endeavored to effect a compromise between the disaffected members and the mate, which resulted unsatisfactorily, after which the captain and his officers held a private consultation, and it was resolved that the mate should leave the ship and return to the city on board the tugboat. Shortly before the tug had cast off, one of the crew of the David Stewart jumped overboard and commenced swimming for the shore. A boat was lowered and sent in pursuit, but the man, who was an expert swimmer, evaded it, and refused to be taken on board. He was finally picked up by a three-masted schooner bound north."

To Destroy Foul Smells.

One pound of green copperas, costing seven cents, dissolved in one quart of water, and poured down a water-closet, will effectually concentrate and destroy the foulest smell. On board ships and steamboats, about hotels and other public places, there is nothing so nice to purify the air. Simply green copperas, dissolved under the bed in anything that will hold water, will render a hospital, or other places for the sick, free from unpleasant smells. In fish markets, slaughter-houses, sinks and wherever there are offensive putrid gases, dissolve copperas and sprinkle it about, and in a few days the smell will pass away. If a cat, rat or mouse dies about the house, and sends forth an offensive gas, place some dissolved copperas in an open vessel near the place where the nuisance is, and it will purify the atmosphere.—Rural Alabamian.

A Promising Marksman.

On the 24th day of July, James Ives, a member of the Ogdensburg Rifle Club, shot one string each at 800, 900 and 1000 yards, making a score of 216 out of a possible 225. On the 2d day of August he shot a string of 15 shots, 800 yards, making a score of 75, or 15 consecutive bulls'-eyes. On the 8th of August he made another 15 consecutive bulls'-eyes at 900 yards. Since that date he has shot two strings at 1000 yards, making 71 in each string. This is all the shooting he has done between and including the 24th of July and the 16th of August, and making a grand total of 508 points out of a possible 525. On the 16th, O. F. Partridge, Secretary of the Ogdensburg Rifle Club, received a letter from New York inquiring if the reported score of Ives was correct, and if so asking him to telegraph them. The answer was sent that the score was correctly reported. Mr. Ives is bookkeeper in the Judson Bank in this city, and this performance indicates that he is one of the most skillful marksmen in the world. It is believed no other person can show so large a score in the same number of shots.—Ogdensburg (N. Y.) Journal.

Lip Reading.

A good many years ago, when the accomplished daughter of a well known gentleman of this city was a little girl, she was taken ill with scarlet fever, and when she recovered she was stone deaf. Fortunately the child, who possessed a remarkably sweet voice, had learned to talk before the attack, and the physician who attended her, finding that her sense of hearing had entirely gone, enjoined upon the mother the necessity of carefully keeping up the habit of speech in order that it should not be totally lost. From that time out the mother devoted herself to the preservation of her daughter's voice, almost to the exclusion of everything else, and the successful issue of her undertaking has proved an ample reward for her labors. The young lady is now not only an accomplished member of society, but an excellent artist, well known among the painters of New York. Her education was so carefully attended to by her mother that she not only talks well, but understands everything that is said to her by simply watching the lips of her interlocutor. On one occasion an eminent clergyman of this city called to see her mother and was received by the young lady. After some fifteen minutes the mother presented herself and the young lady retired. Presently the conversation turned upon the daughter, and the mother said something about "her infirmity." The clergyman who had seen nothing to indicate any lack of perception in the young lady, and who had not noticed any physical defect was surprised and asked what was meant. The mother then explained that her child was stone-deaf. The clergyman was loth to believe it, and almost demanded further proof of the fact. The young lady was then called, and it was proven to his entire satisfaction that she could not understand a single word that was spoken unless she saw the motion of the lips which uttered it. Like the deaf girl described in Wilkie Collins' novel of "Hide and Seek," she is singularly susceptible to any vibrations of the timbers of the room or house in which she may be, and her mother has established a system of telegraphy with her by means of the doors and balusters, by which she can communicate with her throughout the whole house. By simply striking the baluster or door with the open hand, her parents can apprise her that her presence is desired in a particular room or part of the premises, and by modifications of the raps can inform her of many of the minor affairs that are taking place. Although her father has a handsome competence, this young lady earns enough for her own support in the pursuit of her art. —N. Y. World.

The new elevator at the Hotel Devonshire, New York, is an improvement over the usual style. It is safe, rapid, and most perfectly efficient. The menhaden oil business in Maine is about the same in August as it was in July. The fishermen report that in June a large school of menhaden made their appearance, and during that month there was a good prospect of a large catch for the whole season; but about the first of July a large school of "Albicores," or as some call them, "Barracouters," made their appearance on the usual feeding ground of the menhaden, driving the latter into the rivers of the bays, from Gloucester to Mj. Desert. The result was, plenty of fish, but of poor quality and small size. This affects the fishing interest in two ways; it affects the factories on account of poor quality, and the fishermen because their seines are made expressly to take fish off shore, and in trying to take them close to land they destroy their seines. One steamer destroyed five seines in as many days, and caught less than 100 barrels, although they estimated that they surrounded 5000 barrels during the five days.

The body of an unknown man was found in Bristol, R. I., harbor, Friday evening, secured by the neck to a forty-pound slab of granite in such a manner as to preclude the idea of suicide. A jury of loquest was summoned, and after taking some testimony, adjourned to next Saturday.

At an early hour on Sunday morning Thomas Oliver, hailing from New York, was captured while entering the summer house of John T. Cleaves at Old Orchard Beach. In the Police Court Monday morning he was committed to jail.

An interesting story, not contained in the lives of Lincoln, is just now going around, to the effect that he barely escaped fighting a duel with Captain Shields about 1840, at East St. Louis, then known as "Bloody Island." Lincoln had been challenged by Shields as the supposed author of a newspaper article reflecting on the latter, and they had gone to the ground; but certain friends of theirs, including Stephen A. Douglas on the side of Shields, got wind of the affair, followed them, and arrived just in time to interpose. Shields withdrew his challenge long enough for an explanation. Lincoln assured him that he had never seen or heard of the article until it appeared in print and had consented to be considered the author only to protect the good name of an estimable young lady, and as the affair was amicably settled. Shields distinguished himself afterwards in the Mexican war and Lincoln became the great war President. For years the authorship of the article that caused the trouble was a mystery, but it is now known to have been written by a Miss Jayne, a belle at Springfield, who numbered Lincoln, Shields and Lyman Trumbull among her special admirers at that time. She became the wife of Trumbull.

Those public-spirited people who bought stock in the Philadelphia Centennial show will get back only $1.75 on each share costing $10.

New Hampshire Items.

One day last week, as a son of Lorenzo Brown of Barrington was handling a pistol, it was accidentally discharged, and the ball struck his sister in the back near the spinal column. It struck a bone and glanced, so that it cannot be found by surgeons, but remains imbedded in the muscles of the back. She is, however, doing well.

Recently, a little daughter of George W. Kelley of Northwood, while reaching for a stick of wood which an older sister was cutting with an axe, had three fingers severed from her right hand and the fore finger so badly injured that it is feared amputation will be necessary.

The most terribly afflicted man we know of is the editor of the Democrat and News of Laconia. The visit of the President to this State appears to have stirred up a mass of bile which it would seem hardly possible for any man to carry and live. The editor of the Dover Press, if not so exhaustive of Webster and the other word makers as his contemporary in Belknap, is just as prolific upon this theme. In his last issue there appeared no less than sixteen articles on "Hayes." Stick to it, brothers. Remember the old adage about the lie well stuck to, and persevere. The world may find out that you are in it, by and by, if you rattle around good. At the next presidential election we shall expect to see both of these men shouting and voting for "Hayes."—Granite State News.

Ally McDonnall knocked Mary Lang down in the covered bridge in Franklin Saturday night, and said that he would put his knife into her and throw her into the river. Mr. Daniel R. Woodward hearing her screams, came to her rescue, and found that her head was gashed and bloody, and her money gone. John Sullivan, another drunken desperado, was with McDonnall, but had gone into Pat Kennedy's saloon near by to get a bottle filled when the violence was done. Warrants have been issued for the arrest of the offenders.

Laconia has the uneviable notoriety of being the only point in New Hampshire where a deliberate attempt was made to insult the President of the United States during his late trip. Tuesday night placards printed at the Democrat and News office, emblazed with "Fraud Triumphant! 8 to 7," etc., were posted upon the depot platform and walls. The whole affair was so characteristic of the downy gosling of that establishment that nobody was surprised, and the most indignant people are the democrats of the village, who feel even more keenly than the President's political friends the insult which was put, not upon President Hayes, but upon this community.—Lake Village Times.

Runaway Islands.

The extraordinary intelligence has been received in England of the disappearance of two islands,—the Barker Islands—and their inhabitants. Capt. Fisher, a Tasmanian capitalist, purchased from the West Australian Government the right to remove guano from two islands on the coast, described on the chart and known as the Barker Islands, and situated in latitude 14 degrees south, longitude 125 degrees east. Capt. Fisher despatched three vessels in April with laborers and appliances for shipping the guano, but when the vessels arrived at the place where the islands were known to be, these was nothing to be seen but water. The islands had disappeared entirely, how and when is at present a mystery. It was generally supposed that Australia lay out of the line of active volcanic agency, so that the phenomenon is all the more remarkable.

A Wonderful Advance.

It is not so much worthy of note that another cadet has been appointed to West Point as where and how it was done. Smith and Flipper were appointed for political reasons, or at least the members of Congress who appointed them, were indebted to their race for their elections. In this case young Minnie fairly won his position in a contest open to all, and with very few advantages in comparison with his competitors, so that he enters with the clearest possible title. The next interesting fact is that he represents the most desperately democratic district in New York, and that Hon. Nick Muller, who signs his appointment, is a congenial representative of it. But a few years ago, and such an occurrence would have bred a riot and implied a sentence of virtual banishment to any member of Congress from that district, who should dare to appoint a negro. Now there is no disturbance or remonstrance even, and Mr. Muller, very creditably to himself, not only fulfils his agreement cheerfully, but promises to attend and present his appointee for examination. It will be curious to see if the caste prejudice, which ostracised Flipper and condemned him to four years of social solitude, will prevail at West Point now that it has been overcome to such an extent in a democratic district. We trust not, but if it does, that aristocratic institution ought to be taught a lesson in good sense, if it has to be thoroughly remodelled. With proper influence from the teachers it could hardly happen, and we are convinced that there are regular army officers enough above the narrow prejudice against color to "run" West Point, if the present force is incorrigible. This silly prejudice has worked evil enough in our army. Already the officers of colored regiments are justly complaining that they are kept stationed in unhealthy localities, and that, in short, they are made the pariahs of the army. In our own and the British navy and marine service the races stand on an equal footing, and there is no reason except this remnant of class prejudice why they should not in the army. If the spirit of the Civil Rights bill means anything, it should be felt in the service of the national government, but on the contrary it seems to be the last stronghold of opposition to it.—Prov. Journal.

—A good word is an easy obligation, but not to speak ill requires only our silence, which costs nothing.

—When Jefferson was our Minister to France he once entertained at his house, with some other Frenchmen, a Dr. MacMahon. During the conversation some one denied the existence of atheists. MacMahon was a man six feet high; he rose and said: "I am an atheist." He was one of Voltaire's friends, he was Dr. Franklin's physician. He was an ancestor of the President of France, one of the pillars of the Church.

—A young man in Rochester went not long ago to call upon some ladies. He sent in his card, was kindly received and passed a pleasant evening. The next day one of the young ladies happened to pick up the card again, and on the back she found the following: "One game billiards, fifteen cents; drinks, twenty cents; drinks, twenty cents; three games French with Joe, forty-five cents; drinks, sixty cents." The card was returned with a note telling the young man that he had lost his memorandum book.

—The following incident is a striking commentary of the results of the national bankruptcy act: A certain trader in Skowhegan recently failed in business, and, agreeable to an appointment, met his creditors in the office of his attorney to adjust a settlement with them by paying a per centage on each claim. During the conversation that ensued the officer who was present ventured to ask the merchant if his assets would not warrant an offer of fifty per cent., whereupon the merchant naively replied, "That's too much; they are only paying about twenty-five per cent., and I can't pay more than others do."

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

A meeting of the Board of Instruction was held on Tuesday afternoon, the Mayor presiding.

The committee on revision of the rules and regulations for the government of the schools, were granted further time in which to make their report.

The chairmen of the various sub-committees reported the list of teachers for the ensuing year.

The resignation of Miss Mary J. Roberts of the Franklin School, was read and accepted.

Mr. Dickinson was appointed Grammar Master of the schools in District No. Two, temporarily, and the remaining list of teachers as reported was adopted for the various districts.

A petition from Mr. J. Durgin was received, read and ordered to be placed on file.

Adjourned to meet on the first Wednesday of September, at eight o'clock, P. M.

A MEAN THIEF JUGGED.

Miss Sally Leavitt, who with her brother Mr. John Leavitt lives on the Sheafe farm on the Middle road, was recently robbed of forty-six dollars which was in the house. At first the robbery was laid to some tramp, but Sheriff Kent and City Marshal Entwistle worked up the case and concluded that a man named Manning C. Rand, who is the husband of a niece of the Leavitts' and has lived with them since his marriage, was the thief. Acting on this belief the officers on Monday night arrested Rand, and by making judicious use of what they already knew induced him to tell them a lot more, the thief confessing that he took the money and that more than half of it was hidden in a closet at the railroad station at Newmarket Junction. He was at once taken to the place named, and hauled out from a hole in the ceiling a roll of bills amounting to $26. In the Police Court, Tuesday, Rand pleaded guilty of the crime, and went to jail in default of $400 bonds.

OBITUARY.

John A. Richardson died at his residence in Durham on Saturday evening, aged eighty years. Mr. Richardson received his academic education at Exeter, and graduated at Dartmouth College, being in the class, with Rufus Choate. He studied law at Haverhill, Mass, and returned to Durham, where he commenced and continued the practice of the legal profession, occupying the same house and office until his death. For some years past he has been helpless, from disease. His first wife was the daughter of the late Major Alexander Rice, of Kittery. He leaves a widow and one daughter, Mrs. Geo. L. Treadwell of this city. Mr. Richardson was noted for his kindness of heart, his amiable disposition and gentlemanly bearing. He was not a combative style of lawyer, but was a sound counsellor and a faithful citizen. Inclined to avoid publicity, modest and retiring, in later years especially, his worth was appreciated by his intimate friends and neighbors rather than known to the world at large.

POLICE COURT.

Tuesday, August 28th.

Stephen Nutter, a Newington man, was shown to have been drunk, and was assessed $9.90, fine and costs, which he paid.

Manning C. Rand pleaded guilty to a charge of larceny of a sum of money, (some thirty-five or forty dollars, which Rand claims he took from its owner—an old lady—because she owed him that amount and he could get his pay no other way,) and was bound over in $400 to answer at the October term of the Supreme Court.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

See advertisement of top buggy, furniture, domestic wines, cigars, fishing-rods, etc., for sale at auction to-day by H. F. Wendell.

The homestead of the late Samuel P. Wiggin, on the North road, will be sold at auction at noon to-day, on the premises. See advertisement,

In the list of distinguished Knights Templar, members of the General Grand Encampment of the United States, which held its triennial session at Cleveland, Ohio, on the 28th, we notice the name of New Hampshire's supreme knight, Right Eminent John R. Holbrook of this city, Grand Commander of the Grand Commandry of Knights Templar in New Hampshire.

Mr. Shea is now laying for Mr. F. W. Miller, near Broad street, the last 100 feet of a 21-inch cement pipe sewer, which extends from the land of Capt. Robert Shillaber, near Wibird street, to the point named. This has all been laid down at Mr. Miller's expense, about $800, although it carries the drainage from Wibird and Union streets and a large part of Lincoln Avenue.

Mr. S. W. Bowker, of Newfane, Vermont, went to the Bennington centennial celebration in his own carriage, but before starting took the precaution to procure an accident insurance policy. On his return he was thrown from his carriage and so badly injured that it will be months before he will be out again, but during his illness, thanks to his forethought he will draw a goodly sum weekly from the insurance company. Morse & Ilsley are agents in this city of the Travellers' Accident Insurance Company, in which Mr. Bowker was insured.

Delegations of Odd Fellows from New Hampshire Lodge and Mt. Sinai Encampment went to South Berwick on Tuesday to attend the funeral of their late Brother George W. Goodrich.

Boatswain Charles E. Hawkins, U. S. N., who has had charge of the Pawnee, storeship of the North Atlantic squadron, will be relieved on the 1st of September and placed on waiting orders.

The sails for the ship Granite State are being rapidly completed by the veteran sailmaker John R. Holbrook, at the loft on Market street where so many suits were made for vessels in the palmy days of wooden-ship building,—before England decided that ships dug out of the ground should be considered better than those grown in the woods, and bull-dozed all other maritime nations into bowing to her dictum. We believe there is more canvas in the Granite State's sails than in the suit of any other merchant vessel ever fitted out here; and we are certain few finer vessels were ever measured for new suits anywhere.

Ship Favorita, Capt. Edwin Garrish, arrived in Boston on Monday from Hoilo, (on one of the Phillipine Islands,) with a cargo of sugar and sapan wood.

Schooner W. H. Y. Hackett arrived at Beverly last week with 100 quintals of fish. Schooner Gov. Goodwin was spoken Aug. 22d off Sable Island, bound home from the Grand banks with a full fare of fish.

The sale of the Wiggin place on North Road at twelve o'clock, noon, to-day, will afford an opportunity to purchase a sightly and pleasant spot in one of the best situations in the suburbs, at a reasonable cost.

The hearing in the case of the town of South Hampton vs. Fowler was proceeded with before Hon. C. W. Stanley, Referee, at the Common Council room on Tuesday. Several witnesses were examined, the testimony being without public interest.

—An eye in a large picture of an actress in a window of a shop at Hartford, Conn., astonished the passers-by recently by winking at them. It was some time before the people discovered that the eyelid was a clever device worked by India-rubber springs and a string.

—Charles Dickens said that "the first external revelation of the dry rot in men is a tendency to lurk and lounge; to be at street corners without intelligible reason; to be going anywhere when met; to be about many places rather than any; to do nothing tangible, but to have an intention of performing a number of tangible duties tomorrow or the day after."

—Perhaps the most remarkable suicide on record has been committed in Sweden. A Government official in the district of Ripsa, wearied by pecuniary difficulties, took a row with his wife and two children upon a neighboring lake, ostensibly to pass a few hours in fishing, but after getting to a distance at which he could do no harm to others, he applied a match to a quantity of explosive material, supposed to be some form of dynamite, that he had, unobserved, taken with him, and blew the boat and its occupants literally into fragments.

—The circus is coming again, and once more we will have the pleasure of witnessing the cheerful spectacle of seven church members taking one little child two years old "to see the animals." "I didn't go into the circus department," said a good deacon, after the last moral circus was here, "but I dropped in to look around the menagerie a few moments with my little grandson, and I do think the man who tied his legs in a bow-knot around his neck and then crawled through the hoop was alone worth the price of admission."—Hawkeye.

—"The Great Naturalist of the North" is infesting the South and whitening negroes at $50 each, $10 down, the remainder on obtaining absolute pulchritude. The operator offers to whiten one volunteer free, and treats him with nitric acid, warning him that the instantaneous process is painful. The volunteer soon howls and gives in and no one will come forward but the Great Naturalist's corked confederates, who, after much howling and squirming, are washed white as snow. Then the negroes buy the anti-Ethiopic Remedy freely, and the Naturalist of the North silently steals away before they have had time to discover the fraud.

—The Washington Star declares that there was a dreadful time in the New York Sun office one day recently. When Mr. Dana came in from his island home that day, he found that the news editor had prepared and printed in the Sun for that morning a special despatch from the Bennington centennial celebration, which he had made up from the associated press report, thoughtlessly copying from it the words "president Hayes" without change, and without in any way casting a reflection or doubt upon Mr. Hayes' right to the Presidential office. The compositor had "followed copy," and the proof reader, when the offending matter came under his pencil, had suffered it to pass without change. The three culprits were at once sent for by Mr. Dana. Nobody cared much for the untimely doom of the news editor, for he was not of much account anyway, but the compositor had a young wife and two lovely children dependent upon him for support, and the proof-reader was the sole stay and solace of his widowed mother. They were all buried together by the Typographical Union.

—A very wicked man killed himself in the lowest level of a Nevada mine, and a western paper very coolly concludes an account of the suicide with: "Thus his alleged soul was saved over a half a mile of transportation."

—A crowd of summer visitors at Morris, Conn., who had gathered to see some rocks split with dynamite, were put to ignominious flight by the appearance of a frightened woodchuck, and in their frenzy people fell and rolled over each other on the ground.

—Ingenuity is rapidly creeping over the South. An artificial frogs'-leg factory has been started in Memphis. Mutton is the base. Thus is the once prostrate land of the magnolia arising like a giant to take her place among the industrial leaders of the earth.

—A woman was lately charged with trying to poison her husband. The unfortunate man was in the witness box. Suddenly his wife exclaimed, "Your honor, all that has been said till now is mere invention. You cannot sentence me without proof. I demand an autopsy."

—A typographical error makes the Toronto Mail say that Isaac L. Allen, a member of the American Rifle Team, "is thirty-five feet ten inches in height." Mistakes will occur in the best regulated offices. Everybody can see however, the writer meant to say ten feet and thirty-five inches.

That Insidious Foe to Health,

An atmosphere impregnated with the seeds of malaria, is rendered harmless by the timely use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters; and if a resort to this benign protective agent has unwisely been deferred until the fever fits have developed, it will have the effect of checking them and preventing their return. This statement is corroborated by thousands who have tried this medicine for fever and ague and bilious remittent fever, besides affections of the stomach, liver and bowels peculiarly rife in malarious localities. Throughout the West, indeed in every part of the American continent where malaria prevails, it is the accepted specific. Nor is the area of its usefulness circumscribed by the limits of the United States, since it is widely used in South America, Mexico, Australia, and elsewhere.

Bad specks on the teeth are almost as unpleasant as bad specs in the money market. To prevent them or to get rid of them, use Sozodont. It is literally a specific for every blemish that disfigures the teeth, and whitens them without endangering the enamel.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and healthy—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind, and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

A Hot Mine.

The Savage incline, at a point near the water, is so hot as to be almost beyond human endurance. But for their shirts the skin of the men would be blistered as though by a jet of scalding steam. A man from the mine recently showed a blister on his arm that was nearly as large as a man's hand. The blister was caused by exposing his arm at the bottom of the incline. It is so hot down at the water that in screwing a nut on the end of a bolt one man would not be able to do any more than fasten a monkey-wrench upon it before he would be obliged to retreat. Another would then descend to give the wrench two or three turns, when he would fall back, and a third man would go down and give it a few turns. One morning the "giraffe" got off the track well down the incline, and in trying to replace it one of a small party of men was so overcome by the heat that he fell down in a state of insensibility. His companions carried him from a point between the 1700 and the 1900 foot levels to the 1200 foot level of the Hale & Norcross mine, where he could obtain a mouthful of fresh air. He was still unconscious when he reached the point named.—Virginia City (Nev.) Enterprise, August 4.

An Episode of the President's Trip.

The following was told to the Patriot reporter by Mrs. Hayes, the charming wife of the President. This most estimable lady, whose genial kindness and hearty good will did much toward making many friends for her husband, said that while the train was stopping at Northfield, she caught sight of a little shaver standing beside the car in the crowd, who had been unnoticed by the party. She saw at once that he was anxious to shake hands with the President, but that his excessive modesty kept him back. Reaching down she asked the boy if he would like to shake hands with the President. In a bashful, timid manner, the boy uttered an almost inaudible "yes," and with hanging head he touched the President's outstretched hand. As the youngster turned to go away he held up to Mrs. Hayes a little bunch of marygolds, then with blushes mantling his cheeks and with downcast eyes, he darted into the crowd and was lost sight of. Such little acts as this have made Mrs. Hayes very popular among the people of this State.—Concord Patriot.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the nerve of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 23d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Liniments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 Dey St., New York.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using Castoria in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the Castoria. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. Rose & Co., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. tnov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Stenica, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. tnov1

CONDITION PILLS!

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Biliousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Fever, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 5 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. I have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as one of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May, John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 20th of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you my testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. But remember, I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I would never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me five packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL.

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative as could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the unsparing climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordail.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

SEC. 13. When any physician shall know that any person whom he is called to visit is infected with the small pox, or any other disease dangerous to the public health, such physician shall immediately give notice thereof to the Health Officers.

SEC. 14. If any such householder or physician shall refuse or neglect to give the notice required in the preceding sections, he shall for each refusal or neglect, forfeit the sum of twenty dollars, to be recovered by either of the Health Officers in the name of the city.

SEC. 15. The Health Officers may give written notice to the owner or occupier of any building, vessel or enclosure, to remove or destroy any nuisance or other thing deemed by them on examination, to be injurious to the public health, within a certain time limited therein; and in case such owner or occupier—the said notice having been given to him, or left at his usual place of abode—shall neglect to comply therewith, the said Health Officers may, by direction of the mayor and accompanied by the city marshal, forcibly enter such building, vessel or enclosure, and cause said nuisance or other thing aforesaid to be removed or destroyed.

SEC. 21. No person shall erect, keep or continue, or permit to be erected, kept or continued, upon any land occupied by him, any pen for the keeping of swine, or privy, over either of the mill ponds in this city, or so placed that offensive substances therefrom shall be discharged or drained into either of said ponds or into any creek, or cove, or drain leading thereto. And no person shall construct, keep or continue any drain leading from any pen for the keeping of any swine, slaughter-house, privy vault, or other unwholesome or offensive place, into either of said ponds, or to any flat or marsh adjoining the same. And no person shall throw or suffer to be thrown from his land into either of said ponds, or upon any of said flats or marshes, any dead, decaying, unwholesome or offensive animal or vegetable substances.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and who's substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucborrhea arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Constipation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Summer Life at Newport.

The Newport (R. I.) correspondent of the St. Louis Globe Democrat writes as follows of snobbery at that high-toned summer resort!

The villa folks are more and more disinclined to associate with the hotel folks. A few years since they were wont to commingle freely; now they resolutely remain apart. The other evening there was a hop at the Ocean, and near a hundred of the villa swells must have been invited. Only three attended, I understand, all the others sending politely-worded regrets that they were unhappily obliged to be absent, by reason of imperative engagements. This season the Avenue has unquestionably set its face against, or rather turned its back upon, the Oceanites and Aquidneckers, and these so resent the obvious coldness that an eternal gulf is likely to open between them. Recently a young New Yorker was asking the daughter of a wealthy manufacturer of Providence if she knew Miss —, niece of an ex-professor of Harvard.

"Oh, no; I do not know her. We do not move in the same set. I have heard of her; she usually goes to the Ocean, I think, and we never go to any of the hotels. Both mamma and papa have forbidden me going, although I dare say that some of the persons at the hotels may be nice."

This precious little girl is not too old to remember when her father was an industrious mechanic, but ill educated, and sprung from the soil. He went into manufacturing about 1860; got a Government contract, and grew rich by it. And now his daughter is interdicted from visiting cultured and high-bred young ladies because they stay at hotels. She must have misrepresented her father, a sensible man, without the smallest pretense. He married the daughter of a poor, ignorant fisherman on Cape Cod, her good health and fresh looks being her chief matrimonial recommendations. And she, since her change of fortune, says Mrs. J. J. Astor's grandfather was nothing but a vulgar Dutch adventurer, and she has already put a coat of arms (it ought to be a shirt-sleeve rolled up, the hand holding a huge hammer) on her carriage, her furniture and her plate. Such instances of snobbery are not uncommon here, where there is less than at other watering-places. A young woman from Worcester, possessed of a sharp tongue and a disposition to use it, called on a Mrs. Browne, wife of a notoriously dishonest speculator, who had turned his dishonesty to a good pecuniary account. She inquired innocently if she were related to the Browns, the noted bankers in Wall street?

"Indeed we are not. They spell their name without an e," was the reply, with an indignant toss of the head.

"O, that makes no difference, my dear; it is quite probable that Mr. Browne's grandfather could not spell his name at all; and yet, if all reports are true, he must have been more upright and honorable than his grandson."

The Whipping Post.

In New York city a strong effort is being made to revive the lash as a punishment for criminals. Henry Berh, President of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, in giving his experience in the matter strongly advises it. He says:

"When I was in Egypt, some years since, I had an opportunity for witnessing the way in which law-breakers were treated in Cairo. Nearly every day, after my breakfast, I used to light my cigar and saunter up to the hall where Egyptian justice is meted out. It was a large room in which the magistrate sat at one end, complacently smoking a chibouk. Before him was a bar across the apartment like a railing. A malefactor would be brought in, his offense detailed, his defence heard; then if he was found guilty, the magistrate would take his chibouk from his lips long enough to command that a certain number of blows should be given him. Straightway he would be flopped over face downward, and blows administered with a bundle of rods on the soles of his feet—well laid on, too. The 'bastinado' was the name of the punishment. The fellow would roar and howl, and call upon Allah to witness that he would never offend again, but he would get all the blows that were ordered. Then he would be allowed to rise and limp away with the aid of his friends. The chastisement was sufficiently severe to be remembered; in fact the fellow could not walk when fresh from it, but it would do no permanent injury. I was curious to know if it did any permanent good, and caused my interpreter to enquire if the same man ever came back several times to be punished for repetitions of offences. They were astonished at my question, and said: ['No, once is enough. Scarcely ever does anyone require a second—so seldom that we may almost say never.'

As another illustration of the good effects of whipping, I remember reading of some English colony, Ceylon I think it was, where the Governor was a mild, humanitarian chap who did not believe in whipping. Under his rule law became a mere sham, offences and crimes ran riot; there was no protection for person or property; social chaos reigned. He was recalled and another man appointed, in his stead, a stern practical man who did believe in licking criminals, and who carried his belief into vigorous practice, and the result was that, in a short time, that was one of the most orderly colonies under English rule."

The Eastern War.

The Turks acknowledge that the Russians still hold the Shipka Pass, though they claim that Suleiman Pasha carried the earthworks at the entrance on the seventh day's fighting.

The reported great Turkish victory in Armenia is confirmed as a serious Turkish defeat. The Turks were successful in one attack on a Russian position, but were repulsed afterward and driven back with heavy loss.

Shooting.

Walter Sanders, late Sheriff of Lincoln county, Ky., and his brother-in-law, Jack Ballard, were killed at Richmond, Madison county, Ky., on the evening of the 27th, by Gus. Edwards, City Marshal of Richmond, and a party of his friends. Edwards was slightly wounded and his brother dangerously, during the fight. Many shots were fired, but only the four persons mentioned were hit.

In Chicago, Aug. 27th, William O'Sullivan, sexton of St. Jarleth's (Roman Catholic) church, while visiting two young ladies, shot Katie Brannock, aged twenty-three, killing her instantly. He immediately left the house, entered his room at St. Jarleth's church, shot himself fatally, and died in a few minutes. The only witness of the deed was a friend of both parties. She heard no quarelling and could give no reason for the deed. The victims were highly respectable. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict that Miss Brannock came to her death either by accident or design of said Sullivan, but were unable to determine which. They found that Sullivan shot himself in remorse for his deed, or from fear of the consequences.

Stephen Barber was shot dead and his wife badly wounded, while in bed at their home in Belmont, N. Y., on Sunday night, Aug. 26th. A tramp has been arrested, and fully identified by Mrs. Barber as the murderer.

The American, British and Crescent City rifle teams are practicing for the international contest at Creedmoor, the first day's shooting having taken place on August 28th. The American team ran well ahead.

News and Notes.

The Biddeford Star has been sold to W. Lester Watson, and its daily publication ceased with the issue of Monday, August 27th.

A sad case of relapse from grace is reported at Rockland, Me. Rev. J. H. Palmer of the Universalist Church, always highly esteemed for his spotless life, has been obliged to leave town and the ministry on account of disgraceful conduct in company with some of the vicious characters of the place. He was brought up amid the vilest surroundings in Detroit, Mich., but finally reformed, married, and entered the ministry, but the power of his early habits has been too much for his resolution, and he has returned to his old haunts and associations.

Business is improving in Providence, R. I. The Tool Company is running on full time manufacturing arms for Turkey, and several large jewelry concerns have started up recently. It is estimated that three thousand more citizens are at work than there were three weeks ago.

The officers of the Pennsylvania Coal Company express their opinion that the strike of the miners will be of short duration, as the men will soon return to work or starve. The company will not increase their wages. An early resumption, it is said, is probable in the Scranton region.

It is rather strange that a city in as high latitude as Montreal should have the unenviable distinction of a higher death rate than any other city in Canada or the Northern United States. But the July mortality was 608, which is at the annual rate of about fifty-three in every thousand, or nearly twice as great as the prevailing average in the leading cities of the North. A large percentage of the diseases is of a preventable character, and it looks as though Montreal lacked enterprise in her sanitary arrangements.

Secretary Evarts is amused by the newspaper statement that he rules eleven lovely daughters. He said the other day to a correspondent. "Tell your people that I don't object to eleven daughters, but I do object to the summary manner in which they have killed my six sons." The Secretary has a family of five daughters and six sons.

Col. Scott says positively that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company will rebuild as few of their buildings as possible at Pittsburg, but will remove all their shops and machine works to some other point, as remote as possible from that neighborhood, or, in fact, from large cities, where the property of the company will not be under the influence and at the mercy of mobs.

James Carey Williams, one of the men wounded in the riot at the Sixth Regiment armory in Baltimore on the evening of July 20, died August 28th. This makes the eleventh victim of the riot.

Charles Brown, a workman in the Bristol Manufacturing Company at Bristol, Vt., was fatally shot on the night of August 27th while robbing a store in that town. He lived three hours after being shot, and confessed numerous robberies. He leaves a wife and family.

The three-masted schooner John W. Welt, of Waldoboro', Me., a large vessel, has been picked up at sea, derelict, by the Spanish steamer Colon, and towed into the port of Ferrol, where her cargo is being discharged. There were no papers on board, nor anything to give a clue as to why the vessel was abandoned.

On Tuesday, at Boston, the Boston base ball club defeated the Louisvilles by a score of 4 to 3; this puts the Bostons at the head of the list for the championship. On the same day the Hartfords were badly beaten by the Cincinnatis at Brooklyn, the score being 13 to 7; and the Manchesters beat the Rhode Islands at Providence in "the handsomest played game ever seen in that city," by a score of 3 to 0.

Mrs. Chisolm writes to the Jackson (Miss.) Times, declaring that the story which has been telegraphed over the country to the effect that the Probate Court of Kemper county had refused to settle the estate of her husband is utterly without foundation. No such refusal has been made, nor does she expect anything of the kind, as the clerk is a "kindly, courteous gentleman."

Miss Kate Field will appear in London next season in a new play written expressly for her use. Two of her own dramatic compositions have been approved by the Dramatic Authors' Society of that city, of which she is a member. Her paper on Dr. Schliemann, published in the July number of Belgravia, was the means of sending that magazine through three editions. Miss Field is a leading contributor to the paper named Truth, edited and published in London by Mr. Labouchere.

The dead body taken from the water in Bristol, R. I., harbor on the 24th of August, with a large stone fastened to the neck by a rope, has been identified as that of Ezra Baxter, formerly a shipmaster of Providence. Capt. Baxter left his home on the 21st, and the whole affair is thus far shrouded in mystery.

A gang of pickpockets and thieves have been at Martha's Vineyard several days, committing extensive depredations. The Pawnee and Sea View Houses suffered severely; at the latter the thieves entered the room of a lady guest, picked the lock of her trunk and abstracted $3000 worth of diamonds. A quantity of clothing and jewelry was also stolen from the bath-houses. Nine persons had their pockets picked near the tabernacle on Sunday.

A Washington despatch of the 27th says: There is a paragraph in the naval orders of to-day which shows that the Secretary of the Navy is but a man and is forgiving. The order is this: "Midshipman Clarence A. Corbin is detached from the Omaha, South Pacific Station, and ordered to proceed home and report his arrival." Shortly after the ball given on board the Hartford at Norfolk to the Grand Duke Alexis, during his visit here last winter, a paragraph appeared in the society papers to the effect that on the occasion of the ball a scene was occasioned by a young naval officer reminding his partner in the dance, who has since been married with much pomp in Washington, that upon a similar occasion in one of the ports of the Mediterranean he had kissed her, the kiss being a forfeit in the game of "walking around the capstan." The prudes of society were shocked, and reported the young man to the Admiral, who in turn reported him to the Secretary of the Navy, with the recommendation that he be sent to the South Pacific as a punishment. The recommendation was adopted, and the Midshipman Corbin was immediately sent to the Ossipee on the South Pacific Station, where he has since remained in repentance for his past misdeeds.

New Hampshire Items.

The reunion of the Twelfth New Hampshire Regiment will be holden at Bristol on the 7th of September.

Over eighty students have thus far entered the medical department of Dartmouth College this term, the largest number of any term for many years.

The house of Mr. E. N. Shepard of Concord was entered by burglars Monday night and a gold watch and about $60 carried away, besides some clothing.

One day recently, when a Protestant minister was wanted to attend a funeral in Manchester, not one could be found and a clergyman being wanted a substitute was found, in a good old deacon. The preachers were all away enjoying a vacation.

It is stated that the Amoskeag Manufacturing Company, of Manchester, have purchased the Downing Mills property, situated at the outlet of Merrymeeting Pond, in New Durham, with all the rights of flowage around the pond. This purchase is effected for the purpose of controlling the water rights, and in the interest of the Winnipesogee Lake Manufacturing Company, which controls the waters of the lake in the interest of the Lowell and Lawrence manufacturing companies.

Wales Meareo, sixteen years old, while driving a horse in Alstead on Tuesday evening, reached forward and struck the animal with his hand. The horse kicked him in the stomach and killed him instantly.

A raid was made on the Great Falls liquor dealers on Wednesday, and six of them were put under bonds. No liquor was found at the hotels.

William H. Clark of Wayland, Mass., who with his wife has been visiting a son in Dover, attempted to commit suicide on the evening of Tuesday, August 28th, stabbing himself in the throat with a pair of scissors, making a very ugly wound. He is laboring under a temporary fit of insanity induced by fever, from which he had just recovered.

How Long to Sleep.

The fact is that as life becomes concentrated and its pursuits more eager, short sleep and early rising become impossible. We take more sleep than our ancestors; and we take more because we want more. Six hours sleep will do very well for a mason or brick layer, or any other man who has no exhaustion but that produced by manual labor; the sooner he takes it after his labor is over the better. But for a man whose labor is mental, the stress of whose work is on brain and nervous system, and for him who is tired in the evening with a day of mental application, neither "early to bed or early to rise" is wholesome. He keeps letting down to the level of repose. The longer the interval between the active use of the brain and his retirement to bed, the better his chance for sleep and refreshment. To him an hour after midnight is probably as good as two hours before it, and even his sleep will not so quickly and completely restore him as it will his neighbor who is physically tired. He must not only go to bed later, but lie longer. His best sleep probably lies in the early morning hours, when all the nervous excitement has passed away, and he is in absolute rest.—Ex.

A Political Skirmish.

After the declaration of the results of the election for member of Parliament at Grimsby, England, a few nights ago, Mr. Watkin, the successful candidate, proceeded to address his constituents from the balcony of the local inn. But he did not proceed far. The crowd below hooted him, quarrelled and threw stones at him, breaking the fine plate-glass windows on all sides of the building to the height of three stories. In a short time, not content with these triumphs, the mob, using some railway sleepers as battering rams, broke into the bar-room, destroyed the furniture and seized the wines and liquors. It was then one o'clock in the morning, and the Mayor bethought himself of reading the riot act. That done, the police and a posse of citizens armed with clubs, stair-rods and other improvised weapons, made a descent upon the rioters. Order was restored in an hour; at six o'clock, A. M., one hundred members of the eighty-fourth regiment of foot arrived by special train from Sheffield. Fifteen arrests were made, and others will follow. Such political skirmishes are not unusual in Albion.

—General Garfield has an exceedingly interesting family of children, one of the brightest of them being Irwin McDowell, now about four or five years old. This little fellow was recently offended at something his governess had done, and for a time refused to speak to her. A friend having suggested that the proper thing was to pray for Miss Mary, the youngster promptly replied, "It would be no use; a hundred Gods couldn't make Miss Mary good."

THE WRECKED SCHOONER "CERES."

The cargo of coal having been removed from the wrecked schooner Ceres, the hulk left for Boston on Wednesday afternoon in tow of a Boston tug-boat. Luck go with her; from the time she went smashing up against Portsmouth bridge almost a year ago, up to the present time, she has been a regular item-mine for the Portsmouth papers; whenever there was absolutely nothing else to make an item of, ye editor man would boldly seize his pen and write something about "the wrecked schooner Ceres." Unless our memory is at fault we have mentioned her several times in this paper. We are glad the plucky persistence of the wreckers has been crowned with success, but we are sorry our item-mine is worked out. However, we shall be able to make a paragraph about her safe arrival at Boston—that is, if she does arrive there in safety—and perhaps one or two others about her being fitted up or broken up. We wish her the best of luck, as we regard her with something of the same sort of affection an old sailor entertains toward a favorite vessel he has long sailed in.

A BIRD CAUGHT.

As the season of summer visiting wanes, the era of presentation sets in. On Tuesday evening Capt. Frank L. Bird, of the steamer Major, was accosted in the rotunda of the Oceanic and suddenly confronted by a large party of guests of the house, and compelled to stand up and listen to a very pretty presentation speech by Miss Lizzie Anderson of New York, a young girl of thirteen summers, who as the representative of the guests of the Oceanic requested the gallant Bird, who plies daily between Portsmouth and Star Island, to accept a splendid pair of marine glasses. Such gifts are always received with grateful emotion; a bucket was brought in to hold the briny tears of the Major's commander, and after suppressing his emotion sufficiently to get command of his language the captain responded with heartfelt thanks, to the generous doners and their well-selected mouthpiece. The guests at the Oceanic thus neatly recognized the many courtesies of Capt. Bird, who never omits an opportunity to increase the comfort and convenience of visitors to Star Island.

{Communicated.}

"THAT MARINE MYSTERY."

Mr. Editor:—In a matter purely personal I should not presume to obtrude an already much discussed question upon the public; but justice to myself, as well as a full and proper interpretation of the law, prompts me to notice the specious reasoning of your correspondent in the CHRONICLE of August 16th. That article states that the coroner can hold an inquest without a request from local governments or recourse to an appeal to the County Solicitor. The quibble is unworthy and unfair, as the writer evidently knew; for it is a statement of but one half the fact. It is true that the coroner can hold an inquest upon his own responsibility, but without the authority for so doing from the city, town or county, he cannot compel the attendance or service of a juror, witness or law officer, without first tendering to each his full fee—and obliging himself to assume the entire expense of an inquest. That such a course would be anything but profitable for the coroner, no one is more fully aware than your correspondent. I am willing to accept my share of the public expense, but I object to any undue addition to such a burden; and I trust I may be understood when I profess an extreme sensitiveness to any misinterpretation of my action as a public official.

S. C. WHITTIER, M. D.,
Coroner Rockingham County.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

It is reported that Essex S. F. E. Co., No. Four, of Lawrence, Mass., will visit this city early in September. This company has twice before visited Portsmouth, as guests of Sagamore S. F. E. Co., No. Two.

Steamer Katahdin is announced to make an excursion to this city from Boston on Sunday.

The Granite State base ball club of this city have re-organized, and procured a new and handsome uniform. It is said by the local ball players that the club can put a very strong nine in the field, and that they will make a good showing. Their first game comes off in Epping on Friday.

Sagamore S. F. E. Co., No. Two, have procured a new uniform for the members, —red jackets with nickel plated buttons, white neck-ties with blue ends and with the figure "2" worked in the ends, new belts with name of the steamer, and fire hats. The jackets were made by Rider & Cunningham, the hats and belts by Cairnes Bros. of New York.

A Norfolk, Virginia, dispatch of Aug. 28th says: "United States steamer Enterprise, one of eight sloops of war recently constructed by order of Congress, came up to the navy yard to-day, to go into the dry dock for repairs. She is leaking very badly. The Enterprise is one of the four contract built sloops, and was constructed at Portsmouth, N. H. She has never been to sea except to run from Portsmouth to Hampton Roads, and, as seems to be invariably the case with outside built war ships, the Government yards have to finish and put them into sea-going condition."

The engine and machinery for the long-expected and much-needed fog horn has arrived at Whale's-Back light house, and will soon be set up and put in operation.—Times.

Mr. Josiah F. Adams, the undertaker, has removed his place of business from Nos. 14 and 15 Daniel street to No. 42 Market street, formerly occupied by Mr. A. T. Joy.

John E. Appleby, a passenger conductor on the Conway division of the Eastern Railroad, died very suddenly at North Conway, August 28th, his death being caused by injuries received while shackling cars several months ago. He ran his train on the previous day, and seemed to be in better health than he had been for several weeks. He was about thirty-eight years of age.

The Wiggin place on North road was sold at auction on Wednesday by Col. Hackett for $1635. Mr. Wm. F. Ham was the purchaser.

Schooner Governor Goodwin, McGrain master, arrived at Beverly, Mass., August 27th, from the Grand Banks, with 1500 quintals of fish. Schooner Anna M. Nash, Kendrick master, arrived at this port from the Grand Banks on Wednesday.

POLICE COURT.

Wednesday, August 29th.

William Howard, drunk, fined $3, costs $6.90. Went out to ask a friend for money to pay his fine, and forgot to return.

John Hanscom, drunk, fine and costs $9.90.

Sebach Hawkins, a noble red man, was brought up, charged with having been overcome in a conflict with the white man's fire water. Mr. Hawkins, who gave his age as sixty-two years, explained that he was engaged as a guide by a Boston gentleman; that the latter offered him something to drink from a bottle, pronouncing it good; that he (the noble red man) tried it, and found it was good; and that upon the aforesaid good stuff he got drunk, for the first time in his life! Also, it would be the last. The Judge hoped it would prove so, and fined the erring brave $3, costs $5.76.

Political.

A recent revelation of political history is that after the death of Chief Justice Chase, President Grant offered the place to Senator Howe of Wisconsin. The Senator would have been delighted to have accepted the appointment, but the Wisconsin legislature was at that time democratic, and to use his own language, "rather than surrender my seat in the Senate to a democrat I trampled on the only real ambition I ever had."

Gov. Williams of Indiana has pardoned out of the Indiana penitentiary the repeaters who helped to elect him. "Blue Jeans" is true to his friends.

A republican is rarely of much use after he turns democrat, but Mr. Williams of Maine is an exception. He has done the country a great service in getting the democratic party by the ears on the fraud question, and has so demoralized the brethren in Maine that they will do nothing but bit each other over the head during the rest of the canvass. It is an awful warning to the party against nominating a man of sense for office. * * As a general thing, a man who has been a republican for years and has but recently been perverted, can hardly be trusted to write a letter accepting a democratic nomination, or even to offer an exegesis of a democratic platform which will not contain some scintillations of truth. If the moss-backed democracy of Maine were really anxious for a candidate who would do nothing else but jump up and down and shriek "fraud" until the close of the polls next month, they ought to have selected a born democrat who has never been born again, or an original republican whose affections had suddenly turned rancid when he missed the office he was reaching after.—Tribune.

Brain Labor.

The following passage is by the Rev. J. F. Corning. It will be appreciated by all brain workers:

"While I sit at my study table with my pen in hand, the fingers moving with tardy paces at the beckon of the brain, I hear below my window, in the adjacent field, the monotonous ring of a laborer's hoe upon the corn hills. While he hoes, he whistles hour by hour until the clock strikes twelve, and then with ravenous appetite, repairs to his bountiful yet simple meal, only to resume his task again, and pursue it to the setting of the sun. As I stood at the window watching his toil, and turned again to my pen and ink, I asked myself how it was that the man with a hoe will labor his eight or ten hours a day with less fatigue than the man with his pen will toil his three or four.

Hugh Miller was a great worker with the shovel and pick—would have made a good hand in the slate quarry, in grading a railroad or digging a canal. But one night, as you know, he died in a fit of nervous fever. What was the difference between the great geologist and the man with a hoe whistling under my window? Simply this: the former was a worker of brain and the latter a worker of muscle. Let this man with the hoe lay down his husbandry for a little while, and set himself to studying one of the stalks of corn, or the chemistry of one of these hills of soil, and very likely he would soon learn what it is to lose one's appetite, and hear the clock strike nearly all the night hours in feverish wakefulness.

And thus we get a great organic law of our being, to wit: that brain work subtracts vitality from the fountain, while muscle work only makes draughts upon one of the ramifying streams of life. It is estimated by scientific observers that a man will use up as much vital force in working his brains two hours as he will in working his muscles eight."

—We clip the following from a veracious exchange: In the Mount Auburn Cemetery, Boston, is a lot containing five stones, one at each corner, and one in the centre. The latter is inscribed "Our Husband," and the others respectively bear "My I Wife," "My II Wife," "My III Wife," "My IV Wife."

—Lightning struck a hive of bees in Kansas, the other day. The painful story is soon told. The misguided lightning came out of the hive quicker than it went in, and went off into space with its tail between its legs. Moral—Never pick a quarrel when you are not acquainted with the folks.

—So very young. Time—three weeks after marriage. Loving wife: "Those accounts of the war, love, are so untrustworthy, they contradict each other like I don't know what." Sweet husband: "I do; they contradict like a wife does her husband." L. W. (tenderly): "Or a husband does his wife, dear."—London Fun.

—The value of trade marks: If a hungry, ragged, wild-eyed, long haired individual, with a sketch book under his arm, asks for bread, he is invited to dinner, and the family feel elated to think they are entertaining a strolling artist. If the same man loses his book, and applies for victuals at another house, he is shot at for a tramp.

—A young man from Connecticut writes home a glowing description of life in the Black Hills. He says that the sunsets are beautiful, the atmosphere delightful, and money so plentiful that he recently made $500 in a single day. He incidentally adds that he expects to be hung for robbing a stage coach.

—At Vauziers, France, not long ago, three wags took possession of a deserted mansion, and by using red lights, rattling chains and groaning and yelling dismally attracted the attention of the simple residents, when they proceeded to enact for their edification the spectacle of a formidable devil with hoofs, tail and pitchfork tormenting two sheeted spectres. The performance was a great success till a materialistic peasant got down his shot-gun and exorcised the spirits, who fled, but were captured and ignominiously fined fifteen francs and costs for riotous conduct.

That Insidious Foe to Health,

An atmosphere impregnated with the seeds of malaria, is rendered harmless by the timely use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters; and if a resort to this benign protective agent has unwisely been deferred until the fever fits have developed, it will have the effect of checking them and preventing their return. This statement is corroborated by thousands who have tried this medicine for fever and ague and bilious remittent fever, besides affections of the stomach, liver and bowels peculiarly rife in malarious localities. Throughout the West, indeed in every part of the American continent where malaria prevails, it is the accepted specific. Nor is the area of its usefulness circumscribed by the limits of the United States, since it is widely used in South America, Mexico, Australia, and elsewhere.

Bad Specks.

Bad specks on the teeth are almost as unpleasant as bad specs in the money market. To prevent them or to get rid of them, use Sozodont. It is literally a specific for every blemish that disfigures the teeth, and whitens them without endangering the enamel.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often restores the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and established; the hair thickens and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is prized for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and easy impress of tone it imparts.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The RARE compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, have not alone one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever obtained so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most wide cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff Joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Camphor, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 22d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimock, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. tnov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. tnov1

I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I believe in them.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 16, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and shall do all I have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package. I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I believe in the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I can't help it. I remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, NOV. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head, so that I did not know how to do physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have not confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON!

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the lungs trying climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

An Ingenious Invention.

Mr. Charles Kellogg, an ingenious mechanic and inventor of North Amherst, who not long ago invented and perfected the paper bag machine, which takes the paper from the roll and delivers the square-bottom bags at a very fast rate, has for the last year been engaged in building a machine for fastening buttons on the cards, a process heretofore done by hand with a needle and thread, a day's work being about forty gross for a smart workman. The machine is calculated to fasten one gross per minute on cards containing two dozen each, or sixty gross an hour. This machine is about two feet long and about fifteen inches wide and as many high, and fastens the buttons to cards with fine wire, which it takes from the skeins on reels, draws it in, cuts it the desired length and bends the piece similar to a card tooth. The wire staple, with each prong about a fourth of an inch long, is pushed up from beneath the card, entering two holes made through it by a pair of needles that are just as wide apart as from centre to centre of two holes in the vegetable-ivory coat buttons which have been brought into position on the upper side of the card exactly above the needles by an ingenious device on the top of the machine. As the two ends of the wire staple come up through the card and the two holes in the button, a small, hollow, upright shaft or plunger an eighth of an inch in diameter, with the lower end coned out, comes down into the depression in the centre of the button in which the small holes are, and the ends of the wire staple are inclined toward each other, the piston working in the upright plunger clinches them, and the button is sufficiently fastened. Four buttons are fastened or wired at a time, the card moves along and four more are wired, and so on until the required number is on the card, when another card is pushed along from the top of a pile of two hundred or more which are placed on a spring platform under the upper plate of the machine. One girl will attend to one machine, feeding the buttons into inclined slides and keeping the spring platform supplied with cards; this will comprise her duties. This machine which Mr. Kellogg has made, besides the model for the patent office, cost $1600, though duplicates can probably be made for $300.—Springfield Republican.

Slang.

Slang is little else than metaphor, and comparison of a homely sort drawn from the farm, the shop, the mine, the forecastle, the camp, the street, or from any matter of common observation. A few random instances will be enough to make this plain: "To blow a cloud," "to flare up," "to cotton to," "to play second fiddle," "a chip of the old block," are expressions that need no explanation. Others, while similes, clearly, are not exactly understood, like "go to pot," which refers, it is said, to the metal pot for refuse metal. Others gather vim, if we stop to think whence they come. No doubt a teamster cracking his whip over his four or six horses was the first to describe something weak or shabby as a "one-horse concern," just as, conversely, his enthusiasm for a fellow always ready to pay for the drinks, found vent in dubbing him a "whole team and a little dog under the wagon." New phrases are continually reinforcing or superseding the old, but both new and old are of one nature. The gambler's lingo is used when a dead man is said to have "passed in his checks," and the gold-seeker's when a speculation is said to "pan out" well. Persons whose pretensions to refinement forbid their use of slang and of expressions which they think belong to the vulgar, have their own set of metaphors. To them the clouds are "fleecy," and the sunset "golden," home is "sweet," to part with friends is "bitter," and so on through a list which the reader shall be spared. Their speech is garnished with scraps from all the poets and from Holy Writ, instead of with proverbs. A glance at Mr. Bartlett's Familiar Quotations, grown in the last edition to a stout volume, will give an idea of the great number of fragments of prose and verse that pass from mouth to mouth like the pipe around an Indian council fire. Children, too, as well as their elders, indulge a liking for figurative talk, particularly for slang, a taste they often keep until well on in years.—The Galaxy.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilized; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color, its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

Terrible Railroad Accidents.

A freight train on the Indianapolis, Cincinnati & Lafayette Railroad ran off the track on Tuesday, Aug. 28th, at Hansell's station, Ohio, and two tramps who were stealing a ride were killed and two badly wounded.

A train on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad ran upon a short stone bridge over Four Mile Creek, seven miles from Des Moines, Iowa, Wednesday morning; the bridge, undermined by a heavy flood, fell with the train, and the loss of life was frightful. The engine and tender, Barnum's advertising car, three passenger coaches, and the baggage and express cars, were piled up in the mud and water; the fall was about twenty feet, and the water at the time of the disaster was about twenty feet deep. Of eleven persons in Barnum's car, ten were killed by the fall, crushed in the wreck, or drowned; and it was soon found that at least nine other persons had perished. Eleven dead bodies were soon recovered, and several others could be seen floating about inside the wrecked cars; and it was feared still others were buried beneath the train or had been carried off by the swollen river. Thirty or more persons were badly injured, some of them fatally.

At Salem, Mass., on Wednesday evening, a crowd of people were gathered on Pennsylvania Pier to watch the landing of a large excursion party that went from Lowell to the Shoals that day, going from and returning to Salem in a steamboat. While the excursionists were disembarking, a Lowell Railroad train of eight cars was backed down the pier to take the Lowell excursionists on board, and went through the crowd at a speed of five or six miles an hour. Three women and several men jumped overboard to escape being crushed, but were all rescued. Mr. Joseph Swazey and wife, of Salem, were knocked down, run over and instantly killed, and their son, Wilbur F. Swazey, was terribly injured in the abdomen and had an arm broken, his hurts being supposed to be fatal. Miss Rachel Gifford, Mrs Swazey's sister, was so badly injured that she died in a few hours. A Lowell man, said to be mortally wounded, was taken home. Judging from the first accounts, the accident was wholly due to the gross neglect and murderous recklessness of the railroad employes. The first intimation the crowd had of the train's approach was the shouting of those on the outskirts as the train was close upon them.

A passenger train on the Hudson River Railroad, while stopping to water the engine at Hudson, N. Y., Wednesday night, was run into by a freight train, and an engine and several cars demolished. A fireman was killed and an engineer badly wounded.

Brigham Young.

On the afternoon of Wednesday, August 29th, at four o'clock, the great Mormon prophet and President of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Brigham Young, died in Salt Lake City, Utah Territory, of congestion of the lungs. He was born in Whittingham, Vermont, on the 1st of June, 1801, and was consequently a little over seventy-six years old at the time of decease. He had been in poor health for some months, and his death was not unlooked for.

If not a great man, he was certainly a very remarkable one, and has been the most successful leader of a religious humbug for a century. The son of a country farmer, his early education was very limited. He was brought up to the business of a painter and glazier, was early converted, joined the Baptist church, and occasionally preached. In 1832, being in the West, he joined the then new sect of Mormons at Kirtland, Ohio, and manifesting great zeal in proselyting was soon ordained an elder and sent to the Eastern States on a missionary tour. When Joe Smith was murdered, in 1844, Young and four others were set apart as candidates for the Presidency of the church; the "Apostles" (as the electing committee were called) unanimously chose Young, and he immediately provided against any possible trouble by judiciously banishing Sidney Rigdon, his only formidable rival for the supreme honors.

From this time forward Young showed the qualities of a natural leader. When the Gentiles made Nauvoo untenable for the Saints, he successfully led the disheartened and wretched exiles, burdened with their own wives and children and not a few belonging to other people, across the plains to the Great Salt Lake valley; and the community he then founded upon that fertile spot in the midst of a desert has advanced with a degree of prosperity which is one of the wonders of the age.

Young was recognized as absolute dictator, and his rule was inflexible. In 1849 he organized a State which he called Deseret, and applied to Congress for its admission. This was denied, but the following year the Territory of Utah was organized and Brigham Young accredited Governor for four years. So long as none but Mormons entered the Territory matters went on peacably. But Gentile settlers were considered as intruders, and many of the more fanatical Mormons, calling themselves "Destroying Angels," wrought terrible outrages upon the settlers not of their faith. The Mountain Meadow massacre has been forcibly brought to mind by the recent confession of John D. Lee, who charged that the atrocities were committed by the express command of Brinham Young; certain it is that he had dictatorial power, and, if he did not command the massacre, did not attempt to restrain the fanaticism of his subjects.

In 1854 a Provisional Governor, a Gentile, was appointed, and Young defied the power of the government for several years, refusing to acknowledge its representatives. In 1857 Alfred Cumming was sent as Governor to Utah, with 2500 men, and the dictator abdicated his temporal dominion, retaining still absolute spiritual control. This was most conclusively shown in his promulgation of "the celestial law of marriage," sanctioning polygamy. This doctrine was denounced by the widow of Joseph Smith, and opposed to the practice and tradition of the sect; but Brigham Young's mandate was sufficient to establish it as a cardinal principle of Mormonism. As regards the temporal prosperity of the Salt Lake community, it is agreed on all hands that this is mainly due to Young's energy and sagacious planning. He was strict in enforcing the obligations of contracts; and after his power was made subordinate to that of the General Government, was generally just in his rules regarding intercourse with Gentiles. Young's last years were made unhappy by the separation of his fifteenth wife, Ann Eliza, and her suit for divorce and alimony, as well as the proceedings against him as accessory to the Mountain Meadow massacre. But he was strenuous to the last in declaring himself innocent of guilt, and in urging his people to hold fast to their principles and to their faith in him as Supreme Ruler.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 28th.

Mr. Lauston has seen fit to deny through the Republican the part he was charged with having played in aiding to cover up Baker's alleged payment of a fraudulent claim while Commissioner of Pensions, in consideration of a bribe to him paid to the amount of nearly $2,000. His denial is of little consequence, as it deals largely in personalities, without touching the only matter of concern to the public, namely, Baker's guilt as principal, and that of other officials as accessories. Mr. Kane is not on trial; and no counter-charges against him by officials included in his indictment, can break the force of direct ones so circumstantially detailed as are these by him against Baker and his alleged accomplices; and until an investigation has determined their truth or falsity, public opinion will be divided according to the prepossessions of those who render their verdict without a full hearing.

Gen. Boynton appears to have fallen into the same error by attempting to belittle Moore's character. The last discharge of his gun seems to have been most destructive at the breech. It is, so far as I have been able to ascertain, the general verdict that the charge of an attempt at blackmail has not been satisfactorily refuted. Very little ingenuity, indeed, has been shown in the effort to skirmish round and break its force by showing Moore's unreliability; and the parading of confidential letters written by officials to the President, and by him referred to the Secretary of the Treasury for his information, has odly increased the curiosity of the public as to how they came into Boynton's possession, particularly as Moore still insists they were stolen. And finally, their contents have rather confirmed the general belief of a wide-spread Bristow ring in the department of that gentleman, who was so solicitous for the Cincinnati nomination; and all the circumstances seem to point to a rigid system of espoinage by its members, over those not identified with the Bristow interest, or suspected of lukewarmness. Public business, according to those letters, was made subservient to the glorification of their chief's ambition.

Notwithstanding the adverse judgment of our civilian critics of military men and movements, Gen. Howard still appears in good repute at the War Department; and after hearing an enumeration there of all the obstacles he has had to overcome in his Joseph campaign, one leaves with the absurd impression that the General is not, necessarily, a coward, an idiot, or a horse-thief.

The movement by Texas officials to put into the field an army of 25,000 men in case the Mexican authorities refuse to surrender the Rio Grande City raiders, is hardly intelligible to those remembering with what patience they have borne provocations much more exasperating in the past. Diaz' friends profess to see in it a covert movement in favor of Lerdo and annexation, the raid furnishing a convenient pretext for arming a large force. Whatever the cause underlying it, there can be little doubt that these manifestations of hostility will dangerously complicate our Mexican relations if carried to the extent of invasion.

The President is not thought likely to so far forget the necessities of our Army and Navy in his desire to consult the convenience of members of Congress, as to postpone the extra session, or consent, by so doing, to assist the projects of ambitious aspirants for the Speaker's chair. The causes which were thought to demand an extra session last June apply with equal force now; and it is believed it will convene Oct. 15th, as heretofore notified. KNOX.

News and Notes.

The Chicago Exposition has just opened, and will continue seven weeks, or until the 13th of October. In a week or ten days the St. Louis Industrial Festival will open, and doubtless Cincinnati will also have an exposition. The cities of the West are bound to make a show of what they possess and can do, and doubtless enterprises of this sort give an impulse to trade and production that is worth all they cost.

Ben De Bar, the actor, is dead. He leaves a fortune of $200,000 to $300,000.

A sharp advance in the price of mourning goods is anticipated by the dealers, consequent on the going into mourning of Brigham Young's total widow.

On the night of August 25th Judson Lipe of Oneida, N. Y., broke into the residence of his next door neighbor, Miss Nancy Morey, and stabbed her forty or fifty times. Lipe returned to his own house and then stabbed himself a dozen times or so, one of the wounds penetrating the left lung and rendering his recovery extremely doubtful. The cause of the difficulty was a dispute over a line fence.

The wheat surplus of Minnesota from this year's crop is estimated at 30,000,000 bushels.

The New York Mail says that Tweed's daughter, who married Maginnis in 1870, and whose wedding presents costs $69,000, is now living in absolute poverty, the bridal presents and finery having all been sent to the pawnshops.

A prominent down town restaurant in New York, that feeds 1,500 people daily, has put down roast beef to twelve cents, tea and coffee to four cents each, and pie to five.

The health of the Pope is very precarious, and it is not believed he can live much longer. The Cardinals are commencing to make arrangements for electing his successor.

The report of the committee which has been engaged in an investigation of the Boston Custom House is very gratifying, inasmuch as so little was found to excite criticism, and the changes suggested are of minor importance. It was found that the Collector had made in his department such reductions as the exigencies of the service would permit, and had arranged his force so that the "work was properly and promptly done." The changes recommended are very slight. In the Naval office, Surveyor's office and Appraiser's store, it was found that the business was faithfully done and the force as a rule not too large. Some changes of salary and readjustment of force of no great consequence are suggested. The most important suggestion is that which contemplates requiring the Naval Officer to perform the duties of his position. The present incumbent is declared to be desirous of devoting his whole time to its duties. He should by all means have the opportunity.—Globe.

Rev. T. J. Mumford, editor of the Christian Union, died on Wednesday, aged about fifty years.

E. L. Davenport, the tragedian, died at Canton, Pennsylvania, on Wednesday night.

The dead body of John Reilly was found on a hill-side back of Nantasket Beach, Mass., on the evening of August 28th. At first it was supposed his death was due to exposure to the sun while drunk, but it is now thought he was murdered, as the body was found to have been terribly scalded about the feet and legs, and the head was badly bruised. Two men, Charles T. Patterson, a barber, and Louis Thompson, a travelling banjo player, had a fight with Reilly in the afternoon and again in the evening, at low public houses on the beach, and both have since disappeared.

The Indianapolis News publishes an interview with leading wholesale merchants in that and other cities of Indiana, showing that trade has much improved over last year and that the prospects are excellent for a largely increased and profitable business. The same favorable account comes from nearly all quarters.

One hundred and twenty-five cigar makers, in the employ of Newberger & Brother of Cincinnati, struck on Wednesday, August 29th, demanding the immediate discharge of the female employes. The firm declined to discharge the women, and express a determination to remove their factory to New York, if the men persist in their demands. Other cigar manufacturing firms in Cincinnati that employ women have been threatened with a strike by their male workmen, unless the women are discharged; but none of them have as yet yielded to the demands of the would-be monopolists of employment, and it is to be hoped none will yield.

Gen. Bedford Forest, the famous Confederate cavalry officer, is dangerously ill at Barley Springs, Ala., from chronic diarrhœa. His friends have little hope of his recovery.

R. W. Fowler, Jr., who was the manager of the narrow gauge railway around the Centennial grounds, has received a proposition to go to Paris and build and operate a similar road on the Exposition grounds there next year.

Raphael Semmes, who commanded the rebel cruiser Alabama during the late war, died at Point Clear, Alabama, on Thursday.

The Eastern War.

A despatch from Bucharest, August 30th, says a new bridge has been placed across the Danube near Nicopolis, and that the Roumanians are crossing it with 25,000 men to join the Russian right, which is facing the Turkish flank at Plevna. Servia is also expected to send a full corps within a few days, which will operate on Osman Pasha's rear. A combined attack will then be made on Plevna. A despatch from Shumla says the struggle between opposing forces at Shipka Pass continues unabated. The losses on both sides have been fearful. The result is still uncertain. A Gorny Studeni despatch says: "After the severe fighting on Sunday the Turks refrained from renewing the attack on the Russian positions in Shipka Pass, and up to this morning only an occasional trivial rifle fire between the outposts has occurred. As a result of Sunday's fighting, the Turkish advanced batteries somewhat menace the Russian flanks. The Turks are constructing fresh batteries in Tunja Valley. The Russians have been adequately reinforced, and there is nothing in the present situation to alter the impression that General Radetsky holds his position safe." A late despatch from the same place says all was quiet that morning. The Russian troops maintain their positions. The Turks remain under cover behind the neighboring heights out of range of the Russian batteries. The total number of Russian wounded, from August 21 to 27, is 2480, including ninety-five officers. Killed unknown.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

The Kearsarge Mills not being able to start up on Monday, Sept. 3d, as previously announced, will commence running on Monday, the 10th. Those interested will find the official announcement in another column.

The engine and baggage car of the half-past twelve o'clock train from Boston to North Conway, on the Eastern Railroad, Conway division, were thrown from the track by some unknown cause, near South Berwick, Me., Wednesday, badly demolishing the car and tender and tearing up the track. No one was seriously injured, though Mr. Charles Hatch, the express agent, was slightly hurt.

Mr. John W. Stavers has purchased the stock and business of a boot and shoe store in Taunton, Mass., and will remove to that city next week.

A small party of young ladies and gentlemen went down river in a row-boat, Wednesday afternoon, and making their boat fast near Fort Constitution, took a stroll through the fort and along the beach. On their return they found that some comical fellow or fellows had played them a practical joke by turning their boat bottom up, and stealing the carpeting from the stern sheets and also a sun umbrella one of the young ladies had indiscreetly left in the boat. The jokers did have grace enough to stick the oars beneath the thwarts so they could not float away, before they capsized the boat, so that after the young men of the party righted her and bailed her out they were able to return to the city without having to borrow oars.

We regret to note the importation of late into our city, of the trio of nuisances, street boot-blacks, street peanut-stand, and hawkers of fruit. The last two are comparatively new, and we hope will be abated before they get much hold. We have plenty of fruit-dealers who pay rent and taxes, and no doubt sell as cheap as can be afforded; and the cumbering of the street with any kind of a stand, and the yelling of the peach-merchants, are nuisances. We don't believe in any street peddling; and recommend to buy fruit, like everything else, where you will stand chance to get some of the money back again in other business. —Weekly.

Ship Governor Goodwin, Capt. Lester, sailed from Boston for Philadelphia on Wednesday. A number of Portsmouth gentlemen made the trip down the bay in her, and one of them informs us that from the time the order "up anchor" was given until the anchor was at the bow only seven minutes elapsed—and the ship registers almost 1500 tons, too, and carries heavy ground tackle for her size. Her anchors are lifted and much of her other heavy work done by steam.

Hon. John Lynch, when Congressman from the First District of Maine, secured the passage of a bill officially fixing the title of the navy yard on the Piscataqua river, by which it was ordered to be called the "Kittery, New Hampshire, Navy Yard." The Boston Post has now annexed Newington to this city, as we find by the following item: "The annual picnic and gathering of the Rollins-Pickering family occurred at Portsmouth, N. H., Wednesday, under the 'Big Elm,' old homestead, Newington. There was a large attendance. The old officers were re-elected."

POLICE COURT.

Thursday, August 30th.

Eben Littlefield and Angus Scott, for drunkenness, were each assessed $9.90, fine and costs.

New Hampshire Items.

About thirty neighbors of W. H. Child, of Cornish, cut twenty-five acres of hay and stored it for him recently. Mr. Child had been kept from his work by sickness in his family.

A Dover citizen who lived in a house with white doors, went home one night recently, with a lantern, but was astonished when he arrived at what he supposed was his own house, to come up against a black door. The door of the next house and the next were likewise black, and completely mystified, he went on some little distance to the corner and counted the houses, to determine the location of his own. When he got back a familiar voice called to him, and he learned that his wife had been having the doors painted and grained in his absence.

Center Tuftonborough, although a sparsely settled community, boasts of twelve babies in six weeks within a radius of three miles. Center Tuftonborough will not be a sparsely settled community a great while, if the inhabitants keep on at that rate.

A curious freak of lightning recently happened at the barn of Henry W. Woodrow, in the east part of Colebrook. The lightning struck the ridge pole at the end of the barn, and ran down between the boards and the hay, making a hole as large as a man's body and leaving the hay perfectly smooth, but did not set it on fire. The hole extends the whole depth of the hay mow, which extended from the scaffold girt to near the ridge-pole.

The name of the first settler in Stratham was Wiggin, who built a garrison house, which is now standing remodelled, at the Stratham end of the bridge, the cause of that location being the privilege of a tide mill, school and store.

At Landaff is the grave of a Mrs. Bronson, who lived in three centuries. She was born in 1699 and died in 1801. It is said that there are but three similar cases on record.

A. W. Doe, of Tuftonborough, gathered corn fully ripe from his field on the 25th of August. This corn is from seed procured in Vermont, planted the 12th day of May.

Captain Stephen Tiffany, a soldier of 1812, who died at Walpole recently, aged 85, never during his long life ate any meat, or drank any milk, and was never sick, except when at the age of 60 he had the measles.

J. M. & S. R. Burbank of Hooksett recently drove their horse, aged twenty-eight years, from Hampton Beach to Hooksett in half a day. The horse despite his age did not become very much fatigued by the jaunt.

Political.

The Iowa democrats in State convention, Wednesday, nominated a Mr. Irish for governor. The temporary chairman declared that Samuel J. Tilden must be vindicated by a nomination in 1880, a declaration which was received with cheers. The convention, besides passing the usual buncombe resolutions and giving the average amount of demagogues' small-talk, came out squarely against subsidies to corporations by the National Government.

If we correctly understand the platform of the greenback party of Iowa, it promises an era of high wages, lots of onployment, high prices for wheat for the farmer, cheap flour for the mechanic, high prices for cattle far the stock raiser, cheap meat for the workingman, lots of money, low interest and good times for everybody but contractors, manufacturers, railroads and bankers, who are to be very poor and have no money to pay their hands.—Burlington Hawkeye.

Hard Times Indeed.

While the people of the United States are complaining, and not without a cause, that times are not so good as they used to be, and that men who once could make a good living very easily now have hard work to get along at all, the wretched inhabitants of a vast and thickly populated district of India are dying by wholesale of absolute starvation. The London Spectator says that there are at least one million of persons in the Madras Presidency whose whole property, including their clothes, would not, in a good year, sell for $2.50, who are absolutely dependent for subsistence upon minute payments in kind, or an almost imperceptible share in a small crop, and who, in a year of drouth, when the crop is dead, and the grain wages imperceivable, have literally nothing but their waist-clothes, that could not keep themselves alive for forty-eight hours without assistance from the State. "Upon this population, these 16,000,000 already so tried that they sell their poor jewels, their sole surplus, at the rate of £80,000 a month, by the Mint accounts alone; upon the 3,000,000 more who have passed this stage, have sold all, and are giving up the struggle; upon this 1,000,000, who have given it up already, and are waiting death by disease in the vast encampments fed by the State, there is about to descend the unspeakable horror of a second year of want; six more months at least during which nothing will be attainable, not even grass, except from the State alms." The Spectator says further:

"In the famine-stricken districts there are no cattle left. Their fodder perished first, and the few beasts still left alive are, as Mr. Williams described them months ago, far too weak for draught. The Government, no doubt, could send down thousands of the beautiful cattle of the North, beasts that would excite the pride of a Lombard landlord; but they can not live on air, they can barely carry their own food—recollect their pace and that they have to return—and they can not, even to save human life, be used as food. Even the dying would rise in insurrection at the thought of such unholy diet. There is nothing for it but 'relief centres,' and relief centres under such circumstances imply bursts of depopulating disease. Let any soldier acquainted with camps think of encampments with 50,000 souls in each—men, women and children—all arriving half-fed, and living on half rations, stationed by streams and tanks for the sake of water, scarcely housed, and living amid tropical odors and miasmas, and he, at least, will recognize all the elements of the new disease which first struck Lord Hastings' camps in the Pindarree war, and has ever since terrified the world as Asiatic cholera. The prospect is appalling, but if the second year of famine falls—and Lord Salisbury believes it to be falling—there is no remedy that man can apply. We are carefully avoiding exaggeration when we say it is not only possible, but it is imminently probable, that the population of Southern India will, this year, be reduced by 4,000,000 who have perished of hunger, and the diseases which hunger long continued leaves behind in its train."

The Cincinnati Times, commenting on this frightful condition of so many people, says: "Before more is heard of hard times in this country, let a glance be taken at the awful picture here drawn. With crops so bountiful that the only complaint is that they are so great prices can not be kept up, with means of transportation that allow the ready marketing of every bushel of grain, every pound of meat, what right has this country to talk of a want of prosperity? There is not a farmer in the land who has not raised this year enough to live on for two years, and still have a surplus left for those who are not producers. Business has been depressed, but men have not starved. And when men feel like grumbling that they are obliged to resort to little economies such as they did not once have to practice, let them reflect on the awful situation in which India finds itself to-day."

—A Kansas newspaper gives the following unequivocal puff to a saloon: "This is one of the first saloons in the diggins, and is in every respect worthy of patronage by those who want a good square drink."

That Insidious Foe to Health,

An atmosphere impregnated with the seeds of malaria, is rendered harmless by the timely use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters; and if a resort to this benign protective agent has unwisely been deferred until the fever fits have developed, it will have the effect of checking them and preventing their return. This statement is corroborated by thousands who have tried this medicine for fever and ague and bilious remittent fever, besides affections of the stomach, liver and bowels peculiarly rife in malarious localities. Throughout the West, indeed in every part of the American continent where malaria prevails, it is the accepted specific. Nor is the area of its usefulness circumscribed by the limits of the United States, since it is widely used in South America, Mexico, Australia, and elsewhere.

Bad Specks.

Bad specks on the teeth are almost as unpleasant as bad specs in the money market. To prevent them or to get rid of them, use Sozodont. It is literally a specific for every blemish that disfigures the teeth, and whitens them without endangering the enamel.

The great American conjunctive —- Spalding's Glue.

The adage, that once in every man's life, fortune offers a success, can be tested by addressing a letter to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, with an enclosure of a sufficient amount, to try one's luck in the next distribution or drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery Company, which has a capital and secured reserve of over $1,350,000 in cash, and has maintained an unblemished reputation for honesty of management and liberality of the schemes presented. Ayer's Cathartic Pills

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Headache, Erysipelas, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, yet are mighty in virtue. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skilful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, are, among not only one but many nations, most have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public almost forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in the closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff-joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 23d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment. White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 Dey St., New York.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimsch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & Co., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. tnov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. tnov1

CONDITION PILLS!
The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!
No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 2 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the luxurious climate of New England!

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 26th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was able to walk, I was down to 130 pounds; gained one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I feel a pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yea, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON!

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.
MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

PULMOCINE.
MAGIC
BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative no could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs, Croup, Diphtheria, Asthma, etc.,
USE
Bachman's Pulmocine Cordial.
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most efficient cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they alter and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Dyspepsia or the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Baggage Smashing.

The New York Times relates the case of an Illinois man who noticed that the only article which the baggage-smasher does not smash is a loaded coffin, and accordingly provided himself with a coffin made of light cedar wood, furnished with nickel-plated handles, and a lid made to fasten with a lock. In this commodious receptacle he packed his quinine, his whiskey, his other paper collar, and all the various travelling paraphernalia of an Illinoisan, and sent it under cover of night to a distant railway station. In the morning he dressed himself in black, placed a wide "weed" around his hat, and, presenting himself at the station, requested the baggage master, with an expression of extreme woe, to check his beloved wife for Chicago. The baggage master, though hardened by years of trunk-smashing, still retained some traces of humanity in his composition, and refrained from cursing the mourning husband, although he firmly explained to him that "dead wives couldn't be played off on him as personal baggage," and that the husband would either have "to express his goodly lady or to send her as special first-class freight." But the ingenious Illinoisan persisted in his demand. He told the baggage master that he must either check those remains or be responsible for their safe keeping until the decision of the lawsuit which he should certainly bring against the company. Alarmed by this threat, the baggage master yielded, and checked the coffin for Chicago, while its owner went behind the freight house and executed a wild dance of private triumph. Twice during the journey the baggage was shifted from one car to another, and while dozens of trunks were reduced to splinters the coffin was carried by six men with the most tender care. Its owner watched it from the window of the smoking car, and chuckled in a delighted way that would alone have proclaimed him a happy widower. In time he reached Chicago, when doubts as to the success of his invention first began to assail him. The coffin was brought to his hotel by a local expressman, who had been unwarily entrapped into taking the check, but who charged the owner four dollars, and compelled him to pay by threatening to carry his wife to the nearest medical college and to sell her to the students. No sooner had the expressman departed than the ingenious Illinoisan became involved in a dispute with the landlord, who refused to allow the coffin to be carried up stairs. "We can store your lady," remarked the landlord, "in the baggage room, where she will be perfectly comfortable, but it is against our rules to allow guests to have any remains carried to their rooms." Now the Illinoisan was anxious to get his paper collar and the quinine, but did not dare to open his coffin in public, so he tried his utmost to coax and to bully the landlord into a departure from the rules of the house. The discussion soon attracted attention and a coroner, who was waiting in the hotel in order to be on hand in case a few guests should be burned to death, promptly seized the coffin, and impanelling a jury, proceeded to hold an inquest with that rapidity and energy characteristic of the Western people when brought face to face with an opportunity to obtain official fees. Great was the astonishment of the coroner and his jury when they viewed the supposed body. This astonishment on the part of the coroner himself soon gave way to anger when he reflected that he could not claim fees for holding an inquest on wearing apparel. He relieved his mind by causing the arrest of the unhappy Illinoisan on the charge of having murdered a wife or wives unknown to the jury, and confiscated the coffin in part payment of the fees which he had expected to earn and of which he considered himself defrauded.

A Pleasing Outlook.

A exchange says that one of the best evidences of returning prosperity that a country long weighted by debt and discouraged by business depression can exhibit is in the decrease of her imports and the increase of her exports. The first indicates a capacity for home production that will satisfy wants that would otherwise be supplied from foreign markets and at a loss to the consumer. The second proves that for the abundant productions of the country there are markets in foreign countries which always insure a ready and profitable sale. Hence when what is termed the balance of trade is in favor of a country the gold flow tends toward her and renders her people rich and prosperous. Such is the pleasing outlook for the United States to-day, as we find by glancing over the trade statistics for the past three years. In 1875, ending June 30, the total specie value of the imports of the United States amounted to $553,906,153. In 1876 the figures were $476,677,871, and in 1877 $492,081,963. There is therefore a clear reduction between 1875 and 1877 of over $61,000,000 payable to the foreign producers. The increase during 1877 over 1876 of $15,000,000 is probably due to the extensive introduction of foreign goods during the Centennial. But the falling off of importation is so decided that even the exceptional transactions of 1876-7 can be overlooked. Now, with regard to our exports we find that the increase in value is almost exactly equal to the decrease of important values. The aggregate for 1875, 1876 and 1877, to June 30 in each year, are $505,174,853, $596,880,973 and $658,637,- 723, respectively. These aggregates include what are termed foreign exports, but these rarely exceed $25,000,000 in value, and have varied only slightly during the three years. The increase has taken place in domestic exports, merchandise, etc., not including gold. A reduction of nearly fifty per cent. has occurred since 1875 in our specie exports, so that we pay less money for foreign goods, we sell more of our own, and the flow of gold, which so long set against us, has now turned in our favor. In a few years, with our present prospects there ought to be a glut of gold in this country, for by no trade process can we get rid of it. Even to-day our specie imports equal our specie exports.

The Keeley Motor.

Mr. Keeley, of motor fame, has not been heard of much for a year past, the last occasion having been when his condenser blew up and knocked the building it was in to smithereens. But his backers still stick to it that he has made a wonderful discovery or invention, or both, and that the industries of the world will in time be revolutionized by his motor. Now it is announced that a successful public test of the motor was given at Philadelphia on Tuesday, August 28th. The valves were all opened to show the machine was clear, air was introduced and the lever was lifted, the first move showing 1750 pounds pressure on the guage to the square inch, and though the chamber for condensing was open the current did not blow out a match held over it. With six and a half pounds air pressure the guage indicated 5200 pounds to the inch, and then 6700 on the third trial. On the fourth it lifted a large lever (weighted) registering 5000 pounds dead weight. Lastly, a five-horse-power engine, with three-quarter inch stroke and twenty-four inch fly-wheel, was driven at 680 revolutions to the minute.

Glad He Won.

Courtney, the winner of the great Saratoga regatta for the championship, an hour or two after he had won the regatta told the following story. "I believed I should win the race, for a day or two before the race a hungry, half-starved kitten came on the piazza where a lot of fellows were sitting, and they made fun of the little thing and drove it down the hill. I went and picked it up and fed it, and the little creature has slept on my bed ever since, sticks close to me and has made great friends. And yesterday another kitten followed a couple of young fellows out from Saratoga and stayed at my headquarters. The colored help all said that it meant good luck, and they hugged and caressed it, and said I would win, sure. Perhaps there was something in it, after all." Humane people, even if they don't care anything about rowing and boat racing, will not regret that the regatta was won by a man who could find time to be kind to a wretched little kitten on the eve of a tough contest that meant money and reputation for him, if he could win it. Glad he won.

State Temperance Camp Meeting.

The New Hampshire State Temperance Camp Meeting, at Wiers Landing, Winnipesaukee Camp Ground, commencing September 4th, will close on the 7th, Friday next. The programme says the first day will be given to the Sons of Temperance, Good Templars, and kindred organizations; the second will be "Woman's Temperance Union and Children's Day;" the third to the "Reform Clubs and Temple of Honor," and the fourth to the Church. Eminent and distinguished representative men and eloquent speakers have been engaged for each day, and the original Virginia Jubilee Singers for Wednesday, the 5th. All temperance organizations, Sabbath schools, churches and workers in the cause are invited to be present and to interest themselves in making the meeting a success. The attractive scenery around the Lake, the distinguished speakers to be present, the extensive accommodations which have been made by the committee and the interest people now have in the subject of temperance, cannot fail to make this one of the most interesting meetings of the season. Arrangements have been made with the several railroads and steamboats for extra trains and largely reduced rates. "Bring your Moody and Sankey Hymn Books, No. 1," says the circular of invitation.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 30.

Kane's rejoinder to Lauston's lofty and abusive denial of complicity in, or guilty knowledge of, Ex-Commissioner Baker's alleged bribe taking, made in yesterday's Republican, contains some highly interesting reading, transcribed from the Departmental records, Kane says, "for the people" who are laboring for a dollar a day to obtain the means, in the way of taxes, wherewith to pay the bills of scores of swell officials and Government clerks who go jaunketing about the country on the pretext of public business, visiting watering places with their families, dressed and decked out "in purple and fine linen," on a generous salary, besides a per diem and ten cents mileage both ways. The following purports to be a true copy of voucher No. 144, dated Sept. 5, 1873, one of several given by Kane, illustrating some of the costs of administering the government, and Lauston's case particularly:

Washington to Philadelphia, 139 miles. Philadelphia to Cape May 82 miles. Cape May to Philadelphia, 82 miles, Philadelphia to Washington 139 miles. Total 442 miles. At ten cents per mile $44.20. Per diem at $4 (two days) $8; total $52.

The actual railroad fare of the entire trip for himself could not have reached $15. This was one of the many similar charges against Lauston investigated by some of the gentlemen of the Interior Department a few months ago,—true reformers, you know,—and in their findings they took occasion to congratulate Mr. Lauston on his "triumphant vindication" from charges, substantially, of profligate extravagance with the tax payers' money. Should any one feel incredulous as to the extent of this abuse, a brief inspection of the inner workings of the Department—the "soft things" being constantly devised by the favorites of rings within rings—would likely be convincing.

Who among your readers, Mr. Editor, is so unsophisticated or "green" as to suppose the efficiency of the life saving service along our coast has been enhanced by the frequent tours of inspection undertaken by heroic officials in the heat of summer, on the inconvenient, shabbily-appointed government vessels, selected, specially fitted up and stocked for such hazardous service? To what extent was the Government benefitted or "reform" advanced by the trip of "Senator Conover and a party of friends" from Florida to Cuba on a Government vessel, at a cost of hundred of dollars, reported the other day as an item of news?

Governor Hubbard with his Texas volunteers had best avoid the Rio Grande border if they would save their skins whole. Hear this Quixotic cavalier colonel of the Mexican service: "To arms, citizens of Mexico! Let us show the citizens of the North that they cannot attack with impunity our liberty and independence."

It is asserted that stupendous jobs are on foot by both lines of China mail steamships, to secure fat subsidies from Congress next winter, and for that purpose lobbies are already in process of formation. It is stated that for the $500,000 paid the Pacific steamship for the ten years ending last year, the government received, all told, about $150,000 for the mail matter transported by it in that time. By all means let us renew the subsidies.

KNOX.

The Eastern War.

The London Times' military correspondent at Bucharest telegraphs as follows: "For the moment interest has concentrated itself again on Plevna, where Osman Pasha is strongly reinforced by men from Suleiman Pasha, and guns from Widden. He is now credited with 200 guns and ought to make a good defence, but it defeated the Turkish loss will be irreparable. In the face of the immensely superior Russian cavalry Osman Pasha's defeat would moreover immediately give the Russian forces enough, even without the coming of the guards, to push again over the Balkans."

Suleiman Pasha telegraphed from Shipka to Constantinople, Thursday: "We continue to blockade the enemy in the pass, and are threatening his retreat by the way of the Gabrova."

The London Standard's correspondent says the losses on both sides at Shipka will reach fully 12,000. The Turks are receiving reinforcements from Batoum and Albania at the rate of 5000 a day. The Russians are also receiving large accessions to their armies.

News and Notes.

The loss of life by the railroad disaster at Four Mile Creek, Iowa, is now put at more than twenty; and twice that number of persons were badly injured.

Wilber F. Swasey, son of the man and woman of that name killed at Salem by the cars, Wednesday evening, died at six o'clock Thursday morning from the injuries he received at the time his parents were killed. This makes four deaths resulting from that accident.

A young girl, beautiful and evidently well connected, died in a New York hospital recently, and an autopsy showed that she was the victim of malpractice. She gave the name of Cora Young, (probably an assumed name,) and said her father was a Boston merchant, and that she had been betrayed and abandoned by her betrothed lover, and did not dare to return home.

The Ladies' Restaurant at the Hotel Devonshire, New York, extends almost across the block, from 42d to 41st streets. Ladies visiting the city for shopping purposes, will find the Devonshire the best place to have their packages sent to, and the best place for lunch or meals.

A new daily newspaper will be born at Washington on September 10, and will be christened the National Union. Ex-Congressman Lynch of Maine is the bold man who is anxious to enrich the graveyard of journalism with another tombstone.

E. L. Stanton, son of the great War Secretary, died on Thursday.

The American House, Boston, in addition to its excellent table, has always had the reputation of being one of the cleanest hotels in the country; but the keen eye of a thorough housekeeper was never more apparent than at the present day.

Business soundings have been taken in St. Louis, Chicago and New York, and they all tell the same story of better times at hand. In each city the merchants and manufacturers say that trade is active and orders numerous, with a better prospect for a larger business than they have seen at any other time since the panic burst on them in 1873.

The Philadelphia Ledger states that of the young people committed to the penitentiary in that city, only one-quarter had ever learned any trade or occupation; the other three-quarters had never learned any. What a significant and most deplorable commentary is this upon the condition of affairs which permits boys and young men to grow up without any training for service, and leaves them in their young manhood without any regular trade or occupation! Three-fourths of these young convicts had learned no handicraft trades or skilled occupations of any kind, but had drifted along, without aim or object in life, until they found themselves among those who call themselves bartenders, boatmen, hucksters, peddlers, teamsters, servants, waiters, and those of "no particular occupation," and thence they drifted still further into voluntary idleness and vice, until they found themselves early in life in the penitentiary.

Boston expects about 30,000 persons to parade in its procession on the 17th of September, when the Army and Navy monument on the Common is to be unveiled.

A prying, gossiping woman in Hermon, Me., the wife of the postmaster of that town, has got herself into trouble. She read a letter written by a man in Bangor to a woman in Hermon, and circulated the contents among the neighbors; as a consequence of which she is now under bonds to appear and answer at the United States Court.

Gen. Dakin of the American team at Wednesday's practice made the highest score that has ever been recorded at Creedmoor, and the highest official score that has ever been made, the total at the three ranges being 215 in a possible 225. His targets showed thirty-six bull's-eyes, eight centres and one inner.

Westen, the pedestrian, has just turned up at Newcastle, England, were he walked 400 miles in five days.

A third satellite of Mars was discovered by Dr. Draper of New York and Professor Holden of Washington, jointly, Aug. 26, at Dr. Draper's private observatory at Hastings on the Hudson.

Ephraim Williams and Charles Johnson got into a quarrel at Southwick, Mass., on Thursday, about a fowl killed by Williams' dog. Williams,—who is only seventeen years old, drew a pistol and shot Johnson dead. The murderer was arrested.

Judge J. D. Miner, the leading lawyer of Cincinnati, dropped dead of heart disease on Thursday.

A gang of tramps on Thursday night gagged, beat, bound, and robbed a telegraph operator at Union Junction, N. J. After they left, the operator got loose and telegraphed for help, and six of the scoundrels were arrested.

Fears are entertained that a division of Prof. Hayden's surveying party has been captured by the Indians under Joseph.

A band of desperadoes at Sandy Hook, Ky., burned half the town, and the post office, on the night of August 22d, in an attempt, to rob the mails. Though the ruffians are well known the authorities are powerless to arrest them.

New Hampshire Items.

The college year at Hanover opened Thursday morning with the service in the chapel, which was draped in black and white, in memory of the late President Smith and Dr. Crosby of the faculty. Eighty students have entered the freshman class in the classical and scientific course, and others are expected.

—Empire City, Kansas, which has been in existence a few weeks, has an opera house, which was "dedicated" on a recent Sunday evening by a minstrel troupe. According to a local critic, all the performers did well; but it seems Miss Avery, who sang "Wipe off Your Chin," "has the most magnificent voice we ever heard on the stage."

PRIVATE THEATRICALS AT RYE BEACH.

Cummings' Hall was well filled on Thursday evening by an interested audience, to witness the rendering of "Wookcock's little game," given by some of the guests at Sawyer's and other houses at Rye. The part of Mr. Woodcock was taken by a gentleman from Portsmouth, who is always successful in this line of acting; the other characters were represented by ladies and gentlemen from New York, Philadelphia, etc. The proceeds were to be used toward the payment of cost of building plank walks from the corner near Cummings' cottage to the sea, and the liberal attendance on the occasion would seem to ensure a generous sum for the purpose. The every hour was enjoyed by every one present. The liberal applause awarded to Mrs. Col. Carver for her natural acting, and the generous floral and other recognitions of the kindness of the ladies in so liberally contributing to the enjoyment of the evening, were pleasant alike to those upon the boards and among the spectators. The plank walk may be regarded as an improvement the success of which is assured.

POLICE COURT.

Friday, August 31st.

Frank Allen (not the Mayor of Cambridge, Mass., but quite another sort of man,) was adjudged guilty of surrounding more fluid than he could well manage in public, and was charged $9.90 for the privilege of listening to a brief temperance lecture, which caused him to almost wish he had kept sober.

"MADE UNANIMOUS."

We think the statement in all our city papers, that the election of several of the new City Officers "was made unanimous," is a mistake or inaccuracy. Ballots only elect, and it is not at all probable that another ballot was taken after an election was declared. We have no objection to any fit election being unanimous, but it is well to have even the newspaper record correct. —Weekly.

The statement that the election of a city officer was "made unanimous" we believe is incorrect, but it was not a mistake of ours, though we were the first to publish it. After Mr. Holmes was declared elected Street Commissioner, he having had a majority of the votes on a joint ballot of the City Councils in convention, an alderman moved that his election "be made unanimous," the motion was seconded and put to the meeting, voted on viva voce, and declared carried. The entry on the city records concerning this action is as follows:

Voted, That the appointment of Joseph R. Holmes be made unanimous.

The General Statutes of the State in relation to cities (Chap. 44, Sec. 3,) say: "The city councils shall annually * * by joint ballot elect a city treasurer and all other subordinate officers who are not * * otherwise appointed by law." That language is explicit enough; the voting must be by ballot; so the viva voce vote of the convention to make Mr. Holmes' election unanimous did not amount to a row of pins. The City Clerk, who is also clerk of the councils when in convention, in making up his record did not write—and probably was very careful not to write—"the election was then made unanimous, by vote of the convention," but simply copied the vote as passed.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

The hand car which some months ago was stolen from the Concord depot in this city, was recently discovered in the river near the railroad at West Epping. The section hands, whose headquarters are at Raymond, got it out. It was injured only by rust.

It may not be generally known that the circulation of business advertisements printed in the form of bank or treasury notes, is a violation of law. But such is the fact; and any person putting into circulation advertisements printed in this form, is liable to a fine of not less than fifty dollars, or to imprisonment in jail not less than ninety days. This provision may be found in chapter 68 of the Acts of 1862.

Laighton Brothers, of the Appledore House, Isles of Shoals, now announce their ability to accommodate boarders, and will make specially favorable rates from now until Sept. 15th. It has not been possible for them to make such an announcement at any previous time this season, as the Appledore has been unusually crowded, notwithstanding its enlargement last winter; the house was filled to overflowing before the guests had fairly commenced arriving at other summer resorts, and as usual the rooms have all been kept filled up to a late date in "the season;" but even at the Appledore the season does not last all the year, and the proprietors now have sufficient room at their disposal to warrant them in saying that they can accommodate all who may call on them between now and the date of the hotel's closing. The finest portion of the year to be in the country or at the sea-side is September, and the fishing season at the Shoals is now at its best.

When you hear a man abusing a newspaper, ask him if he subscribes for it or in any way contributes to its support, and in nine cases out of ten you will find, if you get at the actual truth, that he doesn't.

The seventy-fifth anniversary of the Portsmouth Mechanics' Association occurs this year, this body having been incorporated Nov. 4th, 1802. The semi-centennial was finely celebrated in 1852, Oct. 11th, E. M. Brown being chairman of the committee of arrangements, and Charles W. Brewster orator of the day.

The North Mill-pond was "high" enough, Thursday night. It's offence was rank; it smelt to Market square, and further, for a gentleman of our acquaintance who lives beyond the square from the pond informs us that he was awakened by the horrible stench, and had to shut his chamber window before he could again go to sleep. The two mill-ponds are noble reservoirs of typhoid fever, cholera, etc., as the city will find out to its sorrow, some day.

According to the published schedule of George E. Hanson of this city, druggist, bankrupt, his debts foot up $5322.90. A meeting of the creditors is called for September 18th, at Dover.

The Portsmouth Heavy Artillery have received an invitation from Sawyer Post, G. A. R., of Dover, to participate in the dedication of the soldiers' monument in that city on Sept. 14th.

The testimony in the case of the town of South Hampton vs. Fowler, which was brought to try the question of the title to certain beach land, and has been heard by Hon. C. W. Stanley as referee, was concluded Thursday evening, and the court adjourned to allow counsel time to prepare arguments.

Newell Dow, Jr., of Seabrook, a man about fifty years of age, committed suicide on Friday morning by hanging himself in the woods about a mile from Seabrook depot. He left home at about four o'clock, saying that he was going to hire another house, and was found a few hours later by a young woman hanging to a tree, dead. Dow was poor and had a wife and four children to support, and being unable to obtain work was probably discouraged, which drove him to take his life.

The Band of Hope have a public service every Saturday afternoon at three o'clock, at Mechanics' Hall. All are welcomed to hear the children.

Steamer Plymouth Rock took a party of over 1200 persons from Boston to the Shoals on Thursday.

The Lane Rifles of Candia and the City Guard of this city go into camp at Newcastle to-day, to remain for a week.

Steamer Katahdin will leave Long wharf, foot of Court street, for Boston, at about three o'clock on the afternoon of Sunday, Sept. 2, should the weather be propitious. Fare, one dollar. Tickets may be obtained at Wm. R. Preston's drug store, Congress Block.

The Court street (Christian) church will be re-opened to-morrow. Preaching at 10:30 A. M.; Sabbath school at 2:45 P. M.; Prayer Meeting in the evening at half-past seven o'clock.

The Bow Mission Service will be resumed to-morrow afternoon in Mechanics' Hall. This service is held at 4:15, an hour at which it can interfere with no other service in the city; it is unsectarian, and free to all, the poor being especially invited.

Rev. J. L. Harrison, of Milford, and others, will address the Reform Club at Mechanics' Hall in the evening. A Praise Service will precede the addresses, commencing at 7:30. Collection to defray expenses.

—One of those excrescences on life—a female slanderer—went into a neighbor's house the other morning with her tongue loaded with new venom. There were several women present, and the slanderer's eyes glistened in anticipation. Throwing herself in a chair, she sighed and said: "One half the world don't know how the other half lives." "That aint your fault," quietly observed one of the company. The slanderer turned yellow.

—Two edible dogs have just arrived at Philadelphia from China. If the Quaker palate hankers after such delicacies, we shall find no fault. Beef and mutton will do for us a while longer, however.

—A photographer says that at eighteen a girl will sit twelve times for a photograph, and then be dissatisfied. At forty the same person will sit once and take the picture, even if the artist points out three or four defects.

—A woman is far more sensitive than a man. She has finer feelings and a more delicate mind. There are a very few men who realize this, and in consequence woman is made to endure much unnecessary suffering. One of our merchants was going to church with his wife on Sunday morning, when she suddenly stopped, and put her hand to her head. "What's the matter?" he asked, startled by the look on her face. "Oh! I have got on my brown hat." "Eh?" ejaculated the astonished man. She burst into tears. "Why, Martha, what is the matter with you?" he demanded. "Don't you see what is the matter?" she returned in a sobbing voice. "I've got on my brown hat with my striped silk. Oh, what will people say?"

—A woman in Maine went to church without her bonnet on, and several papers are making a great fuss over it. We dare say she wore the bonnet, but it got hidden behind one of her ears.—Rochester Democrat.

—A man took his clock to a Port Chester clock repairer, and asked him, "What time is it when this timepiece strikes thirteen times?" "Time it's repaired," replied the man of time.

That Insidious Foe to Health,

An atmosphere impregnated with the seeds of malaria, is rendered harmless by the timely use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters; and if a resort to this benign protective agent has unwisely been deferred until the fever fits have developed, it will have the effect of checking them and preventing their return. This statement is corroborated by thousands who have tried this medicine for fever and ague and bilious remittent fever, besides affections of the stomach, liver and bowels peculiarly rife in malarious localities. Throughout the West, indeed in every part of the American continent where malaria prevails, it is the accepted specific. Nor is its area of its usefulness circumscribed by the limits of the United States, since it is widely used in South America, Mexico, Australia, and elsewhere.

Bad specks on the teeth are almost as unpleasant as bad specs in the money market. To prevent them or to get rid of them, use Sozodont. It is literally a specific for every blemish that disfigures the teeth, and whitens them without endangering the enamel.

It is a Revelation of Struggles and Triumphs of the most renowned Detectives on the Globe for the past Twenty-five years. It traces out the most noted Bank Robbers, Scientific Thieves, Lottery Men, Counterfeit Money Dealers, Pick-pockets, Sharks and Swindlers of all kinds upon the public. In this book are disclosed some of the most marked instances of diabolical vengeance, and deepiaid plans of mischief and outrage ever recorded by pen or pencil, together with the modes by which they were traced out, and the offending actors duly punished. This is a capital opportunity for smart and energetic men and women. The book is meeting with astonishing success. Agents are averaging from 40 to 60 orders per week. To those who apply early for Agencies, extraordinary terms will be given and exclusive territory guaranteed. For terms address

Ayer's Cathartic Pills

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Headache, Erysipelas, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of everybody, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skilful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured a wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and loss in time is saved by this early protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's R. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 22d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters procure the Yellow Centaur Liniment sooner for any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Liniments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 DEY ST., NEW YORK.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pilcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gripes nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimsch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pilcher, M. D. nov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. nov1

They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Conditior Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 5 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels have suffered all the pain I could endure and live. have been confined to my room for the 2 years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.00.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 8th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and fourty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I have the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians and spent a small fortune in money. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to decide why to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Lover Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

DR. QUAIN'S MAGIC CONDITION PILLS are put up only by the AMERICAN MEDICINE CO. Manchester, N. H., THOMAS W. LANE, Agent.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative as could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before it was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the inspiriting climate of New England!

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
USE
Bachman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Lungs, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leuchorrhea arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Rockingham County Mail Routes.

For the information of our readers we publish a list of the mail routes in this county, with the names of the contractors, their residences and the amount of pay received by them per annum from the government.

The following contracts are from July 1, 1877, and are for four years:

From Windham Depot, by Golden Brook Mills to Lowell, Mass., fifteen miles and back, six times a week to Golden Brook Mills, and three times a week for the residue, at $342 per annum. Wells A. Stoddard, Camden, N. Y., contractor.

From North Salem by Salem to Salem Depot, five and one-half miles and back, six times a week to Salem, and twelve times a week for the rest, at $262 per annum. Wells A. Stoddard, Camden, N. Y., contractor.

From West Hampstead by Hampstead to Atkinson Depot, eight and one-half miles and back, six times a week, for $342 per annum. Wells A. Stoddard, Camden, N. Y., contractor.

From Chester by East Derry and Derry to Derry Depot, eight and one-half miles and back, six times a week to East Derry and twelve times a week for the rest, for $199 per annum. David L. Batchelder, Chester, N. H., contractor.

From Londonderry to Derry Depot, three miles and back, six times a week, for $147 per annum. John H. Warren, Albany, Wisconsin, contractor.

From Plaistow by East Hampstead and Danville to Sandown, ten miles and back, six times a week, for $382 per annum. Wells A. Stoddard, Camden, N. Y., contractor.

From Exeter by Brentwood to Fremont, twelve miles and back, three times a week for $217 per annum. John H. Warren, Albany, Wisconsin, contractor.

From Kingston to East Kingston, three miles and back, six times a week, for $98 per annum. Walter S. Clark, Kingston, N. H., contractor.

From Seabrook to South Seabrook, four miles and back, three times a week, for $97 per annum. John H. Warren, Albany, Wisconsin, contractor.

From Greenland Depot to Rye, two and one-half miles and back, six times a week, for $183 per annum. Wm. C. Walker, Rye, N. H., contractor.

From Epsom by Northwood and Nottingham post offices to South Lee, twenty miles and back, six times a week to East Northwood and three times a week for the rest, for $572 per annum. Wells A. Stoddard, Camden, N. Y., contractor.

From Candia by Candia Village, South Deerfield and Deerfield Centre to Deerfield, ten miles and back, six times a week, for $342 per annum. Wells A. Stoddard, Camden, N. Y., contractor.

From Exeter by Kensington to Amesbury, Mass., ten miles and back, six times a week, for $423.88 per annum. P. T. Keene, Washington, D. C., contractor.

The following are from September 1, 1877, and are for four years:

From Newcastle to Portsmouth, two and one-half miles and back, six times a week, for $140 per annum. W. F. McCay, Washington, D. C., contractor.

From Newington to Portsmouth, five miles and back, two times a week, for $92.88 per annum. A. E. Boone, Washington, D. C., contractor.

From Rye Beach to North Hampton, three and three-fourths miles and back, twelve times a week from June 1 to September 1, and six times a week for the residue, for $247 per annum. J. L. Drake, Effingham Centre, N. H., contractor.

The Boston and Maine railroad carries the mails between Atkinson, Plaistow, Newton, East Kingston, Exeter, South Newmarket and Newmarket, and is paid $193.25 per mile yearly for the distance carried, or about $4831 for the line within Rockingham county.

The Eastern railroad carries the mail between Seabrook, Hampton, Hampton Falls, North Hampton, Greenland and Portsmouth, and is paid $295 per mile yearly for the distance carried, or $4720 in the county.

The Concord and Portsmouth railroad carries the mail between Auburn, Candia, Raymond, Epping, South Newmarket Junction, Greenland and Portsmouth, and is paid $60 per mile yearly, or $2100 in the county.

The Manchester and Lawrence railroad carries the mails between Salem, Windham, Derry, Londonderry and Manchester and receives $163 per mile yearly, or about $3700 in the county.

The Nashua and Rochester railroad carries the mails between Windham, Hampstead, Sandown, Fremont and Epping, and is paid $81 per mile yearly, or about $2100 in the county.

The amount paid to railroads is fixed by schedule rates of so much per hundred pounds per mile carried, while other mail contracts are let to the lowest bidder. It will be seen that of the sixteen mail routes, other than railroads enumerated, that only three are let to residents of Rockingham county, while twelve belong to New York and Wisconsin contractors, who sublet them to local sub-contractors.—Exeter News-Letter.

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1877.

The Bonanza Kings.

Flood, O'Brien, Mackey and Fair, the owners of the Comstock (Nevada) mines, have made over fifty millions of dollars by selling stocks at high prices, and then depressing the market and re-purchasing at one-sixth the price they sold at. Their dividends from the Consolidated Virginia and California mines have amounted to forty millions, and they own thirty-three millions of dollars' worth of tailings at their mills, to be worked after their present bonanzas are exhausted. They have $8,000,000 invested in mills which pay them a net profit of $200,000 per month. Their profits from the sale of lumber to the Comstock mines are $400,000 per month. They own exclusively the Bank of Nevada, with a paid-up capital of $10,000,000, and are taking out $3,000,000 a month from their bonanza mines, of which they get two-thirds. They own also the controlling interest in eight other of the best mines on the Comstock Lode, in any one of which they are liable to strike a bonanza any day. Their legitimate income, aside from speculations, is $20,000,000 annually, their total income probably being double that amount. They are estimated to be worth $250,000,000, and in ten years should their good luck continue, will be the richest firm on earth. Two of them were saloon keepers five years ago.

The Eastern War.

The Russians report important successes near Sukum Kaleh, in Asia Minor.

The Turks under Mehemet Ali Pasha on Thursday attacked the Russians along the line of the river Lom, and after nine hours' fighting drove them from all their positions, captured one gun and 2900 rifles, and killed and wounded 4000 Russians, the Turks losing 3000. Prince Charles of Roumania has been appointed commander in chief of the Roumanian and Russian forces comprising the Western detachment, with the Russian general Stoleff as chief of staff.

Constantinople despatches on Friday announced the capture of the Shipka Pass by the Turks.

News and Notes.

Mrs. Tatro of Washinton, D. C., who is locally notable as the mother of twenty-five children, it appears is only one of an equally fecund family. Her father's first wife bore him twenty-one children and his second wife five. One of her sisters is the mother of ten children and a brother is father of sixteen. The other brothers and sisters are dead. One of her daughters has borne fourteen children, another ten and a third seven. They tell the story, also, of one of her aunts that, in the first three years after her marriage, which was at the age of fifty, she gave birth to three sets of triplets. Sixteen of Mrs. Tatro's twenty-five children are now living, the youngest six years old, the oldest thirty-seven.

The New York Times is moved to remark that had Raphael Semmes followed the trade of piracy against a less generous people he would have died twelve years ago. But there is this to be remembered in favor of Semmes: That he was a gallant sailor and a brave man; and, as the New York Times further observes, "that he never esteemed it to be the duty of a Southern 'patriot' to spurn the clemency and revile the motives of a long-suffering power, which permitted him to die in his bed."

Various reports have been started in newspapers concerning the course that the Government will take in regard to the suits pending against the Mormons in Utah Territory, now that Brigham Young is dead. It is officially stated that no instructions have been sent to District-Attorney Howard to discontinue these suits, nor will any such be given him. On the contrary, he will vigorously prosecute all cases growing out of the Mountain Meadow massacre, in which advices received from Salt Lake City say he is making rapid progress in procuring witnesses and testimony.

A Texas paper says that Captain R. King, of Santa Gertrudes, is making an addition of sixty-three miles to his pasture fence, and will have inclosed altogether 160,000 acres of land.

A Washington despatch says serious apprehension is felt by the Government that the reappearance of Sitting Bull and his band south of the Canadian border is part of a combined movement on the part of Sitting Bull and Chief Joseph to join their forces and conduct the war on a larger scale. It is the opinion of the War Department that, by means of Indian runners, the two hostile bands of Indians have been in constant communication, and that the insufficiency of the military forces operating against Joseph has been reported to Sitting Bull, and that in view of this fact they propose to seize their opportunity and make a general war upon the Indian frontiers.

Ex-President Grant was presented with the freedom of the city of Edinburgh, Scotland, on Friday, and made a speech. Gen. Grant was received with great enthusiasm along the Midland Railway, on his way to Edinburgh.

Russell Harger, an inoffensive old man of Birmingham, N. Y., seventy-five years old, was tarred and feathered on the night of Aug. 21st by two ruffians. He was found next day, insane from terror and suffering, and was kept in a filthy lockup for four days by the authorities, without any attempt being made to cleanse him of the tar, feathers, sand and sticks with which he was covered from head to foot; and at the end of that time a humane detective worked seven hours upon the poor old creature, without pay, to get off the tar.

The New York Sun sent a reporter to Birmingham to write up the case, and he (with the detective) soon traced the crime to two well known roughs, and they were arrested. Harger's reason is hopelessly gone; he is a carpenter by trade, and has always supported himself until now.

Capt. Erskine, of Her Majesty's ship Eclipse, who has been endeavoring to capture one Benoit and his brothers, the murderers of Capt. Rideout and a crew of six men, who were shipwrecked near Bonnebry, Newfoundland, last year, has succeeded in arresting three of the brothers. Two of them have been placed in jail at Halifax, and the vessel has sailed again for the locality of the murder in search of the principal criminal. Benoit's daughter, who was instrumental in the capture, was on board the war vessel, and is retained as a witness.

New Hampshire Items.

Hon. Ira Cross is at present driving business at Nashua and has all he can attend to. He manufactures five hundred quilts per day and employs sixty hands.

Theodore Tilton will make his appearance at Smyth's Opera House, Manchester, on the evening of Oct. 15, and will deliver a new lecture.

Joseph Libby, an old and respected citizen of Gilford, died at that place on the 29 ult., aged 86. He was a soldier of the war of 1812, having been a sergeant in Capt. Lemuel B. Mason's company. Mr. Libby was born in Rye and moved to Gilford when only eight years old, where he has resided ever since, greatly respected all who knew him.

John W. Chapman died at his home in Hill, Aug. 29th, at the age of 60. He represented his town in the Legislature of 1876, but was not anxious for public office. He leaves a widow and two sons.

The board of trustees of Dartmouth College have voted to have but three terms per year, the first lasting till Thanksgiving, followed by a vacation of three weeks; the second lasting ten weeks, followed by a vacation of two weeks, and the third lasting till the last Thursday in June. This new arrangement increases the number of weeks in the college year.

While workmen were unloading a large schooner at Trefethen's wharf, Dover, Friday morning, a barrel of cement fell from a stage back into the hold of the vessel, and struck one of the men, E. C. Mahar, on the forehead, and knocked him senseless. His nose was broken, his cheek torn away from underneath the eye, in a large mass, and the flesh was stripped from the forehead, exposing the skull bones to a considerable extent. It is not unlikely that he will lose the sight of the right eye.

The National Sunday-school Temperance Society will hold its sixth annual session in Dover on the 12th of September. The Society was organized Feb. 5, 1872, since which time it has interested 2011 Sunday-schools in the work. Rev. G. B. Spaulding of Dover takes the place of Rev. Elisha Adams, D. D., of Concord, as President of the Society.

A Queen Adventuress.

A Camden, N. J., police-court trial recently revealed some passages in the life of Mrs. Anna Wallingford that fairly entitle her to be styled a queen among adventuresses. The case was a trumped-up charge of theft against a formerly well-to-do shoe-dealer of that city, whom she had lured away from his family and ruined, and whose final offense was that he had tried to break away from her wiles. The woman originally came from Dalton, Ga., and her maiden name is believed to have been Anna Claudine Whittemore. She figured extensively in Kansas, especially at Atchison and Leavenworth, where she lived with a man named Collier. It is believed that she was married secretly to Lieutenant Tiffany, a son of Rev. Dr. Tiffany of the Metropolitan Methodist church of Washington, D. C., in St. Louis. She was also married to Lieutenant D. W. Wallingford of the regular army, who was dismissed from the service for conduct unbecoming an officer. Probably one of Mrs. Wallingford's most amusing escapades was with the late democratic candidate for the Presidency, Hon. Samuel J. Tilden, at Cape May in 1875. Mrs. Wallingford was there, and was spoken of as a dashing and handsome young widow. She wore an attractive bathing suit, with knee-breeches and striped stockings. Her form was well displayed, and excited considerable admiration among the gentlemen, among whom was the bachelor candidate for President. The woman lost no opportunity to ingratiate herself with Governor Tilden, and, it is believed, was the recipient of numerous favors at his hands, causing considerable talk. She also has a claim for $800,000 against the Government, now pending in the Court of Claims, for property said to have been destroyed at Dalton, Ga., during the war, which she says belonged to her. To back up this are letters from General Steadman and others, which are genuine, but as to how she obtained possession of them is another matter. Mrs. Wallingford-Collier-Tiffany is about thirty-five or forty years of age, a demi-blonde, with blue eyes, fine figure, and a glib tongue, with a truly southern accent. While agreeable in her manners, she apes refinement, and, being illiterate, exposes her true character.

—A loan some place—A pawnbroker's shop.

—A Philadelphia clairvoyant tells fortunes for five cents per fortune, and a man who can't have a new and different fortune told him every day in the week is poor indeed.

—The Salt Lake Herald prints a card of a man who publicly "swears off" drinking, and offers a handsome reward to the first man who sees him quaff an intoxicating beverage.

—Puffing and blowing are often considered as synonymous terms. You will discover a difference, however, if instead of puffing a man up, you should blow him up.

—Mrs. Haynes of Allen County, Ky., recently gave birth to four children, two boys and two girls, which weighed twenty-four pounds in the aggregate, and were all at last accounts as well as could be expected.

—Rev. J. C. Fletcher, of Indianapolis, says that he met Captain Costentenus, Barnum's tattooed man, in Italy, where the captain told him that he had himself tattooed expressly for the show business. Mr. Fletcher says that the man is not a Greek, but an Italian.

—The Quebec correspondent of the Philadelphia Press writes as follows: "The young ladies of Quebec are considered the best steppers in Canada. Their beauty is of the Diana, rather than of the Venus de Medicis type. They are said to have very fine calves, a statement that no one who saw them running up and down the long flights of steps of 'break-neck stairs,' leading from the lower to the upper town, could doubt, so they expose them in the most careless and provoking manner, as if conscious of their innocence. Any one who saw them from a favorite point of view passing up and down those steps and stairs by the hour, laughing and chatting with sparkling eyes and animated gestures, would hardly believe that the English could have attempted to mob the beautiful and accomplished Madame Recamier as she sauntered up Rotten Row, in London, with her skirt looped up on one side of the knee so as to expose the garter, a near approach to the garb of the Ephesian huntress."

THE MILL-POND NUISANCE.

Mr. Editor:—I notice that all the newspapers urge upon the proper authorities the necessity of abating the nuisances created in the mill-ponds. Now who is to take the initiative steps in the matter? The ordinance creating a Board of Health, provides that they (the Board of Health) shall cause all nuisances, sources of filth and causes of sickness to be removed, destroyed or prevented, as the case may require, conformably to the city ordinances and laws of the State. Now it seems that the Board of Health can and should, either by their own power or upon complaint to the city authorities, proceed in this business. If we are to be strangled in red tape let us know it, but if we have among our many officials any one whose business it is to move in the matter of vital importance, let him not only speak, but act.

A SUFFERER.

[Note. The Journal of last week urges the immediate dredging of the big cesspools called by courtesy the North and South millponds, as a temporary source of relief from the offensive smells that arise from them, and an indispensable sanitary measure,—such dredging to be followed by the adoption of some modern and efficient system of drainage for the city, whereby malaria will not be treasured up in reservoirs to overwhelm us with pestilence at some future day.

The Times of Friday evening prints a communication earnestly beseeching the city authorities to do something toward ridding the city of the pestilential air which we have to breath from winter to winter again. The writer plaintively asks: "How long, O City Fathers, how long will you suffer it? You pass ordinances and appoint health officers, and still the inhabitants of Portsmouth are compelled to inhale the sickening, unhealthy odors of filthy mill-ponds, soap factories and bogholes. If cleanliness is next to godliness, most surely our city is far from the kingdom. Whether the wind blows from the west, from the north or from the south, it is laden with stench from these places of corruption."

That something should be done, and at once, is certain. The hot, moist weather of the past two weeks has caused the ponds to send out odors that are sickeningly disgusting, and that must be unhealthy in the extreme; and the physicians of the city assert that the unusual prevalence of disease in some parts of the city for several weeks past is largely if not wholly owing to a neglect of sanitary precautions—to the miasm from the millponds, and from the filthy hog-pens and privies which in many sections poison what little breathable air the millponds have left for the wretched inhabitants to live on. This millpond nuisance was intolerable years ago, and has been getting worse ever since; and the only wonder is—not that a few innocent lives have occasionally been sacrificed to the god of filth, but that the city's population has not long ere this been decimated by a pestilence.—Ed.]

The foregoing was in type on Saturday afternoon; and on taking up the Times in the evening we found a communication signed "Health Com.," in answer to the one of the previous day. In this answer the writer says: "That the complaint of 'Citizen' is well-founded there is no doubt. Of the exceedingly filthy and unsanitary condition of the ponds and coves of the city, there can be no question; and I have no doubt that when the right combination of meteorological conditions occur,—such as a long term of continued high temperature with a low state of the barometer and the germs of contagious matter well disseminated,—there will be an epidemic such as this town has never seen. I am not sure that we are not on the eve of it even now." The writer further says that "there is law and ordinance governing the location of slaughter-houses, soap-factories, privies, sewers, etc., forbidding the location of any such establishment over either of the millponds or over any creek or cove leading thereto," but that the city permits this law to be violated by any one at will; and he closes as follows: "Much more, very much more might be said on this question; but a city which expects first-class sanitary regulations and conditions without a corresponding outlay will be disappointed, and ultimately chagrined, as 'Citizen' says, by seeing our beautiful city deserted and pleasure seekers pass us as they would a pest house."

POLICE COURT.

Saturday, September 1st.

Cyrus E. Smith and Thomas Collins were each charged $8, costs $6.90, for one drunk apiece. Mr. Smith paid his $9.90, but Thom Collins went to Brentwood. The regular market price of drunks in this city is now $9.90 each, an advance of $1.86 over the old price, which was $8.04.

In the afternoon Joseph Jackson was arraigned for drunkenness, and the Judge made the usual remark to him about $9.90.

Ellen Bartelle acknowledged having committed an assault on Ellen Harrington, but pleaded extenuating circumstances. Fined $1, costs $6.90,—cheaper than a drunk.

WHAT IS IT?

The Journal of last week says: "A correspondent desires to 'know the name of the bird whose notes in the deep woods have such a metallic ring, sounding much like throwing a steel ramrod into the barrel of a gun.' He is seen in this vicinity by observing people, along the sides of roadways through the woods, is of a reddish brown, rather slender make, and is uniformly on a dead branch or broken limb." That may be a very good description of the bird, whose song, always heard in the depths of the woods, and generally in the evening of hot days, is singularly musical and melancholy; but it does not give his name. When we were twenty years or more younger than we are now we often chased his notes for many a mile through the woods at nightfall, but never managed to get a sight of the songster. What is the name of the bird, anyway?

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

The public schools begin the fall term to-day.

Candidates for admission to the High School are notified to present themselves for examination at the school building this morning at eight o'clock.

Morse & Ilsley will sell by auction today, on the premises, commencing at eleven o'clock, all the right of J. C. Carr in certain valuable lots of real estate; also several promissory notes, and one mortgage. See advertisement.

The hay-fever sufferers report that the type is far milder this season than usual.

The Eastern Railroad Company on Saturday paid one and three-fourths per cent. on $12,545,000 of their bonds, amounting to $164,436 as well as on $3,149,500 of their sterling bonds held abroad.

In an advertisement in the Boston papers of last week announcing a Sunday trip of a steamboat from Boston to this city, occurs the following beautiful language: "She will reach Portsmouth between two and three o'clock, and will remain there for the space of three-quarters of an hour, thus giving passengers an opportunity to take a short stroll about this fine old town, a goodly portion of which once bore the pretty, descriptive name of Strawberry Bank. On the opposite shore, occupying a broad area upon Baker's Island, may be seen the Kittery Navy Yard. Here, beneath spacious and imposing buildings, are constructed those huge 'leviathans' that, in proud defiance of opposing winds, trample over the waves of the ocean, and sweep around the globe to bear a nation's thunder; carrying that radiant ensign—so glorious in its stripes of royal red, so beautiful in its star-lit field of blue—which, with its freshly-brightened folds, is 'known and honored' in every clime under heaven, as, in living truth, the Banner of the Free."

Quite a number of Portsmouth's young people went to Dover (mostly by couples) in carriages on Friday evening, by invitation of the Dover High School Association, to attend the eighth annual reunion of the Association in the Dover City Hall. The programme was as follows: Invocation, Rev. C. W. Allen; Music; Oration by J. Herbert Hutchins, class of '69; Trio, "The Mariners," Miss Helen Everett, Mr. J. B. Whitehead, Mr. D. W. Taylor; Poem by Miss Lydia A. Drew, class of '74; La Concerte, Reinwald & Taylor's Orchestra; Class Meetings; Promenade and Dancing. Matthew H. Lothrop was chosen President of the Association for the ensuing year. The Portsmouth delegation report most courteous attention from the Dover folks, and a most enjoyable time. Dancing must have been kept up till a pretty late hour, judging from the time at which the first couple returning reached this city, which was about half-past three o'clock; but probably they didn't drive very fast on the way home.

"A new broom sweeps clean." So thought the sidewalk committee in front of the City Hall, on Saturday, when they witnessed City Marshal Entwistle utilizing his lodgers in cleaning the walks and grounds about the City Hall, and putting everything there in fine condition for Sunday morning.

Vick's Floral Guide for the last quarter of 1877 is received. On the first of January, 1878, the magazine will be changed from a quarterly to a monthly; the name also will be changed to Vick's Illustrated Monthly. Subscription price, $1.25 per year. James Vick, Pub., Rochester, N. Y.

The fourteenth annual meeting of the Hedding Camp-Meeting Association was held in the Portsmouth tent on the camp ground at Epping, on the evening of Aug. 30th, and the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, Dr. Pike; Secretary, A. C. Cault; Treasurer, Stephen W. Clarke of this city. The camp meeting closed on Friday.

The Lane Rifles, of Candia, and the Portsmouth City Guards, were to have gone into camp together at Newcastle on Saturday afternoon, to remain a week; but the Rifles not arriving the Guards concluded to go it alone, and in the early evening marched down to the spirit stirring strains of a drum corps of one. They turned out in good numbers, and made a soldierly appearance in their neat and serviceable regulation army uniforms. The captain and several members of the Candia company are with the Guards at their camp, though the former company as an organization did not put in an appearance.

It seems that this action [South Hampton vs. Fowler] is to recover a tract of land on the west side of Hampton river, bounded on the ocean. South Hampton ceded its territory to Seabrook, reserving this strip near the sea. It is said that all the land along the shore of Salisbury is held under the same title as this. The question involved affects the title to property daily growing more valuable, and this action is defended, in part, by others having similar interest in contiguous lands. The original title, under which the defendants hold, is claimed to have been vested in one Getchell about two centuries since, to have been in his hands and not in the town subsequently. —Post.

The Rockingham Association of Universalists are to hold their sessions in the church in this city on the 12th and 13th.

Lieut. Comdr. Mortimer L. Johnson, attached to the U. S. receiving ship Wabash, at Boston, has been granted leave of absence for three weeks from the 3d inst.

Steamer Katahdin of Sanford's Independent Line of Boston, arrived in this city Sunday afternoon with about 1200 excursionists, stopping about an hour.

WRECK.

Brig Clara B. Adams, of Lubec, Me., laden with between five and six hundred tons of coal and drawing sixteen feet of water, attempted to work up to her discharging berth from the lower harbor on Saturday afternoon, on the last of the flood, the wind being very light from the southwest at that time. The pilot, we are informed, was very desirous of having the captain take a tug, and the Clara Bateman twice tried to get a job at the brig, but the captain of the latter refused., All went well on the passage up until the brig got nearly up to the stone beacon, where she misstayed, and the tide swept her on the ledge just east of the beacon. The Clara Bateman was sent fort but her fires having been drawn could not go, and the Major, which had just returned from her trip to the Shoals, went to her assistance, but after several attempts to haul her off, the tide having fallen some, gave it up. The brig now lies in a bad position at low water, and has strained badly and filled. Workmen were at once set at work discharging her cargo, and from present appearances the larger part of it will have to be removed before she can be floated off.

—The King of Italy is hunting chamois on the Alps, where he leads a trapper's life. He rises early, and the frugality of his table often forces wry faces from the gentlemen of his suite. There is rarely anything seen on the royal table except roast meats, a homely haricot of mutton, Bordeaux and Macon wine. The King knows his life depends upon his taking exercise. He is very stout. His neck is unusually thick, and his physicians advise him to hunt, as the exercise best adapted to avert apoplexy from him. He outwalks the best walker, and is never tired. He wears baggy trousers of velvet, roundabout of the same material, and a Tyrol hat.

That Insidious Foe to Health,

An atmosphere impregnated with the seeds of malaria, is rendered harmless by the timely use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters; and if a resort to this benign protective agent has unwisely been deferred until the fever fits have developed, it will have the effect of checking them and preventing their return. This statement is corroborated by thousands who have tried this medicine for fever and ague and billious remittent fever, besides affections of the stomach, liver and bowels peculiarly rife in malarious localities. Throughout the West, indeed in every part of the American continent where malaria prevails, it is the accepted specific. Nor is the area of its usefulness circumscribed by the limits of the United States, since it is widely used in South American, Mexico, Australia, and elsewhere.

Bad Specks.

Bad specks on the teeth are almost as unpleasant as bad specs in the money market. To prevent them or to get rid of them, use Sozodont. It is literally a specific for every blemish that disfigures the teeth, and whitens them without endangering the enamel.

The great American conjunctive —— Spalding's Glue.

THE NEW TOWN HALL AT AYER. This elegant structure is now complete. In beauty of design it surpasses anything of the kind in the State. Constructed of brick and dark marble, it is as permanent as it is charming. The English architects have adorned it in subdued colors, which please without tiring the eye. Dr. J. C. Ayer built and gave it to the town in acknowledgement of the distinction they conferred upon him in taking his name. Although it is a generous gift, still the hearty good wishes of a whole people are of greater value, and the generous donor has doubtless secured them.—Groton (Mass.) Journal.

The city of Paris, crippled with its load of debt, revived its custom of drawing a regular lottery as an easy way of obtaining money. The State of Louisiana Lottery Company has furnished the funds to maintain the celebrated Charity Hospital in New Orleans, and give free schools and colleges, open to white and black. The reader who has a speculative turn of mind can write to M. A. Dauphin, P. O. Box 692, New Orleans, La., for tickets in the next drawing, or any information.—See advertisement.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever proved so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as

Ayer's Cherry Pectoral.

It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvelous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has so nearly robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded, if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Lightning's Terrors.

To reassure the timid and nervous in this season of thunder-storms, some calculations and directions for security, which, from the frequent occurrence and unusual severity of these storms, might not be unacceptable to some of our readers, are given. There are 70,000 chances to one against an individual's being killed in this way in the whole year. But as there are perhaps ten of these storms in a season, the chance of being killed is as 700,000 to one, in any one storm. At the worst, there seems to be half a million chances against a timid lady's having her terrors realized, according to the doctrine of chances. If she lies down in her fright, as she is likely to do, on either a feather bed or a hair mattress, these chances in her favor are multiplied to at least a million. Another consolation is that she has little to apprehend from a flash of lightning which she has leisure to see. As light travels 227,260 miles in a second, and sound only 1,142 feet in the same time, you may easily compute the distance of the electric discharge. If 4.62 seconds, or six beats of the pulse, elapse between the lightning and the thunder, the discharge is a mile off. To guard against possible damage, on its near approach, you may insulate your bed or chair by putting their legs on glass. Feathers and hair afford great security. There is also less danger after the rain has begun to fall copiously than before, because a moist atmosphere serves as a conductor for the electric fluid, diffusing it and conveying it to the earth. A man who is wet, being a better conductor than a tree which cannot be so thoroughly wetted, ought not to stand under one, and animals, on account of the moisture of their bodies, are always better conductors than trees. But though wrong to stand near a tree, you will be very safe a little beyond the extent of its branches—a position which ought to be chosen, as the higher object will take the lightning first—or you might stand on dry wood, wool or silk. The middle of a room is safer than near a partition, and this, than near an exterior wall. A building is a better protection than a tree; but a barn or stable containing wet grain or hay is worse than an open field. Sitting on horseback, or in a carriage, is dangerous. To overcome excessive alarm at lightning not only conduces to comfort, but enables one to contemplate at ease by far the most sublime spectacle of nature.—Exchange.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been say thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff-joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 25d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment. White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. (nov1

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colics, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. (nov1

The Wonderful Remedy for Liver Complaint, Billiousness Dyspepsia, Constipation, Neuralgia, Rheumatism, Headache, Kidney Complaint, Nervousness, Scrofula, Piles, and all diseases arising from a bad state of the Blood!

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the seat of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well and Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

WEST LEBANON, ME., Feb. 22, 1

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I have been sick for 7 years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels, have suffered all the pain I could endure and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I eat well, I can sleep and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 23d of their wonderful effects. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shall continue taking them for some time to come.

Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

WEST LEBANON, ME., June 1, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.

JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What did they him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story, but I care not for that, I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried all I could hear of, many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have received no benefit to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been travelling and visiting Hot Springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins County, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend these Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative he could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before he was satisfied that the Materia Medica could add nothing in its favor.

Is the ultima thule of Medical Discovery.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Lipkovice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the humid trying climate of New England.

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Diphtheria,

Asthma, etc.,

USE

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,
For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the Iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Scrofula and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

A Big Farm.

A friend in Geneva, Ill., writes us that he has heard a great deal about the "Dalrymple farm," near Fargo, and has also seen many contradictory statements about the size of the farm and the amount in wheat this year, and asks us to give him "a bill of particulars." For the benefit of our correspondent, and others who may be interested in large farming operations, we will state that what is called the "Dalrymple farm" is a tract of about 11,000 acres of land near Casselton, twenty miles west of Fargo, on the line of the Northern Pacific Railroad. It is owned by George W. Cass and P. B Cheney, of New York, and Oliver Dalrymple, the "wheat king of Minnesota," as he is termed. Twelve hundred acres were broken in 1865 and sowed to wheat last year. This year there are 4,000 acres in wheat—and a splendid crop it is, too—and 3,000 acres additional were broken this season for seeding next year. Mr. Dalrymple also owns a half interest in what is known as the "Grandin farm," a tract of 40,000 acres just north of Elm River, in Trail County, D. T., thirty-five miles north of Fargo. The other owners are the Grandin Brothers, bankers of Tidioute, Pa. On this farm there are 3,500 acres in wheat this year, and some 3,000 acres broken for next year. To harvest this crop of 7,500 acres on the two places, it required forty-two self-binding reapers, 225 horses and mules and 150 men. Nine steam threshers, each with a capacity of 1,000 bushels per day, are now at work threshing the grain.

In addition to his interest in these two immense farms, Mr. Dalrymple owns 2,000 acres of land in Cottage Grove, Minn., near St. Paul, 1,500 acres of which is in wheat—so that either as sole or half owner, Mr. Dalrymple is interested in 9,000 acres of wheat this year, which will be increased to 15,000 acres next year.

We may add that it is the intention of the owners of these two huge farms to break on an average about 5,000 acres each year, until the whole 51,000 acres are brought under cultivation. They have abundant means, and the experiment so far has proven that it is not possible to make a better investment of money. This is the second year of the enterprise, and so far the net profits have been over $10 per acre each year, for every acre under cultivation. Go thou and do likewise, and there is plenty of room here to do it in.—Fargo (Dakota) Times.

Big Clean-ups.

The clean-up of the Consolidated Virginia mine for the last fiscal month was $1,535,328.97. The fiscal month was shorter than the last, the California mill having been run but 29 days, and the Bacon and French but 28 days. The clean up of the California mine was $1,399,331.74. This makes a total for the Bonanza for the month of $2,934,660.73.

These figures show a production from these of nearly three million dollars for a single month. We have been so accustomed, for the past year or two, to see in print similar results from these two famous mines, that we do not appreciate them sufficiently. A few years ago we would have considered three million dollars a very large amount for a first-class mine to have produced in a year; even now it is more than most prosperous districts turn out from all the mines combined. The sum is a very large one, and if it were scattered about more in the community than it is, would be truly sufficient to cause better times. Even as it is, it does considerable good in many ways.

Three million dollars a month from two mines for many consecutive months is a better showing than can be made in any mining country in the world, and is probably more than was ever realized from any mines in the same period of time. Some of the old South American and Mexican mines yielded larger sums in the aggregate than the Comstock bonanza, but it took years and years to accomplish. Now, with improved appliances and machinery, skilled workmen and every convenience, the ore is rapidly extracted and quickly made to yield its precious contents. The precious metal is sent down for refining as fast as collected, and is then coined into gold and silver at the mint as expeditiously as possible. The whole operation is carried on with a rapidity and system unknown and impracticable until recently. The mills are the finest in the world, and all the machinery is unexcelled, so that every possible convenience for good and rapid work is at hand. Of course such results could not be attained, no matter how fine its machinery, unless the ore were first-class. In the last run the California mill worked exclusively its rich ore from the 1650-foot level, averaging 330 tons per day. This ore works as well as any on the lode. The other day, from a run of 24 hours, 9,000 pounds of amalgam were taken out, which shows the richness of the ore and the rapidity with which it is worked.

Of course bonanzas of this character are scarce, and it was only with great expense and continued prospecting that this ore was found. It was blind work, too, from the nature of the undertaking, for no man could say that, sinking the shaft, the proprietors were not also sinking their money, as has too frequently happened. As soon as the bonanza was struck, however, it amply repaid all trial and expense, and has sent forth, since its discovery, a stream of gold and silver such as was never dreamed of before.—Gold Hill News.

A Sunday Excursion.

Steamer Plymouth Rock took 2000 excursionists from Boston to Portland on Sunday. She did not arrive at Portland until eight o'clock in the evening, the trip taking nearly twelve hours. There was much disturbance and fighting on board. One man had his nose bitten off; another one his ear. The passengers landed on a dark wharf, and three fell overboard but were rescued. Twenty-five fellows were so drunk that they had to be locked up. One woman had her watch and money stolen. All the food on board was eaten up, the company charging one dollar per meal. The crowd rushed up town on the arrival of the boat at Portland. In one saloon the money-drawer was broken into and seventy dollars stolen. The better portion of the passengers are loud in their denunciation of the whole affair, and some 300 or 400 remained in the city, having got enough of cheap excursions. The boat left on the return trip about nine o'clock, leaving many behind who intended to return in addition to those who did not want to go back. One man said he would not take $1000 and return on the steamer, as he was afraid it would be captured by the roughs and probably wrecked.

The Eastern War.

The Russian campaign in Armenia seems to be progressing very slowly, if at all, the Turks making a stubborn resistance.

There has been some fighting near Plevna, both parties being victorious. The defeat of the Russians by an overwhelming force near the river Lom is confirmed. The Russians still hold the Shipka Pass, but Suleiman Pasha claims to have the Russians blockaded.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, D. C., August 31.

The overt act of Mr. Cornell in presiding over the deliberations of a recent convention, leaves the President no alternative in the premises except to lop off his mutinous head. At least that is the conclusion arrived at by the commentators here, who have watched this quiet contest between the chief and his subordinate from its inception. Of course Mr. Conkling is credited with having braced up the contumacious naval officer to thus throwing down the gauntlet; and the republican opponents to the civil service reform programme are supposed to tacitly sympathize, at least, with Cornell. The Tenure of Office Act makes it the duty of Mr. Hayes to assign his reasons for suspending him when he nominates his successor to the Senate, and it is the talk that the occasion will be improved by quite a number of Senators to express their entire disapproval of the whole business.

If the reports of yesterday and to-day are reliable, it would seem that Sitting Bull had either become tired of waiting for the Commission or had got starved out and concluded to give us a happy surprise by returning home without waiting for a formal invitation from the "great father." Whatever the motive, the authorities at the War Department apprehend nothing but trouble from the presence of this implacable savage at this juncture. It is obvious that his junction with Chief Joseph would very gravely complicate the problem that Howard has been trying to solve. It is feared that in such an event no means we have at hand could prevent the rising of the disaffected tribes all along the frontier, and a general war would result. And those most familiar with our inadequate means of meeting such a contingency, view its possible occurrence with distrust and uneasiness.

It appears that some of our more provident Custom House officials have taken advantage of their position to turn a few honest pennies outside their regular salaries, thereby incurring the displeasure of Secretary Sherman. From investigations very quietly conducted, it appears that in the case of foreign arrivals willing to come down handsomely in the way of gratuities, their baggage and other personal effects were allowed to be landed and carted away without even the pretence of an inspection; while that of those ignorant of this means of evading the law, too poor or too close in their expenditures, was subjected to a most rigid system of overhauling. It is rumored that many of those who find themselves caught, have solicited the privilege of quietly resigning and that they have been refused with a view to making examples of them.

Without attempting to prejudge any of the parties included in Kane's indictment of Pension Bureau officials, past and present, it may be said that Lauston's two attempts through the Republican to disprove the charges of his complicity are regarded as ill-timed. After the evidence filed in their support, taken from the official records of the Department, it appears to be the feeling that an open investigation cannot well be avoided, and that Mr. Lauston's defence, in order to be satisfactory, should not depend on the evidence of interested parties—at least, not on that of those included with him in the indictment. The different watering places and summer resorts visited by him while under a salary of $150 per month, receiving also a per diem of $4 and ten cents mileage both ways, are given with great explicitness, and all from official vouchers on file. The pretext was public business; but the copy of his letter, also given, felicitating himself on the enjoyments and profits of sundry trips, has served to confirm the suspicion that many of the junketing tours undertaken by favorites of high officials, and the officials themselves, could be dispensed with without detriment to the public service.

Keeley's motor has again been heard from; and it appears satisfactorily settled by the recent exhibition given in Baltimore that Mr. Keeley has really made a very wonderful discovery and one that promises to entirely revolutionize our present means of propulsion, the very sanguine predicting the banishment of steam as too feeble and costly to hold its place by the side of the new motor. KNOX.

News and Notes.

So few naval officers are idle at present that the Department finds some difficulty in securing suitable officers for various important duties. The class undergoing torpedo instruction at Newport, R. I., numbers about twenty members, ranking from a commander down to an ensign. They will be through the course by the first of October, and will then be ordered to various vessels.

At North Vermont, Ind., John Simon was taken from the city jail by a masked band of men and hanged to a tree till nearly dead. Each man lashed him terribly and he was then liberated and asked to divulge concerning the robberies, on suspicion of committing which he was in prison. He declared his innocence to the last.

There was a queer accident at Bangor, Me., recently. A little boy walked between two buildings, which are at first about nine inches apart and gradually come together, until he was wedged in and couldn't move. His twelve-year-old sister tried to get him from an upstairs window, but slipped and was also caught between the buildings when she had reached him. A large crowd gathered, and the children were only released after a hole three feet square had been cut through one of the buildings.

This is the way that irreverent democratic organ, the Chicago Times, talks of the Iowa democratic State convention: "Calling upon heaven to witness the sincerity of their purposes, and appealing to the world to bear witness of the rectitude of their intentions, some persons in Iowa, styling themselves democrats, have solemnly resolved that they are in favor of "the separation of church and State!" Evidently those revolutionary and reckless persons suppose themselves to be still living in the fourteenth or fifteenth century. It would not be very surprising to hear, at no distant time, that they had resolved to favor the earth's rotation on its axis instead of the old plan which put the sun to the great inconvenience of travelling around the earth."

The strike in the Pennsylvania coal region continues, and is spreading. Rumors are rife of a great rising, engineered by the Molly Maguires.

Four of the crew of the brig C. C. Sweeney, which anchored at Red Hook, N. J., Friday night, were arrested Saturday as witnesses in a case of mutiny which occurred soon after the brig left Havre last May, and in which Henry Harris, the mate, was shot dead by one of the sailors named Smith.

A flaw has been discovered in the great twelve-inch rifle that was cast in the South Boston Iron Foundry about two months ago, which may cause the gun to be condemned by the Government Ordnance Inspector. The flaw is what is commonly known as a blow-hole, caused by an air-bubble getting imprisoned in the molten iron while being poured into the mould and the iron cooling around it. It is located inside the barrel of the gun about a foot from its muzzle; it is several inches in length and width, and quite deep. The flaw was brought to light after the gun had been some time on the lathe. Such a flaw—even one much smaller—would be sufficient to cause an ordinary gun to be condemned, as the ordnance officer's instructions are to condemn any gun in which there is any kind of a flaw. If condemned the gun will be cast over.

Henry Hamlin and William Allen, two convicts in the Connecticut State Prison at Weatherafield, attempted to break jail on Saturday night. They overpowered and bound the guard, Welles Shipman, and gagged him; but he got the gag out of his mouth and called for help, when Hamlin deliberately shot him. The rascals were caught, but Shipman died in a few hours. The convicts were "pals," and had served about seven years of an eight years sentence for burglary.

Paris, Mo., was burned on Friday. Loss $1,500,000. Several lives were lost, but only one dead body has been found. A man started the fire on purpose in a liquor saloon, and is now in jail.

S. S. Houghton of Boston, who has a large farm at Orford, is building a remarkably fine barn. Its size is 240 by 56 feet, with an L 200 by 60. There will be three stories and a basement, the whole surmounted with a dome 130 feet high, which is to have upon it a clock and bell; a Mansard roof, with Lutheran windows and a large number of ventilators. The estimated cost of the building is $30,000.

A boy named Cole, in Madbury, recently received a reward of $25 for restoring a lost pocket-book. His employer, a farmer, claimed half the reward because the pocket book was found on his land. Cole was discharged because he refused that modest demand.

—When you see an item headed "Ivy Poisoning," you know some one has been poisoned by ivy; but when you see "Wife Poisoning," the wife is not the poisoner, but the poisoned. A beautifully simple language.

—Rev. Dr. Howard, chaplain to the mother of George III, Rector of St. George's, Southwark, was always in arrears with his tradesmen, and was often perplexed to keep them in a good temper. He once took for his text, "Have patience and I will pay you all." After dilating at some length on the virtue of patience, he said, "And now I am come to the second part of my discourse, which is, 'and I will pay you all,' but that I shall defer to a future opportunity."

—A person was recently sent to a London bank for the purpose of drawing money. Two men stood near the place where he was counting over the amount he had received, some £600. One of the men remarked to him, "You've dropped a five pound note," pointing to a paper on the floor. "All right sir," was the reply; "I'll just put my foot on it for the present," which he did, and continued counting his money. It was not till the sharpers had learned that they were trying their game on a smart fellow that they informed him that the five pound note was dropped by one of them. Any thoughtless fellow would have stooped for the note and in all probability have lost the best part of £600.

—How many common figurative expressions in the language are borrowed from the art of carpentry may be seen in the following sentence: "The lawyer filed a bill, shaved a note, cut an acquaintance, split a hair, made an entry, got up a case, framed an indictment, impanelled a jury, put them in a box, nailed a witness, hammered a judge, and bored a whole court."

PROPOSALS.

PROPOSALS FOR MATERIALS TO BE SUPPLIED TO THE NAVY YARDS UNDER THE COGNIZANCE OF THE BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIRS.

NAVY DEPARTMENT,
BUREAU OF CONSTRUCTION AND REPAIR,
Washington, D. C., August 21, 1877.

SEALED PROPOSALS to furnish Timber and other materials for the Navy for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1878, will be received at this Bureau until Tuesday, 12 o'clock M., the 25th of September next, at which time the bids will be opened.

The proposals must be addressed to the "Chief of the Bureau of Construction and Repair, Navy Department, Washington," and must be indorsed "Proposals for Supplies, &c., for the Navy," that they may be distinguished from ordinary business letters.

To prevent confusion, and facilitate the opening of the bids, parties bidding to supplies at several yards will enclose their bids in separate envelopes for each yard, indorsed with the name of the yard for which the bid is made.

Printed schedules for such classes as parties deal in and intend to bid for, together with instructions to bidders, giving the forms of proposal, of guarantee, and of certificate of guarantors, with printed forms of offer, will be furnished to such persons as desire to bid, on application to the Commandants of the respective Navy Yards, and those of all the yards on application to the Bureau.

The Commandant of each Navy Yard, and the purchasing Paymaster for each Station, will have a copy of the schedules of the other yards, for examination only, in order that persons who intend to bid may judge whether it is desirable to make application for any of the classes of those yards.

The proposals must be for the whole of a class, but the Department reserves the right to reduce the whole class, should the interest of the Government require it, before the execution of the contract. All applications for information, or for the examination of samples, must be made to the Commandants of the respective yards.

Bids or orders will be received only from parties who are bona fide dealers in, or manufacturers of the articles they offer to furnish. The guarantors must be certified by the Collector of Internal Revenue for the district in which they reside.

Under the provisions of section 3709 of the Revised Statutes, the offer of any person who, as principal or surety, has been a defaulter in any previous contract with the Navy Department will not be received.

Sureties in the full amount will be required to sign the contract, and their responsibility must be certified to the satisfaction of the Navy Department.

An additional security twenty per centum will be withheld from the amount of the bills until the contracts shall have been completed, and eighty per centum of the amount of each bill, approved in triplicate by the Commandants of the respective yards, will be paid by the Paymaster of the station designated in the contract, or, if none is specified, by the Paymaster at the station against the yard where the goods are delivered, within ten days after the warrant for the same shall have been passed by the Secretary of the Navy.

THAT "MARINE MYSTERY."

Mr. Editor: Here is this meat in the nut cracked by your correspondents:

I quote again from Coroner Whittier's note in the Army and Navy Journal of Aug. 11, as follows: "The law of New Hampshire places the power to order an inquest in the hands of the Mayor and Aldermen; and the Coroner can have recourse only to an appeal to the County Solicitor."

Also from my note in the CHRONICLE, Aug. 16th: "The Coroner misunderstands the law. The Coroner may always and at any time hold an inquest whenever he thinks proper." "The Mayor had no power peremptorily to refuse an inquest, if that means to grant the right to hold one; the only power he or the Aldermen have is to refuse to authorize and request an inquest at the public expense."

Also from the Coroner's note in the CHRONICLE, Aug. 30: "Justice to myself, as well as a full and proper interpretation of the law, prompts me to notice the specious reasoning of your correspondent." "It is true that the coroner can hold an inquest upon his own responsibility, but without the authority for so doing from the city, town or country, he cannot compel the attendance or service of a juror, witness or law officer, without first tendering to each his full fee—and obliging himself to assume the entire expense of an inquest."

If the Coroner had said so at the first, I should not have felt impelled to call attention to the law. There is now no difference between us. I am willing that he should say "quibble" and "misinterpretation" and "specious reasoning" and "unworthy and unfair," when speaking of my correction of his first statement. He has learned the law now so as to state it correctly, and I am satisfied. Yours, P.

THE PESTILENCE RESERVOIRS.

A petition is in circulation asking the Board of Aldermen to take prompt and decided action in the matter of preventing the city cesspools (called millponds) from being longer used as storage reservoirs for sewage. The petition is as follows:

To the Mayor and Board of Aldermen:

We, the subscribers, respectfully ask that you instruct the Board of Health to cause to be removed such piggeries, privies and other nuisances as are so situated as to endanger the public health and to promote disease. Also, to see that all drains entering into the two millponds be continued to low water mark.

Mr. Editor: Complaint is being justly made of the offensive and unhealthy emanations of the millponds, and none too soon, for I believe that the unusual amount of sickness in the city, especially at the south end, and several deaths within a few weeks, may justly be laid to malaria—a preventable cause, in this city. But the poisonous effluvium from Puddle Dock, and the absolutely horrible smells from the slaughter-house on its edge, are not mentioned. One of your correspondents complains of having to shut his (or her) chamber window one night on account of the stench from the North Millpond; I have not been able to keep a window open in my house after nightfall a half-dozen of the hot nights this summer, owing to the overpowering stench from Puddle Dock and the slaughter house. Is there another city of the size of ours anywhere that permits the existence of slaughter houses and piggeries in its densest centres of population? PUDDLE DOCKER.

POLICE COURT.

Monday, September 3d.

James W. Goodwin, for a breach of the Sunday law, was fined $10, costs $6.90. Paid.

THE WRECKED BRIG.

The brig Clara J. Adams, wrecked Saturday afternoon in the river, is seven years old, registers 470 tons, and is uninsured. She had on board when she struck 628 tons of coal, consigned to Concord parties. The captain (Laithwaite) lays all the blame of the accident on the pilot, (Mr. John Amazeen, of Newcastle,) asserting that he (the captain) offered to hire a tug, but the pilot declared one not needed; he had worked heavier vessels up the river and could bring the Adams up all right. The brig struck the point at the Narrows and remained there some little time; then got off, hung for a while at one of the large buoys, sheered off and let go an anchor, and went on the ledge. The brig kept in apparently good condition all Saturday night, but bilged on Sunday morning about eight o'clock, Mr. Joseph Muchmore being alongside her when she bilged and distinctly hearing the crash of the rocks through her bottom. She is now hogged, her butts opened badly, and the water at high tide covering the starboard rail from the cathead to the poop. She will not probably come off until all her cargo is discharged, and will not be worth much when she does come off.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

Speaking of dog-days—

It will be seen by the advertisements that Smith's Laundry and clothes cleaning and repairing establishment has been removed from 37 Market street to 31 Penhallow street, just around the corner from Market street.

Hon. George P. Sanger, United States Attorney for the District of Massachusetts, is paying a brief visit to this city with his wife, who is a native of Portsmouth. Mr. Sanger taught a private school in this city from November, 1840, to some time in 1842. His school room was over Leonard Akerman's (now Charles C. Akerman's) store on State street, and he numbered among his pupils many who now occupy prominent positions in this and other cities.

At the time Sheriff Kent was investigating the Boar's Head Hotel robbery, he met at the beach three suspicious and well-known (to him) men from Massachusetts. He gave the parties warning that they had better vacate his jurisdiction, and also wrote to the chairman of Hampton's board of selectmen, giving him a full description of the men, and also their names and aliases. The parties soon left the beach for other quarters, and last Saturday one of them was arrested in Haverhill, Mass., for stealing a horse in Manchester, and another one for stealing a valuable shawl in Haverhill. They were undoubtedly at Hampton Beach for evil purposes.

A base-ball wind set in from the northwest on Monday.

The last excursion to the Shoals under the auspices of the Woman's Temperance League comes off to-day, per steamer Appledore. Tickets for sale by David Kimball & Co., at 75 cts. for the round trip; children under 12 years of age, half price.

An agent is now in this city to procure subscribers to a lithographed "bird's-eye view of Portsmouth," size 22x28 inches. The view is taken from a point over Noble's island, and shows most of Christian Shore, (falling to take in, however, the Almshouse and Hon. Frank Jones' residence,) both mill-ponds (minus the smell) and all that part of the city south of the North Millpond, with Little Harbor, a portion of Newcastle, the land down to the sea, and the sea out to and including the Isles of Shoals. It is one of the best things of the kind we have ever seen, and we believe it will "take" well. Every street (and every house in every street) is represented, so far as we could tell from a cursory examination, and the style of architecture of each building is followed in the picture. Mr. A. Ruger, of Boston, is the artist; he has been engaged for some time in such work, and among other cities thus pictured by him is Dover, where a very large number of lithographs have been subscribed for. The agent will call upon our citizens this week, and exhibit the original drawing of this city from which the lithograph is to be made.

Colonel Arthur McArthur Eastman, the projector of the Direct United States Cable Company, died at Manchester on Monday morning, aged 68 years.

The lower room in the School street schoolhouse, which has long been in a thoroughly wretched condition, has been improved by the laying of a new floor, general re-painting, and the adding of eighty new benches, and is now one of the best instruction rooms in the city. It has been a disgrace to the city for a long time, and we are glad to know that it has been made decent at last.

The interest of J. C. Carr (being the right to redrem) in certain encumbered real estate in this city was sold by Morse & Ilsley on Monday. Store and land No. 72 State street, was purchased by Samuel S. Frye for $2975; store and land Nos. 22 and 24 Market street by Thomas H. Odion, for $6710. The store and dwelling house at the corner of State and Washington streets was not sold. The book accounts belonging to the estate of Mr. Carr, several promissory notes and one mortgage on real estate in Portsmouth were sold to different individuals.

United States Deputy Marshal Morse attached the locomotives on the Portsmouth, Great Falls and Conway Railroad, Saturday, which were previously attached by Sheriff Kent. The last writ was in favor of the Eastern Railroad. Sheriff Morse retained the same keepers in charge. This action will cause another conflict of authority.

Col. J. C. Butler's last steamboat excursion to the Shoals takes place on Thursday next. As this will probably be the last excursion of the season, as well as of Col. Butler's series, it is expected to be as liberally patronized as the previous ones. Tickets for the round trip, at 75 cts. each, for sale only by Col. Butler. See advertisement.

Mr. Fred. G. Moses is on a visit home from Florida, where he has been engagnd in orange culture for three years or more. Mr. Wallace H. Moses, with his family, remains on his plantation on the Indian River, and will have 1000 trees down next year, when about 200 will commence bearing. Fred. returns to Florida shortly, having purchased some real estate on an island in the Indian River, which promises remunerative results. Success to them both.

We are requested to state that there will be no game of base ball at the Plains this afternoon, as has been previously announced.

Mr. Gardner M. Goodrich is keeping the Gerrish's Island Hotel for the season.

In autumn days—say days like these—if one can go where'er he please, and every chance of pleasure seize, why not the seashore seek with speed, ere old time sends him off to seed?

Mr. James W. Lord, formerly of this city, is now located at Westmoreland Depot, N. H.

There will be a rehearsal of the Portsmouth Music Society this (Tuesday) evening at Grange Hall, commencing at eight o'clock.

Bad Specks.

Bad specks on the teeth are almost as unpleasant as bad specs in the money market. To prevent them or to get rid of them, use Sozodont. It is literally a specific for every blemish that disfigures the teeth, and whitens them without endangering the enamel.

The great American conjunctive —— Spalding's Glue.

THE NEW TOWN HALL AT AYER. This elegant structure is now complete. In beauty of design it surpasses anything of the kind in the State. Constructed of brick and dark marble, it is as permanent as it is charming. The English architects have adorned it in subdued colors, which please without tiring the eye. Dr. J. C. Ayer built and gave it to the town in acknowledgement of the distinction they conferred upon him in taking his name. Although it is a generous gift, still the hearty good wishes of a whole people are of greater value, and the generous donor has doubtless secured them.—Groton (Mass.) Journal.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Headache, Erysipelas, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Dullness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skillful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

The Potato Bug Again.

The potato bug needs careful watching every day now on egg-plants. They have a most provoking way of biting just where they do the most hurt—on the mid-vein of a leaf or on the stem of a flower or young shoot—so that the fruit is injured or the leaf breaks off. We practice picking them off every day. At this time they do not lay many eggs, and if the plants have been well taken care of there will be very few larvæ; but the plants will be infested with beetles which have come from the potato fields, and which are really more destructive than they have the reputation of being. We have egg-plants on which scarcely a worm has been allowed to appear, as the eggs were all destroyed with the fingers before hatching; but which have been nearly destroyed, after a week's inattention, by the leaves being bitten off by the beetle.—Ex.

Preserving Eggs.

A correspondent of the English Mechanic says: In 1871-72 I preserved eggs so perfectly that after a lapse of six months they were mistaken when brought to the table for fresh-laid eggs, and I believe they would have kept equally good for twelve months. My mode of preservation was to varnish the eggs, as soon as they were laid as possible, with a thin copal varnish, taking care that the whole of the shell was covered with the varnish. I subsequently found that by painting the eggs with fresh albumen, beaten up with a little salt, they were preserved equally as well and for as long a period. After varnishing or painting with albumen, I lay the eggs upon rough blotting paper, as I found that when allowed to rest till dry upon a plate or on the table the albumen stuck so fast to the table or plate as to take away a chip out of the shell. This is entirely obviated by the use of blotting paper. I pack these eggs in boxes of dry bran.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Cayenne, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 22d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment. White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 Dey St., New York.

Castoria.

Mothers may rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using Castoria in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the Castoria. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. Rose & Co., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. mov1

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria.) mov1

The Centaur Liniments

have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

No medicine ever offered to the public has given such universal satisfaction as Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. Their praises are on every tongue where their merits are known. They strike at once at the root of disease and show their healing power almost immediately. Thousands of voluntary testimonials of their merits have been received by the agent, from those who have been cured by them, of which the following are samples:

Dyspepsia Four Years, Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels Three Years, Confined to my Room Two Years, Pain so I Could Not Sleep Without Morphine. One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills Made Me Eat Well, Sleep Well etc. Free from Pain, after being given up by Physicians.

West Lebanon, Me., Feb. 22, 1

Mr. Thomas W. Lane:—I have been sick for 2½ years with Dyspepsia, and for the past three years Constipation and Inflammation of the Bowels. have suffered much, could not endure food and live, have been confined to my room for two years, and could not sleep nights without the use of morphine. I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.
Your truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

West Lebanon, Me., March 22, 1875.

Mr. Thomas W. Lane:—I commenced taking Dr. Quain's Condition Pills February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.
Yours truly, JOHN W. LORD.

Dr. Quain's Pills the Remedy for Soldiers' Aches and Pains.

West Lebanon, Me., June 1, 1875.

Mr. Thomas W. Lane—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking Dr. Quain's Condition Pills. They have done everything for me, and I will say to you, advertise them direct to the soldiers, for they will certainly cure them of aches and pains caused from exposure and hardship on the field. Please send me by return mail another package.
JOHN W. LORD.

Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by one Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

East Andover, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

Mr. Lane—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; so I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago I advised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was Dr. Quain's Condition Pills, the best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story, but I do not remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.
Yours with respect, ED. F. PEVARE.

Daingerfield, Morris Co., Texas, Nov. 15, '75.

Mr. Thomas W. Lane—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.
Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

Laconia, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

Thos. W. Lane—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took. I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of these Pills. MRS. P. L. ELLIOTT.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!
Relieve Your Lungs.
Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudorific and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.
PULMOCINE CORDIAL
is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or Inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of Pulmocine Cordial gives speedy relief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all thus afflicted. Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.
For Coughs,
Croup,
Diphtheria,
Asthma, etc.,
use
Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial
The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. It is offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, Stillingia, and Mandrake with the iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of these same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Itch or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucborrhea arising from internal ulceration and uterine disease, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Emaciation and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

Utilizing what has been Coal Waste.

"Out of every four tons of coal brought to the surface of the earth, one ton is ground to powder in breaking, and goes to waste," says the President of a prominent coal company in Pennsylvania. Prizes have been widely offered for the best means of utilizing culm, as the waste is technically called. No attempts to utilize culm economically have heretofore been successful. In Belgium and England, however, bituminous coal dust, called "slack," has been for a few years past made into bricks to be used for fuel. It is used instead of bituminous coal. It remained for an American firm to experiment with anthracite coal dust. The result was first publicly shown on the 30th of August to a party of prominent coal dealers and scientific men of New York city. The works are on the Hudson river at Port Ewen, a mile below Rondout, and are surrounded by water. The process of converting the culm into fuel is simple. An elevator, similar to that used for storing grain, transfers it from the canal boats coming from Honesdale into two lofty bins, holding 260 tons each. A third receiver is for bitumen, brought also in canal boats from a few miles down the river. This is used mainly to stick the culm together so that it may be made into blocks. Ten per cent. is used to ninety of culm. It is crushed nearly as fine as culm, and immediately mixed before it can solidify. A screw conveyor dumps the mixture into a large upright cylinder, where it is heated to 600 degrees Fahrenheit. The pitch is liquified, and is fused with and absorbed by the coal dust. Then the mixture drops into moulds in a revolving horizontal wheel at the bottom of the same cylinder. The wheel, revolving, carries the moulds and contents around where a presure of thirty thousand pounds is obtained, the brick is made, and, being carried around still further, is punched out and, with thousands of brother bricks, immediately packed away in tiers in canal boats ready for transportation. Each brick weighs fifteen pounds. The capacity of the works is 250 tons a day, running double time. The production for this year will be, it is estimated, 40,000 tons.—New York Sun.

Bitten by a Tarantula.

A party of Sacramentans returned home last evening from a trip to the mountains, bringing with them two deer skins, one wild cat skin, and a few other trophies, including two tarantulas—dead ones. They had a little incident attending the transportation of these specimens, which occasioned considerable alarm. It occurred in Mache Creek Canyon, on Wednesday, as they were returning home. The tarantulas, for lack of a better receptacle, were inclosed in a cigar box when caught, about ten days ago, and this box, carefully tied up, was deposited beneath the seat of the vehicle. While they were jolting through the canyon the seat slipped and the two men occupying it found themselves dropped suddenly into the bottom of the wagon. One of them struck the cigar box, crushed it, and immediately felt that something had hurt him. A glance showed him that he was resting on the tarantulas, and with a yell of "I'm stung! I'm stung!" he jumped from the wagon, and, dashing his hands behind him, as though desirous of lifting himself out of his boots, he bounced wildly along the road, then turned and made for the wagon, shouting to his amazed and greatly alarmed companions, "Whiskey! Quick! I'm dying! Why don't you hurry?" The other three men—there were four in the party—reached simultaneously for the demijohn, broke off the cork in their haste to pull it out, and in an effort to knock off the neck of the demijohn, to save time, broke the entire concern, and nearly all the contents were lost. About a pint of the liquid was saved, however, and without as much as saying, "Here's luck!" the party that was bitten swallowed it. Soon he began to feel better, and eventually felt so remarkably well that it was evident the poison had been forced to succumb. Then the work of straightening up the contents of the wagon was commenced, and the tarantula box was carefully lifted out and examined, when behold! the "bugs" were found perfectly lifeless, and so dry and stiff that it was evident that they had been dead more than twenty-four hours, while a couple of tacks in the broken cover of the box conveyed a very good hint as to the nature of the injury which the bold hunter had declared to be tarantula bite.—Sacramento Union.

A Rattlesnakes' Den.

A singular discovery was recently made in the mountains, six miles southwest of Great Bend, Penn. A party of berry pickers, numbering sixteen, while passing through the mountains near Susquehanna station, on the line of the Erie railway, had their attention directed to a small clump of bushes, near where they were picking berries, by the fierce barking of a dog which accompanied them. Two of the party, George Brink and Joseph Hilferty, went to see what the matter was. As they neared the dog it barked more furiously. Walking cautiously on, they were startled by a loud and continuous rattling which at once suggested rattlesnakes. They did not go any further, but, marking the spot, returned and informed the company. The rest of the gentlemen, four in number, each seizing a club, followed Brink and Hilferty into the thicket. The dog was still in the same place, barking furiously. Club in hand, the six descended a small declivity, near the bottom of which they saw a terrible picture. Lying on stones and sticks were hundreds of huge rattlesnakes, coiled and rattling fiercely. The men, not caring to approach too near, began stoning the reptiles from a distance. They succeeded in killing thirty-nine, the rest, thought to have been several hundred, making their escape into the rocks and underbrush.

Disastrous Fire.

A fire caught in the third story of J. P. Hale's piano manufactory, in New York, Monday forenoon, from a pot of varnish which was being warmed on a stove. The man who was tending the varnish instantly gave the alarm, but the fire spread with great rapidity and cut off the retreat of most of the operatives on the upper floors, many of whom lost their lives. The building was eight stories high, and burned so fiercely that the firemen could do no effectual work toward extinguishing the fire or saving the people in the upper stories. Many of the workmen and some women were badly injured, and several killed, by jumping from the windows; others were seen to fall back from the windows into the fire and smoke. How many lives were lost could not be ascertained, the estimates varying from ten to fifty. One fire engine was destroyed, and over fifty buildings were burned, many of them being lofty tenement houses; the Gospel Tent, a barrel factory, silk factory, pork packing house, boiler shop, patent roofing factory, and several warehouses, were also burned. The pecuniary loss is estimated at from a half million to a million dollars.

The Eastern War.

The correspondent of the London News visited Shipka Pass on Friday, Aug. 31st, and says: "Suleiman Pasha has abandoned the attempt on the Russian position and marched away from the neigborhood of Shipka. Some say he is still at Xazantik, and others that he is searching for another pass. My belief is that he is engaged in trying to reorganize his shattered forces. There remain still confronting the Russians a few battalions of Egyptians, with some cannon on the heights, and a few more miscellaneous battalions in the village of Shipka. Several Russian re-enforcements have been marched back, and General Nepokoitschitzky, the Chief of Staff, was returning from his visit to the Pass, quite relieved and satisfied with the position." A Constantinople despatch on the 3d inst. says Suleiman Pasha reports the cannonading begun again on Saturday and continued through Sunday; the Turks acknowledge a loss of 7000 at Shipka.

The Turkish losses in the battle near Pelisata were very heavy; the Russians, who acted on the defensive, lost 1100 killed and wounded.

Row in Washington.

For some time past the columns of the Washington Republican have been unremitting in their assaults upon the Solicitor of the Treasurer, Judge Kenneth L. Raynor of North Carolina, his age and physical infirmities having been alluded to in a manner not at all gentlemanly or commendable. On Monday the paper had the following: "It has now transpired that the Right Hon. Kenneth Raynor, Solicitor of the Treasury, has been enabled to maintain perpetual bloom of youth by the constant and generous use of strong plug tobacco." The correspondent of the Post says that "for more than a week Raynor has declared that if he ever encountered A. W. Soteldo, managing editor of the paper, there would be blood. Only last week the old man went to the newspaper office armed with a North Carolina horse pistol to slay or to be slain. Just as the female clerks were departing from their day's work on Monday, Raynor met Soteldo on the steps of the Treasury, and with a violent expletive assaulted him with his fists. The first blow being unexpected, the editor received it full in the mouth and the old man got the first blood. The assailed party recovered quickly, and retorted in kind, but a friend threw himself into the breach, and by covering Raynor's face with his hand saved him from severe punishment." The parties were separated by friends, and a warrant was procured for Raynor's arrest. The Globe correspondent gives the following as the reason for the Republican's assaults upon Raynor: "Some time ago Soteldo came to his office and requested him to address a letter to District-Attorney Wells to revoke further proceedings against a Mr. Grow, alleged to have forged an endorsement on a check on Caleb Tompkins of Georgia for a claim awarded by the Southern Claims Commission, amounting to $1600. The evidence before the Solicitor was, he says, clear and conclusive, and he refused to comply. Since then he has been pursued by these newspaper attacks."

News and Notes.

Gold was down to 103 3-8 on Tuesday,—the lowest point reached since the war. If there had been less talk about specie payment we should have had it before now.

A three-story brick house which was being raised in Cincinnati, fell with a crash on Monday afternoon, killing one woman and two men, and seriously injuring several others.

Ex-President Thiers, of France, died very suddenly at St. Germain on Monday evening.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury McCormick is to retire and have a foreign mission, and Hon. Edward McPherson, chief of the bureau of engraving and printing, will take Mr. McCormick's place in the Treasury.

An ice-machine in Dallas, Texas, just finished, produces ice-cakes thirty feet long and six feet wide, weighing from ten thousand to twelve thousand pounds each. They are formed by freezing fine rain or spray. When the freezing is done the bottom and sides of the cakes are thawed loose from the inclined plane, and the cakes slides out upon a platform, where it is cut into pieces six feet square. Four cakes a day are frozen.

At Philadelphia last week, a flagman shouted to a drunken man to get off the track and out of the way of the rapidly approaching cars. As the warning was not heeded the flagman sprang on the track and attempted to push the other off, when the latter turned and seized his would-be savior with vice-like grip and after a brief struggle they fell across the rails and were run over, receiving injuries from which both shortly after died.

The city council of Indianapolis, a short time ago, as a measure of economy, ordered the chief engineer of the fire department to abandon the use of one hundred fire plugs to be selected from different parts of the city. The water works company, which had been receiving $50 per year for each plug, protested against this measure, and as this seemed likely to be ineffectual, it has now ordered that unless the objectionable resolution be rescinded within thirty days, the water will be shut off from all the remaining plugs and from the public buildings of every character, thus leaving the city at the mercy of fire. The contest was undecided at latest advices.

Early Monday morning the new house of Banfield Judkins, Effingham Falls, Me., was entirely destroyed by fire, together with a portion of the furniture. A boy playing with matches was the cause. No insurance.

The Emperor of Austria, having learned of the existence of an Austrian military company in San Francisco, and wishing to make them an appropriate gift emblematic of their nationality, desired them through his consul in that city, to select a suitable uniform to be furnished at his expense. The company accordingly chose the beautiful uniform of the Imperial Jaegers of Vienna, and the complete outfit for one hundred and fifty men is expected to arrive from Austria in about two months.

Indianapolis, Ind., is agitated over a civil rights case involving the Hyers troupe of colored singers, familiar hereabouts. They are out under the auspices of Redpath's Boston bureau, whose agent engaged board for them at the Grand Hotel. After stopping for several days and eating in the best di ning room, the singers were told that they must eat in another room. This they refused to do, and the waiters were ordered not to serve them. Then Manager Hyers went out and got dinner at a restaurant, which he took in to his people, and they ate it on the dining room table. The next day he was not allowed to carry in the outside food, so smuggled in sandwiches and cold chicken in his pocket. Here the story provokingly stops. The hotel people announced that the "niggers" shouldn't enter the dining room again, and the singers, acting with legal advice, had given out that they should at least try to, while the local papers are denouncing the "outrage."

New Hampshire Items.

John Hartwell of Warren recently captured a hawk while in the act of killing a crow. The hawk was so occupied with his prey that Mr. Hartwell stepped up behind the bushes and seized them both alive.

A fair was held in Academy Hall, Gilmanton Corner, Wednesday evening, August 22, for the benefit of the Congregational society. Over a hundred and seventy-five were present and the sum of one hundred and thirty dollars was taken, the expenses to be deducted being little or nothing.

The wife of Ira Kelsea of Columbia committed suicide Monday by cutting her throat.

The report of the Railroad Commissioners for this State shows that the total length of railroads—main tracks and branches—now in operation within the limits of this State is 938.04 miles. During the past year the Concord railroad has laid 501 tons of steel rails; the Cheshire Railroad 600 tons and the Northern 195 tons. Eight persons have been killed on the railroads in this State during the past year, but without any fault on the part of the employes of the roads.

The old stone paper mill known as the Claremont Manufacturing Company's mill was burned Sunday night. Through the efficiency of the fire department the office, bindery and printing department were saved. Cause of fire unknown. Loss $10,000; fully insured.

Late Sunday night word was brought to Hon. J. W. Johnson, at Enfield Centre, that Scales, his wool thief, was at the house of Aaron Rowell, in Springfield, near George's Mills. Mr. Johnson and Sheriff Cox together with a posse, arrived at Rowell's at three o'clock Monday morning, some sixteen miles. Sheriff Cox entered to arrest Scales, the others surrounding the house. Seeing all chance for escape cut off from below, Scales made his way into the attic and desperately jumped from a window almost into the arms of one of the party, and instantly darted off at lightning speed for the woods, having on nothing but his pants and shirt. Pursuit was made and four pistol shots fired at him, but without effect. They were too sure of him, as it was only an hour or two before daylight, when he could easily have been captured. He is well armed and desperate, and will fight for his liberty if he has any chance.

Political.

Marcellus Emery, the able editor and unmitigated Bourbon who runs the Bangor Commercial, is mad. After the Maine democrats had made up a nice platform, composed entirely of "fraud" planks, out came the party candidate for Governor and proceeded to split the platform all to 'pieces. Marcellus accordingly "goes for" the democratic candidate even more savagely than Capt. Boutelle, of the Bangor Whig, goes for "the policy." But Emery keeps the names of the democratic nominees at the head of the Commercial's columns, and makes this grim response to a correspondent who enquires why he keeps in that position the name of a man he is so angry with: "Those who are familiar with the internal workings of newspaper offices understand that, in times when advertising is dull, it is no unusual thing for them to run dead matter."

Gen. Durbin Ward has introduced a fresh discord into the democratic chorus in Ohio, by making a speech in favor of an inconvertible currency. Instead of clamoring for inflation, he says: "Let greenbacks enough be retired to raise them to par." Instead of charging the hard times to the efforts toward resumption, he says they are due to the "irredeemable paper credit money," and argues that this species of money must be abandoned before financial health can be restored. He even goes further, and admits that the republican party only claimed the right to issue paper money as a war power, and wisely limited the issue to four hundred millions. Gen. Ward has the coolness to base all this truthfulness on the party platform, and to rejoice over the interconvertible phrase in that remarkable document as a great triumph for hard money. The inflation democrat is white with rage, and is barely able to articulate: "Even John Sherman dares not go so far wrong as this!"

We cannot prate about, or vaunt "the honor of Virginia," and at the same time demand the "readjustment" of a debt that represents only two-thirds of the amount we originally contracted to pay. The two positions are wholly incompatible; and we may expect to be the butt of ridicule so long as we attempt to occupy this false and dishonorable attitude before the world. —Lynchburg Virginian (dem.)

Ayer's Hair Vigor,
FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often renews the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus lonely, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked and stabilized; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

PORTSMOUTH BRIDGE.

A correspondent of the Salem Gazette is travelling along the coast in a carriage, and writing of what he sees on the way. He thus refers to Portsmouth bridge, which he passed over on his travels:

Portsmouth is ancient in its appearance, but is more interesting than newer cities. Here we crossed another bridge zigzagging across the Piscataqua. It must have been built at different times and according to different styles of architecture. Some parts of the bridge were of iron, others of wood, sometimes up and sometimes down—all for a toll of twenty cents.

Where the "iron" part of the bridge is kept Portsmouth people will be puzzled to know; but the correspondent is right in assuming that the bridge was "built at different times," for though it was commenced more than a half century ago it is not finished yet, and never will be so long as it stands in from sixty to ninety feet of water, where the tide rushes like a mill-race, and where there is but a shoal layer of mud on top of the solid rock, for piles to be driven into. The pile-driver is never removed from the bridge, and it has more steady work to do than any other pile-driver in the country.

The diver who placed the chains around the sunken schooner Ceres said he never saw such a sight before as he did when he stood on the bottom beside the bridge piles, and looked up at the roadway fully seventy-five feet above his head. He described the bridge as looking like a greatly exaggerated and badly demoralized "old daddy long-legs" spider, and expressed wonder that the lofty and comparatively narrow structure had not long before been toppled over by the vast pressure of the current. Many of the piles seemed to have a good hold in the mud, and others had entered crevices in the rock; one of the latter particularly attracted his attention, it having struck a crevice too narrow to admit the whole bigness of the pile, and as it was driven by the powerful blows of the "monkey" the wood had been slivered up on each side to the depth of several inches, and for a length apparently of several feet. Quite a number of the piles rested squarely on top of bare rocks, and one he noticed but just touched the edge of a rock with a small portion of its end, more than three-fourths of the pile projecting over the rock. Tumbled in among the piles in all directions in inextricable confusion were great numbers of logs—pieces of piles and old timbers from the bridge, probably, tumbled overboard as not being worth saving at some of the innumerable times the bridge has been repaired.

But notwithstanding the great height of the bridge from the bed of the river, and the unfavorable character of the bottom, the narrow highway bridge stood up against considerable rough usage for years before the railroad bridge was built beside it, and now the two mutually support and strengthen each other. In the spring, when the ice used to come down from Great Bay in good sized cakes and hammer away at the bridge on every ebb tide for days together, the upper end of a pile would sometimes be knocked adrift from its fastenings, but no serious damage was ever done by it. A large brig anchored some distance up the river broke adrift one night, many years ago, and came down against the structure, broadside on, but did no other harm than to put a graceful curve in it, sidewise. The navy yard anchor hoy, full of water and weighing hundreds of tons, ran into the bridge on a strong ebb tide not many years since, turned up edgewise against the piles, and stuck there all the rest of that tide; but the only damage done the bridge was the knocking it three or four inches out of plumb just where the anchor hoy hit it. The schooner Ceres, with a hundred and fifty tons or so of coal on board, went against the bridge broadside on a year ago, and struck hard enough to sink herself, but did not harm the bridge enough to prevent the immediate passage of a freight train. The Salem correspondent may make sport of the graceful sinuosities of the bridge, if he wants to, and fail to admire the charming variety of its elevations and depressions; but it has done excellent service in the past, is always kept in thorough repair,—and is believed to be real good paying property. He won't find many bridges like it, anywhere.

[Communicated.]

NUISANCES,

From which Portsmouth was once so free, have become the order of the day. Besides the foul odors from the mill-ponds, and muddy cross-walks from the water-carts, (that might easily be avoided, and in regard to which latter no heed was paid to the modest appeal in the CHRONICLE recently,) now we have street-venders bawling in our ears, with the ring in their voices so familiar in the streets of New York, where they became so intolerable a pest, the aid of the Legislature in late years was called in, and now laws passed for their suppression to a degree, but which failed wholly to get rid of the evil. While an annoyance everywhere, yelling as they do with their hideous voices by the hour together, and, like organ-grinders, as soon as one is gone, another takes his place, to the sick they are a source of positive suffering, which should be a sufficient cause for their total banishment. The remedy is always at hand—by having no dealings with them to drive them from the streets; and yet enough are found to trade with and encourage them, thus frustrating the efforts of others, more wise, to get rid of them. While it is an injustice to regular dealers in the commodities they have to dispose of, who pay rents and taxes and ought to be supported as good and useful citizens, all who deal with such itinerant intruders are as sure to get cheated as the sun is to rise in the morning after setting at night; their goods are always of an inferior quality, and they cheat both in weight and measure, as can be fully shown by testing both at the nearest place of honest trade. If the people of Portsmouth do not wish to share a like fate in such matters with those of New York, they should let street venders severely alone by not trading with them.

The "Congress Record Ink" sold by Mercer Goodrich at his bookstore in the city building is the "official ink" of the Boston schools, and an excellent article.

The Times says: "The vernal equinox is the next in order, due the 20th." Would that in the world has Old Prob shifted things round that way for? He'll find the public won't stand a vernal equinox in September, anyway.

An ex-editor of the CHRONICLE was put to flight on Monday on presentation of a three-foot-ed sword cane by a Texan ranger.

Men were at work on the brig Clara J. Adams, ashore on the ledge near the beacon, on Tuesday, stripping her at high water, and discharging coal when the tide was low enough for them to get at it. The tide rises and falls in the vessel about as fast as it does outside, showing that she is well stove in somewhere.

The September number of Bentley's Book-Buyer, of which Mr. Frank W. Robinson is proprietor, contains interesting and condensed reviews of the new books issued from the American press. A valuable feature of the business conducted by Mr. Robinson is thus set forth in this number: "Any new publication, named in Bentley's Book-Buyer or not, will be sent, prepaid, on receipt of advertised price at this office. For persons who may at any time wish to order miscellaneous or special books, who are unacquainted with publishers' addresses, this will be a great saving of trouble and time, as all orders receive immediate attention." The New Hampshire State Temperance Camp Meeting at the Weirs commences today and will continue until Friday. It promises to be quite a success. Distinguished champions of the cause of temperance will be present to address the meeting, among whom is John B. Gough. Those wishing to attend from Portsmouth and vicinity can take a special train at the Eastern Railroad station at seven o'clock A. M. on Thursday, for the low fare of $1.75 the round trip. The tickets will be good Thursday and Friday.

THE NEW TOWN HALL AT AYER. This elegant structure is now complete. In beauty of design it surpasses anything of the kind in the State. Constructed of brick and dark marble, it is as permanent as it is charming. The English architects have adorned it in subdued colors, which please without tiring the eye. Dr. J. C. Ayer built and gave it to the town in acknowledgment of the distinction they conferred upon him in taking his name. Although it is a generous gift, still the hearty good wishes of a whole people are of greater value, and the generous donor has doubtless secured them.—Groton (Mass.) Journal.

Ayer's Cathartic Pills

For all the Purposes of a Family Physic,

CURING

Costiveness, Jaundice, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Dysentery, Foul Stomach and Breath, Headache, Erysipelas, Piles, Rheumatism, Eruptions and Skin Diseases, Biliousness, Liver Complaint, Dropsy, Tetter, Tumors and Salt Rheum, Worms, Gout, Neuralgia, as a Dinner Pill, and Purifying the Blood, are the most congenial purgative yet perfected. Their effects abundantly show how much they excel other Pills. They are safe and pleasant to take, but powerful to cure. They purge out the foul humors of the blood; they stimulate the sluggish or disordered organs into action; and they impart health and tone to the whole being. They cure not only the every day complaints of every body, but formidable and dangerous diseases. Most skilful physicians, most eminent clergymen, and our best citizens, send certificates of cures performed, and of great benefits derived from these Pills. They are the safest and best physic for children, because mild as well as effectual. Being sugar coated, they are easy to take; and being purely vegetable, they are entirely harmless.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,

For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its numerous sickness, suffering, and even life is saved by this timely protection. The mother should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Daily Chronicle.

—It is easier to write a play than to play aright.

—Boards of arbitration to avert duels and settle affairs of honor are becoming popular in Georgia.

—When a woman makes up her mind that a hen shall not set, and tie hen makes up her mind that she will, the irresistible meets the immovable, and every law of nature is broken or prevented.

—Now does the wily bank director find a deficit of ten thousand dollars, and exclaim: "This comes of supporting men in idleness; ordered that there be a reduction of ten per cent. on the salary of the night watchman."

—The Paris Gaulois prints the story of the Gould-Selover affray. It says: "The Major Selover is a man robust and of lofty stature. M. Jay Gould is, on the contrary, short and spare. He, it will be remembered, had a quarrel a few years ago with M. Fisk, another financier, whom he killed in a hotel with a revolver."

—Senator Ben. Hill's war horse, over the death and burial of which there has been considerable gush in the papers, is a phantom steed. The Seantor, it is stated on authority, "never had a war horse; he was never borne through any battle by anything; he never had a horse to die on his hands, and never composed an epitaph about him if he did die."

—At a praise meeting the leader prolonged the singing to an unendurable extent. During the evening he invited any one in the audience to call for any hymn he wanted sung. Finally, some one suggested singing No. 90. Upon turning to the hymn it was found to be "Lord dismiss us with thy blessing." The meeting was closed.

—A friend once called on a certain German officer, and found the gallant veteran in high spirits, the cause of which was that he had just received a new ribbon or star. The friend, as in duty bound, congratulated him, but knowing that he had already so many decorations that he hardly knew where to stick them all, ventured to observe that he could scarcely understand his excessive elation. "I see you don't understand," said the officer. "What pleases me is that I have now every ribbon and medal they can give, and next time they must give me money."

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff Joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 25d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using CASTORIA in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the CASTORIA. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. ROSE & CO., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. tnov1

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. tnov1

I have been given up by physicians as past cure. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS, and they have done me more good than all the doctors I have had. I sleep well, I eat well and have no pain. They are all they are recommended to be. Please send me three packages, as two of my neighbors wish to try them. I enclose $1.50.

Another Letter from May. John W. Lord, one month later Wonderful Cures by Dr. Quain's Pills Effected on Him in Thirteen Days. First time Free from Pain for Three Years.

WEST LEBANON, ME., March 22, 1875.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE:—I commenced taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS February 9th, and wrote you February 22d of their wonderful effect. I have continued to improve ever since. My appetite is good, and I sleep as well as I ever did in my life. I am free from pain for the first time in three years. When I was taken sick four years ago, I weighed one hundred and eighty-six pounds; I now weigh one hundred and thirty, but, as I am gaining in strength, I have faith I shall regain my flesh this summer, by the use of the Pills. I shal continue taking them for some time to come.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I am now able to walk out every day, and am gaining in strength very fast, all of which is due to you as agent for the best Pills in the world. I have taken no other medicine, and my improvement has been steady since first taking DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. Rheumatism for Twenty Years Cured by One Package of Dr. Quain's Condition Pills—"The Best Medicine in the World."

EAST ANDOVER, N. H., Dec. 10, 1875.

MR. LANE—Dear Sir:—As I know the value of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS and the good they have done me, I take pleasure in giving them praise; and I send you another testimonial. My father has been troubled with Rheumatism for twenty years or more, and has tried everything that could be thought of, but to no good. At times it would be so bad that he could not lift his hand to his head or do any work at all, especially in cold weather. A short time ago ladvised him to get some of these Pills. He believed nothing in them, but I gave him the last package I had of you, as I did not need them, and he has not been as free from the Rheumatic Complaint for years. No Rheumatism, no pain. What helped him? It was DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS that best medicine in the world. There is nothing like them. I know it, for I have tried them, and they are all, yes, more than they are recommended to be. Give them a fair trial and you will say so. I write this because I know the goodness of them and wish others to know the same. Some may think I am telling a big story. I am. But remember I am not giving them half the praise they ought to have.

Yours with respect, ED. P. PEVARE

DAINGERFIELD, MORRIS CO., TEXAS, Nov. 15, '75.

MR. THOMAS W. LANE—Dear Sir:—I have been afflicted for near twelve years with Neuralgia in the face and head. I tried I do not know how many physicians, and could only get partly relieved. I also tried many patent medicines with the same result. I have been confined to my room most all the time for eight or ten winters, and have been traveling and visiting medical springs, and I still suffered most intensely. The physicians pronounced my case the worst and most stubborn that they had had anything to do with. One told me I could never get well; they all advised me to go South and spend the winter, and thought that was the only chance for me, and I was trying to get ready to go to Florida, when through the kindness of Rev. H. M. Mathis, my attention was called to the advertisement of Dr. Quain's Magic Condition Pills. I immediately sent to you for a package. I have taken four doses and I am almost free from pain. The impression here seems to be that if your pills will cure me, they will cure anybody. I have five applications to send for the pills. Enclosed please find three dollars; send five packages to me and one to Mrs. Laura Sherrel, Sulphur Springs, Hopkins county, Texas.

Yours truly, J. S. PATTON.

Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache.

LACONIA, N. H., Jan. 29, 1875.

THOS. W. LANE—Sir:—I have been troubled with Bad Blood, Liver Complaint, Nervousness, Dropsy and Headache. I have taken one package of DR. QUAIN'S CONDITION PILLS. They have done me more good than all the medicine I ever took; I have taken considerable medicine within the last five years. For the nerves I think there is nothing so good as those pills. I can recommend them to all who are similarly afflicted, they have done me so much good. I think they will recommend themselves wherever they go. I shall recommend those Pills to all who need them. Please send me two packages more, one for myself and one for a lady friend of mine. Many thanks to the inventor, agent and advertiser of those Pills.

PULMOCINE.

BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL

is no new discovery. Twenty-three years ago it was used by one of New England's most famous physicians as the best Pulmonary Curative so could prescribe, after dozen years spent in experimenting with it before e was satisfied that the Materia Medi ca could add nothing in its favor.

Among its many ingredients are Wild Cherry Bark, Squill Root, Liquorice Root, Blood root, &c. It is a Blood Purifier, gently stimulating. It increases expectoration and is diuretic. It is sudoritic and alterative. It is a necessary family medicine. It is a Tonic and a powerful aid to the digestive organs. It is a gentle sedative, and relieves nervousness. It is aromatic and agreeable to the taste.

CLEAR YOUR THROAT!

Relieve Your Lungs.

or the terrible diseases engendered by the inspiriting climate of New England;

PULMOCINE CORDIAL

Is a speedy and reliable Preventive and Remedy. Every Family should have a bottle at hand to check the sudden growth of all Pulmonary Diseases. For the Asthma, Coughs, Croups, Laryngitis, or inflammation of the larynx, Diphtheria, and all kindred Throat Diseases at all times prevalent, it is the ounce of Prevention. Children attacked with Whooping Cough or Croup should be immediately cared for. These painful attacks come with scarcely a moment's warning, when a physician may be out of immediate each. A dose of PULMOCINE CORDIAL gives speedy elief, and the little ones are spared hours of pain and agony. As "a stitch in time saves nine," so does the possession of this Family Medicine prevent the spread of disease. Parents seeing their children gasping with pain, friends and relatives beholding each other in peril from suffocation by the choking pain in the throat, paralyzed with fear and not knowing the best course to pursue, are liable to apply the wrong remedial agents. There is no safety in delay, no time to waste in such cases. CONSUMPTION, that fearful scourge of the human race, lies at the door of all this afflicted. BUCHMAN'S PULMOCINE CORDIAL arrests it (unless in its advanced stage at which time there is no local cure) relieves the pressing, suffocating feeling at the lungs, and the patient's danger is past.

For Coughs,

Croup,

Buchman's Pulmocine Cordial.

The Pulmocine Cordial is not a quack medicine, is not an experiment, is not composed of any ingredients "discovered" by "walking in pastures" in South America or anywhere else, nor by one who discovered a weed and thereby cured himself. Most of the ingredients are such as our best educated physicians daily use for the complaints specified in some form or other. The recipe is that perfected by one of New England's most learned and famous physicians, who used it entirely in his daily practice until his death. Its offered to the profession and to the public, absolutely pure and unadulterated.

AYER'S SARSAPARILLA,

For Purifying the Blood.

This compound of the vegetable alteratives, Sarsaparilla, Dock, stillingia, and Mandrake with the iodides of Potash and Iron, makes a most effectual cure of a series of complaints which are very prevalent and afflicting. It purifies the blood, purges out the lurking humors in the system, that undermine health and settle into troublesome disorders. Eruptions of the skin are the appearance on the surface of humors that should be expelled from the blood. Internal derangements are the determination of those same humors to some internal organ, or organs, whose action they derange, and whose substance they disease and destroy. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA expels these humors from the blood. When they are gone, the disorders they produce disappear, such as Ulcerations of the Liver, Stomach, Kidneys, Lungs, Eruptions and Eruptive Diseases of the Skin, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Pimples, Pustules, Blotches, Boils, Tumors, Tetter and Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Female Weakness, Sterility, Leucorrhœa arising from internal ulceration and uterine diseases, Dropsy, Dyspepsia, Rheumatism, and General Debility. With their departure health returns.

A Remarkable Petrifaction.

The Portland Oregonian of August 15th, contains this unbelievable story: "Judge E. C. Bronaugh has attached to his watch chain a little amulet or charm, which, aside from its peculiar history, is very pretty in itself. It is nothing more or less than a petrified rosebud. During the rebellion, a young nephew of Judge Bronaugh, while in one of the Southern States, wrote home to his mother and inclosed in the letter a rosebud. The letter arrived safely at its destination, and, after having been perused, was laid aside with the rosebud in a drawer, where it remained for eight or nine months. When the drawer was overhauled and the letter again brought to light, the rosebud it contained was discovered to be petrified. The Judge's aunt recently sent the stone to him at this place, and he placed it in the hands of a jeweler for the purpose of having it fitted to carry on his watch chain. The petrifaction is so very hard that while trying to drill a hole in it two or three tools were broken before the object was accomplished. It is a perfect rosebud, and so well preserved that the finest fibres are to be seen. What peculiarities of air, earth or water could have changed the tender rosebud into a hard, almost diamond-like substance in the short space of nine months, is to us a mystery."

A Wise Bootblack.

Upon arriving at Richmond to attend the Virginia constitutional convention, the doctor approached Ford's Hotel, weary and dusty. A bootblack accosted him at the hotel entrance, "Shine, boss; have a shine?" "Yes," said the doctor; and the boy was at his work in a moment. "But, stop, what are you going to charge?" "Only ten cents boss; jess ten cents." "Well," said the doctor, "I haven't anything less than a dollar bill, but go ahead and black them, and when you get through we will walk into the hotel and get this bill changed, and then I'll pay you." The boy stopped work; resting on his knees, his arms akimbo, he looked up into the florid countenance and said: "Ax yer parding, boss; but isn't you a member of de convention?" "Yes," said the doctor, "I am a delegate, certainly I'm a delegate; but what have you got to do with that?" "Sorry for you boss; sorry to let yer go off with jess one shoe blacked, but fact is I'm 'fraid yer might want ter compromise dat debt."

Sea Air and Mountain Air.

The sea air acts more rapidly, the mountain air more slowly; the sea air gives a more vigorous appetite, compels a larger amount of food, stimulates the digestion more powerfully, and increases the bodily weight in a perceptible degree, in a short time, while mountain air acts in all these respects as a more subtle stimulant; sea air pre-supposes robust assimilative functions; mountain air exerts its gentle influence also on the atonic and catarrhal conditions of the gastro-intestinal canal. Sea air demands a certain robust integrity of other functions, especially of the heart and lungs. Mountain air, on the other hand, exerts its general beneficial influence also on natures which suffer in this respect from weakness with increased irritability. The sea air easily overpowers persons affected with irritable weakness, while mountain air has a calming and indirectly strengthening effect upon them. In general, the choice between sea and mountain air is regulated not by the name of the sickness, but by the individual character of the sick individual. —Dr. Braun.

A Persistent Photographer.

The San Francisco News Letter tells the following:

Rose Eytinge, the popular actress, has persistently refused to have her photograph taken. The result is that she has had her life made a burden to her by the persecutions of the photograph gallery agents. The other day she let it be known that she proposed taking a swim at North Beach. When she left the hotel an express wagon, with a camera in it, followed her carriage. The next day she received a polite note, enclosing a proof of a negative taken as she emerged from the briny dip. The note pleasantly intimated that unless Miss Eytinge reported for a legitimate sitting by noon next day, 10,000 copies like the one furnished would immediately be struck off. She capitulated.

—An Iowa magistrate refused to fine a man for kissing a girl against her will, because the complainant "was so temptingly pretty that nothing but an overwhelming sense of its dignity prevented the court from kissing her itself!"

—A reporter of the San Francisco Mail bored into the secrets of the Taxpayers' Association with a two-inch auger through the ceiling of the room in which a meeting was being held. His presence was betrayed, however, by the dropping of large pieces of plaster on the pate of an orator, and consternation ended the proceedings.

—A pompous Scotch advocate succeeded in bemuddling a country witness by asking him whether he thought the prisoner compos mentis. The witness could only grin and look foolish. At last the Judge interposed, "Noo, jist tell me do ye think is there onything in him?" "De'il a thing," burst out the man, with a smile from ear to ear, "but what's put intil him wi' the spune!"

The Eastern War.

Despatches to London from Erzeroum, in Asia Minor, say a great battle has been fought between Bayazid and Erivan; that the Russians defeated the Turks, capturing their military chests. A despatch from Batoum says the Turks completely evacuated Sukum Kaleh. The latter place is a fortified town on the Russian shore of the Black Sea, in the province of Abasia, to which the Turks early in the war sent a fleet and army to stir up a Circassian insurrection; it was at first reported that the attempt to foment a revolt against Russia was a complete success, but the abandonment of Sukum Kaleh shows that it was a failure.

A Russian official despatch, dated Gorny Studeni, Sept. 4th, says Lovatz was taken on the 3d by assault by the Russian troops under Gens. Meretinsky and Skobeloff. A later despatch from the same place says that on the 4th the Russians opened an attack all along Osman Pasha's lines from Lovatz to Plevna, and that a great battle was then in progress. The Shipka Pass is still held by the Russians, Suleiman Pasha having apparently tired of butting his head against a stone wall; but his persistence cost the Turks 7000 men before he got tired.

News and Notes.

The rifle teams continue their practice at Creedmoor. On the 4th the American team scored 1641 points—the best ever made—the British team being fifty-seven points behind.

The New York Post reports from Washington that ex-Secretary Robeson and Hon. William E. Chandler of New Hampshire are negotiating for the purchase of the National Republican.

Robert James, Sam Goodrich, and James Simmons were taken from jail and hung on the 4th inst. by a mob at Newcastle, Ky., They were charged with the murder of several parties in Owen and Henry Counties.

W. H. H. Davenport, one of the well known "Davenport brothers," spiritual mediums, died in Sydney, New South Wales, July 2d.

The backbone of the miners' strike in the Lehigh region is broken. A speedy resumption is expected. Of thirty-seven collieries in Hazelton district, the heart of the Lehigh region, thirty-two are in full operation.

Five men escaped from Rutland county, Vt., jail, on the morning of the 4th inst., by sawing off the bars of a window.

The number of lives lost at the burning of Hale's piano factory in New York it is now believed by the police will not exceed seven, though some persons are of the opinion that a much larger number than that of bodies will be found in the ruins.

The St. Louis base ballists were defeated by the Bostons on the 4th, and the Chicagos by the Hartfords, the score in each case standing seven to one. The Bostons now lead for the championship.

The death of M. Thiers at the present time is regarded as a great national calamity by the French republicans; the Mac-Mahonites profess to consider it as assuring them the election, and there is no doubt it will help them greatly. Gambetta is now the most prominent republican, and the people have not the same confidence in his steadiness they had in that of M. Thiers.

Captain Benjamin Reed, who has been connected with the Winnisimmet Ferry for nearly thirty years as pilot, tollman and superintendent, died in Chelsea, Mass., on Monday, at the age of seventy years. He resigned the office of Superintendent some years since on account of ill-health. He was a native of Salem, and at an early age entered upon a seafaring life. About forty years ago he was mate of a vessel which was captured by a piratical schooner while on the return voyage from the west coast of Africa to Salem. The pirates, after removing all the valuables from the brig, placed the officers and crew in the hold, tightly secured them from all means of escape and then set the vessel on fire. Capt. Reed found a hatchet, and after hard work succeeded in cutting open the main hatch. The men rushed on deck and succeeded in extinguishing the fire. A few days after the pirate was captured and five of her crew were brought to Boston, tried in the United States District Court, were fully identified by Captain Reed, were convicted on his testimony of piracy upon the high seas, and were hung on a gallows erected on Boston Common.

The New York Herald can pay no better tribute to the memory of France's greatest statesman than to print a string of abominable, played-out slanders which originated with the foul-mouthed enemies of the most eminent and beloved representative of republicanism in France. Such journalism ought to make every American blush.

The Army and Navy Journal having republished from English papers a statement that Osman Pasha, the victorious commander of the Turks at Plevna, is the former French field marshal Bazaine, the Louisville Courier Journal publishes a letter from "a creditable gentlemen" wherein it is denied that Osman Pasha is Bazaine. The writer claims to have been well acquainted with Osman Pasha and has a number of letters from him. Osman Pasha is an American, a native of Hawkins county, Tenn. His name is R. Clay Crawford. He was colonel of a regiment of Confederate artillery during the late rebellion, and afterward entered the service of the Liberal Government of Mexico. He created considerable stir by the capture of Bagdad, Mexico, passing his forces over the Rio Grande from the Texas shore. He finally quarrelled with Juarez, the Mexican President, and returned to the United States with a large fortune. He resided for several years at a beautiful country seat on the Delaware, near Philadelphia. His restless disposition caused him to seek excitement and he entered the service of the Khedive of Egypt. He was soon after transferred to the service of the Sultan and commanded the Turkish army at Plevna. The letter is signed L. B. Wickliffe.

The Hotel Devonshire, of New York, like the Midland Grand of London, is located right at the depot, so that travellers can stop without hiring a "cabby," or paying a bill for baggage express. The Devonshire is conducted on the European plan, at moderate prices. It is a first class, bran new and elegant hotel, and has one of the best restaurants in the city.

New Hampshire Items.

Manchester has succeeded in getting a mayor at last. It will be remembered that Col. Cilley was elected to the office, but declined; on the evening of the 4th inst., Jacob F. James was elected, but he too declined; then Col. John L. Kelley was elected, and accepted the office.

Manchester's city councils have been making the money fly. The annual appropriations, made to last up to February, were $306,900, of which $245,000 were raised by taxation. Appropriations in certain branches of the public service are already overdrawn to the amount of $8836.26, and there is talk of negotiating a temporary loan to piece out the year.

Mrs. Frank J. Green, of Nashua, obtained a few kernels of corn on her visit to the Centennial Exhibition at Philadelphia, which she planted and has husbanded alone this season, and has now several hills, the stalks of which measure 14 1-2 feet from the ground to the tassels and the leaves and ears are 7 1-2 feet from the ground.

The oldest gentleman in Croyden is Kimball Loverin, Esq. Eighty-seven years ago August 30th, the day of Mr. Loverin's birth, the first apple-pie made in Springfield, was cooked. It was made from a mess of twenty apples, grown by John Loverin, Esq., Kimball's father, which were also the first apples raised in that town.

Mr. Wm. Flanders of South Weare has a Chester sow, three years of age, which has had fifty pigs. She has never killed nor hurt one of them. Mr. Flanders has received $126.26 for the pigs he has sold, and there are ten now unsold.

When the President's party in New Hampshire approached the Fabyan House, a fashionable dame was heard to say that they "didn't seem to have much style about them." Somebody repeated this to Mrs. Hayes, and that lady, with a merry look in her bright eyes, said that the fault should be remedied: "Mr. Evarts wears a shocking bad hat, and he must get a new one!"

The floor of Lafayette Hall, Manchester, was broken through on the 4th inst., the damage amounting to $700. The building has been recently repaired, and large quantities of brick were left on the floor, causing it to give way.

The commission to erect the new State Prison has selected a lot for buildings, containing twenty-four acres, on the west side of the road leading from Concord to West Concord, about a mile and a half above the city.

Two houses in Manchester, one owned by J. R. Weston and the other by a Mr. Poor, were burned on the night of the 3d inst. Weston's house was insured $1600.

Hon. John J. Morrill of Gilford has been appointed Trustee of the Agricultural College, in place of Joseph B. Walker of Concord, who declined the appointment.

William O'Brien, aged eight years, son of John O'Brien, fell through the Nashua and Rochester Railroad bridge, Tuesday afternoon, the 4th, and was drowned. His body was found about two hours afterwards.

On Saturday night, the 1st inst., the water at lower Wianipesaukee, on which A. W. Sulloway's hosiery factory and great paper mills stand, made a breach under the hosiery mill end. This was caused by letting down heavy quantities from the mill pond above for repairs. A large force of hands on Sunday and Monday stopped the breach without any serious damage.

Mrs. Edwin C. Fisher of West Lebanon was fatally burned on the afternoon of the 3d inst., while endeavoring to kindle a fire in her cooking stove by the use of kerosene oil. She poured oil directly from a can upon the flaming wood, igniting the oil and exploding the can, throwing the burning liquid over her and setting her clothing on fire from head to foot. In her fright she ran to an open outside door and called for aid, but before assistance was rendered her clothing was completely consumed and her body horribly burned. She died at nine o'clock in the evening. Mrs. Frank Wills, living in the house with Mrs. Fisher, in the second story of the house, when the accident occurred, hearing Mrs. Fisher's cry for help, ran down stairs, but on seeing Mrs. Fisher's condition ran back to the chamber and jumped through an open window to the ground, fifteen feet below, without injury.

It is rumored from Washington that Hon. Wm. E. Chandler is to be offered the position of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. It is not likely he would accept it if offered him.

What Constitutes a Gentleman?

Very curious decisions have been given on the above point in European courts of justice. When a suit was brought against a life insurance company in Dublin for a certain amount insured on the life of a man who was described in the policy as a gentleman, it was decided in favor of the company on the plea that the individual was not a gentleman, but "a mere tavern-keeper." The counsel for the plaintiff wished to be told by the defendants if the rank of "a gentleman" was to be measured by the length of his purse or of his pedigree. He he thought if "family", was necessary to constitute "a gentleman," then neither Cardinal Wolsey, who was a butcher's son; nor Franklin, a poor journeyman printer, nor Lord Eldon, the son of a coal-sifter in Newcastle, could lay claim to the title of "gentleman." There were on record at the same time in the English courts several decisions that neither doctors of medicine, merchants nor yeomen, could in legal terms be discribed as "gentlemen." Another opinion in the matter is to be found in Dickens if not in the law books, where Mr. Pickwick asks of the warden in the Fleet Prison if the room-mate he is to have is "a gentleman," and receives for reply, "Nothing but it; drinks twelve pints a day, and never leaves off smoking except at his meals;" and the London beggar settled the question when he said, "I considers any cove a gentleman who never axes for cold wittles on another cove's beat."

—The late Brigham Young is mentioned by the Auburn (N. Y.) News as "the distinguished husband," and that journal goes on to say: "At Port Byron, in this county, he painted boats. Afterward he worked in a saw-mill near Auburn, in the 'edge' of the now town of Throops, where he met his first wife, Angeline Works, whose two cousins, Canfield and Morris Worden, now reside in the seventh ward of this city. The wedding took place at the tavern of Mr. Pine, in Port Byron, to whom Brigham owed a board bill of $17, when he went West in 1830, and which he paid thirty-five years later, with two drafts on New York for $50 each. Brigham was a good-natured, rather ignorant and lazy genius, of whom the late William Hayden of Port Byron remarked that he did not know that he was good for anything except to make axe-helves—which he did well."

—A group of bucolics stood on the sward outside the Ocean House, Long Branch, admiring the dancing. One of them, a hypertrophic Jersey dame, with arms akimbo, said, "Wall, now, if ever I seed such style. Why, just look at that old hen with scallops on her forehead and chalk on her face. Come on, Sal, I can't stand that." She forthwith left in disgust.

—Immense flocks of swallows haunt a little copse in Westerly, R. I. Hundreds of thousands of these birds gather, filling the air and confusing the mind with their twittering. They come singly, in pairs, by the score, in hundreds, and even in flocks of thousands, until there seems no room in the air for more. All at once, as by magic, they shoot into the copse and disappear. It is really a wonderful sight. Westerly people visit the place every evening, and many come over even from Watch Hill and Stonington to witness the singular phenomenon. They have been known to gather here for a number of years, but in number they excel this year.

Ayer's Hair Vigor,

FOR RESTORING GRAY HAIR

TO ITS NATURAL VITALITY AND COLOR.

Advancing years, sickness, care, disappointment, and hereditary predisposition, all turn the hair gray, and either of them incline it to shed prematurely.

AYER'S HAIR VIGOR, by long and extensive use, has proven that it stops the falling of the hair immediately; often restores the growth; and always surely restores its color, when faded or gray. It stimulates the nutritive organs to healthy activity, and preserves both the hair and its beauty. Thus brashy, weak or sickly hair becomes glossy, pliable and strengthened; lost hair regrows with lively expression; falling hair is checked, and stabilished; thin hair thickens; and faded or gray hairs resume their original color. Its operation is sure and harmless. It cures dandruff, heals all humors, and keeps the scalp cool, clean and soft—under which conditions, diseases of the scalp are impossible.

As a dressing for ladies' hair, the VIGOR is praised for its grateful and agreeable perfume, and valued for the soft lustre and richness of tone it imparts.

—Mrs. Harriet Lane Johnson, who presided at the White House in the reign of her uncle, Mr. Buchanan, is said to be still, although forty-five years or more, a very pretty woman. She has white hair, regular, high-bred features, sparkling blue eyes, and a dimpled chin, and is a charming, polished talker. Her husband is a stout, good-humored gentleman, very proud of his wife.

—It cost Maryland about $100,000 to keep the troops employed to suppress the rioters.

POLICE COURT.

Wednesday, September 5th.

Thomas F. Hoyt and Charles Hammond, drunk, were sent to jail for thirty days; costs $6.90 each.

The same parties were complained of for malicious mischief. It seems that while they were drunk, Tuesday evening, they entered a saloon kept by Robert Parker in a little building owned by Thomas Wardwell, near the Concord depot, and made things lively by kicking out window glass, breaking the glass in picture frames, and threatening to clean out the saloon on general principles. Some folks say that it would harm the public but little if the aforesaid saloon was to be cleaned out; but the law does not recognize Hoyt and Hammond as the regular cleaners-out of saloons, and on the evidence presented the Court adjudged them probably guilty of malicious mischief, and ordered them to give bonds in $50 each for their appearance at the Supreme Court in this city on the third Tuesday of October to answer to the charge, in default of which they went to jail. Under a law passed at the late session of the Legislature a police magistrate can only send a case of alleged malicious mischief to the Supreme Court; formerly a police court could summarily dispose of such a case when the damage done did not exceed $15 in amount, and the change seems to us not judicious, for the result must be to frequently involve the counties in heavy expenses to secure the punishment of trifling misdemeanors. If a school-boy "maliciously" throws a stone through a window it makes a case for the Supreme Court; while two (or twenty) drunken men can fight in the streets for an hour, and disturb the peace of a whole neighborhood, and the police court settle the matter.

On Wednesday, Judge Batchelder announced his decision in the civil cases of J. Brooks & Co. vs. Wm. H. Grant and City of Portsmouth, trustee, and Richard H. Beacham vs. same. The facts are as follows: Grant, who drives the York stage, was injured by a defect in the highway at Portsmouth, December 24th, 1876; and on the 7th day of June, 1877, Grant assigned his claim for damages to S. S. Frye. The Mayor reported upon Grant's claim that he ought to receive $210, and his doctor's bill of $25. This report was adopted by the mayor and aldermen July 5th, 1877. These writs were served at the beginning of July, 1877, and it was held that the assignment of Grant's claim to Frye was "utterly void and of none effect" because of a secret trust between the assignor and assignee that the surplus, after paying Frye's bill, was to be paid back to Grant; and that no matter how honest the intention of the parties may have been, yet, because such trusts are calculated to deceive and embarrass creditors, and because honest debtors need not resort to such things in sales of their property, and dishonest debtors commonly and ordinarily use such means to cheat their creditors, the law does not permit a debtor to say that he used them for an honest purpose in any case.

PORTSMOUTH AND VICINITY.

Carswell is coming.

Ship Triumphant, Capt. Libby, sailed from Liverpool for San Francisco on the 5th of April last, and arrived at her port of destination on the 3d inst., after a tedious passage of one hundred and fifty-one days. A number of first-class clipper ships have arrived at San Francisco within a week or two from New York and Europe, all of them having made unusually long passages, occasioned by light winds and calms in the Pacific.

In Seabrook, on the 1st inst., Newell Eaton, a lad of twelve years of age, climbed a tall tree in the woods, and when near the top lost his hold and fell to the ground. His life was undoubtedly saved by his striking a limb on the way down, by which the force of the fall was broken. Young Eaton was stunned and had his right arm broken near the wrist, but is rapidly recovering.

We regret to hear that Hon. John S. H. Frink is ill from hemorrhage at the lungs, and hope the trouble is less serious than is reported.

Col. J. C. Butler's last popular steamboat excursion for this season comes off today; see advertisement.

U. S. Senator E. H. Rollins was in town on Wednesday.

An alarm of fire shortly before one o'clock of Wednesday, the 5th, was caused by the burning of a bag of rags in the cellar of the house on Daniel street, occupied by F. B. Fay. There was much smoke, but not much damage.

The following item is going the rounds of the State press: "On the farm of Silas Wheeler, in Hollis, is standing an apple tree from the trunk of which, some six or seven feet from the ground, is growing a current bush which has borne currants for over sixty years. How the bush came there is a mystery." That is nothing very remarkable, as there are in this city several similar instances of currant bushes growing in trees. A large elm in front of the residence of Mrs. Eliza W. Haven, on Pleasant street, divides its trunk into two main branches at some fifteen or more feet from the ground, and in the crotch is a thrifty currant bush that bore large crops of fruit thirty years ago, (how much longer we cannot say,) and now has a lot of currants on it. One of the large elms on the Raynes estate had a currant bush in the angle of a limb about twenty feet from the ground, for many years; and it may be there now, though we think not. Another elm, on Middle street, used to be similarly ornamented. The seeds for these bushes were probably carried into the trees by birds, and sprouted and took root in the dirt and decayed leaves collected in the crotches of the trees.

About the middle of January last, Thomas Quinn was driving Charles Robinson's store team through Hanover street, sitting on a board placed across the sleigh from side to side, his legs being outside the sleigh. A passing vehicle struck his legs and inflicted severe injuries, it being said at the time that the accident was occasioned by the sluicing of the teams at a "cradle-hole" which had no business there. On the 4th inst. Mr. Quinn entered suit against the city, alleging that the accident was caused by a defective highway. He places his damages at $3000.

Bunker Hill Encampment, I. O. O. F., are to have a clam-bake at the Prospect House, Foss' Beach, Rye, on the 14th inst.

On Monday afternoon, during the absence of the family of Mr. John K. Walker, who reside on Lafayette road, the house was entered and pretty thoroughly ransacked. The thief or thieves opened a trunk belonging to Mr. Levi W. Marden of this city, and stole sixty dollars therefrom. Another trunk under the bed, and covered with a spread, and which contained valuables, was not touched. The robbery was committed somewhere between the hours of two and six o'clock, and was probably the work of tramps.—Times, 5th.

BOARD OF INSTRUCTION.

The Board of Instruction met on Wednesday evening.

A petition from Charles W. Stimpson and others was received, praying that Mr. Chas. A. Shannon may be appointed teacher in the Franklin school, to fill the vacancy. It was voted that there be a competetive examination for this appointment, open to all applicants and to be held immediately.

The Committee on Rules, etc., made a report relative to the Board, which was read. It contemplates new duties for the members, and was read by sections and adopted.

Adjourned for two weeks.

MORE NUISANCE.

The following petition, largely signed by the ladies of the city, will be presented to the Board of Mayor and Aldermen this evening:

To His Honor, the Mayor, and Board of Aldermen:

We, the undersigned, ladies of Portsmouth, respectfully ask you to instruct the Board of Health to cause to be removed such public nuisances as endanger the health of our citizens, to wit: piggeries, stagnant pools of water, and other depositories of filth. Also that the said Board of Health ascertain the condition of the two millponds and the drains leading thereto.

The citizens' petition for the abolition of the millpond nuisance had received about 150 signatures up to Wednesday evening.

Indian Shopping.

In the late Autumn, as soon as the rivers are locked in ice, and the ground is covered with snow, the furs begin to come in. As they are brought in by the Indians they are traded by the persons in charge of the trading-store. If an Indian were to bring a hundred skins of different sorts, or all alike, he would trade off every skin separately, and insist on payment for each skin as he sold it; he likes the linked sweetness of shopping long drawn out; hence it often occupies several days to barter a batch of furs. It is a curious and interesting sight to watch an Indian selecting from the stores articles that he may require as he disposes of skin after skin. If he has only a small quantity of skins, he walks into the shop with his blanket about him, and not a skin visible. After some preliminary skirmishing he produces one skin from under his blanket, trades it, taking in exchange what he absolutely needs; then he stops. Just as one thinks the trading is over he produces another peltry from beneath his blanket, and buys something else. Thus he goes on until, having bought all the necessaries he requires, he branches off into the purchase of luxuries—candy, fancy neckties, etc. Under so slow a process an Indian trader needs to possess more than average patience. The skins, as fast as purchased, are thrown behind the counter, and then carried to the fur-room and piled in heaps that are constantly turned and aired.—Hudson Bay Correspondence.

—Mrs. William Stearns, widow of the eldest son of the late President Stearns of Amherst, is debarred by the Courts from receiving her husband's share of the Alabama Claims money, because he was a British subject. He became so to protect his business interests in India, and his family suffer the loss of about $400,000 in consequence. The injudicious management of property in New Jersey has further reduced his property. Mrs. Stearns has opened a school in the President's house, and because of the loss through shrinkage of values of much of the property left by President Stearns, his family will be broken up.

—The "bicycle" is now but rarely seen in this country. It has had its brief career here; but in England and Ireland it is still popular. As many as 60,000 are said to be in use in those countries.

—Miss Jennie Frost of Council Bluffs, Iowa, who had a marvellous escape from the train that was wrecked on the Rock Island railroad recently, relates that one woman heroically rescued her six children and then went to the aid of other sufferers, while another lady was terribly exercised over the loss of her satchel, and could think of nothing else. One lady, who was in agony from a broken wrist and a compound fracture of one of her legs, would not consent to have morphine injected into her arm because she feared it might hurt her. Another lady who was severely injured was offered a glass of brandy, but refused to swallow it, stating that she was a strict temperance woman and meant to stand by her principles, even if she died in the attempt. A little child clung to a window-sill and kept her head above the surging waters until she was saved. A little girl lay for four hours with only her face out of water, the corpse of a large man being stretched across her little body. It was supposed that she too was dead, but a man who was "chopping out" the wounded thought he saw the little one's lips tremble. She was taken out, covered with blood, her little stockings as red as if they had been dyed, and in a few hours she was lively as a cricket, asking if anybody had seen her doll.

Bad Specks.

Bad specks on the teeth are almost as unpleasant as bad specs in the money market. To prevent them or to get rid of them, use Sozodont. It is literally a specific for every blemish that disfigures the teeth, and whitens them without endangering the enamel.

The great American conjunctive —— Spalding's Glue.

THE NEW TOWN HALL AT AYER. This elegant structure is now complete. In beauty of design it surpasses anything of the kind in the State. Constructed of brick and dark marble, it is as permanent as it is charming. The English architects have adorned it in subdued colors, which please without tiring the eye. Dr. J. C. Ayer built and gave it to the town in acknowledgment of the distinction they conferred upon him in taking his name. Although it is a generous gift, still the hearty good wishes of a whole people are of greater value, and the generous donor has doubtless secured them.—Groton (Mass.) Journal.

AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL,
For Diseases of the Throat and Lungs, such as Coughs, Colds, Whooping Cough, Bronchitis, Asthma and Consumption.

The few compositions, which have won the confidence of mankind and become household words, among not only one but many nations, must have extraordinary virtues. Perhaps no one ever secured so wide a reputation, or maintained it so long as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. It has been known to the public about forty years, by a long continued series of marvellous cures, that have won for it a confidence in its virtues, never equalled by any other medicine. It still makes the most effectual cures of Coughs, Colds, Consumption, that can be made by medical skill. Indeed, the CHERRY PECTORAL has really robbed these dangerous diseases of their terrors, to a great extent, and given a feeling of immunity from their fatal effects, that is well founded if the remedy be taken in season. Every family should have it in their closet for the ready and prompt relief of its members. Sickness, suffering, and even life is saved, by this timely protection. The prudent should not neglect it, and the wise will not. Keep it by you for the protection it affords by its timely use in sudden attacks.

Daily Chronicle.

—Two men in New York were overheard discussing the strike. Said one: "But don't the Bible say 'Strike till the last armed foe expires?'" "That's a fact," said the other; "I didn't think of that."

—A young damsel sent twenty-five cents and a postage stamp in reply to an advertisement that appeared in an eastern paper of "how to make an impression," and got for her answer,—"sit down in a pan of dough."

—A man who lately committed suicide at Dubuque, left a memorandum for his wife, saying, "Good-bye, you old scolding, red-headed heathen! "On reading it, the widow was heard to mutter,—"I should just like to get hold of him for one minute!"

—Richmond, Va., is highly amused over the appearance of the Henry Clay statue, a work of art frightfully begrimed with dirt, which has just received a pair of hands of snow-white Italian marble, ordered by the General Assembly, to replace the mutilated ones.

—There was recently quarried, without the use of powder, at the Barre granite quarries, in Vermont, a block weighing about six hundred and eighteen tons—being forty feet long, seventeen feet high, and ten feet thick. This immense stone is said to be perfect in every respect and is believed to be the largest block of granite ever quarried in that State.

—An Oxford undergraduate, on being told to describe the death of Jezebel, thus complied: "And Jehu said 'throw her down,' and they threw her down. And he said 'do it a second time,' and they did so. And he said 'do it a third time,' and they did it a third time. And they did it seven times, yea, even unto seventy times seven. And last of all the woman died also. And they picked up the fragments that remained, twelve baskets full."

—It is a strange thing to see a city chap at a country party, but he was there, and in his conversation with one of the prettiest lasses, ventured to inquire: "Were you ever at a watering place?" "Oh, yes," replied she, "I live right at one." "Indeed!" exclaimed he, growing interested, "where might it be?" "Oh, just out here a little way," was her innocent reply, "my father keeps the railroad tank." The city chap, wondering whether she was in earnest or making fun of him, dropped the subject.

Centaur Liniments.

One thing is now thoroughly established. Never since man suffered and human agencies alleviated pain has there been any thing which went so far as a pain annihilator and curative agent as the Centaur Liniments. These Liniments have within the past year cured more cases of Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Stiff Joints, Caked Breasts, Swellings, Poisonous Bites, Burns, Lame Animals, etc., than all other remedies combined. As the name of Centaur implies half horse and half man, the Centaur Liniments are for man and beast. But not the same Liniment. The White Liniment is for man and the Yellow for horses and animals. Herein this Liniment differs from all other remedies, although some of the ingredients are alike in each. They contain the well-known Witch Hazel, Arnica, Carbolic, Rock Oil, Mentha and other powerful ingredients.

Wm. H. Hickcox, Rector of St. John's E. Church, Wakefield, Clay Co., Kansas, writes: "Many years I have been suffering from a Weak Back, caused from a sprain more than 40 years ago. I have not found any thing to relieve me until I commenced the use of Centaur Liniment. I feel it my Christian duty to inform you that by its wonderful effects I am entirely relieved of pain. January 23d, 1876."

Messrs. J. McClure & Co., Druggists, Cincinnati, Ohio, say:

"Teamsters pronounce the Yellow Centaur Liniment superior to any thing they have ever used. We sell several dozen bottles per month, and the sale is steadily increasing."

These are only samples of thousands upon thousands of similar testimonials reaching us every month. All the Extracts, Embrocations, Salves and Ointments in existence are not doing one-tenth the good which is done by these admirable Centaur Liniments. For Frost-bites, Stings, Cuts, Itch, Salt Rheum, etc., there is nothing like the Centaur Liniment, White Wrapper. For Spavin, Ring-bone, Sweeney, Wind-Galls, Poll-evil, Scratches, etc., on horses, the Yellow Centaur Liniment is equally as good. They are certain in their effects; they are pleasant to use, they are handy and they are cheap. No family should be without Centaur Liniments. They are worth one hundred times their cost.

J. B. ROSE & CO., 46 Dey St., New York.

Castoria.

Mothers may have rest and their babies may have health, if they will use Dr. Pitcher's Castoria for Wind Colic, Worms, Feverishness, Sour Mouth, Croup, or Stomach Complaints. It is entirely a vegetable preparation, and contains neither mineral, morphine, nor alcohol. It is as pleasant to take as honey, neither gags nor gripes, and is superior to any remedy in existence.

Dr. E. Dimoch, of Dupont, Ohio, says:

"I am using Castoria in my practice with the most signal benefits and happy results, and find it a perfect substitute for Castor Oil."

This is what every one says. Many nurses in New York use the Castoria. It is prepared by Messrs. J. B. Rose & Co., successors to Samuel Pitcher, M. D. tnov1

The Centaur Liniments have created a revolution in remedies for Rheumatism, Strains, Swellings, Pains, Burns, Scalds, Stings, etc. The White Liniment is for the human family, and the Yellow Liniment is for horses. They are certain, handy and cheap.

Castoria is certain to operate. It does not nauseate or gripe like Castor Oil, but is pleasant to take, digests the food, regulates the bowels, cures wind colic, expels worms, and causes natural sleep. It is equally adapted to adults and infants. It contains neither Mineral, Morphine nor Alcohol. Children teething may have health, and mothers find rest, if they use Castoria. tnov1
